PROCLAMATION 2665

COLUMBUS DAY, 1945

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS Christopher Columbus with courage and daring sailed an uncharted sea and found a new world which became the haven of millions who sought freedom from oppression and want; and

WHEREAS we, the spiritual and material heirs of Columbus, have through valiant effort and heroic sacrifice preserved our country from those who would have enslaved us and have given strength to all people who have struggled against tyranny; and

WHEREAS we, with the resolute faith of the discoverer of America, have determined that through international organization the freedoms for which this Nation and other nations have waged victorious war shall flourish in peace and security; and

WHEREAS, at this period, the Italian people with fortitude and courage are striving to rid their country of the last vestige of fascism, to establish liberty, and to regain an honorable place in the family of nations, it is peculiarly appropriate that we honor the courage and vision of a great Italian, whose discovery gave a birthplace for democracy; and

WHEREAS Public Resolution 21, Seventy-third Congress, approved April 30, 1934, provides:

That the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation designating October 12 of each year as Columbus Day and calling upon officials of the Government to display the flag of the United States on all Government buildings on said date and inviting the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, or other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies expressive of the public sentiment befitting the anniversary of the discovery of America:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Friday, October 12, 1945, as Columbus Day. I direct, also, that the flag of the United States be displayed on all Government buildings on that day; and I invite the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies in schools and churches or other suitable places.

PROCLAMATION 2667

POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES WITH RESPECT TO THE NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE SUBSOIL AND SEA BED OF THE CONTINENTAL SHELF [1]

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the Government of the United States of America, aware of the long range world-wide need for new sources of petroleum and other minerals, holds the view that efforts to discover and make available new supplies of these resources should be encouraged; and

WHEREAS its competent experts are of the opinion that such resources underlie many parts of the continental shelf off the coasts of the United States of America, and that with modern technological progress their utilization is already practicable or will become so at an early date; and

WHEREAS recognized jurisdiction over these resources is required in the interest of their conservation and prudent utilization when and as development is undertaken; and

WHEREAS it is the view of the Government of the United States that the exercise of jurisdiction over the natural resources of the subsoil and sea bed of the continental shelf by the contiguous nation is reasonable and just, since the effectiveness of measures to utilize or conserve these resources would be contingent upon cooperation and protection from the shore, since the continental shelf may be regarded as an extension of the land-mass of the coastal nation and thus naturally appurtenant to it, since these resources frequently form a seaward extension of a pool or deposit lying within the territory, and since self-protection compels the coastal nation to keep close watch over activities off its shores which are of the nature necessary for utilization of these resources;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the following policy of the United States of America with respect to the natural resources of the subsoil and sea bed of the continental shelf.

Having concern for the urgency of conserving and prudently utilizing its natural resources, the Government of the United States regards the natural resources of the subsoil and sea bed of the continental shelf beneath the high seas but contiguous to the coasts of the United States as appertaining to the United States, subject to its jurisdiction and control. In cases where the continental shelf extends to the shores of another State, or is shared with an adjacent State, the boundary shall be determined by the United States and the State concerned in accordance with equitable principles. The character as high seas of the waters above the continental shelf and the right to their free and unimpeded navigation are in no way thus affected.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 28th day of September, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventieth.

PROCLAMATION 2668

POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES WITH RESPECT TO COASTAL FISHERIES IN CERTAIN AREAS OF THE HIGH SEAS [1]

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS for some years the Government of the United States of America has viewed with concern the inadequacy of present arrangements for the protection and perpetuation of the fishery resources contiguous to its coasts, and in view of the potentially disturbing effect of this situation, has carefully studied the possibility of improving the jurisdictional basis for conservation measures and international cooperation in this field; and

WHEREAS such fishery resources have a special importance to coastal communities as a source of livelihood and to the nation as a food and industrial resource; and

WHEREAS the progressive development of new methods and techniques contributes to intensified fishing over wide sea areas and in certain cases seriously threatens fisheries with depletion; and

WHEREAS there is an urgent need to protect coastal fishery resources from destructive exploitation, having due regard to conditions peculiar to each region and situation and to the special rights and equities of the coastal State and of any other State which may have established a legitimate interest therein;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the following policy of the United States of America with respect to coastal fisheries in certain areas of the high seas:

In view of the pressing need for conservation and protection of fishery resources, the Government of the United States regards it as proper to establish conservation zones in those areas of the high seas contiguous to the coasts of the United States wherein fishing activities have been or in the future may be developed and maintained on a substantial scale. Where such activities have been or shall hereafter be developed and maintained by its nationals alone, the United States regards it as proper to establish explicitly bounded conservation zones in which fishing activities shall be subject to the regulation and control of the United States. Where such activities have been or shall hereafter be legitimately developed and maintained jointly by nationals of the United States and nationals of other States, explicitly bounded conservation zones may be established under agreements between the United States and such other States; and all fishing activities in such zones shall be subject to regulation and control as provided in such agreements. The right of any State to establish conservation zones off its shores in accordance with the above principles is conceded, provided that corresponding recognition is given to any fishing interests of nationals of the United States which may exist in such areas. The character as high seas of the areas in which such conservation zones are established and the right to their free and unimpeded navigation are in no way thus affected.

The maximum penal sum of any bond required by this subchapter for any bonded winery or bonded storeroom shall be $50,000.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as exempting any wines, cordials, liqueurs, or similar compounds from the payment of any tax provided for in this subchapter.

Any such wines may, under such regulations as the Commissioner may prescribe, with the approval of the Secretary, be sold or removed tax-free for the manufacture of vinegar, or for the production of dealcoholized wines containing less than one-half of 1 per centum of alcohol by volume.

BONDED PREMISES

§ 178.6 Bonded wineries, bonded storerooms, and bonded field warehouses. The premises on which wines are produced or stored in bond shall be regarded as bonded premises. For the purpose of this part, bonded premises where wines are produced will be designated as bonded wineries; bonded premises where wines are stored in bond for distribution will be designated bonded storerooms; and bonded premises where wines are held in bond for credit purposes will be designated bonded field warehouses. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.7 Establishment of bonded field warehouses. Responsible warehouse companies may establish bonded storerooms designated bonded field warehouses, for the storage of wine for credit purposes. A bonded field warehouse must be contiguous or adjacent to a bonded winery and may receive wines only from such winery. The baking of wine is permitted at bonded field warehouses. The provisions of this part relating to bonded storerooms shall, except as otherwise indicated, apply to bonded field warehouses.

§ 178.8 Designation of premises—(a) Production of still wine. Except as provided in paragraph (b), premises will not be established as bonded wineries unless appropriate crushers or presses (except where concentrate or juice is to be used exclusively), fermenters, and other wine-making equipment is provided and the proprietor intends to actually produce wine by fermentation of fruit or fruit juice as a regular mode of operation.

(b) Manufacture of champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. If the proprietor intends to manufacture champagne or sparkling wine by fermenting still wine within closed containers, or artificially carbonated wine by artificially carbonating still wine, and possesses suitable equipment for such manufacture, the premises will be established as a bonded winery, even though he does not possess the wine-making equipment specified in paragraph (a) nor intends to produce still wine by fermentation of fruit or fruit juice.

(c) Manufacture of vermouth. Permises will not be established as bonded wineries where the proprietor intends to manufacture vermouth only and does not intend to actually produce still wine or effervescent wine, regardless of whether wine-making equipment, such as crushers or presses and fermenters, is possessed. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.9 Registry numbers. Bonded premises will be numbered serially by district supervisors in the order of establishment, regardless of the designation (bonded winery, bonded storeroom, or bonded field warehouse) of the premises. A separate series will be used for each State within a supervisory district. Registry numbers will be assigned to new premises in sequence to numbers heretofore assigned. Registry numbers assigned to bonded premises now operating will be retained.

(a) Discontinued premises. Registry numbers of discontinued premises will not be assigned to other premises. In the case of a successor taking over the winery, storeroom, or field warehouse, or a change in location of the bonded premises within the same State and supervisory district, the same registry number will be retained.

USE OF BONDED PREMISES

§ 178.10 Activity on bonded premises. Except as herein authorized, bonded winery premises must be used exclusively for the production, amelioration, fortification, cellar treatment, storage, bottling, shipment, etc., of wine, and no materials, liquids, or liquors other than those authorized to be used in such manufacture, amelioration, fortification, cellar treatment, etc., may be produced, received, or stored on the winery premises. Bonded storeroom premises must be used exclusively for the storage, cellar treatment, bottling, shipment, etc., of wines. Cellar treatment shall include blending, baking, pasteurizing, filtering, clarifying, and purifying of wines. Wines may not be fermented, ameliorated, or fortified on bonded storeroom premises, nor may vermouth, champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine be made on such premises.

§ 178.11 Other activity on bonded winery premises. The Commissioner may authorize the manufacture of juice, concentrate, and sirup from grapes or other authorized fruits, and the recovery of by-products on bonded winery premises where, in his opinion, such activity will not jeopardize the revenue.

(a) Application. Where it is desired to manufacture, recover, etc., by-products or related products on bonded winery premises, application must be filed in triplicate with the district supervisor, setting forth fully all of the details of the desired activity and the reasons therefor. Upon receipt of the application, the district supervisor will cause such investigation to be made or require the submission of such additional information as he may deem necessary to determine whether the desired activity will afford any jeopardy to the revenue or will confuse the records or be otherwise objectionable from a supervisory and control standpoint, and will forward the application to the Commissioner, together with a statement setting forth his recommendation.

(b) Segregation. If the Commissioner approves the application, the manufacture of juice, concentrate, and sirup, and the recovery of by-products must be conducted in accordance with such rules or instructions as the Commissioner may prescribe, and the activity and resulting products must be kept separate and apart from the regular winery operations in so far as practicable, and the containers of the products must be clearly labeled or marked to show their contents.

(c) Reports of juice, concentrate, and sirup. When juice, concentrate, or sirup is made from grapes or other authorized fruits, pursuant to approved application, the quantity crushed for such purposes will be shown on the winery material report, Form 701, and there will be attached to the winemaker's monthly report, Form 702, each month that such materials are produced, remain on hand, or are removed from the winery, a statement showing the quantity made, on hand, and removed, and giving the names and addresses of the parties to whom the materials are shipped and the date and quantity shipped to each party. All tanks and other containers within which such juice, concentrate, or sirup made from grapes or other authorized fruits is stored must be conspicuously labeled to show the kind of material contained therein and so arranged as to permit inspection by Government officers. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.12 Manufacture of vermouth. Vermouth may be manufactured only in a separate department of the bonded winery premises constructed as provided in § 178.21. The vermouth department must be used exclusively for the manufacture and storage of vermouth, and for the storage of supplies necessary or incidental to the manufacture of vermouth. Manufacture and storage shall include usual cellar treatment, bottling, etc. The vermouth department may not be used for the treatment or storage of still wine or sparkling wine. All fortified sweet wine transferred to the vermouth department must be used promptly in the manufacture of vermouth. When the manufacture of vermouth has been completed, the finished product may be transferred to another department of the winery for storage, cellar treatment, and bottling therein, but vermouth so transferred must at all times be kept separate and apart from still wines and effervescent wines on the premises. (Sec. 2301 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.13 Storage of imported and tax-paid wines. No domestic tax-paid wines and no imported wines may be received or stored on the winery or storeroom premises. Proprietors desiring to tax-pay and store wines in advance of sales or to store returned tax-paid wines, must provide storage therefor, after tax-payment, off the bonded premises. If the premises at which the tax-paid wines are stored are in the same building in which the winery or storeroom is located, or in a building adjoining a winery or storeroom building, they must be separated from the bonded premises by a solid, unbroken partition substantially constructed and so situated that wine may not be transferred thereto from the winery or storeroom, except through a public street or open yard or through a public hall or elevator shaft leading into a public street or open yard: Provided, That the Commissioner or district supervisor may authorize the removal of cases of tax-paid wine to the tax-paid premises by conveyor or chute through the wall or floor of the bonded premises, where, in his opinion, such removal may be permitted without jeopardy to the revenue: Provided further, That necessary openings for ventilation and heating, and for the passage of approved water, electric, sewer, or similar lines may be permitted in such partitions. Openings in partition walls for ventilation or heating purposes must be protected with iron or steel grating consisting of a frame and horizontal and perpendicular bars, having a diameter of not less than one-fourth inch and spaced not more than one-half inch apart, or other gratings of similar construction and equal strength securely attached to or embedded in the partition wall: Provided, That openings not larger than 6 by 6 inches may be protected as provided in § 178.19.

(a) Record. Where the proprietor maintains a tax-paid room or premises (including a bottling house or room) in conjunction with, and contiguous or adjacent to, his bonded premises, and transfers wine after tax-payment from the bonded premises to such tax-paid room for subsequent shipment, in lieu of shipping direct from the bonded premises, he shall maintain at such tax-paid room a record showing the quantities, kind, and alcoholic content (taxable classification) of wine received thereat and shipped therefrom, including the dates of receipt and shipment and the names and addresses of the persons to whom shipped and the quantities, kind, and alcoholic content (taxable classification) of wine shipped to each: Provided, That on sales of not more than 1 gallon, the name and address of the consignee need not be shown.

(1) Commercial records. Where the proprietor keeps copies of invoices or other commercial records, covering shipments from a tax-paid room, and such invoices or records show the information required by paragraph (a), respecting shipments, and are kept in chronological order, available for inspection and in such manner that the required information may be readily ascertained therefrom by Government officers, the records required by paragraph (a) may show the total quantity shipped each day, in lieu of the details of each shipment. The district supervisor may require complete shipping information to be shown on the record required by paragraph (a) in any case where the commercial records are not satisfactory for this purpose. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.14 Retention of tax-paid wines awaiting shipment. When wines are tax-paid preparatory to removal and there is an unavoidable or unexpected delay in the arrival of the shipping conveyance or when because of other unforeseen circumstances removal can not be made promptly, the tax-paid wines may be temporarily retained in the bonded premises, but not exceeding 24 hours (unless the district supervisor authorizes retention for a longer period), pending arrival of the shipping conveyance or cessation of the other cause of delay. Likewise, when wines are packaged or bottled preparatory to shipment and are stamped and marked as packaged or bottled, the stamped wines may be retained in the bonded premises until the entire order or shipment has been packaged or bottled, but such wines must be kept separate and apart from untax-paid wines.

§ 178.15 Sample room. The proprietor may provide on the bonded premises a special room for display and tasting purposes. Such room shall be separated from other portions of the bonded premises, but may have interior communication therewith. All wine consumed in such room must be duly tax-paid by attachment of proper stamps, as provided in §§ 178.237 to 178.249, inclusive. No larger quantity of tax-paid wine shall be kept in the room than that necessary for immediate needs. Wine used for display purposes need not be tax-paid, unless removed from the bonded premises. No sales may be made in such room, nor shall any other activity be permitted therein which will endanger the revenue: Provided, That this prohibition against sales shall not apply to the negotiation or acceptance of orders for subsequent shipment from regular stocks. The Commissioner or the district supervisor may at any time, in his discretion, restrict the activity in such room to that which will not jeopardize the revenue.

§ 178.16 Wine under lock. The portions of the bonded premises in which wines are stored must be kept securely locked in the absence of the proprietor or his agents.

CONSTRUCTION

§ 178.17 Wineries and bonded storerooms. Bonded wineries and bonded storerooms must be so constructed and equipped as to be suitable for the production (in the case of wineries) and storage of wine, and so that the wines stored therein will be securely protected. The buildings or rooms in which wines are stored or treated must be securely constructed of substantial material. All doors, windows, or other openings must be so arranged that they may be securely locked or fastened. Fermenting tanks, except those used exclusively for the production of distilling material, must be under a roof or other suitable covering, but need not be enclosed in a building.

§ 178.18 Separation of winery or storeroom from other premises. Buildings or rooms constituting a bonded winery or bonded storeroom must be separated from contiguous buildings or rooms by a solid unbroken partition substantially constructed: Provided, That where a bonded winery and a fruit distillery, registered distillery, internal revenue bonded warehouse, industrial alcohol plant, bottling house, or rectifying plant are located on contiguous premises, pipe lines may be installed for the transfer of wine and brandy between the two premises, in the manner hereinafter authorized: Provided further, That necessary openings for ventilation as permitted in § 178.19, and for the passage of approved water, electric, sewer, or similar lines may be permitted in such partitions. With the approval of the district supervisor, doors may be placed in the partition separating the bonded winery from the fruit distillery or bonded field warehouse contiguous thereto, and provision made for the transfer of wine between such premises in containers or by fixed pipe line or by hose. The Commissioner or district supervisor may, in his discretion, require partitions separating bonded from unbonded premises to be double sheathed or covered with iron, tin, or other suitable material. Partitions between a bonded field warehouse and a bonded winery must be constructed of wood or other suitable material and any connecting doors shall be kept closed and locked at all times, except when necessarily open for the transaction of business. The entrance door of a bonded winery or storeroom shall lead directly into a public street or yard or into the yard of the bonded premises or into a public hall or other common passageway leading directly to a public street or open yard. Such public halls or common passageways must, in fact, be used by the public or by a number of other tenants or persons.

§ 178.19 Ventilators. Small openings in the walls, floor, or ceiling, separating the bonded premises from adjoining, unbonded premises occupied by the winemaker, will be permitted for ventilating or heating purposes, provided such openings are protected by substantial metal gratings, not lighter than No. 6 gauge and having openings not larger than one-half inch, securely attached to or embedded in the wall, floor, ceiling, or roof. Where such openings in the walls, floor, ceiling, or roof are larger than 6 by 6 inches, they should be further protected by iron bars. Such openings will not be permitted in walls, floors, or ceilings which separate the bonded premises from adjoining, unbonded premises not occupied by the winemaker.

§ 178.20 Winery in building used as residence. Where the winery or storeroom premises are situated in a building used as a private residence, they must be separated by an unbroken partition or floor, and an entrance directly from the outside must be provided.

§ 178.21 Vermouth department. There must be no interior communication between the vermouth department and any other department or part of the winery premises. The entrance door of the vermouth department shall lead directly into a public street or yard or into the yard of the bonded winery or into an open passageway leading directly to the bonded winery yard or to a public street or open yard. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.22 Fortifying room. If wine is be fortified, a room for such fortification and the storage of brandy must be constructed and equipped in accordance with Subpart B this part. (Sec. 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.23 Storage of sweetening materials. Except as authorized in § 178.126, if it is desired to store sweetening materials for use in the amelioration of juice or wine, a room for the storage of such materials must be provided.

SIGN

§ 178.24 Posting sign. The proprietor shall place and keep conspicuously on the outside and at the front of the bonded winery or storeroom where it can be plainly seen, a sign bearing, in plain, legible, and durable letters and figures not less than 3 inches in height and of a proper and proportionate width, the name of the proprietor, followed by the words "Bonded Winery," "Bonded Storeroom," or "Bonded Field Warehouse," as the case may be, and the registered number of the premises. Where a vermouth department is established, there must be placed over the entrance door thereof a sign bearing the words "Vermouth Department."

TANKS

§ 178.25 Location of tanks. All fermenters, storage tanks, vermouth processing tanks, fortifying tanks, and other containers must be so arranged and located as to permit ready examination and determination of their contents by inspecting officers. All tanks used for the storage or treatment of wine must be located within the winery building or bonded storeroom. Fermenting tanks shall be located as provided in § 178.17. All pipes, hose, or other conveyors leading to or from tanks must be so connected and arranged as to be easily visible to examining officers.

§ 178.26 Capacity of tanks. The proprietor must accurately determine the capacity of all tanks and other containers in the bonded winery or storeroom. The capacity per inch of depth of all tanks of uniform dimensions standing upright and the capacity for every inch of depth of each measuring, fortifying, and bottling tank of irregular dimensions or lying on its side, must also be accurately determined by the proprietor. Rules for determining by measurement the capacities of tanks and, when of uniform dimensions, the capacity per inch of depth are set forth in the Appendix to this part.

§ 178.27 Marking on tanks. Each tank must have painted thereon a permanent serial number and the capacity of the tank in wine gallons. Each tank of uniform dimensions standing upright must also have painted thereon the capacity of the tank per inch of depth. Each measuring, fortifying, and bottling tank of irregular dimensions or lying on its side must have securely attached thereto a table showing the capacity of the tank for each inch of depth. There must be attached to each copy of the proprietor's application on Form 698 for approval of his premises and equipment, a table for each measuring, fortifying, and bottling tank of irregular dimensions or lying on its side showing the serial number thereof and the capacity for each inch of depth, and where practicable, the inside measurements of the tank. Serial numbers of fermenting tanks shall be preceded by the letter "F," storage tanks by the letter "S," measuring tanks by the letter "M," bottling tanks by the letter "B," and vermouth processing tanks by the letters "VP." Where barrels are used in processing vermouth there must be painted thereon the capacity in wine gallons and a permanent serial number preceded by the letters "VPR." Fortifying tanks shall be marked "Fortifying Tank."

§ 178.28 Markings on puncheons and barrels. A permanent serial number and the capacity in wine gallons must be painted on puncheons used for storage containers, as in the case of storage tanks. A permanent serial number need not be painted on barrels or puncheons used as storage containers and which will be used as shipping containers upon removal of the wines, but the capacity in wine gallons must be plainly marked on each such container.

§ 178.29 Capacity markings. Proprietors will be held responsible for the correctness of the capacity markings of all tanks and other containers. Where the capacity of wooden tanks is affected by recoopering, tightening of hoops, etc., the tanks must be remeasured and the new capacity marked on the tanks. Report of changes in the measurement and capacity of tanks must be made by the proprietor in triplicate in the manner prescribed in § 178.87. Allowance will not be made for shortages of wine claimed to be due to incorrect gauge of tanks.

OTHER EQUIPMENT, INSTRUMENTS, AND MEASURES

§ 178.30 Crushers and presses. If the fruit is crushed or pressed by the winemaker, the winery crushers or presses must be located on the bonded premises, unless the separate record or commercial records required by §§ 178.388 and 178.389 are kept at the winery.

§ 178.31 Testing instruments and measures. The proprietor of each winery and storeroom must provide at his own expense appropriate and accurate instruments and measures for testing and measuring the wine. Proper instruments must be provided for determining the alcoholic content of the wine. If the juice or the wine is ameliorated with condensed must, dry sugar, sugar-water solution, or water, suitable instruments and apparatus must be provided for determining the sugar and the acid content of the juice and the wine. Instructions respecting such instruments and apparatus will be found in §§ 178.38, 178.39, and 178.40, and in the Appendix to this part. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.).

§ 178.32 Measuring rod and tape. An accurate measuring rod and steel tape suitable for use in ascertaining the capacity and contents of tanks and other storage containers, and appropriate measures or scales for determining the contents of shipping containers, must be provided. Measuring instruments shall be available for the use of Government officers. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.33 Scales and measures. At each winery there must be provided scales and measures for weighing and measuring the materials received and used in the manufacture of wine. However, where material is used immediately upon receipt, public weighmasters' certificates of weight, showing gross weight, tare, and net weight, or the shipper's or railroad weight may be accepted in lieu of weighing materials at the winery, but such certificates must be filed at the winery and kept available for inspection by Government officers. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.34 Test weights. Where the quantities of wine, brandy, or winemaking or ameliorating materials received, used, or removed are determined by weight (on other than wagon, truck, or railroad car platform scales), the proprietor shall provide a set of ten 50-pound cast iron test weights, which shall be certified by the National Bureau of Standards or State departments of weights and measures as conforming to class "C" requirements of the National Bureau of Standards. If the proprietor has provided such test weights at a fruit distillery, internal revenue bonded warehouse, rectifying plant, etc., on contiguous premises, he need not provide a separate set of weights for the bonded winery or storeroom. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.35 Testing scales. Scales (other than wagon, truck, or railroad car platform scales) used to weigh wine, brandy, or winemaking or ameliorating materials received, used, or removed, will be tested from time to time by winemakers. Tests of scales by State or municipal authorities, if made in the manner herein prescribed, will be accepted in lieu of similar tests by the winemaker, but if such tests are not made from time to time, as herein required, additional tests must be made by the winemaker. Where a Government officer is assigned to the winery or storeroom, the test shall be made under the officer's supervision.

(a) Not over 5,000-pound lots. Scales used for weighing wine, brandy, or winemaking or ameliorating materials in lots of not over 5,000 pounds will be tested by means of the test weights prescribed in § 178.34. Weighing tank scales used for such purposes will be tested by placing the prescribed test weights on the scales and checking the weight registered on the beam or dial of the scales. The test weights will then be removed without disturbing the beam and the weighing tank filled with water or other material to the same weight, whereupon the test weights will again be placed upon the scales, the water or other material being retained in the tank, and the weight registered on the beam or dial again checked. This operation will be continued until the scales have been checked in 500-pound notches at all weights for which the scales are used. If desired, the scales can be checked in 50 or 100 pound notches by the same operation.

(b) Over 5,000-pound lots. Weighing tank scales used to weigh wine, brandy, or winemaking or ameliorating materials in lots of over 5,000 pounds will be tested by checking the gallonage indicated by the scales against the gallonage indicated by volumetric determination of the contents of the tank. Such volumetric determination will be made by (1) accurately ascertaining the depth of the liquid in the tank by means of a steel tape, (2) multiplying the depth (of the liquid) in inches by the capacity of the tank for 1 inch of depth, or where the tank is of irregular dimensions, by ascertaining the wine-gallon content of the tank according to the depth of the liquid, and (3) in the case of brandy, by ascertaining the proof and temperature of the brandy and correcting the volume to 60° Fahrenheit in accordance with Table No. 7 of the Gauging Manual (Part 186 of this chapter). The wine gallons thus determined can then be compared with the wine gallons indicated by the scales.

§ 178.36 Amelioration of natural wine, and fruit and berry wines. Where wines are ameliorated under sections 3044 and 3045, I. R. C., there must be provided one or more suitable measuring tanks within which the quantity of sugar solution used and the quantity of wine, both before and after amelioration, may be accurately measured. Such measuring tank or tanks must be accurately calibrated and, if of regular dimensions, must have painted thereon the capacity of the tank per inch of depth, or, if of irregular dimensions, must have securely attached thereto a table showing the capacity of the tank for each inch of depth, a copy of which must be attached to each copy of Form 698. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.37 Amelioration of pure sweet wine. Where pure sweet wines are ameliorated under section 3036, I.R.C., a suitable weighing tank or other proper means must be provided for accurately determining the weight of sugar and water to be used and the weight of the wine before amelioration. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.38 Ebulliometers. The Arnaldo-Sala (with shield), Braun, Juerst, Lefco, L'Ebulliometer Levesque (with shield), Malligand type (with shield), Salleron-Dujardin, "TAG" (with shield), and E. B. Torino (with shield) ebulliometers have been approved for use in determining the alcoholic content of wines. Instructions respecting the use of these instruments will be found in the Appendix to this part. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.39 Saccharometers. The sugar content of juice may be readily determined by a saccharometer, with proper correction for temperature and non-sugar solids. Both the alcoholic content and the sugar content of wine may be determined by the use of a small still and appropriate saccharometer. The sugar content of wine can also be determined by the use of a set of three saccharometers graded to read from 0 to 10, 10 to 20, and 20 to 30, in connection with the ebullioscope. Instructions for ascertaining the sugar content of juice and wine with these instruments will be found in the Appendix to this part. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.40 Apparatus for determining acidity. The apparatus necessary for determining the acidity of the juice or the wine, according to the kind of fruit used, is listed in the Appendix to this part, with complete instructions for making such determinations by titration, and for the proper care of the apparatus. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.41 Other instruments. If the instruments referred to in the three preceding sections are not provided, other appropriate and accurate instruments approved by the Commissioner must be provided in lieu thereof. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

§ 178.42 Use of instruments, apparatus, and equipment by Government officers. The instruments and apparatus required herein for testing the juice and the wine, and the measuring equipment prescribed for measuring tanks and other storage containers, shall be made available to Government officers for making necessary tests to ascertain the alcoholic, sugar, and acid content of must and wine, and the quantity thereof. Government officers must exercise every care in handling the instruments, apparatus, and equipment, to the end that such are not broken or damaged while being used by them. When the winemaker prefers to handle the instruments himself, he may make the necessary tests in the officer's presence. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

DETAILS OF CONSTRUCTION AND EQUIPMENT

§ 178.43 General. Where details of construction and equipment are not covered by this part, such construction and equipment must afford the same degree of security and protection to the wine (and brandy, in the case of fortifying rooms) as is intended by the construction and equipment specifications herein prescribed. The Commissioner may approve details of construction and equipment in lieu of those specified herein where it is shown that it is impracticable to conform to the prescribed specifications, and the proposed construction and equipment will afford as much security and protection as the construction and equipment prescribed. Where it is proposed to substitute construction and equipment for that which specifications are prescribed, or where any doubt prevails in regard to the security and protection which will be afforded by construction and equipment not covered by this part, approval of the Commissioner should be first obtained. (Sec. 2829, I.R.C.)

FEDERAL ALCOHOL ADMINISTRATION ACT PERMIT

§ 178.44 Permit required. Under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act and the regulations issued pursuant thereto (27 CFR, Part 1), any person, except an agency of a State or political subdivision thereof, or any officer or employee of any such agency, intending to engage in the business of producing or blending wine, or of purchasing wine for resale at wholesale, is required to procure a permit therefor. Application for such permit shall be filed with the district supervisor, in accordance with the regulations issued pursuant to the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, at the time application on Form 698, bond and other qualifying documents are filed as required by this part.

(a) Trade name certificate. Where the application for permit covers the use of a trade name or names, certified copies of the certificate or other document filed with or issued by State officials under the laws of the State, to cover the use of such trade name or names, shall be filed, in triplicate, with the district supervisor. If no such certificate or other document is required by the laws of the State to be filed with or issued by any State official, the applicant shall furnish a statement from the proper State official to that effect, in triplicate. (Sec. 3, 49 Stat. 978 (27 U.S.C., Supp., 203).)

QUALIFYING DOCUMENTS

§ 178.45 Application, Form 698. Every person desiring to establish a bonded winery or storeroom shall file application on Form 698, in triplicate, with the district supervisor, for approval of the premises. Except as provided in § 178.46 in the case of amended and supplemental applications, all of the information indicated by the lines of the form and the instructions printed thereon, and by this part, shall be furnished. Applications on Form 698 must be signed in accordance with the instructions printed on the form and be sworn to before an officer authorized to administer oaths. Such applications must be numbered serially, commencing with No. 1 and continuing in regular sequence for all applications thereafter filed, whether amended or supplemental, and must indicate the purpose for which filed. All data, written statements, affidavits, and other documents submitted in support of the application shall be deemed to be a part thereof.

(a) Location of premises. The location of the winery or storeroom must be stated as explicitly as possible. If located in a city, the name of the city and the street and number must be given. If located in the country, the name of the county and the nearest post office, with the distance and direction therefrom, and the name or number of the road or highway on which situated, should be given.

(b) Description of premises. The lot or tract of land on which the bonded winery or storeroom is situated must be described on Form 698 by directions and distances, in feet and inches, with sufficient particularity to enable Government officers to readily determine the bounds of the bonded premises. The continuity of the bonded premises must be unbroken, except that the premises may be divided by a public street or highway or railroad right of way where the premises so divided are opposite each other.

(c) Description of building. All buildings on the winery or storeroom premises must be described in the application, the purpose for which each building will be used, the size thereof and the material of which constructed, being stated. If more than one building is used for the same purpose, such buildings must be given alphabetical designations, followed by the purpose for which they will be used. Where a vermouth department, fortifying room and brandy storage room, or sweetening agents room is provided, such room or rooms must be described on Form 698.

(d) Description of equipment. All wine fermenting, storage, ameliorating, measuring, and bottling tanks, vermouth processing tanks, fortifying tanks, and brandy storage tanks, and the serial numbers and capacities thereof in gallons, crushing and pressing equipment, instruments and measures for testing and measuring wine, and all other equipment, must be described on Form 698. Barrels or puncheons used as storage containers and which will be used as shipping containers need not be described on Form 698. Where tanks are of such shape that it is practicable to determine their capacity from inside measurements, as described in the Appendix to this part, there must be attached to each copy of Form 698 a table showing the serial number and capacity of each such tank, together with such measurements. Where tanks are of such shape that it is impracticable to determine inside measurements, the method used in determining the capacities thereof must be furnished in lieu of such inside measurements.

(e) Volume of business. The estimated quantity of wine that will be produced (in the case of wineries), received, and stored, and the estimated quantity of brandy that will be withdrawn for the fortification of wine (in the case of wineries), will be stated on Form 698. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.46 Amended and supplemental applications. Amended and supplemental applications on Form 698 may be executed in skeleton form, except as to items amended or supplemented. All other items which are correctly set forth in prior applications, and in which there has been no change since the last preceding application, may be incorporated in the amended or supplemental application by reference to the respective application previously filed. Such incorporation by reference shall be made by entering for each such item in the space provided therefor the statement "No change since filing Form 698, Serial No. ------, dated ----------" (the serial number and date being inserted).

§ 178.47 New applications may be required. The Commissioner or the district supervisor may at any time, in his discretion, require the filing of new applications on Form 698. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.48 Individual owners, copartnerships, or associations. Where application, Form 698, is filed by an individual owner, copartnership, or association, the name and address of every person interested in the winery or storeroom, whether active, passive, or silent, must be given on Form 698. If the winery or storeroom is to be operated under a trade name, such trade name must be given in the application. If there are articles of partnership or association, copies thereof, in triplicate, should be submitted with Form 698. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.49 Corporations. Where application, Form 698, is filed by a corporation, there must be filed with the original or initial application copies, in triplicate, of the following:

(a) Certificate of incorporation.

(b) Extracts of the minutes of meetings of the board of directors authorizing certain officers or other persons to sign for the corporation.

(c) List of the names and addresses of all officers and directors.

(d) List giving names and addresses of all stockholders, as provided in § 178.50. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.50 List of stockholders. In the case of corporations and similar legal entities, there must be submitted with Form 698 at the commencement of business and annually thereafter on May 1 a list, giving the names and addresses of all stockholders and other persons interested in the corporation or other legal entity and the amount and nature of the stock holding or other interests of each, whether such interest appears in the name of the interested party or in the name of another for him: Provided, That where more than 100 persons are interested in the corporation or other legal entity as stockholders or otherwise, there need be furnished only the names and addresses and the amounts and nature of the stock holding or other interest of the 100 persons having the largest ownership or other interest in each of the respective clases of stock or other interest, except where more complete information shall be specifically required by the Commissioner: Provided further, That where there has been no change in the stockholders and other persons interested in the corporation or other legal entity, or in the extent of the stock holding or other interest of such persons, the proprietor may furnish on May 1 of each year a certified statement, in triplicate, to that effect, in lieu of the prescribed list. Where a corporation operates two or more establishments situated in the same supervisory district, or wholly owns one or more subsidiaries operating under the internal revenue laws and regulations so situated, and in connection with qualifying for the operation of one of such establishments files a list of stockholders and other persons interested as prescribed herein, the filing of an additional list for each establishment will not be required: Provided, That in lieu of such additional list there is submitted a certificate, in triplicate, definitely identifying the corporation and establishment with whose application the list of stockholders and other persons interested is filed, and giving the date of the filing thereof. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.51 Power of attorney, Form 1534. If the application, bond, or other qualifying documents are signed by an attorney in fact for an individual, partnership, association, or corporation, or by one of the members for a copartnership or association, or, in the case of a corporation, by an officer or other person not authorized to sign by the corporate documents described in § 178.49, such application or other qualifying documents must be supported by a duly authenticated copy of the power of attorney conferring authority upon the person signing the document to execute the same. Such powers of attorney will be executed on Form 1534, in triplicate, and submitted to the district supervisor. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.52 Execution of power of attorney. Where the principal giving the power of attorney is an individual, it must be executed by him in person, and not by an agent. In the case of a copartnership or association, powers of attorney authorizing one or more of the members, or another person, to execute documents on behalf of the copartnership or association must be executed by all of the members constituting the copartnership or association. However, if one or more members less than the whole number constituting the copartnership or association have been delegated the authority to appoint agents or attorneys in fact, the power of attorney may be executed by such member or members, provided it is supported by a duly authenticated copy, in triplicate, of the document conferring authority upon the member or members to execute the same. Where, in the case of a corporation, powers of attorney are executed by an officer thereof, such documents must be supported by triplicate copies of the authorization of such officer so to do, certified by the secretary or assistant secretary of the corporation, under the corporate seal, if any, to be true copies. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.53 Duration of power of attorney. Powers of attorney authorizing the execution of documents on behalf of a person operating, or intending to operate, a bonded winery or storeroom shall continue in effect until written notice, in triplicate, of the revocation of such authority is received by the district supervisor, unless terminated by operation of law.

§ 178.54 Bond required. Every person filing application to establish a bonded winery or storeroom shall file bond on Form 700–A, in triplicate, with the district supervisor, executed in accordance with §§ 178.61 to 178.73, inclusive. No person shall commence or continue in the business of a winemaker, or produce wine (except for family use as provided in §§ 178.195 to 178.198, inclusive), nor shall any wine be received in bond or brandy withdrawn for fortification, until such bond is filed with, and approved by, the district supervisor. (Secs. 3040, 2815 (c), 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.55 Penal sum of bond. (a) Bonds on Form 700–A shall be in a penal sum sufficient:

(1) To cover the amount of the tax at the rates imposed by law on the maximum quantity of wine that will be produced, received, or stored at the bonded winery, or received or stored at the bonded storeroom, and in transit to the bonded winery or bonded storeroom, at any one time; and

(2) To cover the amount of the tax at the rate imposed by law on the maximum quantity of brandy or wine spirits that will be withdrawn for use in the fortification of wine, and in transit to, or stored at, the bonded winery, at any one time.

(b) Calculation. The penal sum of the bond shall be calculated on the basis of the wine and brandy tax rates, but shall not be less than $500 nor more than $50,000. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.56 Bonds on Forms 699 and 700. Winemakers who have on file satisfactory bonds on Form 699, Bond of Winemaker or Dealer, or on Form 700, Bond of Winemaker, Fortifying Bond of Winemaker, or Proprietor of Bonded Storeroom, with surety or security, in a sufficient penal sum, which have been previously approved, and the terms of which have been extended by consent of surety, Form 1533, are not required to file new bonds on Form 700–A. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.57 Consents of surety, covering transportation in bond. Winemakers, whose bonds on Forms 699, 700, and 700–A do not cover the transportation of wine shipped in bond to them from other bonded wineries and storerooms, must, prior to having wine shipped in bond to them, file consents of surety on Form 1533, extending the terms of their bonds to cover the transportation of wine shipped in bond to them. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.58 Plat and plans. Every person filing application to establish a bonded winery or storeroom shall file with the district supervisor an accurate plat of the proposed bonded premises and an accurate plan of the buildings and equipment thereon, in triplicate, conforming to the requirements of §§ 178.78 to 178.84, inclusive.

§ 178.59 Additional information. The Commissioner or the district supervisor may at any time, in his discretion, require the proprietor of a bonded winery or storeroom to furnish such additional information as he may deem necessary.

§ 178.60 Instruments and paper made part of regulations. The terms, conditions, and instructions contained in instruments and papers required to be furnished by law or regulations are hereby made a part of this part as fully and to the same extent as if incorporated herein at length.

EXECUTION OF BONDS AND CONSENTS OF SURETY

§ 178.61 General. Bonds and consents of surety required by these regulations shall be prepared and executed on the prescribed form, in triplicate, and filed with the district supervisor, in accordance with the requirements of this part and the instructions printed on the form. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.62 Registry number inserted in bond. Before the bond is executed the proprietor must ascertain from the district supervisor the registry number which will be assigned to the bonded premises if established, so that such number may be inserted in the bond. Bonds not completely and properly filled in and executed will be returned for correction. Proper record will be kept of bonds returned for correction, or for any other purpose. All disapproved bonds shall be returned to the principal and the surety or sureties notified of such disapproval.

§ 178.63 Surety or security. The bonds required by this part shall be given with surety or collateral security. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.; sec. 1, 28 Stat. 279 (6 U.S.C. 6); sec. 1126, 44 Stat. 122; sec. 7, 49 Stat. 22 (6 U.S.C. 15))

§ 178.64 Corporate surety. Bonds may be given with corporate surety authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to become surety on Federal bonds, subject to the limitations prescribed by the Secretary in Treasury Department Form 356, Commissioner of Accounts, Section of Surety Bonds, which is issued semiannually, and subject to such amendatory circulars as may be issued from time to time. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.; sec. 1, 28 Stat. 279 (6 U.S.C. 6))

§ 178.65 Two or more corporate sureties. A bond executed by two or more corporate sureties shall be the joint and several liability of the principal and the sureties: Provided, That each corporate surety may limit its liabilities in terms upon the face of the bond in a definite, specified amount, which amount shall not exceed the limitations prescribed for such corporate surety by the Secretary, as set forth in Treasury Department Form 356. When the sureties so limit their liabilities, the aggregate of such limited liabilities must equal the required penal sum of the bond. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.66 Powers of attorney—(a) Surety. Powers of attorney and other evidence of appointment of agents and officers to execute bonds on behalf of corporate sureties are required to be filed with, and passed upon by, the Commissioner of Accounts, Section of Surety Bonds, Treasury Department. Such powers and other evidence of appointment need not be filed with, or submitted to, district supervisors.

(b) Principal. Power of attorney or other evidence of appointment of agents and officers to execute bonds on behalf of the principal, must be filed with the district supervisor in accordance with § 178.51, in all cases where a bond is signed by an agent or officer on behalf of the principal. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.67 Individual sureties. Bonds may be given with individual sureties, of which there must not be less than two, each of whom must qualify by executing Form 33, "Affidavit of Individual Surety on Bond," in triplicate. Individual sureties must be citizens of the United States and reside in the State in which the business of the principal is to be conducted.

(a) Ownership of real property. Each individual surety must own unencumbered real property, in fee simple, the appraised value of which, over and above any exemptions from execution allowed by the laws of the State, is equal to the penal sum of the bond. The amount of unencumbered real property which individual sureties are required to own must be located within the State where the business of the principal is to be conducted.

(b) Description of real property. The real property must be described in the surety's affidavit, Form 33, with all the formalities required in conveyances of real estate by the laws of the State in which it is situated.

(c) Execution of Form 33. The surety's affidavit on Form 33 shall contain all of the information required by this part and the instructions printed on the form. The form shall be subscribed and sworn to before an officer duly authorized to administer oaths, and one copy thereof shall be attached to each copy of the bond to which it relates.

(d) Certificate of title. There must be submitted with the surety's affidavit, Form 33, a certificate of title, in triplicate, showing that the surety has a fee simple title, free of encumbrances, to the realty described in the form.

(e) Appraisal. There will also be submitted with Form 33 an appraisal, in triplicate, by two or more competent persons, designated by the district supervisor for the purpose, showing separately the value of the land and buildings, and a full and clear statement of the method employed by them in determining their valuation. The appraisal shall be at the expense of the principal on the bond, unless it is made by Government officers.

(f) Investigation. The district supervisor must cause an investigation to be made of all the facts stated in the surety's affidavit on Form 33 and supporting documents, and shall forward one copy of the report of such investigation to the Commissioner with the bond and accompanying Form 33. District supervisors should exercise great care in deciding upon the sufficiency of the security afforded by individual sureties, and should from time to time make such inquiries as are deemed necessary to determine that such security is still sufficient.

(g) Requalification. The Commissioner or district supervisor may at any time, in his discretion, require the requalification of individual sureties on Form 33. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.68 Interest in business. The surety, whether individual or corporate, must have no interest whatever in the business covered by the bond. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.69 Deposit of collateral. Except as herein provided, bonds or notes of the United States or other obligations which are unconditionally guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States, may be pledged and deposited by principals as collateral security in lieu of individual or corporate surety. District supervisors on receiving such bonds or notes, or other obligations, pledged and deposited by principals as collateral security in lieu of surety, shall deposit such securities in accordance with the requirements of Department Circular No. 154, revised (31 CFR, Part 225). United States Savings, Defense Savings, and War Savings Bonds issued under the authority of section 22 of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, and other bonds and notes of the United States, which are nontransferable or the hypothecation of which will not be recognized by the Treasury Department, may not be pledged and deposited as security in lieu of corporate or individual sureties. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.; sec. 1126, 44 Stat. 122; sec. 7, 49 Stat. 22 (6 U.S.C. 15))

§ 178.70 Consents of surety. Consents of surety to a change in the terms of a bond must be executed on Form 1533, in as many copies as are required of the bond which they affect, by the principal and all sureties with the same formality and proof of authority to execute as are required for the execution of bonds. Form 1533 will be used by obligors on collateral bonds as well as those on surety bonds. The Form 1533 must properly identify the bond affected thereby and state specifically and precisely what is covered by the extended terms thereof. If the surety is a corporation, the consent may be executed by an agent or attorney in fact duly authorized so to do by power of attorney filed by the surety with the appropriate district supervisor through the office of the Commissioner, or the consent may be executed by the home office officials of such corporate surety; except that, in cases where the saving of time is an element, the consent may be executed by an agent or attorney in fact where the home office officials, by specific direction, order its execution. A copy of such specific direction should be attached to each copy of such consent.

§ 178.71 Additional or strengthening bonds. In all cases where the penal sum of a bond on file and in effect is not sufficient, computed as prescribed by law and regulations, the principal may give an additional or strengthening bond in a sufficient penal sum, provided the surety thereon is the same as on the bond already on file and in effect; otherwise a new bond covering the entire liability will be required. Such additional or strengthening bonds are in no sense substitute bonds. The district supervisor will refuse to approve any additional or strengthening bond where any notation is made thereon, intended, or which may be construed, as a release of any former bond, or as limiting the amount of either bond to less than its full penal sum. Additional or strengthening bonds must show the current date of execution and the effective date in the blank spaces provided therefor. Such bonds must have marked thereon, by the obligors at the time of execution, "Additional Bond," or "Strengthening Bond." (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.72 New or superseding bonds. The principal on any bond filed pursuant to these regulations may, at any time, substitute a new bond therefor. Executors, administrators, assignees, receivers, trustees, or other persons acting in a fiduciary capacity, continuing or liquidating the business of the principal, must execute and file a new bond or obtain the consent of the surety or sureties on the existing bond or bonds. When, in the opinion of the Commissioner or district supervisor, the interests of the Government demand it or in any case where the security of the bond becomes impaired in whole or in part for any reason whatever, the principal will be required to give a new bond. A new bond shall be required immediately in case of death, removal from the State, or insolvency of an individual surety, or the insolvency of a corporate surety. Where a bond is found to be not acceptable or for any reason becomes invalid or of no effect, the principal shall be required to file immediately a new and satisfactory bond, or discontinue business forthwith. Superseding bonds must show the current date of execution and the date they are to be effective, and each such bond shall have marked thereon, by the obligors at the time of execution, "Superseding Bond." Where a new bond is submitted by the principal to supersede a bond or bonds then in effect, and such superseding bond has been approved, the superseded bond shall be released as to transactions occurring wholly subsequent to the effective date of the superseding bond and notice of termination of the superseded bond may be issued as provided in §§ 178.116 to 178.123, inclusive.

(a) Liability under superseding bond. The inventories and records of the principal as to the quantity of wine and brandy in his possession or in transit to him on the effective date of any substituted, superseding, or additional bond given under these regulations shall be conclusive and binding upon the obligors on such bonds for the purpose of fixing and determining liability thereunder. (Secs. 3040, 3043 (a), 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.73 Termination of bonds. Bonds filed under this part may be terminated in accordance with §§ 178.116 to 178.123, inclusive.

AUTHORITY TO APPROVE OR DISAPPROVE BOND

§ 178.74 Authority to approve. District supervisors are authorized to approve all bonds and consents of surety filed pursuant to this part. (Secs. 2815 (c), 3170, I.R.C.)

§ 178.75 Cause for disapproval. The district supervisor may, under section 2815, I. R. C., disapprove any bond or consent of surety submitted by any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association intending to commence or continue the business of a winemaker, if the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association giving the same, or owning, controlling, or actively participating in the management of the business of the individual or firm, partnership, corporation, or association giving the same, shall have been previously convicted, in a court of competent jurisdiction, of:

(a) Any fraudulent noncompliance with any provision of any law of the United States if such provision related to internal revenue or customs taxation of distilled spirits, wines, or fermented malt liquors, or if such an offense shall have been compromised with the individual, firm, partnership, corporation or association upon payment of penalties or otherwise; or

(b) Any felony under a law of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or the United States, prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, or transportation of distilled spirits, wine, fermented malt liquor, or other intoxicating liquor. (Sec. 2815 (d), I.R.C.)

§ 178.76 Inquiry by supervisor. Before approving any bond given by any individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association, intending to commence or continue in business as a winemaker, the district supervisor will cause such inquiry or investigation to be made as may be deemed necessary to ascertain whether such individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association, or any person owning, controlling, or actively participating in the management of the business, has been so convicted or has so compromised an offense of the nature indicated in § 178.75. (Sec. 2815 (d), I.R.C.)

§ 178.77 Appeal to Commissioner. Where a bond is disapproved by the district supervisor, the person giving the bond may, under the law referred to, appeal from such disapproval to the Commissioner. When an appeal is so taken, the district supervisor will furnish the Commissioner full information respecting the disapproval, stating the nature of the offense, the names of the offenders, the date of conviction or of acceptance of compromise, and the reasons for his action. The disapproval of the Commissioner of any bond in respect to the commencement or continuance of the business of a winemaker shall be final. (Sec. 2815 (e), I.R.C.)

PLAT AND PLAN

§ 178.78 Plat and plan required. There must be submitted with the original or initial application, Form 698, a plat and plan of the bonded premises, except that in instances where it is practicable to show on the plat the information required herein, and such information is in fact so shown, a separate plan of the premises will not be required.

§ 178.79 Preparation. The plat and the accompanying plan, where required, must be furnished in triplicate on sheets of white paper of good quality or tracing cloth or sensitized linen 15 by 20 inches, outside measurement, with a clear margin of at least 1 inch on each side of the drawing, lettering, and writing. Plats and plans may be original drawings, or reproductions made by the "ditto process," or by blue, brown, or black line lithoprint, if such reproductions are clear and distinct. The cardinal points of the compass shall be indicated on each sheet of every plat and plan, both original and supplemental, and each such sheet shall also bear a number and descriptive title, and the name and address of the proprietor and the registry number of the premises.

§ 178.80 Depiction of premises. The plat must show the boundaries of the premises, the location, construction, and size of each building or room, and the purpose for which each will be used. If the bonded premises consist only of a room or floor of a building, the precise location of the room or floor, together with the means of ingress from and egress into a public street or yard or into a public hall or elevator shaft leading into a public street or yard must be shown. If the bonded premises consist of more than one building, they must be shown in their relative positions. The surrounding driveways, streets, and sidings shall also be indicated on the plat.

§ 178.81 Floor plan. The plan shall include a description of each room, or of each floor of each building, which constitute the bonded premises, including the dimensions of the room or floor, the location of all doors, windows, or other openings, and how the same are secured. The location of Government locks, if any, should be indicated by the letters "GL." If the construction of all floors in a single building is identical, a typical floor plan may be filed in lieu of a separate plan for each floor.

§ 178.82 Equipment. The plan must also show the location, serial numbers, and capacities of all tanks in the fortifying room and in the vermouth department, and the course of all fixed pipe lines used for conveying wine or brandy to or wine from the fortifying room or wine to or vermouth from the vermouth department. All fixed pipe lines used for conveying wine from or to the bonded premises and between buildings on the premises must also be shown. All such pipe lines must traverse bonded premises throughout their entire lengths, except when authorized to cross a public highway. The location, serial numbers, and capacities of all fermenters and storage tanks, wine presses, and other winemaking or storage equipment must be shown or indicated on the plan by drawing or wording. For example, where a number of tanks are located in a room, the approximate location of each tank may be shown on the plan by a circle or square, and the kind, serial number, and capacity of the tank indicated within the circle or square or elsewhere on the plan, or the fact that the tanks are located within the room may be indicated by wording, giving the kinds, serial numbers, and capacities of the tanks. Where a large number of tanks of different capacities are located in the room and such is indicated by wording, the range of capacity of the tanks may be stated on the plan (but not on Form 698) in lieu of the capacity of each tank.

§ 178.83 Contiguous premises. Where a distillery, internal revenue bonded warehouse, industrial alcohol plant or warehouse, tax-paid bottling house, or rectifying plant are maintained on contiguous premises, the relative position of such premises and the winery or storeroom premises and all pipe line connections between the premises must be shown on the plat or plan, but the distillery, industrial alcohol plant, warehouse, bottling house, and rectifying plant construction and equipment need not be described. The pipe line used for conveying brandy from the distillery or warehouse to the fortifying room shall be painted black and shown in such color on the plan. Where the bonded premises consist of a portion of a building or adjoin other premises, such surroundings must be depicted and the bonded area shown in a contrasting color.

§ 178.84 Certificate of accuracy. Each sheet of every plat and plan, whether original, supplemental, or superseding, shall bear a certificate of accuracy, signed by the proprietor and the district supervisor. If the plat and plan are prepared by a draftsman, he, too, shall sign the certificate. The certificate shall be placed in the lower right-hand corner of each sheet and shall be in the following form:

------ District ----------, 19--.

We hereby certify that this is an accurate original, supplemental, or superseding [1] sheet No. ------ of the plat or plan [1] of Bonded Winery, Storeroom, or Field Warehouse [1] No. -----, of ----------, at ----------

(Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

CHANGE IN BONDED PREMISES

§ 178.85 Change in location. If the location of the bonded premises is to be changed, the proprietor must file application, Form 698, for approval of the new premises. The application must be supported by a new bond on Form 700–A, or consent of surety on Form 1533, extending the terms of the existing bond to cover the new premises. A plat and plan of the new premises, conforming fully with the requirements herein prescribed in the case of the establishment of a bonded winery or storeroom, must likewise be filed. Where it is impracticable to file an accurate plat and plan of the new premises with the application and bond, the district supervisor may approve the application and bond and permit the use of the premises for a temporary period, pending the filing and approval of an accurate plat and plan, if, upon inspection, the construction of the new premises is found to be such that the wines to be stored or produced therein will be securely protected. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.86 Extension or curtailment of premises. Where it is desired to extend or curtail the bonded premises or to take in or cut off a room or building on the bonded premises, a new application, Form 698, plat and plan, or supplemental plat and plan, must be filed by the proprietor. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.87 Changes in equipment. When material changes are to be made in the winemaking, vermouth processing, or storage facilities, or in the fortifying room or equipment (including the brandy storage room), such as the removal or addition of tanks, changes in the measurement and capacity of tanks, or in the size of rooms, the proprietor shall make report thereof, in triplicate, to the district supervisor. Upon approval, the district supervisor will return one copy of the report to the winemaker for attachment to the copy of Form 698 retained at the bonded premises, forward one copy to the Commissioner, and retain the other copy in his office for filing with Form 698. The Commissioner or district supervisor may at any time require the filing of a new application, plat and plan. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

[1] Strike out inapplicable words.

§ 178.88 Change in status. Where it is desired to change the status (designation) of the bonded premises, as from a bonded winery to a bonded storeroom or a bonded field warehouse, or from a bonded storeroom to a bonded field warehouse, or the reverse of any such change, the proprietor must file application, Form 698, for approval of the change, together with a new bond or consent of surety and adoption of the plat and plan. The date on which it is desired to make such change in status should be specified on the application, Form 698, which application with a new bond or consent of surety should be filed with the district supervisor in ample time to permit examination and approval before the date on which it is desired to make the change effective. Form 698 shall also be filed to show discontinuance of business under the former status of the premises. (Secs. 3040, 2815 (c), I.R.C.)

§ 178.89 Approval required. No change shall be made in the location or status of the bonded premises, nor shall the bonded premises be extended or curtailed or changes made in the fortifying room or equipment, or in fixed pipe lines, prior to the approval of such changes by the district supervisor: Provided, That the district supervisor may require prior approval of other changes. (Secs. 3040, 2815 (c), I.R.C.)

Use of Trade Names

§ 178.91 Operation. Bonded wineries may be operated permanently under a trade name. Where the permanent trade name is changed, the procedure prescribed in § 178.90 shall be followed. Because of the nature of wine manufacture, involving usually a long period of cellar treatment, which may include amelioration, fortification, blending with other wines, etc., bonded wineries may not be operated simultaneously nor alternately under two or more trade names for the production of wine.

§ 178.92 Packing. Where a bonded winery or storeroom is operated in the real name of the winemaker and his permit authorizes the use of a trade name or names, and such trade name or names is specified in the winemaker's application on Form 698, he may pack (that is, fill containers of a capacity of more than 1 gallon for removal) and mark or label wines under such trade name or names: Provided, That on the package the trade name shall be preceded by the words "Packed by," and followed by the registry number and location of the winery or storeroom. Wines may be similarly packed and marked or labeled where the bonded winery or storeroom is operated under a permanent trade name and it is desired to use another approved trade name or names. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.93 Bottling. Where a bonded winery or storeroom is operated in the real name of the winemaker and his permit authorizes the use of a trade name or names, and such trade name or names is specified in the winemaker's application on Form 698, he may bottle (that is, fill containers of 1 gallon or less capacity for removal) and label wines under such trade name or names: Provided, That on both the labels and the cases the trade name shall be preceded by the words "Bottled by," and followed by the location or the registry number and State of the winery or storeroom. When wines are so bottled under a trade name, the registry number of the premises shall be shown on the case. Wines may be similarly bottled and labeled where the bonded winery or storeroom is operated under a permanent trade name and it is desired to use another approved trade name or names. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.94 Production. Containers of wine, including bottles, may not be marked or labeled as produced under a trade name, unless the winery was actually registered and operated under such trade name at the time the wines were produced. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

CHANGES IN PROPRIETORSHIP

§ 178.95 Change in proprietorship. Where there is any change in the proprietorship of the business, as shown by the last application, Form 698, the same steps must be taken as in the case of new premises, except that the new proprietor may adopt the plat and plan on file where they accurately describe and depict the premises, buildings, and equipment. Such adoption shall be in writing, in triplicate, and shall include a certification as to the accuracy of the plat and plan adopted. One copy of the adoption shall be attached to the plat and plan at the premises, and two copies shall be forwarded with the new application, Form 698, to the district supervisor, who will transmit one copy to the Commissioner. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032 (a), 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.96 Change in partnership. The withdrawal of one or more members of a partnership or the taking in of a new partner, whether active or silent, shall constitute a change in proprietorship. Likewise, except as provided in paragraph (a), the death, bankruptcy, or adjudicated insolvency of one or more of the copartners results in a dissolution of the partnership and, consequently, a change in proprietorship. Where such a change in proprietorship of the premises occurs, the successor must qualify in the same manner as a new applicant.

(a) Exception. Where, under the laws of the particular State, the partnership is not terminated on the death or insolvency of a partner, but continues until the winding up of the partnership affairs is completed, and the surviving partner has the exclusive right to the control and possession of the partnership assets for the purpose of liquidation and settlement, such surviving partner may continue to operate the winery or storeroom for such purpose under the prior qualification of the partnership, and the bond already on file will be considered sufficient, provided a consent of surety, wherein the surety and the surviving partner agree to remain liable on the bond, is filed. If such surviving partner acquires the business upon completion of the settlement of the partnership, he must qualify in his own name from the date of acquisition and give a new bond on Form 700–A. The same rule shall apply where there is more than one surviving partner. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032 (a), 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.97 Reincorporation. Where a corporation is reorganized and a new charter or certificate of incorporation is secured, the new corporation must qualify in the same manner as a new applicant. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032 (a), 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.98 Fiduciary. If an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, is appointed to take over the business, and intends to produce, possess, or dispose of wine on the premises, he must qualify as the proprietor of the bonded premises and otherwise comply with the provisions of these regulations, except that the fiduciary may furnish consent of surety extending the terms of his predecessor's bond to cover his operations and he may adopt the plat and plan, in lieu of filing a new bond and a new plat and plan. Such consent of surety must conform to the requirements of § 178.70, and be executed by both the fiduciary and the surety. The fiduciary should furnish certified copies, in triplicate, of the order of the court or other pertinent documents showing his qualification as such fiduciary. The effective date of the qualifying documents filed by a fiduciary should be the same as the date of the court order, or the date specified therein, for him to assume control.

(1) Exception. Receivers appointed to wind up the business, that is, to dispose of the wine on hand, including any cellar treatment necessary to put the wine in a merchantable condition, and who do not intend to produce or fortify any wine or receive any wine in bond from other bonded premises, may, upon filing a statement to such effect, or a copy of the court order directing them to so wind up the business, with the district supervisor, be exempted from qualifying as the proprietor of the bonded premises, as required in the preceding paragraph, provided a consent of surety, wherein the surety and the receiver agree to remain liable on the bond, is filed.

(a) Federal Alcohol Administration Act permit. If the fiduciary intends to engage in the business of producing or blending wine or of purchasing wine for resale at wholesale, and to operate the business for more than 30 days, he must file application for a new permit, in accordance with Regulations No. 1 (27 CFR, Part 1), issued under the provisions of the Federal Alcohol Administration Act.

(b) Failure of receiver or trustee to qualify. In the event a receiver in bankruptcy or a trustee fails to qualify, as required herein, within a reasonable time, the district supervisor will request the United States attorney to petition the court, under whose jurisdiction the receiver or trustee is functioning, to direct the receiver or trustee to comply with the above requirements. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032 (a), 3033, 3171, I.R.C.; sec. 3, 49 State. 978 (27 U.S.C. Supp. 203).)

§ 178.99 Other changes in status of proprietorship. Where it is desired to change the status of the proprietorship of the business, as from a sole ownership to a partnership, or from a sole ownership or a partnership to a corporation, or the reverse of any such change, or any other change in the proprietorship status, the new proprietorship must qualify in the same manner as a new applicant by filing a new application, Form 698, bond, plat and plan, or adoption of the plat and plan on file, together with other qualifying papers. Changes in stockholders of a corporation do not constitute a change in proprietorship, but prompt notice must be given to the district supervisor of any change in stockholders which results in a change in the control of the business. (Secs. 3040, 3031 (a), 3032 (a), 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.100 Effective date of change. Changes in the proprietorship or in the status of the proprietorship of the business shall not be effective until the required qualifying documents covering the change have been filed with and approved by the district supervisor. Proprietors should file the necessary qualifying papers with the district supervisor in ample time to permit their examination and approval before the date on which it is desired to make the change effective; otherwise, all operations must be suspended until the qualifying papers of the new proprietor have been approved. (Secs. 3040, 2815 (c), I.R.C.)

§ 178.101 Notice, Form 698—(a) Outgoing proprietor. Where there is a change in the proprietorship or the status of the proprietorship of the business, the outgoing proprietor must submit Form 698, in triplicate, to the district supervisor, stating the purpose of the form to be "Transfer of business to_____ (Successor) effective_____ (Date)," and inserting the name of the successor and the effective date of the change in proprietorship.

(b) Incoming proprietor. The incoming (new) proprietor shall file Form 698, in triplicate, with the district supervisor, as provided herein, and otherwise qualify, including the filing of application for permit, in the same manner as the proprietor of a new winery or storeroom, except as provided in §§ 178.95 to 178.102, inclusive. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.102 Records, Forms 701, 702, 702A, 702B, and 261. The final report (Forms 701, 702, 702A, 702B, or 261) of the former proprietor shall be marked "Final Report," and the first report of the new proprietor shall be marked "First Report." Both reports shall bear a notation of the change in proprietorship. Any wines or brandy on hand at the time of the change in proprietorship shall be shown (a) in the final report of the former proprietor, as transferred to the new proprietor, and (b) in the first report of the new proprietor, as received from the former proprietor. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

DISCONTINUANCE OF BONDED PREMISES

§ 178.103 Notice, Form 698. When the proprietor desires to discontinue operation of the bonded winery or storeroom, all wines and brandy must be lawfully removed (or used, in the case of brandy) from the premises, and any outstanding approved Forms 257 authorizing the transfer of brandy to the winery must be procured from the distillery or warehouse to which they were sent and returned to the district supervisor for cancellation. When such disposition has been made of all wines, brandy, and outstanding Forms 257, the proprietor shall file notice of discontinuance on Form 698, in triplicate, with the district supervisor, stating therein the purpose of the form to be "Discontinuance of Bonded Premises," and giving the date the discontinuance is to be effective. The proprietor shall certify on Form 698 that (a) all wines and brandy have been lawfully removed (or used, in the case of brandy), (b) there are no wines or brandy in transit to the bonded premises, and (c) there are no outstanding approved Forms 257 in his possession or at any distillery or bonded warehouse, authorizing the transfer of brandy to his bonded premises. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.104 Wine stamps. Where wine stamps remain on hand when the premises are to be discontinued, the stamps should be disposed of in accordance with §§ 178.409 to 178.412, inclusive, and the disposition reported on Form 702.

§ 178.105 Final reports. Forms 701, 702, 702A, 702B, and 261. The last monthly report submitted by the proprietor on Forms 701, 702, 702A, 702B, and 261 shall be marked "Final Report." (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.106 Inspection and removal of Government property. Upon receipt of Notice, Form 698, of discontinuance of a bonded winery or storeroom, the district supervisor will assign a Government officer to remove any Government locks, keys, seals, gauging instruments, records, and other Government property from the premises and to make an inspection of the premises to determine that all wines and brandy on hand have been lawfully disposed of.

§ 178.106a Approval of Form 698. Where the inspection determines that all wines and brandy on hand have been lawfully disposed of and that there are no wines or brandy in transit to the bonded premises, nor any outstanding approved Forms 257 authorizing the transfer of brandy to the bonded premises, the district supervisor will approve Form 698, retain one copy for his files, return one copy to the proprietor, and forward one copy to the Commissioner. Upon approval of Form 698, the proprietor's bond on Form 700–A (or Form 699 or 700) shall be released as to transactions occurring wholly subsequent to the effective date of discontinuance of the bonded premises and notice of termination of the bond may be issued as provided in §§ 178.116 to 178.123, inclusive.

ACTION BY DISTRICT SUPERVISOR

Original Establishment

§ 178.107 Investigation of applicant. The district supervisor's inquiry and investigation under §§ 178.74 to 178.77, inclusive, relative to approving or disapproving a winemaker's bond filed with an application on Form 698 to establish a bonded winery, in conjunction with which an application was filed for a permit under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, shall include the procurement of sufficient information to pass upon the application for permit under such act. Where such information indicates that the permit application should be approved, the issuance of the permit will be withheld pending approval of the qualifying documents required by this part. Where sufficient evidence is developed by the investigation to justify disapproval of the permit application, action will be taken in accordance with the provisions of regulations issued under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act. Action on and disposition of Form 698 and other qualifying documents required by this part, will be taken in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.107 to 178.115, inclusive.

§ 178.107a Disapproval of bond. Where record is found of a violation or offense which warrants disapproval of a winemaker's bond under §§ 178.74 to 178.77, inclusive, the district supervisor will note his disapproval on each copy of the bond, and will return all copies of the bond, application (Form 698), and other qualifying documents, without further action thereon, to the winemaker with a statement of his reasons for disapproving the bond. (Sec. 2815 (d), I.R.C.)

§ 178.108 Examination of qualifying documents. If the inquiry and investigation of the applicant under §§ 178.74 to 178.77, inclusive, and § 178.107, indicates that the winemaker's bond and application for permit may be approved, the district supervisor will examine the application, plat, plans (if any), bond, and other documents required to be filed by persons desiring to establish a bonded winery or bonded storeroom to determine whether they have been properly executed, and whether they reflect compliance with the requirements of the law and regulations. Where any required document has not been filed, or where errors or discrepancies are found in those filed, or where the documents filed do not reflect compliance with this part, action thereon will be held in abeyance until the omission, or error or discrepancy, has been rectified, and there has been full compliance with all requirements. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.109 Inspection of premises. When the bond and application for permit may be approved and required documents are in proper form, the district supervisor will assign an inspector to examine the premises, buildings, apparatus, and equipment, to determine whether they conform with the description thereof in the application, plat, and plans (if any), and whether the construction and measures of protection afforded meet the requirements of this part. The inspector will observe particularly the manner in which the rooms or buildings on the bonded premises are separated from contiguous premises, means of communication, ingress and egress, adequacy of protection afforded, windows, doors, and other openings, construction of apparatus, and equipment provided. Where the inspection discloses minor irregularities in the qualifying documents or in the construction, etc., the inspector will, at the time of their discovery, direct the attention of the proprietor to the same in order that they may be corrected before completion of the inspection. Upon completion of the inspection, the inspector will submit a report thereof to the district supervisor.

§ 178.110 Report of inspection. The report of the inspection shall describe separately all irregularities and discrepancies found and not corrected during the course of the inspection, and shall include a complete statement describing any unusual or special conditions. The report need not describe in detail each description as set forth in the notice, plat, and plans (if any). The description of buildings and equipment in the report should be general and brief. However, construction, equipment, signs, etc., which are not in conformity with the regulations, will be completely described. If there are any pipe lines or other connections or openings between the bonded premises and other premises, the same shall be described in detail. There shall be further embodied in the report a statement as to whether or not another business is being conducted, or is intended to be conducted, on the bonded premises or in buildings thereon.

§ 178.111 Inaccurate documents. Where the district supervisor's examination, or the inspector's report, discloses discrepancies in the qualifying documents, the inaccurate or incomplete documents will be returned to the proprietor for correction. A record will be kept of all bonds so returned.

§ 178.112 Defective construction. Where it is found that the construction of the winery or storeroom or the equipment does not conform to the requirements of this part, the district supervisor will inform the proprietor concerning the defects, and further action will be held in abeyance pending correction thereof.

§ 178.113 Approval of qualifying documents. If the district supervisor finds, upon examination of the inspection report and the prescribed qualifying documents, that the applicant has complied in all respects with the requirements of the law and these regulations, including the furnishing of a proper bond as prescribed in §§ 178.46 to 178.60, inclusive, and if he further finds that the bond may properly be approved under §§ 178.74 to 178.77, inclusive, he will enter the registry number assigned to the premises on each copy of the application and will indorse his approval on each copy of the application, bond, plat, and plan (if any). The district supervisor will retain one copy of each document, forward one copy of each to the Commissioner with a copy of the inspection report, and return one copy of each (except the inspector's report) to the proprietor to be kept at the winery or storeroom readily accessible to Government officers. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.114 Disapproval of qualifying documents. If the applicant fails to comply in all respects with the requirements of the law and regulations, the district supervisor will note his disapproval on all copies of the application, and if the bond is defective, the district supervisor will also enter his disapproval on all copies of the bond. If the plat, and plan (if any), or other qualifying documents are defective, the district supervisor will likewise indorse his disapproval on all copies of such papers. Upon such disapproval, the district supervisor will retain one copy of each document (except the bond), and return the remaining copies, with all copies of the bond, to the applicant with a statement of his reasons for disapproval. Where the winemaker's bond is disapproved under §§ 178.74 to 178.77, inclusive, action will be taken in accordance with § 178.107a. (Secs. 3040, 2815 (d), I.R.C.)

Changes Subsequent to Establishment

§ 178.115 Procedure applicable. The provisions of §§ 178.107 to 178.115, inclusive, respecting action by district supervisors in connection with the establishment of a bonded winery or storeroom will be followed, to the extent applicable, where there is a change in name, proprietorship, location, premises, construction, apparatus and equipment, or type of plant: Provided, That the district supervisor will assign an inspector to examine the premises, etc., in only those cases where such inspection is deemed necessary. The copies of the application, bond, plat, and plan, or other documents covering such changes will be disposed of by the district supervisor in the same manner as original qualifying documents.

TERMINATION OF BONDS

§ 178.116 Winemaker's bonds, Form 700–A. Bonds filed by proprietors of bonded wineries and storerooms on Form 700–A, or a prior series (Forms 699 and 700), may be terminated as to liability (a) after a specified future date pursuant to application by the surety, as provided in § 178.119, (b) for transactions subsequent to the effective date of an approved superseding bond, or (c) for future transactions upon discontinuance of business by the principal and removal of all wines and brandy from the winery or storeroom.

§ 178.117 Export bonds, Form 186. Bonds covering wines removed for export and for use on certain vessels and aircraft, Form 186, may be terminated by the district supervisor when no further withdrawals are to be made thereunder, provided that the accounts kept with the bond in accordance with §§ 178.270 and 178.303, show that there are no outstanding charges. Where there has been a loss or a deficiency, the bond will not be canceled by the district supervisor until advice has been received from the collector of internal revenue that the tax has been paid thereon.

§ 178.118 Bonds covering transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses, Form 1580. Bonds covering wines removed for transfer to a customs manufacturing bonded warehouse, Form 1580, may be terminated by the district supervisor when no further withdrawals are to be made thereunder: Provided, That the account kept with the bond in accordance with § 178.289 shows that there are no outstanding charges. Where there has been a loss or deficiency in transit the bond will not be canceled by the district supervisor until advice has been received from the collector of internal revenue that the tax has been paid thereon.

§ 178.119 Application of surety for relief from bond. The surety on any bond required by this part may at any time, in writing, notify the principal and the district supervisor in whose office the bond is on file that he desires, after a date named, which shall be at least 60 days after the date of such notification, to be relieved of liability under said bond. The notice shall be executed in triplicate by the surety, who shall deliver one copy to the principal and two copies to the district supervisor, who will retain one copy and transmit one copy to the Commissioner. This notice may not be given by an agent of the surety unless it is accompanied by a power of attorney, duly executed by the surety, authorizing him to give such notice, or by a verified statement that such power of attorney is on file with the Department. The surety must also file with the district supervisor an acknowledgment or other proof of service of such notice on the principal.

(a) Extent of release from liability. If such notice is not thereafter in writing withdrawn, the rights of the principal as supported by said bond shall be terminated on the date named in the notice, and the surety shall be relieved (1) in the case of a winemaker's bond, Form 700–A, from liability for wines produced at, or wines and brandy consigned to, the bonded winery or storeroom wholly subsequent to the date named in the notice, (2) in the case of an export bond, Form 186, from liability for wines removed for export or for use on certain vessels and aircraft wholly subsequent to the date named in the notice, and (3) in the case of a bond covering transportation to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses, Form 1580, from liability for wines removed for transportation to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses wholly subsequent to the date named in the notice. If the winemaker files a valid superseding bond on Form 700–A, prior to the date named in the surety's notice, the surety shall also be relieved from liability for wines and brandy on hand or in transit to the bonded winery or storeroom on said date. If the principal fails to file such superseding bond, the surety, notwithstanding his release from liability as specified in condition (1) above, shall continue to remain liable under the bond for all wine and brandy on hand or in transit to the bonded winery or storeroom on said date, until such wine and brandy have been lawfully disposed of or a new bond has been filed by the principal covering the same. Liability under bonds on Forms 186 and 1580 for wines removed thereunder prior to the date named in the surety's notice shall continue until such wines are properly accounted for, regardless of whether the principal files a superseding bond.

(b) Notice of release from liability—(1) Bond, Form 700–A. In the case of winemaker's bonds on Form 700–A, if the principal files a valid superseding bond prior to the date named in the surety's notice, the district supervisor will issue "Notice of Release" on Form 1491, in accordance with § 178.122 (a). Where the principal fails to file such superseding bond, the district supervisor will, by letter, notify the surety of such fact and of his continued liability under the bond for wines and brandy on hand or in transit to the winery or storeroom on said date. The district supervisor will also at such time notify the winemaker that no more wines may be produced, or wines and brandy consigned to the bonded winery or storeroom, until a valid bond is filed. The district supervisor will forward a copy of each such letter to the Commissioner.

(2) Bonds, Forms 186 and 1580. In the case of bonds on Forms 186 and 1580, the district supervisor will issue "Notice of Termination" on Form 1490, in accordance with § 178.122 (b).

§ 178.120 Application for notice of termination. Where the principal on a bond has filed a proper superseding bond in lieu of a previously filed bond or has discontinued business, or where, in the case of export bonds and bonds covering transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses, the bond may be canceled under § 178.117 or § 178.118, as the case may be, and the principal or surety desires to secure notice of termination of the bond for which the principal no longer has any use, application therefor, in writing, should be made to the district supervisor. The application should be made in duplicate where it is desired to secure the issuance of notice of the termination of a winemaker's bond.

§ 178.121 Action on application for notice of termination—(a) Winemaker's bond. When an application for the issuance of notice of the termination of a winemaker's bond, as to liability for future transactions, is filed with the district supervisor in accordance with the provisions of § 178.120, the district supervisor will, before forwarding the application to the Commissioner, make a complete examination of the records of his office to determine whether there is any liability outstanding against the bond. He will also ascertain from the collector of internal revenue whether there are any outstanding, unpaid assessments or demands for taxes on wines produced or received, or brandy received, under the bond. If it is found that any such wines or brandy have not been accounted for, or that outstanding assessments or demands for payment of taxes chargeable against the bond have not been paid, the district supervisor will recommend disapproval of the application, unless the liability is settled. The district supervisor will retain one copy of the application and forward one copy to the Commissioner with his recommendation. The district supervisor will not issue a notice of termination of any winemaker's bond until he has been notified of the Commissioner's approval of the application therefor.

(b) Export or transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouse bond. When an application for notice of the termination of an export bond, or bond covering transfer to a customs manufacturing bonded warehouse, is filed with the district supervisor, he will examine his records to determine whether the required evidence of exportation or deposit in the manufacturing warehouse, as the case may be, of the wines withdrawn under the bond, has been filed, and if there were deficiencies, whether notice of payment of the tax has been received from the collector of internal revenue.

§ 178.122 Notice of termination—(a) Winemaker's bond. Upon receipt of advice from the Commissioner of his approval of an application for the issuance of notice of the termination of a winemaker's bond, Form 700–A, as to liability for future transactions, the district supervisor will execute "Notice of Termination" on Form 1490 where a superseding bond has been approved, or "Notice of Release" on Form 1491 where the principal has discontinued business and removed all the wines and brandy from the bonded winery or storeroom, in quadruplicate (in quintuplicate if there are two sureties), and will forward the original to the Commissioner, one copy to each obligor on the bond, and retain one copy on file in his office with the bond to which it relates.

(b) Export or transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouse bond. Where an application for the issuance of notice of the termination of an export bond, or bond covering transportation to a customs manufacturing warehouse, has been filed with the district supervisor, and he has found that the bond may canceled under § 178.117 or § 178.118, as the case may be, he will issue Form 1490 as provided above.

§ 178.123 Release of collateral—(a) Winemaker's bond. The release of collateral pledged and deposited with the United States to support bonds required by these regulations will be in accordance with the provisions of Department Circular No. 154, revised (31 CFR, Part 225), subject to the conditions governing the issuance of notices on Forms 1490 and 1491 of the termination of such bonds. Collateral pledged and deposited to support a winemaker's bond (Form 700–A) will not be released by the district supervisor, until the Commissioner authorizes such action. The release of the security in the case of such bond will not be authorized until all wines produced or received, and all brandy received, while the bond was in force and effect, have been duly accounted for. When an application for release of collateral deposited in support of a winemaker's bond (Form 700–A) is received by the district supervisor, he will determine whether all wines and brandy have been accounted for and all outstanding liabilities settled, and will forward the application to the Commissioner with his recommendation.

(b) Export or transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouse bonds. Collateral pledged and deposited to support export bonds, or bonds covering transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses, may be released by the district supervisor without prior authorization of the Commissioner. The collateral in such cases will ordinarily be released upon issuance of notice of release of the bond, Form 1491. (Sec. 1126, Stat. 122; 6 U.S.C. 15)

SWEETENING MATERIALS, CHEMICALS, ETC.

§ 178.124 Storage room. Where sugar or condensed must for use in the manufacture or treatment of wine is stored on the winery premises, a room for the storage of such materials must be provided, except as provided in § 178.126. All sweetening materials received at the winery must be stored in such room, except as provided in § 178.126 or where the Commissioner or district supervisor, upon application, authorizes the storage of such materials elsewhere in the winery.

§ 178.125 Forms 261, 701, and 702. All sweetening materials received, used, and on hand at the winery must be reported by the winemaker on Form 261. The use of sweetening materials shall also be reported on Form 701 or 702. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.126 Condensed must. Pure boiled or condensed must, intended for amelioration or sweetening, may, if desired, be stored in containers properly marked and identified as "Condensed must tanks," followed by the kind of material, on the winery premises, outside the storage room for sweetening materials.

§ 178.127 Chemicals, etc. Where chemicals, preservatives, and other materials are used in the cellar treatment of wine, as authorized in these regulations, a complete record of the purchase and receipt thereof must be kept at the bonded premises, available for inspection by Government officers. This record shall show the kinds and quantities of chemicals and other materials received, the dates of receipt, and the names and addresses of the persons from whom purchased. Invoices covering purchases should be retained in connection with the record. Acids (including tannin) and neutralizing agents must be stored in the sweetening materials storage room and record of their use must be kept in accordance with §§ 178.138 (a), 178.139 (a), and 178.205 (d). (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

PAYMENT OF SPECIAL (OCCUPATIONAL) TAXES

§ 178.128 Wholesale and retail liquor dealer. Except as provided in § 178.129, proprietors of bonded wineries, bonded storerooms, or bonded field warehouses, who sell wines must file returns on Form 11, "Special Tax Return," and pay special (occupational) taxes as wholesale liquor dealer or retail liquor dealer, or both, in accordance with Regulations 20 (26 CFR, Part 194) governing the payment of such special taxes. (Secs. 3250 (a), (b), (g), 3270, 3271, 3272, I.R.C.)

§ 178.129 Exemption of winemaker. Qualified winemakers who sell wines of their own production at the bonded premises where the same are made or at the general business office of such winemaker, are exempt from these special taxes; but no winemaker shall be exempt from such special tax for the sale of such wines at more than one place. The term "own production" is held to include wines produced by the winemaker as follows: (a) still wine produced by fermentation of fruits and berries or their juices; (b) champagne and sparkling wine produced by fermentation of wine within a closed container; (c) carbonated wine produced by artificially carbonating wine; (d) vermouth produced in accordance with this part; (e) still wine produced by such blending or other cellar treatment of purchased wine that changes the character of the wines. Where a winemaker operates more than one bonded premise, the exemption is applicable to the wines produced at each winery. This exemption does not apply to the sale by such winemakers of finished wines purchased from others and resold by them without such blending or other cellar treatment that changes the character of the wines. When the exemption is claimed on the sale of such purchased wines, the winemaker shall maintain at the winery or storeroom a record of any blending or other cellar treatment of the wines. (Sec. 3250 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.130 Place of exemption. Unless the exemption is claimed elsewhere by the winemaker, it will be presumed that the exemption is claimed for the bonded premises where the wine is made. Where the exemption is claimed for a place other than the bonded premises, the special tax must be paid at the bonded premises, if sales are made thereat. (Sec. 3250 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.131 Annual special tax. The special-tax year commences on July 1 of each year and ends on June 30 of the next year. All persons liable for special tax must file Form 11 with the collector of internal revenue and pay the special tax to him not later than July 31 of each year. Payment must be made in cash, or by post office money order or certified check; uncertified checks will not be accepted. The Form 11, with remittance, must be actually received by the collector not later than the last day of the month. Special taxes become due on the 1st day of July in each year and payment thereof is evidenced by special-tax stamps issued by the collector. (Sec. 3271 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.132 Business commenced after July 31. Where business is commenced after July 31, the tax will be computed ratably from the first day of the month in which business was commenced to June 30 following. In such cases, Form 11, Special Tax Return, must be filed with, and received by, the collector and the tax paid to him not later than the last day of the month in which business was commenced. (Sec. 3271 (b), I.R.C.)

PRODUCTION AND AMELIORATION OF WINE

General

§ 178.133 Materials. Wine shall be made by the fermentation of fruits or berries or their juice (or other agricultural products, as provided in § 178.147), with or without the addition of sugar, water, sugar-water solution, or condensed must, but the principal wine-producing material shall be the fruit or berries or the juice thereof in each instance. Products may not be made on bonded winery premises by fermenting grains, molasses, malts, and cereals. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 2809 (a) (b), 2834, 3254 (d), 3155, I.R.C.)

§ 178.134 Sugar, sugar-water solution, etc. Dry sugar, water, sugar-water solution, and pure condensed must may be added to the principal wine-producing material. Sections 3036 (a), 3044, and 3045, I. R. C., prescribe limitations regarding the use of sugar in the amelioration of pure sweet wine, natural wine, and fruit and berry wines, defined in those sections. While sugar may be used in excess of such limitations in the production of a nonstandard wine or a substandard wine, sugar may not be used as the principal wine-producing material. The aggregate weight of the sugar (including that in a sugar-water solution) used before and during fermentation in the production of nonstandard wine or substandard wine must be less than the weight of the fruit or berries or the juice thereof. Additional sugar may be used after fermentation for sweetening. In the manufacture of pure sweet wine, natural wine, and fruit and berry wines, in accordance with §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, only pure cane, beet, or dextrose sugar (containing, respectively, not less than 95 per cent of actual sugar, calculated on a dry basis) may be used and only as authorized in those sections. Wine may not be ameliorated or sweetened after fortification. Corn sugar containing less than 95 per cent of actual sugar calculated on a dry basis, invert sugar levulose, or glucose may not be used in the manufacture of standard wines; and when used in the manufacture of nonstandard wine, the wine must be labeled to show the use thereof. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 2809 (a) (b), 2834, I.R.C.)

§ 178.135 Pure condensed must. Pure condensed must (concentrate made by removing water only from fruit or berry juice and without addition of any foreign substance) may be used as a principal wine-producing material or as an ameliorating or sweetening agent. The condensed must, whether used as a principal wine-producing material or as an ameliorating or sweetening agent, may not contain caramel coloring (either added or produced by burning the condensed must) or any other foreign coloring or flavoring material or other substance. Winemakers manufacturing or purchasing dark concentrate should have such concentrate tested for caramel before using it. As provided in § 178.154, when condensed must is used as the principal material in producing a standard wine, the quantity of water added to dilute the concentrate shall not exceed the quantity of water removed in the process of concentration, and the winemaker shall procure a statement from the concentrate producer showing the Balling content of the original juice, in order that he may be able to dilute the concentrate to the original consistency (volume) of the juice. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.136 Essences, flavoring, coloring, etc. Winemakers may not add essences, extracts, flavoring, coloring matter, or similar nonfermentable materials to wine (including the juice or fruit) on bonded premises, before, during, or after fermentation. The addition of such materials to wine, or to the juice or fruit from which the wine is made, makes the product a spurious, imitation, or compound liquor within the meaning and contemplation of section 3254 (g), I.R.C., and for that reason constitutes rectification. If a winemaker desires to add such materials to wine, he must tax-pay and remove the wine to a rectifying plant, where the materials may be added and the rectification tax of 30 cents a proof gallon paid on the finished product. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.137 Vermouth. The restrictions relative to the addition of essences, flavoring, coloring material, etc., to wine do not apply to the production of vermouth in the vermouth department of a bonded winery, since the law makes special provision therefor. The authority of law to manufacture vermouth in a separate department of a bonded winery may not be construed as authorizing the manufacture of products similar to vermouth, nor the flavoring or coloring of wine. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.138 Acids. If the fruit or berries or the juice thereof, used to make wine, has a natural deficiency of acid, and water or sugar-water solution is not added in perfecting the wine made from such fruit, berries, or juice, the addition of a small amount of acid of the same kind as that naturally contained in the fruit, berries, or juice, to the extent necessary to correct the natural deficiency, is considered a proper cellar treatment. When juice, must, or wines are so treated, only tartaric, malic, or citric acid may be added to grape wines, only malic acid to apple wines, only citric acid to citrus-fruit wines, and only citric or malic acid to other fruit and berry wines. Where water or sugar-water solution is used in producing wine (perfecting according to commercial standards), the addition of acid to supply the deficiency arising from dilution is not for the purpose of correcting natural deficiencies in the juice, and, therefore, is not permissible on bonded winery premises.

(a) Records. When acid is added to correct a natural deficiency of acid in the fruit or berries or the juice thereof, as authorized in this section, the winemaker shall keep a record showing (1) the date of use, the kind and quantity of acid used, and the kinds and quantities of wine in which used, (2) whether the wines were ameliorated with water or a sugar and water solution, and (3) the acid content of the wines both before and after the addition of the acid. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.139 Neutralizing, sterilizing, and preserving agents. Neutralizing agents which do not render wine injurious to health, such as neutral potassium tartrate or calcium carbonate, may be used to reduce excessive acidity of wine. Sterilizing and preserving agents, such as sulphur dioxide, potassium metabisulphite, or sodium metabisulphite, may be used in limited quantities.

(a) Records. When neutralizing agents are used to reduce excessive acidity in wine, as authorized in this section, the winemaker shall keep a record showing (1) the date of use, the kind and quantity of the neutralizing agent used, and the kinds and quantities of wine in which used, and (2) the acid content of the wine both before and after use of the neutralizing agent. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.140 Containers. Tanks and other containers used for fermenting, storing, or shipping one kind of wine, such as grape wine, blackberry wine, loganberry wine, apple wine, etc., must not be used for the fermentation, storage, or shipment of another kind of wine, unless the containers are first so cleaned or otherwise treated that the wine will not absorb from the container any of the characteristics, including flavor, color, acids, etc., of the wine formerly contained therein. The presence of characteristic elements or ingredients, such as tartaric acid, flavor, color, etc., of one kind of wine in another kind of wine to which such characteristic elements or ingredients are foreign, will render the winemaker liable to rectification taxes and preclude the marketing and labeling of the wine under a standard designation of kind. See § 178.224 respecting the use of barrels previously used for the storage of distilled spirits. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.141 Fortification of wines. Tax-free brandy and tax-paid alcohol may be used on bonded winery premises in the fortification of only those wines defined in sections 3036 (a), 3044, and 3045, I.R.C., and §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145. (Secs. 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

STANDARD WINES

§ 178.142 General. The provisions of §§ 178.143 to 178.147, and section 21, classes 1 to 6, Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), must be followed in the production of wines intended for marketing under a class or type designation for standard wine. Where a wine is not made within the provisions of §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, a statement of formula and process must be filed on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, with the district supervisor in accordance with § 178.156, and the packages containing such wine must be marked, and the bottles labeled, to show the kind of wine in accordance with Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.143 Pure sweet wine. Pure sweet wine is the product of the fermentation or partial fermentation of grape juice only, with the usual cellar treatment, and shall contain no other substance whatever, introduced before, at the time of, or after fermentation, except that the juice or wine, or both, may be ameliorated or sweetened as follows:

(1) With pure boiled or condensed grape must or pure crystallized cane or beet sugar or pure dextrose sugar, containing, respectively, not less than 95 percent of actual sugar, calculated on a dry basis, or water, or any or all of them, in quantities necessary to perfect sweet wine according to commercial standards, or mechanical purposes.

(2) The cane or beet or pure dextrose sugar added shall not be in excess of 11 percent of the weight of the wine. Such sugar may be used before, during, and/or after fermentation, but the total quantity of sugar so added shall not exceed 11 percent of the weight of the wine. If sugar is added before or during fermentation, the wine shall not contain more than 13 percent of alcohol after complete fermentation.

(3) Water shall not be used in excess of 10 percent of the weight of the juice or wine to which added. When water is added, the wine shall not, after fermentation, have an alcoholic content of less than 5 percent. If water is added to perfect the wine according to commercial standards, the acid content of the juice or the wine to which the water is added must not be reduced below 5 parts per thousand. This limitation respecting acidity is not applicable to the use of water at the crusher for mechanical purposes. Water may be used for mechanical purposes in accordance with paragraph (a) or for ameliorating purposes at the time of crushing and/or prior to fortification, but the total quantity of water used for both mechanical and ameliorating purposes shall not exceed 10 percent of the weight of the juice or wine to which added.

(a) Water used at crusher. Water may be used at the crusher only when absolutely necessary for the proper operation of the mechanical devices used in crushing and conveying the material to the fermenting tanks, and only in such quantities as is necessary. Where the machinery becomes so clogged that it is evident a greater amount of water than the maximum quantity allowed will be necessary for flushing purposes, or the winemaker desires to flush the machinery without running the water into the sweet wine material, the pipes and conveyors leading to the fermenting tanks containing the sweet wine material will be disconnected or closed before flushing the crushing and conveying machinery. If the winemaker so desires, the water may be run into fermenting tanks for producing distilling material. In such cases where the water is not run into the juice (sweet wine material), it will not be included in the 10 percent addition permitted by this section.

(b) Fortification. Pure sweet wine, produced in accordance with this section, whether ameliorated or not, may be fortified as prescribed in Subpart B of this part. Pure sweet wine may not be ameliorated or sweetened after being fortified.

(c) Labeling. Wine manufactured pursuant to this section may be labeled as standard grape wine, according to type, under Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Sec. 3036 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.144 Natural wine. Natural wine is the product of the normal alcoholic fermentation of the juice of sound, ripe grapes, without addition or abstraction, except such as may occur in the usual cellar treatment of clarifying and aging.

(a) Amelioration. Where the juice or wine has natural deficiencies there may be added to the juice or to the wine, or both, a solution of water and pure cane, beet, or dextrose sugar, containing, respectively, not less than 95 percent of actual sugar, calculated on a dry basis, to the extent set forth in the table below, for the purpose of correcting such deficiencies: Provided, That the resulting product (1) must contain not less than 5 parts per thousand of acid before fermentation, (2) may not contain more than 13 percent of alcohol after complete fermentation, and (3) may not be increased more than 35 percent in volume. The quantities of water and sugar composing the solution shall be in the proportion necessary to correct the natural deficiencies in the juice or wine. Where both the pulp and juice are deposited in the fermenters, the volume of the pulp must be excluded in calculating the quantity of sugar-water solution that may be added. The alcoholic content of the wine must not exceed 13 percent by volume at any time during the process of fermentation. The following table shows the maximum quantity in gallons of sugar-water solution that may be added to each thousand gallons of juice (exclusive of the pulp), based on the acid expressed in parts per thousand of tartaric acid:

Where all of the sugar-water solution authorized is not used prior to or during fermentation, the remainder or any part thereof may be used, in addition to the dry sugar authorized in paragraph (b), to sweeten the wine after fermentation, provided the unfermented sugar content of the wine is not increased beyond 15 per cent of the weight of the wine.

(1) Records. When both the juice and the resulting wine are ameliorated with a sugar-water solution, there must be indicated on Form 701 that the resulting wine is to be further ameliorated, and there must be indicated on Form 702 that the juice was also ameliorated, in order that it may be determined that the total quantity of sugar-water solution used in both the juice and the resulting wine does not exceed the 35 per cent limitation. Each lot of juice and resulting wine so ameliorated must be numbered as Lot 1, Lot 2, etc., the same lot number being shown on Form 701 in which the amelioration of the juice is reported and on Form 702 in which the amelioration of the resulting wine is reported, together with the notation "See Form 702 for further amelioration," or "See Form 701 for prior amelioration," as the case may be.

(b) Sweetening. Wine manufactured in accordance with this section, whether ameliorated with a sugar and water solution as provided in paragraph (a) or not, may be sweetened after complete fermentation with dry cane sugar or dry beet sugar or pure condensed grape must for the purpose of perfecting sweet wine according to commercial standards: Provided, That the cane or beet sugar so used for sweetening shall not be in excess of 11 per cent of the weight of the wine, nor may the wine have an unfermented sugar content in excess of 15 per cent of the weight of the wine.

(c) Fortification. Wine produced in accordance with this section, whether ameliorated and/or sweetened or not, may be fortified with grape brandy or wine spirits, or tax-paid alcohol, in accordance with Subpart B of this part. Natural wine may not be ameliorated or sweetened after being fortified.

(d) Labeling. Wine manufactured pursuant to this section may be labeled as standard grape wine, according to type, under Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Secs. 3044, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.145 Fruit and berry wines. Citrus fruit wines, peach wines, cherry wines, berry wines, apricot wines, prune wines, plum wines, pear wines, pawpaw wines, papaya wines, pineapple wines, cantaloup wines, or apple wines are the products of the normal alcoholic fermentation of the juice of sound ripe citrus fruit (except lemons and limes), peaches, cherries, berries, apricots, prunes, plums, pears, pawpaws, papayas, pineapples, cantaloups, and apples, respectively, with or without the addition of dry cane, beet, or dextrose sugar (containing, respectively, not less than 95 per cent of actual sugar calculated on a dry basis), for the purpose of perfecting the product according to standards, but without the addition or abstraction of other substances, other than such as may occur in the usual cellar treatment of clarifying and aging and as provided herein.

(a) Use of dry sugar for fermenting. Where it is desired to use dry sugar for the purpose of perfecting such wines according to standards, as authorized in the preceding paragraph, there may be added to the unfermented juice sufficient dry sugar to raise the sugar content of the juice to a point necessary to produce (ferment) wine with an alcoholic content of not more than 13 per cent by volume. The sugar content, both natural and added, required for this is 20.24 degrees Balling, corrected for temperature and non-sugar solids. See Tables II, III, and IV in the Appendix to this part, showing the Balling correction for temperature and non-sugar solids, and the quantity of sugar required, according to the Balling of the juice, to ferment 13 per cent alcohol by volume.

(b) Amelioration. Where the juice or wine has natural deficiencies, whether dry sugar has been added as provided in paragraph (a) or not, there may be added to the juice or to the wine, or both, a solution of water and pure cane, beet, or dextrose sugar, containing, respectively, not less than 95 per cent of actual sugar, calculated on a dry basis, for the purpose of correcting such deficiencies: Provided, That the resulting product (1) must contain not less than 5 parts per thousand of acid before fermentation, (2) may not contain more than 13 per cent of alcohol after complete fermentation, and (3) may not be increased more than 35 per cent in volume. The quantities of water and sugar composing the solution shall be in the proportion necessary to correct the natural deficiencies in the juice or wine. Where both the pulp and juice are deposited in the fermenters, the volume of the pulp must be excluded in calculating the quantity of sugar-water solution that may be added. The alcoholic content of the wine must not exceed 13 per cent by volume at any time during the process of fermentation. The volume of the juice or wine, including the increase therein caused by the addition of dry sugar where used, must be not less than 65 per cent of the resulting product and the sugar and water solution must be not more than 35 per cent of the resulting product. The following table shows the maximum quantity in gallons of sugar-water solution that may be added to each thousand gallons of juice (exclusive of the pulp), based on the acid expressed in parts per thousand of citric acid (malic acid for apple juice):

Where all of the sugar-water solution authorized is not used prior to or during fermentation, the remainder or any part thereof may be used, in addition to the dry sugar authorized in paragraph (b), to sweeten the wine after fermentation, provided the unfermented sugar content of the wine is not increased beyond 15 per cent by weight, or 20 per cent by weight where the wine is made from fruit (other than grapes) having a natural acid content not less than 7.5 parts per thousand.

(1) Records. When both the juice and the resulting wine are ameliorated with a sugar-water solution, there must be indicated on Form 701 that the resulting wine is to be further ameliorated, and there must be indicated on Form 702 that the juice is also ameliorated, in order that it may be determined that the total quantity of sugar-water solution used in both the juice and the resulting wine does not exceed the 35 per cent limitation. Each lot of juice and resulting wine so ameliorated must be numbered as Lot 1, Lot 2, etc., the same lot number being shown on Form 701 in which the amelioration of the juice is reported and on Form 702 in which the amelioration of the resulting wine is reported, together with the notation "See Form 702 for further amelioration," or "See Form 701 for prior amelioration," as the case may be.

(c) Sweetening. Wines made in accordance with this section, whether dry sugar or a sugar-water solution, or both, has been added as provided in paragraphs (a) and (b) or not, may be sweetened after complete fermentation with dry cane sugar or dry beet sugar, or pure condensed must of the same kind of fruit or berry as that used in manufacturing the wine, for the purpose of perfecting sweet wine according to commercial standards: Provided, That the cane or beet sugar used for sweetening shall not be in excess of 11 per cent of the weight of the wine, nor may the wine have an unfermented sugar content in excess of 15 per cent by weight, or 20 per cent by weight where the wine is made from fruit (other than grapes) having a natural acid content not less than 7.5 parts per thousand.

(d) Fortification. Fruit and berry wines, produced in accordance with this section, whether made with dry sugar for fermenting sugar and water solution for amelioration, or dry sugar or condensed must for sweentening, or not, may be fortified with brandy or fruit spirits distilled from the same kind of fruit or berry used in manufacturing the wine, in accordance with Subpart B of this part. Fruit and berry wines may not be ameliorated or sweetened after being fortified.

(e) Labeling. Fruit and berry wine made in accordance with this section may be labeled as standard fruit or berry wine, according to class or type, under Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Secs. 3045, 3044, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.146 Other fruit wines. Fruit wines not named in section 3045, I.R.C., and § 178.145, such as fig, date, or mixed fruit wines, which are eligible for marketing under a class or type designation for standard wine, must be made in accordance with the provisions of § 4.21 (e), Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). Likewise, wines made from dried fruits, such as raisins, must be made in accordance with the provisions of § 4.21 (b), Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), if the product is intended for marketing under a class or type designation for standard wine. In the manufacture of wine from raisins and other dried fruits, no larger quantity of water may be added than that necessary to restore the natural moisture deficiency in the fruit. A statement of formula and process must be filed on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, for all such wines, as required by § 178.156. Such wines may not be fortified on bonded winery premises.

§ 178.147 Wines from other agricultural products. Wines may be made on bonded winery premises from other suitable agricultural products, such as honey, rhubarb, etc., provided a statement of formula and process is first filed on Form 698—Supplemental in triplicate in each instance as required by § 178.156. When wine is made from such other agricultural products the weight of the sugar added before or during fermentation must be less than the weight of the particular agricultural product used. If the wine is to be marketed under a standard class or type name such as "Honey Wine," or "Rhubarb Wine," it must be made in accordance with the provisions of § 4.21 (f), Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). Such wines may not be fortified on bonded winery premises. "Sake," referred to in § 4.21 (f), Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), may not be made on bonded winery premises, since a cereal (rice) is used in its production. (Secs. 2809 (a) (b), 3254 (d), 3155, I.R.C.)

Nonstandard Wines

§ 178.148 General. Wines made with the use of sugar in excess of the limitations specified in §§ 178.143 to 178.147, and wines made with use of sugar other than the kinds specified in those sections, but which are not stretched by the use of water or sugar-water solution in excess of the quantity authorized in such sections are classed as nonstandard wines, as distinguished from standard wines and substandard wines. A statement of formula and process must be filed on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, when nonstandard wines are manufactured. Nonstandard wines may not be fortified on bonded winery premises. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.149 Labeling. Nonstandard wines must be labeled to show that they were fermented or sweetened, or both, with excess sugar, or that they were made with sugar other than the kinds authorized for the manufacture of standard wines. Such labeling shall be as follows:

(a) Wines fermented with sugar (1) in excess of the maximum quantities specified in § 178.143 to 178.147, or (2) which contain more than 13 per cent alcohol by volume after fermentation, regardless of whether the quantities of sugar used do or do not exceed the maximum quantities specified in such sections, must be marked or labeled "---------- Wine, Fermented with Excess Sugar," the blank to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used.

(b) Wines sweetened with sugar (1) in excess of the maximum quantities specified in §§ 178.143 to 178.147, or (2) which contain more than 15 per cent unfermented sugar, or 20 per cent where the wine is made from fruit (other than grapes) having a natural acid content of not less than 7.5 parts per thousand, regardless of whether the quantities of sugar used do or do not exceed the maximum quantities specified in those sections, must be marked or labeled "------ Wine, Sweetened with Excess Sugar," the blank to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used.

(c) Wines coming within both paragraph (a) and paragraph (b) must be marked or labeled "-------- Wine, Fermented and Sweetened with Excess Sugar," the blank to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used.

(d) Wines fermented or sweetened, or both, with sugar other than the kinds specified in §§ 178.143 to 178.147, but not in excess of the quantities specified in those sections, must be marked or labeled "---------- Wine, Fermented with ------ Sugar," or "------ Wine, Sweetened with -------- Sugar," or "-------- Wine, Fermented and Sweetened with -------- Sugar," as the case may be, the respective blanks to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product and the kind of sugar used.

(e) Wines fermented or sweetened, or both, with sugar, other than the kinds specified in §§ 178.143 to 178.147, and in excess of the limitations specified in those sections, must be marked or labeled "------ Wine, Fermented with Excess ------ Sugar," or "------ Wine, Sweetened with Excess -------- Sugar," or "------ Wine, Fermented and Sweetened with Excess ------ Sugar," as the case may be, the respective blanks to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product and the kind of sugar used.

(f) Where at least 51 per cent of the volume of the wine is derived from a variety of grape, indicative of a type designation, such variety may also be stated, as, for example, "Concord Grape Wine, Fermented with Excess Sugar." Where cane, beet, or dextrose sugar containing less than 95 per cent of actual sugar calculated on a dry basis is used, such fact shall be stated in addition to the kind of sugar, as, for example, "Grape Wine, Fermented with Cane Sugar containing less than 95 per cent actual sugar calculated on a dry basis." In each instance all parts of the designation must appear in lettering of substantially the same size and kind.

§ 178.150 Illustrations. Wines made by the following methods come within the classification of nonstandard wines:

(a) The use of sugar in excess of the 11 per cent limitation for sweetening,

(b) The development of more than 13 per cent of alcohol by fermentation after the addition of sugar, or sugar-water solution within the 35 per cent limitation.

(c) The development of more than 13 per cent of alcohol by fermentation where dry sugar, or a sugar-water solution within the 35 per cent limitation, is used, and reduction of the alcoholic content to not more than 13 per cent by adding condensed must or by adding dry sugar within the 11 per cent limitation, and

(d) The use of invert sugar, maltose, levulose, or glucose; or of cane, beet, or dextrose sugar containing less than 95 per cent of actual sugar calculated on a dry basis. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

Substandard Wines

§ 178.151 General. Wines made with the use of water or sugar-water solution in excess of the limitations specified in §§ 178.143 to 178.147 are classed as substandard wines, as distinguished from standard wines and nonstandard wines. As provided in § 178.134, the aggregate weight of the sugar (including that in the sugar-water solution) used before or during fermentation must be less than the weight of the juice, fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used. A statement of formula and process must be filed on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, when substandard wines are manufactured. Substandard wines may not be fortified on bonded winery premises. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.152 Labeling. Substandard wines must be marked or labeled "Substandard ---------- Wine," the blank to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used: Provided, That wine derived exclusively from fruit or other agricultural products, the normal acidity of which is 20 parts or more per thousand, may be marked or labeled "---------- Wine, Made with over 35 per cent sugar solution" (the blank to be filled in with the name of the fruit, berry, or other agricultural product used), if the volume of the resulting product has not been increased more than 60 per cent by the addition of a sugar-water solution for the sole purpose of correcting such acidity, as such wines are not deemed substandard in quality under Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). In each instance all parts of the designation must appear in lettering of substantially the same size and kind.

§ 178.153 Illustrations. Wines made by the following methods come within the classification of substandard wines:

(a) The use of a sugar-water solution in excess of the 35 per cent limitation, or water in excess of the 10 per cent limitation, and

(b) The reduction of the acid content below 5 parts per thousand by the addition of water or sugar-water solution.

(c) Wines required to be labeled "substandard" under § 4.21 (h) (3), Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4).

Production of Wine From Concentrate

§ 178.154 Standard wines. Where it is desired to produce (ferment) wine from pure condensed must (hereafter referred to as concentrate) and to fortify or label the product as standard wine (§ 178.142), the winemaker must, prior to fermentation or the addition of ameliorating materials, dilute the concentrate with pure water to the exact consistency (volume) of the original juice before concentration.

(a) Certificates of origin. To enable winemakers to make standard wine from concentrate, every lot of concentrate received at a winery for use in producing (fermenting) standard wine must be accompanied by a certificate of origin, in triplicate, from the manufacturer of the concentrate, giving his name and address, the quantity and degree Balling of the concentrate covered by the certificate, and certifying as to the kind of fruit from which the concentrate was made and the degree Balling of the juice before concentration. If it is desired to produce standard grape wine of a type which derives its predominant taste, aroma, and characteristics from a particular variety of grape, the certificate of origin shall specify the particular variety of grape from which the concentrate was made.

(b) Form 701 The receipt of the concentrate and the degree of Balling thereof shall be reported on Form 701, and one copy of the certificate of origin shall be attached to each copy of the form. When the concentrate is used, the degree Balling of the concentrate, both before and after dilution with water, shall be reported on Form 701.

(c) Form 261; sweeting materials storage room. Condensed must (concentrate) received and used to produce (ferment) wine, under this section, should not be reported on Form 261 with condensed must received and used to ameliorate wine, nor need such condensed must be stored in the sweetening materials storage room. All sugar received and used, whether for fermentation of must or sweetening of wine, shall be reported on Form 261 and stored in the sweetening materials storage room.

(d) Fortification; labeling. Wine manufactured from concentrate in accordance with this section and which otherwise conforms to the requirements of §§ 178.143, 178.144, or 178.145, may be fortified or labeled as standard wine in accordance with this part. Wine manufactured from concentrate in conformity with this section and which otherwise conforms to the requirements of § 178.146 or 178.147, may be labeled as standard wine, but may not be fortified. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.155 Formula wines; use for amelioration. Except as to formula wines produced under §§ 178.146 to 178.148, certificates of origin will not be required where concentrate is used to produce formula wines, nor where concentrate is used for sweetening or ameliorating standard wines in accordance with §§ 178.143 to 178.147.

Formula Wines

§ 178.156 Formula and process. Where it is desired to produce wine other than:

(a) Pure sweet wine, as defined in section 3036, I.R.C., and § 178.143 of this part;

(b) Natural wine, as defined in section 3044, I.R.C., and § 178.144 of this part; or

(c) Citrus fruit wines, peach wines, cherry wines, berry wines, apricot wines, prune wines, plum wines, pear wines, pawpaw wines, papaya wines, pineapple wines, cantaloup wines, or apple wines, as defined in section 3045, I.R.C., and § 178.145 of this part,

the winemaker shall file a statement on Form 698—Supplemental, giving in detail the formula and process by which he intends to manufacture such other wine. The formula and process must specify the kind and quantity of each and every material or ingredient to be used and the process by which the wine will be manufactured, and the name, as to kind (class or type), under which it is desired to market the wine. If the wines are to be blended with wines other than those produced by the same formula, such blending must be included in the statement of formula and process. A separate formula and process must be filed for each such kind of wine which it is proposed to manufacture. Each formula and process shall be numbered in serial order, commencing with No. 1 at each winery, and must be filed, in triplicate, with the district supervisor and approved by the Commissioner, before any such wines may be manufactured. Such wines shall be designated as "formula wines" for the purpose of these regulations, as provided in § 178.5 (j). (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.157 Rectification. The filing of a statement of formula and process does not give the winemaker the privilege of making a rectified product on bonded winery premises. Caramel, "True Fruit" flavoring extracts, or other coloring and flavoring materials (including juice or wine from another kind of fruit or berry), may be added to wine, only after the wine has been tax-paid and removed to a rectifying plant. As provided in § 178.136, coloring or flavoring material may not be added to the juice or fruit before, during, or after fermentation. The mixing together of unfermented juices of different fruits or berries or agricultural products for the purpose of producing a formula wine is not rectification. (Secs. 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.158 Approval or disapproval. Upon receipt of the statement of formula and process, the district supervisor will make such inquiry or call for the submission of such additional data as he may deem necessary and will forward all three copies of the statement to the Commissioner with his comment. The Commissioner will note his approval or disapproval on all copies of the statement, retain one copy and return two copies to the district supervisor, who will forward one copy to the winemaker and keep the other copy for his files. The winemaker shall file his copy at the winery available for reference by Government officers. No such formula wines shall be manufactured on bonded winery premises except pursuant to an approved formula and process: Provided, That formula wines may be manufactured under authorized formulas filed prior to the date of approval of these regulations, pending prompt resubmission of the formulas to the district supervisor and the approval or disapproval thereof by the Commissioner in accordance with this section.

(a) Extent of Commissioner's approval or disapproval. The Commissioner's approval or disapproval of the formula and process shall pertain only to the manufacture of the wine on bonded winery premises and the labeling of the wine as to kind (class or type), and shall not constitute in any way an approval or disapproval of the wine as to quality. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.159 Materials. Formula wines must be produced by the fermentation of suitable fermentable materials, as provided in § 178.133. Nonfermentable coloring or flavoring materials may not be used in the manufacture, including cellar treatment, of such wines, except as authorized in the manufacture of vermouth, champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. The use of such nonfermentable coloring or flavoring materials constitutes rectification and may be done only at a rectifying plant. (Secs. 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.160 Identification of wines—(a) Label, Form 546–A. When wines (other than vermouth and effervescent wine) are made pursuant to an approved formula and process, the winemaker shall attach to each tank in which the wines are fermented a label, Form 546–A, filled out and signed by him, giving the number of the formula and process by which the wine is being made, and the kind (class or type), of the wine, as specified in the approved formula and process. When blending wines are produced under §§ 178.174 and 178.175, this label (Form 546–A) will be used in addition to Form 546.

(b) Transfer of label, Form 546–A. When the wine is transferred from one tank to another, as from fermenting to storage tanks or between storage tanks or to bottling tanks, the label must be transferred to the new tank and the serial number of the new tank and the date of transfer entered on Form 546–A. When the contents of two or more tanks are transferred to a single tank, the labels will be attached to the new tank. When the contents of a tank are transferred to two or more tanks, duplicate labels will be attached to the new tanks. The labels must be so attached to the tanks that they will not become detached or obliterated and so that they may be transferred from one tank to another upon transfer of the wines.

(c) Transfer of wine to barrels or cases. When the wine is transferred to barrels or cases for storage or shipment, or is shipped in tanks, tank cars, tank trucks, or other shipping containers, the kind of wine, as specified in the approved formula, and the number of the formula under which the wine was made shall be marked on each barrel, case, tank, tank car, tank truck, or other shipping container, and the serial numbers of the barrels, cases, tanks, tank cars, tank trucks, or other containers shall be noted on the label, Form 546–A, which shall then be filed at the winery as a permanent record available for inspection by Government officers at any time. (This paragraph and paragraph (b) shall not apply to vermouth and effervescent wine.) (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.161 Record of production. The winemaker shall keep a production record on Form 701 of all formula wines (other than vermouth and effervescent wine) produced, a separate statement being made for each formula under which wine is produced. The form will show the kind and quantity of each and every material and ingredient used in making the wine, the number of the formula and process under which the wine was made, and the kind (class or type) of the wine, in addition to the other data called for by the form. The receipt of the materials used for manufacturing such wines, if other than those used in making wines defined in §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, shall be reported on such separate record. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.162 Blending. A formula wine (other than heavy bodied blending wine and vermouth) may not be blended with a wine made under another formula, nor with standard wine, except as provided in § 178.210. (Secs. 3254 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.163 Fortification. Formula wines (other than Spanish type blending sherry wine and heavy bodied blending wine) may not be fortified with brandy or other spirits, including tax-paid alcohol. The addition of spirits to such wines constitutes rectification and will render the winemaker liable for rectification tax, and if untax-paid spirits which have been withdrawn free of tax for fortification of wine are used, liability will also be incurred by the winemaker for the distilled spirits tax on the spirits so used. (Secs. 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.164 Labeling. Such wines must be labeled in each instance as to kind (class or type) as specified in the approved formula and process and as required by Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part. 4).

Other Requirements Relative to Production

§ 178.165 Amelioration. Proprietors of bonded wineries are authorized to ameliorate wine without supervision by Government officers. Standard wine may be ameliorated only by the producing (fermenting) winemaker: Provided, That unfortified wine may be ameliorated with pure boiled or condensed grape must on any bonded winery premises for the purpose of perfecting the wine according to commercial standards. Wine may not be ameliorated after fortification. In determining the alcoholic, saccharine, and acid content of the must (juice) or wine, and the quantity of sugar-water solution or water that may be used in the production of wine under sections 3036 (a), 3044, and 3045, I.R.C., and §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, the winemaker will follow the instructions given in those sections and in the Appendix to this part. (Secs. 3035, 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.166 Use of dry sugar. Dry sugar may be added for fermenting (except in the manufacture of natural wine) and for sweetening purposes, as authorized in this article, without supervision by Government officers. Standard wine may be sweetened only by the producing (fermenting) winemaker and, where the wine is to be fortified, only prior to fortification. (Secs. 3035, 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.167 Record of amelioration and sweetening. The amelioration of must (juice) or wine prior to or during the process of fermentation, including the use of dry sugar for fermenting wines, will be shown on the winemaker's production report, Form 701. The amelioration or sweetening of wine, after the wine has been entered on Form 702 as produced, will be shown in the proper detailed statement and in the summary of that form. Where wine produced for probable fortification is ameliorated, including the use of dry sugar for fermenting or sweetening, the winemaker will enter on the tank label, Form 546, Label for Eligible Wine Material, all the information required by such label relative to amelioration and sweetening. (See §§ 178.446 to 178.448 incl.) (Secs. 3032 (a), 3033, 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.168 Check by Government officers. When Government officers are present on the premises for other purposes or in the performance of other duties at the time wines are being ameliorated or sweetened, the officers will see that the limitations in the law and regulations are being observed by the winemaker.

§ 178.169 Form 546. As provided in §§ 178.446 to 178.448, inclusive, where grapes, citrus fruit (except lemons and limes), peaches, cherries, berries, apricots, prunes, plums, pears, pawpaws, papayas, pineapples, cantaloups, or apples are crushed for probable fortification, there will be attached to each fermenting tank into which the material is run a label, Form 546, and if the wine is transferred to a storage tank prior to fortification, the label shall be removed from the fermenter and attached to such tank. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.170 Wines under 6 per cent. Where wines are produced with an alcoholic content of less than 6 per cent by volume after complete fermentation, the per cent of alcohol contained in the wine and the reason for the low alcoholic content shall be noted by the winemaker on Form 701 at the time of production. This requirement shall not apply to substandard wine produced expressly for use as distilling material, where label, Form 546–A, is attached to the tanks containing the wine, nor to wine which is fortified prior to complete fermentation. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.171 Record of wines baked. Where wine is baked on bonded premises the proprietor shall keep a record showing the (a) serial number of each tank, (b) date wine is placed in tank, (c) quantity and alcoholic content, (d) date baking commenced, (e) date baking completed, (f) method employed, (g) date removed from tank, and (h) quantity removed and alcoholic content thereof. No allowance for excessive losses due to the baking of wine will be made unless shown by such record to have been sustained. The record shall be kept complete and up to date, and preserved for a period of three years available for inspection by Government officers. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.172 No fermentation after tax-payment. Wine when removed upon tax-payment must be in such condition that there will be no further fermentation which will raise the alcoholic content of the wine to a higher taxable grade, or which, in the case of bottled wine, will cause the wine to become effervescent in any degree and thereby change its taxable status from still wine to sparkling wine. To this end, wine should be thoroughly fermented, pasteurized, fortified, or otherwise treated, so as to preclude further fermentation after tax-payment. (Sec. 3030, I.R.C.)

§ 178.173 Labeling regulations. Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4) cover the labeling and advertising of all wines, whether made at a bonded winery, rectifying plant, or imported from a foreign country. Reference to a wine in such regulations does not mean necessarily that such wine may be made at a bonded winery. (Secs. 2809 (a) (b), 2834, 3254 (d), 3155, 3254 (g), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

PRODUCTION OF HEAVY BODIED BLENDING WINES

§ 178.174 Spanish type blending sherry. Winemakers, desiring to produce Spanish type blending sherry wines for sale only to rectifiers for use in whisky blending upon payment of rectification tax, must submit to the district supervisor a statement of formula and process, on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, with two samples of the wine, for forwarding to the Commissioner for approval before manufacture for sale may be commenced.

(a) Manufacture. Condensed grape must may be added to pure sweet wine or natural wine (conforming to the standards prescribed therefor in § 178.143 and § 178.144, respectively) to the extent necessary to make a wine having a solid content not in excess of 35 per cent after completion of manufacture, including fortification and blending with other sherry wine, as herein authorized. Winemakers, desiring to blend such fortified wine with other sherry wines to make a product conforming to commercial standards for Spanish blending sherry wine, must show in the statement of formula and process that the wine will be so blended. The prohibition in § 178.135 against concentrate containing caramel coloring shall not be applicable to concentrate used in manufacturing Spanish type blending sherry wine.

(b) Fortification. Such wines, made in accordance with paragraph (a), may be fortified pursuant to Subpart B of this part.

(c) Disposition. Spanish type blending sherry wine may be sold only to rectifiers for use in whisky blending. The wine may not be sold for use as wine, nor used in blending with other wines, except in the process of completing the manufacture of the Spanish type blending wine. Such wine may not be transferred in bond to another bonded winery or storeroom, unles special permission is first obtained therefor from the district supervisors of the districts in which both the shipping and receiving premises are located, and record of the receipt and disposition of the wine is kept at the receiving premises, the same as required at the producing premises.

(d) Marking containers. Each container in which such wine is stored or shipped shall be marked "Spanish Type Blending Sherry Wine, For Use by Rectifiers Only," in addition to the other marks (except as to kind of wine) required by this part.

(e) Records. The winemaker shall keep a separate record showing the date of manufacture, the quantity manufactured, the solid content thereof, the fortification number (as shown on Form 275), the date of shipment, the quantity shipped, the solid content thereof, and the name and address of the consignee.

(f) Approval or disapproval of formula. The district supervisor will examine the statement of formula and process and one of the samples, and will forward all three copies of the statement and the other sample to the Commissioner with his comment. The district supervisor will retain his sample for check on subsequent production in the event the formula is approved by the Commissioner. Upon examination of the statement of formula and process and the sample, the Commissioner will note his approval or disapproval on all copies of the statement, retain one copy and return two copies to the district supervisor, who will keep one copy for his files and send the other copy to the winemaker. If the formula is approved, the winemaker shall file his copy at the winery available for reference by Government officers. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.175 Blending wines. Winemakers desiring to produce heavy bodied wines for use in blending with other wines, for the purpose of perfecting such other wines according to commercial standards, must submit to the district supervisor a statement of formula and process on Form 698—Supplemental, in triplicate, and two samples of the wine for forwarding to the Commissioner for approval before manufacture for sale or use may be commenced.

(a) Manufacture. Condensed must, made from the same kind of fruit as the wine, may be added to pure sweet wine, natural wine, or fruit and berry wines (conforming to the standards prescribed therefor in § 178.143, § 178.144, and § 178.145, respectively), to the extent necessary to make a wine having a solid content not in excess of 35 per cent after completion of manufacture, including fortification and blending with other wine of the same kind, as herein authorized. Winemakers, desiring to blend such wines with other wines of the same kind for the purpose of perfecting the blending wine, must show in the statement of formula and process that the wine will be so blended. Concentrate used in manufacturing such blending wines must not contain caramel coloring. Winemakers manufacturing or purchasing dark concentrate should have such concentrate tested for caramel before using it.

(b) Fortification. Such wines, made in accordance with paragraph (a), may be fortified pursuant to Subpart B of this part.

(c) Disposition. Heavy bodied blending wines must be used solely for blending with other wines, and may not be sold for use as wine. Such wines may not be transferred in bond to another bonded winery or storeroom, unless special permission is first obtained therefor from the district supervisors of the districts in which both the shipping and receiving premises are located, and record of the receipt and use of the wine in blending is kept at the receiving premises, the same as required at the producing premises.

(d) Marking containers. Each container in which such wines are stored (or shipped) shall be marked "Heavy Bodied Blending Wines, For Use in Blending Only," in addition to the other marks (except as to kind of wine) required by this part.

(e) Records. The winemaker shall keep a separate record showing the date of manufacture, the quantity manufactured, the solid content thereof, the fortification number (as shown on Form 275) if fortified, the date of use in blending, the quantity used, and the solid content thereof. If the wine is shipped to another winery or storeroom, the date of shipment, the quantity shipped, and the name, address, and registry number of the receiving premises shall be shown on the record.

(f) Approval or disapproval of formula. The district supervisor will examine the statement of formula and process and one of the samples, and will forward all three copies of the statement and the other sample to the Commissioner with his comment. The district supervisor will retain his sample for check on subsequent production in the event the formula is approved by the Commissioner. Upon examination of the statement of formula and process, and the sample, the Commissioner will note his approval or disapproval on all copies of the statement, retain one copy and return two copies to the district supervisor, who will keep one copy in his files and send the other copy to the winemaker. If the formula is approved, the winemaker shall file his copy at the winery available for reference by Government officers. (Secs. 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

PRODUCTION OF SUBSTANDARD WINE FOR DISTILLING MATERIAL

§ 178.176 Definitions. As used in §§ 178.176 to 178.181, inclusive, "pomace" or "cheese" shall mean the pulp and other residue of the fruit after the juice or wine has been separated therefrom.

§ 178.177 Form 546–A. Where substandard wine is produced with excessive water, residue materials, or sweetened grape cheese (as authorized in § 178.179) expressly for use as distilling material, a label, Form 546–A, will be attached to the fermenting tank. If the substandard wine is transferred to a storage tank before removal from the winery, the label shall be removed from the fermenter and attached to such tank. The kind of material from which the distilling material is produced shall be stated explicitly on Form 546–A and on Form 701 (e. g. "grape juice," "grape wine lees," "peach pomace," "grape cheese and sugar solution," etc.), in order that the spirits distilled therefrom may be properly marked as to kind (class and type). (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.178 Limitations. In the manufacture of wine for use expressly as distilling material, water may be used in such quantity as necessary for the purpose of facilitating fermentation and economical distillation. Such wine may be made by fermentation of grape juice, citrus-fruit juice, peach juice, cherry juice, berry juice, apricot juice, prune juice, plum juice, pear juice, pawpaw juice, papaya juice, pineapple juice, cantaloup juice, apple juice, persimmon juice, fig juice, or date juice, or by fermentation of the pomace after the juice or wine has been drawn off or expressed therefrom: Provided, That pomace of wine, other than grape wine, to which sugar was added in any form prior to being separated from the pomace, may not be used (further fermented) for the manufacture of distilling material for use at a fruit distillery, nor may spirits distilled therefrom except tax-paid alcohol, be used to fortify wine. Grape pomace residium of grape wine, in the manufacture of which sugar was used as authorized by law, may be used in the fermentation of distilling material for use at a fruit distillery and the spirits distilled therefrom may be used for the fortification of wine. Substandard wine produced for use as distilling material will be accounted for on Form 701 in the manner indicated therein, and will not be entered on Form 702. (See § 178.264 (b).) (Secs. 2825, 3036, I.R.C.)

§ 178.179 Sweetened grape cheese. Where it is desired to sweeten grape cheese to be fermented on winery premises for use as distilling material, there may be added to not less than 500 gallons (10 barrels) of grape cheese not more than 500 gallons of a sugar solution made from cane, beet, starch, or corn sugar, 95 per cent pure, such solution to have a saccharine strength of not to exceed 10 per cent. If it is desired to add water as well as a sugar solution to the grape cheese, the sugar solution must be added first, as the statute fixes a limit on the sugar solution in accordance with the quantity of cheese, and not the quantity of cheese and water. The grape cheese may be sweetened once only. Grape pomace residuum (cheese) of wine to which sugar was added in any form prior to being separated from the cheese cannot be further sweetened under this section. Spirits distilled from grape cheese to which sugar solution has been added may not be used for fortification. (Secs. 2825, 3036 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.180 Addition of water to wine removed for distilling material. When wine is removed for use as distilling material, water may be added to the wine on the winery premises in a distilling material measuring tank in such quantity as may be necessary to facilitate distillation. Any properly calibrated tank on the winery premises may be used as a distilling material measuring tank. At the time water is added to wine preparatory to removal for use as distilling material, a label, Form 546–A, showing the quantity of water added must be attached to the containers of such wine, and a copy of the label must be attached to Form 702. When the watered wine is removed for use as distilling material, the winemaker will report in the appropriate statement on Form 702, the quantity of wine, both before and after the addition of water, so removed. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.181 Formula wines. Formula wines produced in accordance with §§ 178.156 to 178.164 may not be removed for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery, nor may spirits distilled from such wines be used to fortify wines: Provided, That substandard wines made in accordance with §§ 178.176 to 178.181, inclusive, expressly for use as distilling material, may be removed for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery and the spirits distilled therefrom may be used to fortify wines when authorized herein: Provided further, That wines made from persimmons, figs, and dates, and from other formulas which the Commissioner finds may be distilled at a fruit distillery under section 2825, I.R.C., may be removed for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery (Secs. 2825, 3036, I.R.C.)

MANUFACTURE OF VERMOUTH

§ 178.182 Manufacture. Vermouth, conforming to the standards of identity for vermouth prescribed in Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), may be manufactured with fortified sweet wine on bonded winery premises, in accordance with approved formulas and processes, as provided in §§ 178.182 to 178.187, inclusive. The vermouth may be manufactured only in a separate department of the winery premises. Such department shall be known as the vermouth department, and shall be constructed in accordance with § 178.21, with no interior communication with any other department or part of the winery premises. No wine other than fortified sweet wine may be used in the manufacture of vermouth on bonded winery premises. No distilled spirits may be added to fortified sweet wine used in the manufacture of vermouth, or to the vermouth during or after its manufacture: Provided, That approved essences, in the manufacture of which distilled spirits are used as an extractive and solvent, may be used in manufacturing vermouth, in accordance with § 178.183. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.183 Approved essences. Approved essences, in the manufacture of which distilled spirits are used as an extractive and solvent, may be used in the manufacture of vermouth on bonded winery premises, provided such essences contain no greater quantity of distilled spirits than is necessary to extract and hold in solution the flavoring materials. The quantity of such essences used shall be such as will not increase the volume of the wine more than 10 per cent or its alcoholic content more than 4 per cent by volume, or the alcoholic content of the finished product to more than 24 per cent by volume. Such essences may be produced in the vermouth department of the winery or procured elsewhere. The distilled spirits used in manufacturing such essences must be tax-paid in each instance. Brandy or fruit spirits withdrawn without payment of tax for use in fortification of wine may not be used in the manufacture of such essences. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.184 Formulas, processes, and samples—(a) Formula and process. Every winemaker desiring to manufacture vermouth on his winery premises shall submit to the district supervisor a statement in detail on Form 698—Supplemental of each formula and process by which he intends to manufacture the product, and the name under which it is desired to market the same. The formulas must show all of the ingredients to be used, but the quantity and percentage of each ingredient need not be given, unless required by the Commissioner or the district supervisor. Where the quantity or percentage of any ingredient is varied, a new formula need not be submitted, except for formulas that the Commissioner or the district supervisor has required a statement of the quantity or percentage of each ingredient used, or where the character of the product is materially changed from the sample submitted in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section. If additional ingredients are used, however, a new formula with sample must be submitted. Where an approved essence is to be used, the formula must show the alcoholic content of the wine, the alcoholic content of the essence, and the quantity of such essence to be used with a given quantity of wine. Each formula shall show the percentage of absolute alcohol in the finished product according to taxable grade, as more than 14 per cent and not exceeding 21 per cent, more than 21 per cent and not exceeding 24 per cent. Each formula and process shall be prepared in triplicate on Form 698—Supplemental, numbered in serial order, commencing with number 1 at each winery, and bear the name, registry number, and address of the winery.

(b) Samples. With each formula, the winemaker shall submit to the district supervisor two 1-pint samples of the product manufactured thereby. Each sample shall be labeled to show the formula number and the name, registry number, and address of the winery. Formulas and processes filed prior to the date of approval of this part shall be resubmitted with representative samples. (Secs. 2801 (e) (4), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.185 Approval or disapproval of formulas, processes, and samples. Upon receipt of the statement of formula and process, the district supervisor will make such inquiry or require the submission of such additional data as he may deem necessary, and will forward all three copies of the statement and one of the samples to the Commissioner with his comment. The other sample will be retained by the district supervisor for check on subsequent production in the event the formula is approved by the Commissioner. The Commissioner will examine the samples to determine whether the product possesses the taste, aroma, and characteristics generally attributed to vermouth manufactured with fortified sweet wine, and whether the formulas and processes are such as may be properly used at a bonded winery under the exemption from rectification provided in the law. Upon completion of his examination, the Commissioner will note his approval or disapproval on all copies of the statement of process and formula, retain one copy and forward the other two copies to the district supervisor, who will retain one copy for his files and send the other copy to the winemaker, who shall keep the same at the winery available for reference by Government officers. No vermouth may be manufactured for sale on bonded winery premises except pursuant to an approved formula and process: Provided, That vermouth may be manufactured under authorized formulas filed prior to the date of approval of this part, pending prompt resubmission of the formulas with representative samples to the Commissioner and the approval or disapproval thereof, in accordance with this section.

(a) Extent of Commissioner's approval or disapproval. The Commissioner's approval or disapproval of the formula and process shall pertain only to the manufacture of the product on bonded winery premises and the labeling of the same as to kind, and shall not constitute in any way an approval or disapproval of the Vermouth as to quality. (Sec. 2801 (e) (4), I.R.C.)

§ 178.186 Products other than vermouth. Flavored wines and other specialties may not be manufactured on bonded winery premises under the guise of vermouth. Only true vermouth may be made in the vermouth department of a winery, and the product must be definitely designated and sold as vermouth. (Secs. 2801 (e), 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.187 Storage, etc., after manufacture. Upon completion of manufacture in the vermouth department of the winery, the vermouth may be stored, blended, bottled, shipped, etc. (but not fortified or carbonated), in the same manner as wine, in the vermouth department, or elsewhere in the winery if it is kept separate and apart from wine and the containers are marked vermouth.

MANUFACTURE OF CHAMPAGNE, SPARKLING WINE, AND ARTIFICIALLY CARBONATED WINE

§ 178.188 Manufacture. Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine may be made on bonded winery premises. All effervescent wine (wine charged with carbon dioxide) shall be classed as champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine for the purpose of this part and shall be subject to tax as such, regardless of the degree of effervescence or carbonation. Where the effervescence results from fermentation of the wine within a closed container, the wine shall be classed for the purpose of this part as champagne or sparkling wine and shall be subject to tax as such. Where the wine is artificially carbonated (that is, by injection of carbon dioxide into the wine) it shall be classed as artificially carbonated wine and subject to tax as such. All such effervescent wine shall be labeled as to kind in accordance with Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), issued under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act. (Secs. 3030, 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.189 Records. When still wine is used for the manufacture of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, the wine will be reported on Form 702 as used for such purpose, and upon being placed in bottles for further fermentation or for artificial carbonation, it will be entered on Form 702–A as champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine produced, as the case may be. When still wine is artificially carbonated in tanks or is further fermented by the bulk process, the wine will be shown on Form 702–A as "in process" until it is bottled, when it will be reported on the form as champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine produced, as the case may be. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.190 Use of brandy, wine, acid, and sweetening agents in effervescent wine. Winemakers producing champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, may, in connection with the finishing and treatment of such wines, add thereto a small quantity of fruit sirup, rock candy, or other sweetening agents and a small quantity of brandy or wine. In the manufacture of champagne and sparkling wine, a small amount of tartaric, malic, or citric acid (malic acid only in the case of sparkling apple wine) may be added with the initial sugar dosage to facilitate secondary fermentation in the closed container. If the champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine has a natural deficiency of acid, the deficiency may be corrected by the addition of a small amount of acid, as a part of the finishing dosage, under the limitations set forth in §§ 178.138 and 178.205. The fruit sirup, brandy, and wine so used must come from the same fruit as the wine from which the champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine was made. The brandy used must be tax-paid.

§ 178.191 Storage of brandy and sweetening agents. Winemakers may store not more than 1 barrel or drum of tax-paid brandy on their winery premises for this purpose, unless authorized by the district supervisor to store a larger quantity. Such tax-paid brandy and sweetening agents shall be kept either in the sweetening agents room, prescribed by § 178.23, or in a separate room or compartment in the champagne or carbonated wine department. If stored in the sweetening agents room, the tax-paid brandy and sweetening agents shall be kept separate from sweetening agents to be used for other purposes.

§ 178.192 Report on Form 261. Every winemaker using tax-paid brandy, fruit sirup, rock candy, or other sweetening agents in making a preparation for use in finishing champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, shall keep a monthly record thereof and of the preparation made therefrom, on Form 261. All the pertinent information indicated by the headings of the columns and lines of the form shall be reported. The quantities of tax-paid brandy and sweetening agents procured or used by winemakers in making such preparation will not be entered by the district supervisor on his Form 290. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.193 Process. Every winemaker intending to produce champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine shall submit to the district supervisor a statement in detail on Form 698—Supplemental of each process by which he intends to manufacture the product, and giving the name, as to kind (class and type) under which he desires to market the same. The statement must set forth whether the product will be naturally or artificially carbonated, and if naturally carbonated, whether it will be carbonated in bottles or in tanks or other bulk containers. The kind of wine to be used and any other materials to be used in connection with the secondary fermentation, cellar treatment, and finishing of the product and the approximate period of time required to complete manufacture shall also be stated. If more than one process is to be employed or more than one product is to be manufactured, a separate statement shall be filed for each process and for each product. Each statement of process shall bear the name, registry number, and address of the winery, and shall be numbered in serial order, beginning with No. 1 for each winery, and be filed in triplicate, and approved by the Commissioner, before commencing manufacture: Provided, That champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine may be manufactured under processes used prior to the date of approval of these regulations, pending prompt submission of the processes to the district supervisor and the approval or disapproval thereof in accordance with this section. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.194 Approval or disapproval of process. The district supervisor will forward all three copies of the statement of process to the Commissioner with his comment. Upon examination of the process, the Commissioner will note his approval or disapproval on all copies of the statement, retain one copy and return two copies to the district supervisor, who will keep one copy for his files and send the other copy to the winemaker. If the process is approved, the winemaker shall file his copy at the winery available for reference by Government officers.

(a) Extent of Commissioner's approval or disapproval. The Commissioner's approval or disapproval of the statement of process shall pertain only to the manufacture of the product on bonded winery premises and the labeling of the same as to kind, and shall not constitute in any way an approval or disapproval of the product as to quality.

PRODUCTION OF WINE FOR FAMILY USE

§ 178.195 Registered producer. A duly registered producer may produce not in excess of 200 gallons of still wine per year for the use of his own family without payment of tax. Wine thus produced must not be sold or otherwise removed from the place of manufacture. Such exemption does not authorize the production of wine for such use contrary to State law. (Sec. 3030 (a) (1), I.R.C.)

§ 178.196 Limitations of exemption. The statutory exemption does not apply to (a) wine made by one person for the use of another, whether consumed on the premises or removed therefrom for the family use of the owner; (b) wine produced by a single person, unless he is the head of a family; (c) wine produced by a married man living apart from his family; (d) wine made by a partnership or produced at a winery operated by two or more heads of families jointly; (e) wine produced by a corporation or association; or (f) wine furnished to persons not members of the producer's family. (Sec. 3030 (a) (1), I.R.C.)

§ 178.197 Registration; Form 1541. Every person (other than the operator of a bonded winery) coming within such exemption and desiring to produce still wine for the exclusive use of his family must prepare Form 1541, registration for production of wine for family use without payment of tax, in duplicate, and send both copies to the district supervisor, Alcohol Tax Unit, of the district in which he resides. The form must be sent to the district supervisor at least five days before commencing to produce the wine. A new form must be submitted each succeeding year during which it is desired to produce wine for family use, the year to be reckoned as commencing on July 1 and ending on June 30. (Sec. 3030 (a) (1), I.R.C.)

§ 178.198 Retention of Form 1541. When Form 1541 is received by the district supervisor, he will stamp both copies with his receiving date stamp. If the form is properly prepared and the supervisor has no information indicating that the registrant is not entitled to the exemption, he will retain one copy for his files and return one copy to the registrant, who shall keep the same at his premises and upon production of the wine shall enter thereon the quantity produced and the date of production. (Sec. 3030 (a) (1), I.R.C.)

WINE TO BE DEPOSITED WITHIN BONDED PREMISES

§ 178.199 Storage. Upon removal from the fermenters wine must be conveyed immediately into storage containers within the storage portion of the winery or fortifying tanks in the fortifying room. When the manufacture of vermouth is completed, it must be transferred from the processing tanks to storage or shipping containers. Wine received in bond from other bonded premises must be deposited immediately in the storage portion of the winery or bonded storeroom. Wine may not be stored in outbuildings or containers outside the storage portion of the bonded premises.

(a) Exception: sun-baking of sherry wine. The district supervisor may, in his discretion, permit the sun-baking of sherry wine in an open area on the bonded winery premises, in cases where the wine will be protected against theft by a secure and substantial fence or wall of appropriate height and construction, with locked gates, surrounding the winery or the area in which the wine will be baked, or where the wine will be otherwise equally safeguarded during the baking process. Application for such permission should be made in writing to the district supervisor, setting forth the approximate quantity of wine to be baked, the period during which the wine will be stored in the open, and the means by which the wine will be safeguarded.

§ 178.200 Forms 701, 702, 702–A, and 702–B. When the first period of fermentation is complete, still wine must be drawn from the fermenters and entry made thereof in monthly records, Forms 701 and 702, as wine produced. Fermenters, as such, may not be used for the storage of wine. Champagne, sparkling wines, and artificially carbonated wines shall be entered on Form 702–A, as produced when the bottles are filled. When champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine is made by a bulk process, memorandum entry must be made on Form 702–A to show the deposit of the wine in the tanks for further fermentation or artificial carbonation, and when the products are bottled, the production thereof will be entered on Form 702–A. When the manufacture of vermouth is completed, it must be drawn from processing tanks and entry made thereof on Form 702–B. Finished vermouth may not remain in processing tanks.

(a) Exception: use of fermenting and processing tanks as storage containers. Where it is desired to retain wine in fermenters, with or without the pomace, for further fermentation after the first period of fermentation is complete, the quantity of wine contained in the fermenters must be ascertained and entered on Forms 701 and 702 as wine produced and the designation and marking of each fermenter in which the wine is contained must be changed to "Storage Tank" and written notice thereof given to the district supervisor within 10 days thereafter. Winemakers desiring to utilize fermenting tanks for the storage of wine or processing tanks for the storage of vermouth may do so after the wine or vermouth therein has been reported produced on the appropriate Forms 701 and 702 or 702–B, and the designation and marking of the tanks have been changed to "Storage Tanks," pursuant to written notice to the district supervisor of such change in use of the tanks. When such tanks are to be used again as fermenting or processing tanks, they must be remarked accordingly and written notice of the change in use given to the district supervisor. (Secs. 2801 (e) (4), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.201 Marking storage containers. Each tank and other container used for the storage of wine shall be marked with label, chalk, or otherwise to show the kind (class or type) and alcoholic content of the wine contained therein. Containers to which Form 546 or 546–A is attached, as herein provided, need not be marked otherwise as to kind.

§ 178.202 Formula wines received from other bonded premises. When formula wines are received in bond from other bonded premises and are transferred from the shipping containers to storage tanks or other storage containers, the formula number and the name, address, and registry number of the producer, as shown on Form 702 and the shipping containers, must be marked on the storage tank or other storage container.

FILTERING, CLARIFYING, AND PURIFYING OF WINES

§ 178.203 Processes not rectification. The filtering, clarifying, or purifying of wine on bonded winery or storeroom premises is not rectification within the meaning of section 3254 (g), I.R.C. (Sec. 2801 (e) (3), I.R.C.)

§ 178.204 Limitations. In the process of filtering, clarifying, or purifying wines on bonded winery or storeroom premises, materials, methods, and equipment may be used to remove cloudiness, precipitation, and undesirable odors and flavors, but the addition of any substance foreign to wine which remains a part thereof, or the abstraction of ingredients to an extent or in a manner which will affect the basic composition of the wine by eliminating the characteristic elements or which will change its character, is not within the statute, and is not permitted on bonded winery or storeroom premises. The use of isinglass, gelatin, bone charcoal, activated carbon, bentonite, or similar materials, filters, or other means, such as refrigeration, to clarify and purify wines by removing foreign substances, cloudiness, or solid matter in suspension is permitted: Provided, Such materials, methods, and equipment are used only to an extent or in a manner which does not change the basic composition of the wine or eliminate its characteristic elements. (Secs. 2801 (e) (3), 3254 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.205 Tannin and citric acid. Tannin and citric acid may be used for clarifying and stabilizing standard grape wines and nonstandard grape wines in accordance with the provisions of § 178.203 to 178.207, inclusive. The tannin or citric acid may not be added to substandard wines, nor to wines made from fruits and berries other than grapes.

(a) Tannin. When fining agents, such as gelatin and isinglass, which require the presence of a certain amount of tannin in the wine in order to work effectively, are used for clarification and the wines to be clarified do not contain sufficient tannin to permit the fining agents to precipitate completely, a small amount of tannin may be added to the wine for the purpose of assisting the fining agent. When such fining agents are used and tannin is removed from the wine, together with colloidal and other suspended matter, in the process of precipitation, a small amount of tannin may be added to the wine after clarification to the extent necessary to raise the tannin content of the wine to that normally contained therein. White wines in which tannin is used shall not contain more than 0.08 gramme of tannin per 100 c.c. after clarification, and red wines in which tannin is used shall not contain more than 0.3 gramme of tannin per 100 c.c. after clarification, unless the Commissioner authorizes a higher tannin content, pursuant to a showing of necessity therefor by the winemaker.

(1) Kinds of tannin. Only CP and USP tannin, and other tannin of equal purity, of a yellowish white or very light brown color, which does not color the wine, may be used in the cellar treatment of wines. Grape seed tannin of a dark brown color, which possesses considerable coloring properties, may not be used in clarifying wines in bond.

(b) Citric acid. A small amount of citric acid may be used for stabilizing wines to prevent development of iron precipitates and cloudiness in the wines. Not more than 0.7 parts per thousand (0.07 gramme per 100 c. c.) of citric acid may be added to wine for this purpose, unless the Commissioner authorizes the addition of a larger quantity, pursuant to a showing of necessity therefor by the winemaker. If the wine has been ameliorated with water or a sugar and water solution, as authorized in §§ 178.144 and 178.145, the wine must contain, after addition of the citric acid, not less than 5 parts per thousand of acid, plus the quantity of citric acid added. For example, if 0.7 parts per thousand of citric acid is added, the finished wine must contain not less than 5.7 parts per thousand of acid. This limitation on the quantity of citric acid that may be added to finished wines for stabilizing purposes does not apply to the addition of a small amount of acid to correct a natural deficiency of acid in the must, juice, or wine, in accordance with § 178.138.

(c) Other limitations. The use of tannin and citric acid authorized herein is subject to the condition that such use does not appreciably change the character or composition of the lines. Any use of tannin or citric acid in excess of the maximum quantities specified herein, or to such an extent as to appreciably change the character or composition of the wines, will incur liability for rectification tax, both occupational and commodity.

(d) Records. Winemakers authorized to use tannin or citric acid in the cellar treatment of wines in accordance with this section shall keep a record showing (1) the dates and quantities used, and the kinds and quantities of wine in which used, (2) whether the wines were ameliorated with water or a sugar and water solution and (3) the tannin and/or citric acid content of the wines both before and after the addition of the tannin and/or citric acid. The tannin content of wines (after addition of tannin) should be determined after completion of clarification and the addition of any further tannin for replacement of that precipitated in clarification.

(e) Application. Winemakers desiring to treat wines with tannin or citric acid in accordance with this section must make application, in duplicate, to the district supervisor for permission therefor. The application shall state specifically (1) the kinds of wines to be treated, (2) the reasons for the use of the tannin or citric acid, (3) whether the wines to be so treated will be ameliorated with water or a sugar and water solution, and (4) the quantities of tannin and citric acid to be used and to be contained in the wines after clarification is completed. In any case where it is desired to have a higher tannin or citric acid content in the wines after completion of clarification than the quantities specified herein, the application must establish the necessity therefor. The application may be made for permission to treat a specific quantity of wine or for continuing authority to treat wine from time to time as required.

(f) District supervisor's action. Upon receipt of the application, the district supervisor will determine whether the proposed use of the tannin and citric acid is proper and solely for the purpose of clarifying and stabilizing the wines in accordance with these regulations, and will note his approval or disapproval on both copies of the application, retain one copy and return one copy to the applicant for filing at the winery or storeroom. If the application is incomplete or the district supervisor is unable to determine the propriety of the proposed use, he will require the submission of such additional information or will make such inquiry as he may deem necessary, and will approve or disapprove the application in accordance with his findings. Where the applicant requests permission for a higher tannin or citric acid content in the wines, after completion of clarification, than the quantities specified herein, the district supervisor will make inquiry respecting the propriety thereof, and will forward the application with his findings and recommendation to the Commissioner.

(g) Inspection. Inspectors, when making scheduled inspections of wineries and storerooms which are authorized to so treat wines, will verify the proper use of the tannin and citric acid and the keeping of the prescribed records. The inspectors should determine whether the materials are being used solely to clarify and stabilize wines or are being used to "build up" substandard (stretched) wines. (Secs. 2801 (e) (3), 3036 (a), 3044, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.206 Removal of excess color in white wines. If color in excess of that normally contained in white wine develops during its manufacture or storage, and the winemaker desires to remove such excess color, he will prepare samples representing the wine before and after treatment with activated carbon or other materials and submit such samples, with a sample of the activated carbon or other material used, to the district supervisor for examination. There should be submitted with the samples a written statement by the winemaker setting forth (1) his reasaons for desiring to so treat the wine, (2) the quantity, kind, and type of wine to be treated, (3) the kind and quantity of material to be used in treating the wine, and (4) the process to be employed. If the analysis of the samples shows that the proposed treatment will remove only the excess color, that is, the amount of color in excess of that normally contained in white wines of the type being produced, and will not remove any of the usual natural color or other characteristics of the wine, the district supervisor will authorize the treatment of the wine in question. If the chemical analysis shows that the proposed treatment is not within the law, as interpreted herein, the district supervisor will advise the winemaker that the treatment may not be conducted on bonded winery or bonded storeroom premises, but may be done only at a rectifying plant, after tax-payment of the wine and upon payment of the rectifying tax. Wine so treated at a rectifying plant must be labeled in accordance with requirements of § 4.22, Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4).

(a) Separate application and samples for each lot of wine. District supervisors will not grant blanket authority to winemakers to so treat white wines. A separate application with representative samples must be submitted for each lot of wine it is desired to treat. (Secs. 2801 (e), (3), 3036 (a), 3044, 3045, 3171, 3254 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.207 Spurious, imitation, or compound wine. The mixing of any materials with wine which will result in the production of a compound, imitation, or spurious wine will constitute rectification and may not be done on bonded winery or storeroom premises. No artificial color or flavor may be added to wines. (Secs. 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

BLENDING OF WINES

§ 178.208 Limitations. Wines may be mixed or blended with each other at a bonded winery or bonded storeroom only for the sole purpose of perfecting such wines according to approved commercial standards. The blending must improve (perfect) the wine according to the approved commercial standard of the blended product. Any blending of wine of standard quality with wine of inferior quality for the purpose of stretching or increasing the volume of the standard quality of wine and which results in the manufacture of a product inferior to the standard quality wine before blending, constitutes rectification and may not be done on bonded winery or storeroom premises. (Secs. 3043, 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.209 Natural wine, pure sweet wine, fruit and berry wines. Natural wine and pure sweet wine may not be mixed or blended with citrus-fruit wine, peach wine, cherry wine, berry wine, apricot wine, prune wine, plum wine, pear wine, pawpaw wine, papaya wine, pineapple wine, cantaloup wine, or apple wine, or with wine produced from other materials, nor may wine produced from one kind of fruit or berry be mixed or blended with wine produced from another kind of fruit or berry. (Secs. 3043, 3254 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.210 Formula wines. A formula wine, produced under §§ 178.156 to 178.164 of this part, may not be blended with wine made under another formula, nor with pure sweet wine, natural wine, fruit and berry wines, or other standard wines, unless the wines were made from the same kind of fruit or berry and it is first shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner or the district supervisor that such blending is for the sole purpose of perfecting the blended product according to approved commercial standards. When a formula wine, nonstandard wine, or substandard wine is blended with a standard wine, the blended product must be marked and labeled as a formula wine, nonstandard wine, or substandard wine, as the case may be, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner or the district supervisor that the blended product conforms to standard wine. A substandard wine may not be blended with a fortified wine.

(a) Statement of blending. When the proprietor desires to blend a formula wine with wine made under another formula, or with pure sweet wine, natural wine, fruit and berry wines, or other standard wines, he will submit a statement, in duplicate, to the district supervisor, giving the kinds (including formula) and quantities of the wines to be blended, the respects in which the blended product will be perfected according to approved commercial standards, and the name, as to kind (class or type), under which it is desired to market the blended wine. Upon receipt of the statement, the district supervisor will note his approval or disapproval on both copies of the statement, according to whether the proposed blending and the name, as to kind, under which it is proposed to market the blended wine is in conformity with these regulations, and will retain one copy of the statement for his files and return the other copy to the proprietor for filing at his bonded winery or storeroom. A record of such blending shall be kept at the winery. (Secs. 3048, 3254 (g), 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.211 Vermouth. Vermouths may be mixed or blended with each other for the sole purpose of perfecting them according to commercial standards, but may not be mixed or blended with any other wines. (Sec. 3043, I.R.C.)

§ 178.212 Tax-payment of blended wines. Blended wines must be tax-paid according to their alcoholic strength after blending, but the blending must be done in fact for the purpose of manufacturing a finished product conforming to commercial standards. (Secs. 3030, 3043, I.R.C.)

§ 178.213 Special tax liability. Wine purchased by one winemaker from another may be used for blending without incurring special-tax liability for the sale of such blended wine, where the blending changes the character of the wine and is for the sole purpose of perfecting the wine according to commercial standards. A record of such blending shall be kept in accordance with § 178.129. (Secs. 3171, 3250 (g), I.R.C.)

§ 178.214 Rectification. Any blending of wines, other than for the sole purpose of perfecting the blended product according to approved commercial standards, or as authorized herein, constitutes taxable rectification and may be done only at a rectifying plant. (Secs. 3043, 3254 (g), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.215 Report on Form 702 or 702–B. Where wines or vermouths of different alcoholic strength are blended and the rate of taxability is thereby changed, report of such blending will be made in monthly report, Form 702 or 702–B, as the case may be, showing the exact percentages of alcohol contained in the wines or vermouths both before and after blending. Where the rate of taxability is not changed, no report of the blending need be made. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

REMOVAL OF WINE

§ 178.216 Kinds of containers. Wines may be removed in casks, barrels, kegs, tanks, tank trucks, railroad tank cars, and (when bottled) in cases of any desired size. Wines may also be removed in uncased bottles and by pipe line or by hose, as hereinafter provided.

§178.217 Uncased bottles. The district supervisor may authorize the removal of wine in bottles of one-half gallon, 1 gallon, or larger capacity, uncased or in crates, and where sales are made directly to consumers, the supervisor may authorize the removal of uncased bottles of less capacity. When wine is so removed, the stamps shall be affixed to the bottles, as provided in § 178.240 (a), and the bottles must be labeled in accordance with § 178.228 and Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). Crates shall be given a serial number in accordance with § 178.218, but need not be otherwise marked as prescribed by § 178.219 if the bottle labels may be readily inspected. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.218 Serial numbers. All casks, barrels, kegs, tanks, tank trucks, railroad tank cars, or cases in which wines are removed from bonded premises must be numbered in serial order commencing with No. 1 at each winery or storeroom. Where multiple compartment tank trucks or railroad tank cars are used, each compartment will be given a separate serial number, except where the entire contents of the tank car consists of the same kind of wine, consigned to the same consignee at the same destination, one number will be assigned to the entire car. The proprietor of a bonded winery or storeroom may, if he desires, change the series after using the numbers up to 100,000 by beginning again with No. 1 and prefixing the numbers of the new series with the letter "A." He may continue to change the series after again reaching 100,000 by prefixing each new series with the succeeding letters of the alphabet, "B," "C," "D," etc. When a series is continued to 1,000,000, a new series beginning with No. 1 may be commenced without prefixing a letter thereto. Containers will be numbered in sequence on removal, except where packages of cases are filled for shipment in advance of orders; they may be numbered at the time of filling and need not necessarily be removed in serial order. Where containers are filled in different departments or bottling lines of the bonded premises, a separate series of numbers may be used for each department, or bottling line, provided each series is differentiated from the other series by a letter or otherwise, or a separate block of numbers is used for each department. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.219 Marks. Each cask, barrel, keg, tank, tank truck, railroad tank car, or case used to remove wine must be marked in a plain and durable manner with the serial number, the name of the proprietor, and the registry number and location (by city or town and State, or supervisory district and State) of the winery or storeroom, the kind (class or type) and alcoholic strength of the wine, and the contents of the container in wine gallons. Each container shall also be stamped or further marked as hereinafter required. The formula number shall be marked on shipping containers of formula wines, as required by § 178.160 (c). When wines are packed or bottled under an authorized trade name, such trade name may be marked on the shipping container as the name of the proprietor, if preceded by the words "Packed by" or "Bottled by," respectively, as authorized in §§ 178.92 and 178.93. These marks may be cut, printed, or stenciled upon the container, or placed upon a label or tag securely affixed to the container. The marks shall be placed upon the head of the package or the side of the case, or on the prescribed route board attached to the tank truck or tank car where they may be readily examined by Government officers.

(a) Labels and tags. Labels and tags must be of good quality heavy white paper or tagboard and of appropriate size, and the letters and figures thereon must be durable and legible. The label or tag must be affixed with a good adhesive and, in the case of wooden containers, with tacks or staples: Provided, That where the labels or tags are affixed with a glue impervious to heat or moisture, similar to that used by railway express companies for attaching labels to shipments handled by them, or that used by brewers for attaching labels to bottles which may be placed on ice, the district supervisor may authorize the winemaker to omit the use of tacks or staples, subject to the labels or tags remaining securely affixed to the packages. After being so affixed, a coating of transparent shellac or other repellent material affording protection against moisture, erasure, and removal shall be applied over the label or tag.

(b) Other marks. The head of the package or side of the case bearing the prescribed marks shall be known as the "Government head" and "Government side," respectively, and shall contain no other marks, except those authorized or required by Federal law or regulations: Provided, That the name and address of the consignee, brand name, number and size of bottles in cases, bottle label, and other related data, which does not conflict with, or detract from, the prescribed marks, may be shown on the Government head or side of the container. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.220 Destruction of marks. All marks and labels or tags, required by these regulations to be placed on casks, barrels, kegs, tanks, tank trucks, and railroad tank cars used as shipping containers of wine, shall be destroyed by scraping or otherwise obliterating, immediately the containers are emptied, by the person removing the wine therefrom: Provided, That when packages of wine are emptied and are to be returned to the winemaker for reuse (refilling), the winemaker's name, address, and registry number need not be obliterated, but the stamps and all other prescribed marks on the packages must be completely destroyed by scraping or otherwise obliterating. (Sec. 3301, I.R.C.)

§ 178.221 Alcoholic content. The statement of the alcoholic content of wine (including wine containing not more than 14 percent alcohol) in the manner prescribed in § 4.36 (b) (1) or (2) of Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4) is considered as meeting the requirements of § 178.219: Provided, The statement definitely shows the taxable grade of wine. Wine may not be marked or labeled as containing 14 percent, 21 per cent, or 24 per cent alcohol if it contains more than such percentages of alcohol, nor may wine be marked or labeled as containing 13–15 per cent, 20–22 per cent, or 23–25 per cent alcohol. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.222 Fractional parts of gallon. In marking the wine gallon contents on casks, barrels, kegs, tanks, tank trucks, railroad tank cars, and cases, fractional parts of a gallon less than one hundredth will be excluded. The contents of bottles will be stated on the bottle labels in the manner prescribed by Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.223 Tank trucks and tank cars. (a) Route board. Tank trucks and railroad tank cars used for the transportation of wine, whether in bond, tax-free, or tax-paid, must be equipped with a route board at least 10 by 12 inches in size to which the prescribed marks or labels and stamps can be affixed. Such boards shall be of substantial material and shall be attached permanently and securely to the truck or car by round-headed or carriage bolts, nutted and riveted, battered or welded. The route board shall be placed on the tank truck or railroad tank car in a conspicuous and accessible place, so as to permit ready inspection by Government officers and destruction of the marks or labels and stamps by the person emptying the truck or car.

(b) Single compartment trucks and cars. When wine is removed in single compartment tank trucks or railroad tank cars, the entire contents of the tank truck or tank car must be consigned to the same consignee and destination.

(c) Multiple compartment trucks and cars. When wine is shipped in multiple compartment tank trucks or railroad tank cars, the contents may be consigned, by compartments, to different consignees and destinations: Provided, That each compartment is given a separate serial number and separate marks, and a separate route board is attached to the truck or car for each compartment. Where the entire contents of a multiple compartment tank truck or tank car consists of the same kind of wine, consigned to the same consignee at the same destination, one serial number and one set of marks will be given to the entire truck or car. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.224 Reused barrels. Barrels previously used for the storage of distilled spirits may be used by winemakers as storage and shipping containers for wine, provided the barrels are properly treated to remove distilled spirits from the head and staves before deposits of wine therein. The spirits extracted from the barrels must be destroyed in each instance. Permission to use such barrels should not be construed as relieving winemakers from tax liability in the event the barrels are not properly treated to remove distilled spirits therefrom. A person mixing distilled spirits with wine incurs rectification tax liability of 30 cents per proof gallon and additional wine tax liability if the mixing changes the taxable grade of the wine. (Secs. 3254 (g); 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.225 Re-marking packages received from other premises. Where wines are transferred in bond from one bonded premises to another, the packages must, upon removal from the last premises, be re-marked with the serial numbers and other marks of such premises, but the marks of the premises from which the wine was received may be retained on the packages, if desired: Provided, That where wine stored at a bonded field warehouse is released to the depositing winemaker for immediate removal, the proprietor of the bonded field warehouse may place thereon the serial numbers and other marks of the winery, in lieu of the marks of the bonded field warehouse. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.226 Pipe lines to or from tank cars. When wine is conveyed to or from railroad tank cars by pipe line, such pipe line shall be located on bonded premises and so arranged as to permit examination throughout its entire length. If the pipe line is placed under ground it must be enclosed in a conduit, and such conduit must be so constructed as to permit examination of the pipe line throughout the entire length. Where necessary, arrangements for lights at either end of the conduit must be provided.

§ 178.227 Shipments by tank cars to and from premises without railroad siding facilities. If shipment is made in a railroad tank car and the premises of the consignor or consignee, or both, are not equipped with railroad siding facilities, each tank truck or package in which the wine is conveyed to or from the railroad tank car must have affixed thereto a tag giving the name, registry number, and address of the consignor, the kind and approximate quantity of wine contained in the tank truck or package, the symbols and number of the railroad car to or from which the wine is being transported, whether the wine is tax-paid or shipped in bond, and the name and address of the consignee. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.228 Labeling bottled wines. When wines are bottled, the bottler shall securely affix to each a label showing (1) the name and address of the premises, or the name, registry number, and State where the premises are located; (2) the kind of wine (class or type); (3) the alcoholic content by volume; and (4) the net contents of the bottle, unless legibly blown in the bottle. The alcoholic content may be stated in accordance with § 178.221. When wines are bottled under an authorized trade name, such trade name may be stated as the name of the premises, as provided in § 178.93. The labels used by bottlers of wine on bonded premises must be covered by certificates of label approval or certificates of exemption from label approval issued under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, as provided in §§ 178.232 to 178.236, inclusive.

(a) Bottling for storage. Where wines are bottled for aging or other storage purposes, the labels need not be affixed until the wine is to be removed, provided the bins or containers in which the bottled wine is stored are marked to show the kind (class or type) and the alcoholic content of the wine. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.229 Relabeling bottled wines. Where it is desired to relabel bottled wines received in bond from other bonded premises, application for permission to relabel the wines must be made to the district supervisor, in accordance with Regulations 4 (27 CFR, Part 4). (Sec. 3, 49 Stat. 978 (27 U.S.C. Supp., 203))

§ 178.230 Contents of packages. Winemakers will be held strictly responsible for the correct determination of the quantity and alcoholic content of wine removed. They must not assume that a package contains a certain quantity or that the wine is of a certain alcoholic content. As required by § 178.31, appropriate and accurate measures and instruments for measuring and testing the wine must be provided at each winery or storeroom. The alcoholic content of the wine removed may be determined by one of the bulliometers specified in § 178.38. If an approved ebulliometer is not provided, other appropriate and accurate instruments approved by the Commissioner must be provided in lieu thereof. (Sec. 3030, I.R.C.)

§ 178.231 Family use. Where the head of a family operates a bonded winery as an individual owner, still wine of his own production not exceeding 200 gallons per year may be removed free of tax for the use of his family, the year to be reckoned as commencing on July 1. The winemaker must make proper entries of the quantities so removed in his monthly report, Form 702. Wine in excess of the 200-gallon allowance removed from the winery for family use must be tax-paid upon removal. (Secs. 3030 (a) (1), 3171, I.R.C.)

LABELS AND MARKS SUBJECT TO REGULATIONS NO. 4 (27 CFR, PART 4)

§ 178.232 Certificates of approval or exemption. All persons bottling or packing wines, other than in customs custody, or removing wine from the plant where bottled or packed, are required by Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), issued under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, to obtain a "Certificate of Label Approval under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act," Form 1649, or a "Certificate of Exemption from Label Approval under the Federal Alcohol Administration Act," Form 1650, covering the wine. This requirement is applicable to all wines bottled in containers of 1 gallon or less, and to all wines packed in barrels, casks, or other closed containers for use for sale at retail. The requirement is equally applicable to wines bottled or packed before or after tax-payment, and to wines packed in barrels, casks, and other large containers which are marked by stenciling or otherwise, instead of being labeled, as such marks are held to constitute the label. The requirement is not applicable to wines removed by pipe line, or to wines shipped in tank trucks and tank cars, which are not sold at retail in such containers. (Sec. 3, 49 Stat. 978 (27 U.S.C., Supp., 203))

§ 178.233 Certificate to be exhibited. All persons holding certificates of label approval or certificates of exemption from label approval, are required by Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), upon request, to exhibit such certificates to a duly authorized representative of the United States Government. The original certificate or duplicate original certificate must be exhibited to the officer; photoprints or other copies are not acceptable for this purpose. (Sec. 3, 49 Stat. 978 (27 U.S.C., Supp., 203))

§ 178.234 Check by Government officers. Government officers, in connection with their other duties and as directed by the district supervisor, will call upon proprietors of bonded wineries and storerooms to exhibit such certificates, and will determine (a) whether the proprietor holds proper certificates of label approval or certificates of exemption from label approval, (b) whether the wines are being labeled in accordance with such certificates, and (c) whether the wines on which the labels are used conform to such labels and to the requirements of this part as to kind (class or type), alcoholic content, quantity, etc. The officer's inquiry will be made both as to wines bottled and packed at the winery or storeroom before tax-payment, and as to wines bottled and packed on contiguous or nearby premises after tax-payment.

§ 178.235 Violations. If the Government officer finds that the proprietor does not hold proper certificates of label approval or certificates of exemption from label approval, or that the wines are not being labeled in accordance with such certificates and the requirements of this part, or that the wines do not conform to the labels being used, he will detain the wines and make a full report to the district supervisor and, in cases of mislabeling, will submit copies of the labels and samples of the wines with his report. (Secs. 3040, 3173 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.236 Proprietor's responsibility. Full responsibility rests upon the proprietor to see that all wines bottled or packed by him are labeled in conformity with the requirements of Regulations No. 4 (27 CFR, Part 4), and with this part. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

TAX-PAYMENT OF WINES

§ 178.237 Tax-payment by stamp. The tax on wine will be paid by stamp, as hereinafter provided. The stamps will be purchased by the proprietor from the collector of internal revenue of the district, as provided in §§ 178.402 to 178.409, inclusive. (Sec. 3030 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.238 Tax on still wines. The following are the rates of tax on still wines, artificial or imitation wines or compounds sold as still wines, and vermouth produced in a bonded winery, the percent of alcohol to be reckoned by volume:

(a) 15 cents per wine gallon when containing not more than 14 percent of absolute alcohol;

(b) 60 cents per wine gallon when containing more than 14 percent and not exceeding 21 percent of absolute alcohol;

(c) $2 per wine gallon when containing more than 21 percent and not exceeding 24 percent of absolute alcohol;

(d) When containing more than 24 percent of absolute alcohol, such products shall be classed as distilled spirits and shall be taxed accordingly. (Sec. 3030 (a) (1), I.R.C.)

§ 178.239 Tax on champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. The following are the rates of tax on champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine:

(a) On each bottle or other container of champagne or sparkling wine, 15 cents on each one-half pint or fraction thereof;

(b) On each bottle or other container of artificially carbonated wine, 10 cents on each one-half pint or fraction thereof;

(c) Any of the foregoing articles containing more than 24 percent of absolute alcohol by volume shall be classed as distilled spirits and shall be taxed accordingly. (Sec. 3030 (a) (2), I.R.C.)

§ 178.240 Computing tax on still wine. In computing the tax on still wine contained in casks, barrels, kegs, tanks, tank trucks, railroad tank cars, and cases, fractional parts of a gallon less than one hundredth will be excluded. Fractions of a cent less than one-half will be dropped, and fractions of one-half a cent or more will be called 1 cent.

(a) Bottles. When bottled still wine is removed uncased and the stamps are attached to the individual bottles, as authorized in § 178.217, all fractional parts of a gallon will be retained in computing the tax on each bottle. The full tax must be paid on each bottle, stamps in fractional cent denominations being used therefor when necessary.

§ 178.241 Computing tax on champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. The tax on champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine must be computed on each bottle, and not on the aggregate contents of the case. Thus, the tax on a one-fifth gallon bottle of champagne or sparkling wine amounts to 60 cents, and on a case of 12 such bottles the tax amounts to $7.20. (Sec. 3030 (a) (2), I.R.C.)

Tax-Payment in Barrels, Cases, Tank Trucks, Railroad Tank Cars, or Other Containers

§ 178.242 General. Whenever the proprietor proposes to remove wine for other than one of the tax-free purposes authorized herein, he shall, prior to such removal, cancel and securely affix to each barrel, case, cask, tank truck, railroad tank car, or other immediate container (except bottles removed in cases), wine stamps in a value equal to the internal revenue tax on the wine contained therein. The stamps shall be affixed to the Government head of each package or side of each case. When removal is made in a tank truck or railroad tank car, the stamps shall be affixed to the route board of the truck or car, required by § 178.223 (a). (Sec. 3030 (b), 3040, 3301, I.R.C.)

§ 178.243 Manner of canceling and affixing stamps. The proprietor shall cancel the stamps by legibly writing or stamping thereon with indelible (India) ink or perforating therein, his name or initials and the date of cancellation. The stamps must be affixed with a good adhesive. In the case of wooden containers, tacks or staples shall be used in addition to the adhesive: Provided, That where the stamps are affixed with a glue impervious to heat or moisture, similar to that used by railway express companies for attaching labels to shipments handled by them, or that used by brewers for attaching labels to bottles which may be placed on ice, the district supervisor may authorize the winemaker to omit the use of tacks or staples, subject to the stamps remaining securely affixed to the packages. Upon being canceled and affixed, a coating of transparent shellac, lacquer, varnish, or glue that does not discolor the stamps and that affords protection against moisture, erasure, and removal equal to that afforded by shellac, lacquer, or varnish, must be applied over the stamps. (Secs. 3301, 3303, I.R.C.)

§ 178.244 Marking cases of champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. In addition to the marks required by § 178.219, the number of bottles and the size of each bottle in a case of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine must be stenciled or otherwise marked on the case. (Secs. 3030 (a) (2), 3040. I.R.C.)

Tax-Payment and Removal by Pipe Line

§ 178.245 General. The district supervisor may, in his discretion and subject to final approval by the Commissioner, authorize the removal of wine by pipe line, upon tax-payment, from a bonded winery to a tax-paid bottling house or rectifying plant contiguous to, or in the immediate vicinity of, the winery, where a Government officer is assigned (a) to the winery, bottling house, or rectifying plant, (b) to a distillery, bonded warehouse, or other plant contiguous to or in the immediate vicinity of the winery, or (c) where a storekeeper-gauger is available, and where the officer has time, in addition to his other duties, to supervise the transfer of the wine from the winery to the bottling house or rectifying plant, as required by § 178.248. Additional storekeeper-gaugers or other officers will not be assigned for such purpose. Where the bottling house or rectifying plant is not contiguous to the winery, the district supervisor, subject to final approval by the Commissioner, will determine from all the circumstances in each case whether such premises are in the immediate vicinity of the winery. The bottling house to which the wine is transferred may be operated as a tax-paid bottling house under Part 189 of this chapter or as a tax-paid wine bottling house not subject to Part 189 of this chapter. District supervisors will authorize such removal of wine only where the location of the winery and bottling house or rectifying plant to which the wine is to be transferred, the construction of the pipe line and the wine tax-payment tank or tanks from which the wine is to be removed, and the degree of Government supervision available, are such that, in the opinion of the district supervisor, the revenue will be amply safeguarded.

§ 178.246 Locked tank. A closed tank or tanks, equipped for locking the inlet and outlet and any other openings with Government locks, must be provided in the winery for tax-paying the wine removed by pipe line. The tank or tanks must be accurately calibrated and equipped with a measuring device whereby the contents will be accurately indicated. The tank or tanks must be of sufficient size to hold all of the wine to be transferred on any one day. When more than one tank is provided, the tanks must be so arranged and filled that not more than one inspection will be required by the Government officer on any one day: Provided, That when an officer is available and is not otherwise engaged, the district supervisor may authorize more than one inspection per day. Each such tank shall be marked "Wine Tax-payment Tank," and if more than one such tank is provided, each tank shall be given a serial number. All openings in the tank shall be closed and locked at all times, except when the inlet is opened to run wine into the tank or the outlet is opened to remove wine from the tank after tax-payment, or the tank is opened for cleaning or other purposes in the presence of the Government officer.

§ 178.247 Pipe line. The pipe line used to transfer wine from the winery to the bottling house or rectifying plant must be a fixed, solid line of permanent character, securely constructed and connected and so arranged as to be exposed to view throughout its entire length. The pipe line must be permanently connected with the locked tax-payment tank or tanks required by § 178.246, and must extend unbroken from such tank to the other premises. The valves in such pipe line must be equipped for locking with Government locks. Wheel type valves must be fitted for locking in the manner required by § 178.434. Where the wine is transferred to a rectifying plant, the pipe line must extend unbroken to the storage or bottling tanks in the rectifying plant, unless the district supervisor authorizes the wine to be run directly into processing tanks upon the filing of Form 122 in the manner prescribed in Part 190 of this chapter. The pipe line must be shown on the winery plan.

§ 178.248 Tax-payment procedure. When the winemaker desires to transfer wine to the tax-payment tank for removal by pipe line, the Government officer will unlock the inlet valve and close and lock the outlet valve of the tax-payment tank. When the tank is filled or the desired quantity of wine has been run into the tank, the winemaker will accurately determine the quantity of wine in the tank and will cancel wine stamps in a value equal to the tax on the wine, and present the canceled wine stamps to the Government officer with Form 703–A, in duplicate, showing the date and the kind, quantity, and alcoholic content of the wine, and his name, address, and winery number and the plant to which the wine will be transferred. The officer will thereupon close and lock the inlet valve, verify the quantity and taxable grade of the wine in the tank, and see that the canceled stamps are in a value equal to the tax on the wine. If stamps in the proper value have been canceled, the officer will unlock the outlet valve and permit the tax-paid wine to be removed from the tank for bottling or rectification, as the case may be. The officer will then execute his certificate of verification, and will forward one copy of the form with the canceled stamps to the district supervisor and deliver the remaining copy to the rectifier or bottler for attachment to the tank into which the wine is run. The form shall be kept on the tank until the wine has been bottled or (in the case of a storage tank) removed for bottling or rectification. The officer will not be required to be present during the filling of the tank after unlocking the inlet valve and closing and locking the outlet valve, nor during the emptying of the tank after closing and locking the inlet valve, verifying the contents and the tax-payment of the wine, and unlocking the outlet valve. When the officer is present after the tank has been emptied, he may close and lock the outlet valve and unlock the inlet valve, preparatory to the tank being filled again when desired. (Sec. 3030 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.249 Bonded storerooms. The procedure herein prescribed shall be applicable to the removal of wine by pipe line, upon tax-payment, from bonded storercoms.

The district supervisor will check the form against the monthly reports, Forms 702, 702–A, or 702–B, of both the consignor and consignee, when such reports are received.

(b) Shipments to other districts. When wine is shipped in bond to bonded premises in another district, the proprietor will prepare three copies of Form 703, giving all the information called for by the form, and forward, on the day of shipment, one copy to the district supervisor of his district, one copy to the district supervisor of the district to which the wine is shipped, and one copy to the consignee. The district supervisor of the receiving district will check the form against the monthly report, Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, of the consignee, when such report is received, and will note on the form any loss in transit or other discrepancy, initial the form and forward it to the district supervisor of the shipping district, who will check it against the monthly report, Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, of the consignor. (d) Nonreceipt of shipment. District supervisors will hold their copies of Form 703, pending report of receipt of the wine by the consignee, and will make appropriate inquiry or investigation respecting any shipment not reported received within a reasonable time after shipment, or where any material or unexplained difference exists between the kind and quantity reported shipped and that reported received. (Secs. 3037, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.253 Receipt of wines in bond. When wines are received in bond from other bonded premises, the proprietor of the receiving premises will check the shipment against his copy of Form 703, and will determine by measure or weight the quantity received and enter on his monthly report, Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, the quantity actually received, together with the serial numbers, etc.: Provided, That packages received intact without apparent loss need not be measured or weighed unless the proprietor desires to do so. The proprietor shall file his copy of Form 703 at the winery or storeroom as a permanent record available for inspection by Government officers. (Secs. 3037, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.254 Losses in transit—(a) Consignee liable for tax. The proprietor of the premises to which wine is shipped in bond shall be liable under his bond for the tax on wines lost in transit. The tax on wines lost in transit will be assessed or remitted in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.364 to 178.378, inclusive.

(b) Losses in transit in excess of 1 per cent. Where there is a loss in transit from any package or other container, including tank trucks and railroad tank cars, in excess of 1 per cent, or 2 per cent in the case of transcontinental shipments, of the quantity shipped in such container, the proprietor of the receiving premises shall attach to his monthly report, Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, in which the shipment is reported received, an application for remission of tax on the entire quantity lost, in accordance with § 178.372.

(c) Losses less than 1 per cent. If the loss is less than 1 per cent, or 2 per cent in the case of transcontinental shipments, of the quantity shipped in any package or other container, notation of such loss shall be made by the proprietor of the receiving premises on his monthly report, Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, but no detailed statement of loss need be made, unless required by the district supervisor or Commissioner. (Secs. 3037, 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.255 Transfer to and from bonded field warehouses. Where wines are transferred to and from a bonded field warehouse and the winery contiguous and adjacent thereto, Form 703 need not be prepared, but the transfer shall be recorded immediately on the monthly reports, Forms 702, 702–A, or 702–B, for both premises. Such transfers may be made by pipe line or hose when authorized by the district supervisor. (Secs. 3037, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.257 Pipe line to fruit distillery. Where a bonded winery and a fruit distillery are operated on contiguous premises, wine for use as distilling material may be transferred by fixed pipe line from tanks in the winery to measuring tanks in the distillery, or, where the distillery measuring tanks are authorized to be installed on the winery premises, from such measuring tanks directly to the chargers of the stills or to sumps for immediate transfer to the chargers. The pipe line must traverse only bonded premises and be equipped with a valve which may be locked with a Government lock. The valve will be locked whenever operations at the distillery or winery are suspended for the season or for an indefinite period. (Secs. 3037, 3038, I.R.C.)

§ 178.258 Pipe line to registered distillery or industrial alcohol plant. Where a bonded winery and a registered distillery or an industrial alcohol plant are operated on contiguous premises, wine for use as distilling material may be transferred from tanks in the winery to storage tanks in the distillery or alcohol plant, by means of a securely connected pipe line of a fixed and permanent character. The tanks in the winery must be suitably equipped for determining the quantity of wine so transferred, and the pipe line must be equipped with a valve so constructed that it may be locked at all times, except when necessary to be open for the transfer of wine. The keys will be in the custody of the Government officer assigned to the distillery or alcohol plant, and the wine will be transferred under his supervision. (Secs. 3037, 3038, I.R.C.)

§ 178.259 Construction of pipe line. Pipe lines used for the transfer of distilling material from a bonded winery to a fruit distillery, registered distillery, or industrial alcohol plant must be of a fixed, solid and permanent character, but not necessarily of metal, and be otherwise constructed in accordance with the requirements of Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184), Regulations 4 (26 CFR, Part 183), and Regulations 3 (26 CFR, Part 182), respectively, issued under Chapter 26, Internal Revenue Code. (Secs. 3037, 3038, I.R.C.)

§ 178.260 Removal by hose. With the approval of the district supervisor, wine for use as distilling material may be transferred by hose from a bonded winery to a contiguous fruit distillery, registered distillery, or industrial alcohol plant, in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.257 and 178.258, except that in lieu of being equipped with a valve for locking, the hose shall be extended between the two premises only when wine is being actually transferred thereby. (Secs. 3037, 3038, I.R.C.)

§ 178.261 Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine. Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine must be dumped into open containers and the carbon dioxide permitted to escape before being removed for use as distilling material. Such wines may not be transferred to a fruit distillery if they contain any material, used in manufacture or cellar treatment, which would exclude them from the definition of standard wine.

(a) Permission for removal required. When the proprietor wishes to remove champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine for use as distilling material he shall make application to the district supervisor for permission so to do, stating the name and address of the distillery or industrial alcohol plant to which it is desired to transfer the wine, the number and size of the bottles, and the condition of the wine. If the district supervisor is satisfied that the application is made in good faith and that the removal is proper, he will authorize the applicant in writing to remove the wine. The district supervisor may, where in his judgment the quantity or the attendant circumstances render it advisable, detail an officer to inspect the wine and supervise its removal from the premises. (Secs. 3037, 3038, 3171, 2825, I.R.C.)

§ 178.262 Formula wines. Formula wines, produced in accordance with §§ 178.156 to 178.164, may not be removed for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery: Provided, That this prohibition shall not apply to (a) substandard wines made in accordance with §§ 178.176 to 178.181, inclusive, (b) wine made exclusively from raisins, persimmons, figs, and dates, and (c) any other formula wine which the Commissioner finds may be distilled at a fruit distillery under section 2825, I.R.C. (Sec. 2825, I.R.C.)

§ 178.264 Report of removal. (a) Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B. The removal of standard wines and formula wines for use as distilling material will be reported on Form 702. If champagne, sparkling wine, artificially carbonated wine, or vermouth is removed for use as distilling material, the removal will be reported on Form 702–A, or Form 702–B, as the case may be, with appropriate modification of the heading of the part and the corresponding line of the summary where the removal is reported.

(b) Form 701. The removal of substandard wines produced with excessive water or residue materials expressly for use as distilling material will be reported on Form 701.

(c) Kind and alcoholic content. The kind of material removed, according to its nature, as standard grape (apple, peach, etc.) wine, grape (apple, peach, etc.) pomace wine, grape (apple, peach, etc.) lees, raisin wine, etc.; and the exact alcoholic content of the material, as 5 percent, 10 percent, etc., must be reported on Form 701, 702, 702–A, or 702–B, as the case may be. (Secs. 3037, 3038, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.265 Marking containers. Each container removed, in addition to bearing the marks, required by § 178.219, must be plainly marked "For distilling material," and to show the kind or nature of the material, as standard grape (apple, peach, etc.) wine or lees, raisin wine, etc., in order that the spirits distilled therefrom may be properly marked as to class and type. Where wine, made with sugar other than the kinds or in excess of the quantities, authorized for standard wines, is removed for distilling material, the composition of the material must be marked on the containers. (Secs. 3037, 3038, 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.266 Wines measured when received. Upon receipt of the wine or other distilling material at the distillery or industrial alcohol plant, it must be measured and tested by the distiller, and entered on Form 15, 1598, or Form 1442, as the case may be, with the name of the proprietor, the registry number, and the location of the bonded premises from which it is received. The kind or nature and the exact alcoholic content of the wine or other material must also be entered on such form. (Secs. 2841, 3037, 3038, 3171, I.R.C.)

EXPORTATION OF WINES FREE OF TAX

§ 178.267 Removal free of tax. Wines may be removed from bonded wineries or bonded storerooms free of tax for export in accordance with the provisions of this article. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.268 Export bond, Form 186. Every person intending to withdraw wines from bonded wineries or storerooms free of tax for exportation, must file with the district supervisor of the district in which the bonded premises are located in export bond on Form 186, in triplicate, in a penal sum equal to the tax on the maximum quantity of wine to be withdrawn for exportation, plus the tax on any wine which having been so withdrawn may remain unaccounted for; at any one time, in addition to covering the tax on any wine withdrawn thereunder for use on vessels and aircraft in accordance with §§ 178.296 to 178.310, inclusive, but in no case shall the penal sum be less than $500. Upon approval of the bond, withdrawals may be made thereunder from time to time, pursuant to approved application and entry, Form 711, so long as the bond remains good and sufficient. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.269 Approval of bond. The district supervisor will examine the bond, and if it is properly executed as provided in §§ 178.61 to 178.73, inclusive, he will approve all three copies of the bond, retain one copy, forward one copy to the Commissioner, and return one copy to the principal.

§ 178.270 Account with bond. The district supervisor will keep an account with the bond, in which account the principal will be charged with the tax on each lot of wine removed for exportation and will receive credit for the tax on each lot concerning which satisfactory proof of exportation is received. In case a shortage is reported from any shipment, credit will be entered for only the actual quantity exported. Credit will not be entered for the loss until the tax has been paid thereon. Wine shipped for export will be carried as unaccounted for until proof satisfactory to the district supervisor is received showing the exportation of the wine, and that the tax has been paid on any wine lost in transit. No provision is made in the law for remission of tax on wines lost in transit for export.

(a) Withdrawals for use on vessels and aircraft under same bond. Where wines are withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft in accordance with §§ 178.296 to 178.310, inclusive, under the same bond, Form 186, as wines withdrawn for exportation, the account to be kept with the bond shall cover both kinds of withdrawals. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.; Sec. 309 (a), Tariff Act 1930 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309), as amended by Sec. 3, Act of July 22, 1941, (Public law 187, 77th Congress))

§ 178.271 Application and entry, Form 711. After having given the required bond, the exporter will execute and file with the district supervisor an application and entry on Form 711, in quadruplicate, when he desires to withdraw wine for export. Each application, Form 711, must be numbered serially, commencing with No. 1 and continuing in regular sequence for all applications thereafter filed. Parts 1 and 2 of each copy will be fully executed. If the exporter has complied with the law and regulations in all respects and the available balance on his bond is sufficient to cover the tax on the wine to be withdrawn, the district supervisor will approve each copy of the application and entry, retain one copy, and return three copies to the exporter. Upon receipt of the approved copies of the application and entry, the exporter may withdraw the wine described therein for export free of tax. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.272 Marking containers. The containers in which the wine is removed must be plainly marked "For export," in addition to bearing the marks required by § 178.219. (Secs. 3037, 3040, I.R.C.)

Exportation by Vessel or Aircraft

§ 178.273 Delivery or consignment to collector of customs. The exporter shall deliver or consign the wine to the collector of customs at the port of export for customs examination, inspection, supervision of lading, and report, as provided in § 178.274. When the shipment arrives at the port of export, the exporter or his agent shall file immediately with the collector of customs two copies of the entry, Form 711, one of which will be treated as the customs entry. The other copy of the entry will be retained by the exporter. The entry shall specify the vessel or aircraft by which the wine is to be exported and the pier or airport at which it will be laden. In every case the entry must be filed with the collector of customs at least six hours prior to lading. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.274 Customs inspection. The collector of customs will direct the proper officer to inspect the wine and determine whether the same agrees in all respects with the description thereof in the entry, Form 711, and to superintend the lading of the wine for exportation. Such officer will carefully examine the contents of any packages which are found broken or tampered with, and will report on both copies of the entry any shortage and the apparent cause thereof. Upon exportation of the wine, the collector of customs will execute his report and certificate of clearance on each copy of the entry, retain one copy for his entry record, and forward one copy to the district supervisor who approved it. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.275 Evidence of fraud. If the customs inspection discloses evidence of fraud, the collector of customs will detain the wines and report the facts forthwith to the district supervisor within whose district the port of export is located. The district supervisor will make immediate investigation and take such action as the facts may warrant. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.276 Delay in lading at port. If the exporting vessel is not prepared to receive the wine upon its arrival at the port of exportation, the collector of customs may permit the wine to remain in possession of the transportation company for a period of not exceeding 15 days. Storage elsewhere for a like cause and not exceeding the same period may be approved by the collector of customs. In the event of further delay, the facts will be reported to the district supervisor who approved the entry, Form 711, and who will issue appropriate instructions concerning the disposition of the wine. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.277 Bill of lading. The export bill of lading covering shipment of the line abroad must identify the wine by showing the name of the exporter, the name and registry number of the premises from which withdrawn, the serial numbers of the packages, and the quantity of wine. Where the shipment is handled at the port of export by a customs broker, acting for the exporter, that is, the person who filed the export bond and entry, Forms 186 and 711, the export broker may, if desired, be shown as the shipper (consignor) in the export bill of lading, provided the name of the exporter, together with the other data required above, is shown in the body of the bill of lading. Upon clearance, the exporter will forward a copy of the bill of lading to the district supervisor. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.278 Crediting accounts. Upon receipt of the copy of the bill of lading and copy of the entry, bearing the certificate of clearance of the collector of customs, the district supervisor will make proper entries in his wine accounts, Forms 733, 733–A, or 733 modified, as the case may be, and credit the account kept with the export bond, Form 186, in accordance with § 178.270.

Exportation by Railroad Car, Motor Truck, or Other Conveyance

§ 178.279 General. Where wines are to be exported by railroad car, motor truck, or other conveyance (except a vessel or aircraft), the procedure prescribed for exportation by vessel or aircraft will be followed, except as hereinafter indicated. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.280 Exportation through frontier port. Where wines are to be shipped by railroad car, motor truck, or other conveyance, through a border port, the wines shall be consigned to the foreign consignee at destination in care of the collector of customs or the deputy collector of customs at the border port. Two copies of the entry, Form 711, will be forwarded or delivered by the exporter or his agent to the collector or deputy collector at the border port, who will direct one of his officers to inspect the wines upon arrival. If the inspector finds that the wines are intact and correspond to the entry, the collector or deputy collector will allow the railroad car, motor truck, or other conveyance to proceed to its destination. If there is evidence of loss or the wines do not correspond to the description in the entry, the extent and apparent cause of the loss or other discrepancy will be determined before the car, truck, or other conveyance is allowed to proceed. Upon exportation of the wine, the collector or deputy collector will execute his report and certificate of clearance on each copy of the entry, retain one copy for his entry record, and forward one copy to the district supervisor who approved it. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.281 Exportation in sealed railroad cars or trucks from port of entry through another port. Where wine is to be exported by rail or in trucks through a frontier port and it is desired to avoid the delay of customs inspection at such port, the wine may be entered for exportation at an interior customs port and inspected by a customs officer at that port. After inspecting the wine, the customs officer will seal the car or truck with customs seals and note the car number or license number of the truck, as the case may be, and the serial numbers of the customs seals, if a numbered seal is used, in his report on both copies of Form 711. The collector of customs will then forward both copies to the customs officer at the frontier port. The wine will be consigned to the foreign consignee in care of the customs officer at the frontier port.

(a) Inspection at frontier port. If the customs officer at the frontier port finds upon arrival of the car or truck that the seals are intact and there is no evidence of tampering with the contents, he will allow the car or truck to proceed to its destination without opening. If, however, the customs officer finds that the seals are not intact or there is other evidence of tampering with the contents, he will open the car or truck, inspect the wine, and make report of his findings and of any loss on Form 711. Upon clearance of the car or truck and contents, the customs officer at the frontier port will execute his certificate of clearance on both copies of Form 711 and return the forms to the collector of customs at the port of entry, who will retain one copy as his entry record, and forward one copy to the district supervisor who approved it. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

Shipments to American Possessions

§ 178.282 Panama Canal Zone. Wine may be removed free of tax for shipment to the Panama Canal Zone. Such shipments have the same status as exportations to foreign countries, and the procedure prescribed herein respecting exportations to foreign countries will be followed when it is desired to ship wine to the Panama Canal Zone. (Sec. 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.283 Philippine Islands, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. The law authorizes the shipment of wine without payment of tax to the Philippine Islands, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. The provisions of this part and the forms prescribed in respect to the removal of wine free of tax for exportation to foreign countries shall be followed when it is desired to ship wine to these possessions. (Secs. 3341 (b), 3351 (b), 3361 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.285 Hawaii and Alaska. Wine withdrawn for shipment to the Territories of Hawaii and Alaska must be tax-paid before removal from the bonded winery or storeroom, unless the wine is shipped in bond to a bonded winery or storeroom located in one of those Territories. (Sec. 3030, I.R.C.)

TRANSFER OF WINES TO CUSTOMS MANUFACTURING BONDED WAREHOUSES

§ 178.286 Removal without payment of tax. Wines may be removed from bonded wineries and bonded storerooms to duly constituted customs manufacturing bonded warehouses, class 6, without payment of tax for use in the manufacture of articles for export or shipment to the Philippine Islands, or for rectification and export or shipment in bond to Puerto Rico. Removal will be made pursuant to application and bond filed by the proprietor of the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse and approved by the district supervisor, in accordance with the provisions of this article. The bond shall cover transportation of the wine from the bonded winery or storeroom to the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse. Upon approval of the bond, withdrawals may be made thereunder from time to time, pursuant to approved application and entry. Form 711–A, so long as the bond remains good and sufficient. § 178.289 Account with bond. The district supervisor will keep an account with the bond, in which account the principal will be charged with the tax on each lot of wine removed for transportation to his customs manufacturing bonded warehouse and will receive credit for the tax on each lot concerning which satisfactory proof of deposit in such warehouse is received. In case a shortage is reported from any shipment, credit will be entered for only the actual quantity deposited in the warehouse. Credit will not be entered for the loss until the tax has been paid thereon. Wine removed for transportation to a customs manufacturing bonded warehouse will be carried as unaccounted for until proof satisfactory to the district supervisor is received, showing the deposit of the wine in such warehouse, and that the tax has been paid on any wine lost in transit. Parts 1 and 2 of each copy will be fully executed. If the applicant has complied with the law and regulations in all respects and the available balance on his bond is sufficient to cover the tax on the wine to be withdrawn, the district supervisor will approve each copy of the application and entry, retain one copy, return four copies to the applicant, and forward one copy to the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom as his authority to ship the wine described therein to the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse without payment of tax. Upon receipt of the copy of the application and entry, the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom may ship the wine described therein to the customs warehouse without payment of tax. § 178.292 Consignment of wine. The wine must be consigned to the proprietor of the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse in care of the collector of customs of the district in which the warehouse is located. Upon shipment of the wine the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom shall immediately notify the proprietor of the customs manufacturing warehouse, who shall deliver or forward immediately to the collector of customs his four copies of the entry, Form 711–A. (Sec. 311, 46 Stat. 691 (19 U.S.C. 1311); sec. 6, 32 Stat. 55 (19 U.S.C. 152a); sec. 3178, I.R.C.)

§ 178.293 Customs inspection. The collector of customs will direct the proper officer to inspect and gauge by measure or weight the wine upon its arrival at the warehouse and supervise its deposit therein. When the wine has been inspected, gauged, and deposited in the warehouse, the customs officer will execute his certificate on each copy of Form 711–A, and note thereon any loss or other deficiency on the shipment. The officer will retain one copy of the form for his files, deliver one copy to the proprietor of the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse, and forward one copy to the collector of customs for his entry record and one copy to the district supervisor who approved it. (Sec. 311, 46 Stat. 691 (19 U.S.C. 1311); sec. 6, 32 Stat. 55 (19 U.S.C. 152a); sec. 3178, I.R.C.)

§ 178.294 Evidence of fraud. If the customs inspection discloses evidence of fraud, the collector of customs will detain the wines and report the facts forthwith to the district supervisor within whose district the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse is located. The district supervisor will make immediate investigation and take such action as the facts may warrant. (Sec. 311, 46 Stat. 691 (19 U.S.C. 1311); sec. 6, 32 Stat. 55 (19 U.S.C. 152a); Sec. 3178, I.R.C.)

§ 178.295 Crediting accounts. Upon receipt of the copy of the entry, Form 711–A, bearing the certificate of deposit of the customs officer at the warehouse, the district supervisor will make proper entries in his wine accounts, Form 733, 733–A, or 733 modified, as the case may be, and credit the account kept with the transportation bond, Form 1580, in accordance with § 178.289.

WITHDRAWAL OF WINES FREE OF TAX FOR USE ON CERTAIN VESSELS AND AIRCRAFT

§ 178.296 Withdrawal free of tax. Wine may withdrawn in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.296 to 178.310, inclusive, from bonded wineries and bonded storerooms free of tax for use on vessels and aircraft as follows: For supplies (not including equipment) of:

(a) Vessels of war, in ports of the United States of any nation which may reciprocate such privilege toward the vessels of war of the United States in its ports;

(b) Vessels employed in the fisheries or in the whaling business or actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States or between the United States and any of its possessions;

(c) Aircraft registered in the United States and actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions; and

For supplies (including equipment), maintenance, or repair of:

(d) Aircraft registered in any foreign country and actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions, where such trade by foreign aircraft is permitted, and where the Secretary of the Treasury shall have been advised by the Secretary of Commerce that he has found that such foreign country allows, or will allow, substantially reciprocal privileges in respect of aircraft registered in the United States.

(Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C. Supp., 1309))

§ 178.297 Kinds of vessels. Customs Regulations of 1943, section 10.59, provide as follows, respecting the vessels for which wines may be withdrawn for use as supplies:

10.59 Exemption from Customs Duties and Internal Revenue tax. (a) A vessel shall not be considered to be actually engaged in the foreign trade, or in trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States, or between the United States and its possessions, as the case may be, for the purpose of withdrawing supplies from bonded warehouses free of duty and internal-revenue tax pursuant to section 309 (a), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, unless it is—

(1) Operating on a regular schedule in a class of trade which entitles it to the privilege;

(2) Actually transporting passengers or merchandise to or from a foreign port, a port on the opposite coast of the United States, or between a port in a possession of the United States and a port in the United States or in another of its possessions;

(3) Proceeding in ballast to another domestic port to lade passengers or cargo for a foreign port, and its last carriage of passengers or cargo prior to departure from the port of withdrawal was in foreign trade; or

(4) Departing in ballast from the port at which the withdrawal is made for a foreign port, a port on the opposite coast of the United States, a port in one of the possessions of the United States (or if the port of withdrawal is in a possession of the United States, for a foreign port, the United States, or another possession of the United States) for the purpose of lading passengers or cargo at the port of destination for transportation in a class of trade specified in section 309 (a), Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, for which class of trade the vessel is suitable and seaworthy at the time of leaving the port of withdrawal and from which it is not diverted prior to such lading.

(Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.298 Reciprocating foreign countries. The Commissioner will advise district supervisors by circular letter, from time to time, respecting the foreign countries which:

(1) In the case of vessels of war, reciprocate, or will reciprocate, the privilege of withdrawing wine free of tax to vessels of war of the United States in their ports, and

(2) In the case of aircraft, the Secretary of Commerce has found and advised the Secretary of the Treasury that such foreign countries allow, or will allow, privileges to aircraft registered in the United States engaged in foreign trade substantially reciprocal to the privileges allowed herein to aircraft of foreign registry.

District supervisors will approve applications to withdraw wine for use on foreign vessels of war and aircraft of only such countries.

(a) Other countries. If it is desired to withdraw wine free of tax for use on vessels of war or aircraft of other foreign countries, which it is claimed reciprocate similar privileges to vessels of war or aircraft of the United States, the applicant must first establish the right of such withdrawal. In such cases, the applicant should request the Secretary of State, in the case of vessels of war, or the Secretary of Commerce, in the case of aircraft, to find and advise the Secretary of the Treasury that such foreign country, or countries, allow, or will allow, substantially reciprocal privileges to vessels of war or aircraft, as the case may be, of the United States. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.299 Bond, Form 186. Wines withdrawn from bonded wineries or bonded storerooms free of tax for use on vessels and aircraft shall be covered by a bond on Form 186. The penal sum of the bond must be sufficient to cover the tax of all wine withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft, plus the tax on any wine which having been so withdrawn may remain unaccounted for, at any one time, in addition to covering the tax on any wine withdrawn thereunder for exportation in accordance with §§ 178.267 to 178.272, inclusive, but in no case shall the penal sum be less than $500. Upon approval of the bond and the consent of surety (if required under § 178.300), withdrawals may be made thereunder from time to time, pursuant to approved application and entry, Form 711–B, so long as the bond remains good and sufficient. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.300 Consent of surety. Unless the bond is filed on a revision of Form 186 which specifically covers withdrawals for use on vessels and aircraft in addition to exportation, consent of surety, Form 1533, must be filed specifically extending the terms of the bond to cover wines withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309).)

§ 178.301 Filing of bond and consent of surety. The bond and the consent of surety, if required, must each be filed in triplicate with the district supervisor of the district in which the bonded winery or storeroom from which withdrawals are to be made is located. Exporters who have previously filed bonds on Form 186 to cover the exportation of wine and who desire to withdraw wine for use on vessels and aircraft are not required to file another bond for the latter withdrawal, provided their bonds are in a sufficient penal sum, but they must file consent of surety thereon as herein required, unless the bond specifically covers withdrawals for use on vessels and aircraft. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309).)

§ 178.302 Approval of bond and consent of surety. The district supervisor will examine the bond and the consent of surety, if required, and if they are properly executed in accordance with §§ 178.61 to 178.73, inclusive, he will approve all three copies of each, retain one copy of each, forward one copy of each to the Commissioner, and return one copy of each to the principal.

§ 178.303 Account with bond. The district supervisor will keep an account with the bond, in which account the principal will be charged with the tax on each lot of wine withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft and will receive credit for the tax on each lot concerning which satisfactory proof of lading and of use, if required, is received. In case a shortage is reported from any shipment, credit will be entered for only the actual quantity laden. Credit will not be entered for the loss until the tax has been paid thereon. Wine withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft will be carried as unaccounted for until proof satisfactory to the district supervisor is received, showing the lading and the use, if required, of the wine, and that tax has been paid on any wine lost in transit. No provision is made in the law for remission of tax on wines lost in transit for lading on board vessels and aircraft.

(a) Exportation under same bond. Where wines are withdrawn for exportation in accordance with §§ 178.267 to 178.285, inclusive, under the same bond, Form 186, as wines withdrawn for use on vessels and aircraft, the account to be kept with the bond shall cover both kinds of withdrawals. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309).)

§ 178.304 Application and entry, Form 711–B. Whenever it is desired to withdraw wine from a bonded winery or storeroom for use on vessels or aircraft, after the filing and approval of bond on Form 186 and consent of surety, if required, application and entry will be made on Form 711–B, in quadruplicate. Parts 1 and 2 of each copy will be fully executed. All of the information called for by the form shall be furnished. If the applicant has complied with the law and regulations in all respects and the available balance on his bond is sufficient to cover the tax on the wine to be withdrawn, the district supervisor will approve each copy of the application and entry, retain one copy, and return three copies to the applicant. Upon receipt of the approved copies of the application and entry, the wine may be withdrawn free of tax for the purpose described in the entry. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309).)

§ 178.305 Marking containers. The containers in which the wine is removed must be plainly marked "For Use on Vessels or Aircraft Tax-free," in addition to bearing the marks required by § 178.219. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309); Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.306 Delivery or consignment to collector of customs. The applicant shall deliver or consign the wine to the collector of customs at the port of lading for customs examination, inspection, supervision of lading, and report, as provided by § 178.307. When the wine arrives at the port of lading, the applicant or his agent shall file immediately with the collector of customs two copies of the entry, Form 711–B, one of which will be treated as the customs entry. The other copy of the entry will be retained by the applicant. The entry shall specify the vessel or aircraft on which, and the pier or airport at which, the wine will be laden. In every case the entry must be filed with the collector of customs at least six hours prior to lading. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.307 Customs inspection. The collector of customs will direct the proper officer to inspect the wine and determine whether the same agrees in all respects with the description thereof in the entry, Form 711–B, and to superintend the lading of the wine on board the vessel or aircraft specified in the entry. Such officer will carefully examine the contents of any packages which are found broken or tampered with and will report on both copies of the entry any shortage and the apparent cause thereof. Upon lading of the wine, the collector of customs will execute his report and certificate of lading on each copy of the entry, retain one copy for his entry record, and forward one copy to the district supervisor who approved it. In the event the customs inspection discloses evidence of fraud or there is delay in lading, the collector of customs will proceed in accordance with §§ 178.275 or 178.276, respectively. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.308 Certificate of receipt. The principal on the bond shall procure a receipt, signed by the master or an authorized officer of the vessel or of the steamship company, in the case of withdrawals for use on vessels, or by an authorized officer of the aircraft or of the air line company, in the case of withdrawals for use on aircraft, certifying to the receipt of the wine and giving the serial numbers of the packages and the quantity received. The principal shall file the receipt with the district supervisor. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.309 Evidence of use on vessels and aircraft. The principal on the bond shall also submit to the district supervisor, within six month (or such additional time as may be granted by the district supervisor or the Commissioner), an affidavit of the master or other officer of the vessel or aircraft on which the wine was laden, having knowledge of the facts, showing that the wine has been used on board the vessel or aircraft for supplies (or, in the case of aircraft for foreign registry, for supplies, equipment, maintenance, or repair), and that no portion thereof has been unladen in the United States or any of its possessions: Provided, That such affidavit will not be required where the tax on the wine does not exceed $25 or when the wine is laden on vessels of war. (Sec. 3, 55 Stat. 602 (19 U.S.C., Supp., 1309))

§ 178.310 Crediting accounts. After receiving the copy of the entry, bearing the certificate of lading of the collector of customs, required by § 178.307, and the certificate of receipt required by § 178.308, and of satisfactory evidence of use of the wine on board the vessel or aircraft for supplies (or, in case of aircraft of foreign registry, for supplies, equipment, maintenance, or repair), required by § 178.309, the district supervisor will make proper credit entries in his wine accounts, Forms 733, 733–A, or 733 modified (vermouth), as the case may be, and credit the account kept with the bond, Form 186, in accordance with § 178.303.

REMOVAL OF WINE FOR USE OF UNITED STATES

§ 178.311 Removal free of tax. Wine may be removed from bonded wineries or bonded storerooms free of tax for use of the United States, upon receipt of proper governmental order, signed by the official or officer in charge of the establishment, institution, station, post, etc., to which the wine is shipped, and who is duly authorized by his superior officer to sign such orders. (Sec. 3331, I.R.C.)

§ 178.312 Marking containers. In addition to bearing the marks required by § 178.219, each container in which the wine is removed must be plainly marked "For Use of United States." (Secs. 3040, 3331, I.R.C.)

§ 178.313 Bill of lading and report of shipment. Where the wine is shipped by common carrier, the proprietor shall attach a copy of the bill of lading covering the shipment to one of the copies of his monthly report on Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, as the case may be, in which the shipment is reported. Such copy of the monthly report shall be forwarded to the district supervisor, who will retain the same in his files. Report of shipment will be made by the proprietor in one of the blank parts of the form, modified for the purpose. The monthly report and the bill of lading must show the name and address of the United States governmental agency or officer to whom the wine is shipped, together with the serial numbers of the packages and the quantity and alcoholic content of the wine. The governmental order or a copy thereof must be filed at the winery or storeroom available for inspection by Government officers. (Secs. 3171, 3331, I.R.C.)

REMOVAL OF STILL WINE TO FRUIT DISTILLERIES FOR MANUFACTURE OF DEALCOHOLIZED WINE

§ 178.314 Removal free of tax. Still wine may be removed from bonded wineries and bonded storerooms free of tax to a fruit distillery for the manufacture of dealcoholized wine containing less than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.315 Removal by pipe line. Wine removed for the manufacture of dealcoholized wine may be transferred from a bonded winery or storeroom to a contiguous fruit distillery by fixed pipe line, in accordance with the procedure prescribed in § 178.257, for the removal of wine for use as distilling material. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.316 Marking containers. Each container in which the wine is removed, in addition to bearing the marks required by § 178.219, must be plainly marked "For dealcoholization." (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.317 Report of removal. The report of the removal of the wine on Form 702 must show the exact alcoholic content of the wine; as, 13 per cent, 20 per cent, etc., and the name, registry number, and location of the fruit distillery to which the wine is shipped. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.318 Report of receipt on Forms 15 and 1493. Upon receipt of the wine at the fruit distillery, it must be measured and tested by the distiller and entered on his Form 15 and Form 1493 (monthly statement of brandy distillery producing wine containing less than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume) with the alcoholic content of the wine, the date of receipt, and the name, registry number, and location of the bonded premises from which the wine is received. (Secs. 2841 (a), 3030 (a), 3031, 3171, I.R.C.)

REMOVAL OF STILL WINE FOR MANUFACTURE OF VINEGAR

§ 178.319 Removal free of tax. Still wine may be removed in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.319 to 178.328, inclusive, from bonded wineries and bonded storerooms free of tax for use in the manufacture of vinegar. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.320 General. Unless the wine is removed in accordance with § 178.321 to a vinegar plant operated by the winemaker contiguous to his winery or storeroom, or is removed in accordance with § 178.322 to a vinegar plant, the proprietor of which has filed bond on Form 1676, the wine must be converted into vinegar stock in accordance with § 178.323 before removal from the bonded winery or storeroom. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.321 Removal to contiguous vinegar plant. Where the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom is also the proprietor of a vinegar plant contiguous to his winery or storeroom, he may remove still wine free of tax to such vinegar plant without the necessity of converting the wine into vinegar stock prior to removal, pursuant to approved application on Form 1415 and the filing of consent of surety on his winery or storeroom bond, extending its terms to cover removal and use of the wine in the manufacture of vinegar.

(a) Consent of surety. The required consent of surety shall be filed in triplicate with the district supervisor. If the consent is properly executed and the district supervisor finds that the proprietor's vinegar plant is equipped and in condition to produce vinegar from wine, he will approve the consent of surety, retain one copy for his files, return one copy to the proprietor, and forward one copy to the Commissioner. Upon approval of the consent of surety, removals may be made thereunder from time to time, pursuant to approved application, Form 1415.

(b) Removal by pipe line or hose. Wine may be transferred from the bonded winery or storeroom to the contiguous vinegar plant by pipe line or by hose when authoried by the district supervisor. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.322 Removal to vinegar plant covered by bond, Form 1676. Where the proprietor of a vinegar plant, other than a vinegar plant operated by the winemaker on contiguous premises, files bond on Form 1676, covering the tax on wine shipped to his vinegar plant, and keeps records and makes his vinegar plant premises available for inspection, as herein required, wine may be shipped to his vinegar plant without conversion into vinegar stock prior to removal.

(a) Bond, Form 1676. Bond will be filed on Form 1676, in triplicate, in a sufficient penal sum to cover the tax on all wine shipped to the vinegar plant, and which may be in transit to, or on hand at, the vinegar plant, at any one time, but in no case shall the penal sum be less than $500. If the district supervisor finds that the vinegar plant is properly equipped for the manufacture of vinegar from wine, he will approve the bond, retain one copy, return one copy to the proprietor of the vinegar plant, and forward one copy to the Commissioner. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.323 Removal to other vinegar plants. Wine may be removed for shipment to vinegar plants not operated by the proprietor of the winery or storeroom or which are not covered by bond, provided the wine is converted into vinegar stock before removal from the winery or storeroom and the proprietor of the vinegar plant keeps records and makes his premises available for inspection by Government officers, as hereinafter required.

(a) Conversion into vinegar stock. The wine must be converted into vinegar stock under the supervision of a Government officer by the addition of not less than one-half gallon of glacial acetic acid, U. S. P., or the equivalent thereof of acetic acid, U. S. P. (approximately 1½ gallons), or of wine vinegar (approximately 12 gallons), to each 100 gallons of dry wine. If fortified wine is to be converted into vinegar stock, three times the quantity of glacial acetic acid, acetic acid, or wine vinegar required for the conversion of dry wine must be added. When glacial acetic acid, U. S. P., or acetic acid, U. S. P., is used, the same need not be tested (except when the district supervisor shall so direct), provided the material is delivered to the officer in a sealed package, bearing seal and label descriptive of its contents, placed thereon by a reputable manufacturer.

(b) Samples of acetic acid. In all cases where it is desired to use wine vinegar, or glacial acetic acid, U. S. P., or acetic acid, U. S. P., not contained in a sealed package, bearing seal and label descriptive of its contents, placed thereon by a reputable manufacturer, the Government officer will take a 1-pint sample from each container of the material to be used, and will submit the same to the Government chemist for analysis. After the samples are taken, the containers will be sealed by the officer. The chemist will make a report of his analysis to the district supervisor, and will state the quantity, in wine gallons, of the material required to raise the acetic acid content of 100 gallons of wine to not less than one-half of 1 percent by volume in the case of dry wine, or 1½ percent by volume in the case of fortified wine. The officer supervising the conversion will satisfy himself that the material has not been tampered with since the samples were taken, and will see that the required quantity of the material is added to the wine.

(c) Retention of acetic acid on winery or storeroom premises. Acetic acid may not be stored on winery or storeroom premises. Where wine is to be converted into vinegar stock in accordance with the foregoing, the material required for such conversion must be brought into the winery or storeroom at the time of conversion, and any residue not used must be immediately removed from the winery or storeroom. Wine converted into vinegar stock must be kept separate and apart from other wines in the winery or storeroom during the period necessary for conversion and shipment. The vinegar stock must be removed from the winery or storeroom immediately after conversion. The officer supervising the conversion will see that these requirements are complied with. (Ses. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.324 Application, Form 1415. Whenever the proprietor of a vinegar plant desires to procure wine from a bonded winery or storeroom free of tax for use in the manufacture of vinegar, he shall file application on Form 1415 with the district supervisor of the district in which the winery or storeroom is located. The application shall specify whether the wine is to be withdrawn pursuant to § 178.321, 178.322, or 178.323, and shall be filed in triplicate if the vinegar plant and the winery or storeroom are located in the same supervisory district, and in quadruplicate if the premises are located in different districts. All of the information called for by the application shall be given. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.325 Approval of application. If the applicant is the proprietor of an established vinegar plant and the district supervisor has no reason to believe that the wine will not be used for the manufacture of vinegar, and the desired removal is in accordance with these regulations, the district supervisor will approve the application, Form 1415. Where the vinegar plant is located in another supervisory district and the district supervisor has no information respecting the proprietor, he will make appropriate inquiry through the supervisor of such district before approving the application. If the wine is to be converted into vinegar stock before removal from the bonded winery or storeroom, the district supervisor will, before approving the application, detail an officer to supervise such conversion. Upon approval of the application, Form 1415, the district supervisor will retain one copy for his files, return one copy to the applicant, send one copy to the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom as his authority to ship the wine to the vinegar plant, and where shipment is to another district, forward one copy to the district supervisor of such district. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.326 Marking containers—(a) Wine. Each container of wine removed for use in the manufacture of vinegar, in addition to bearing the marks required by § 178.219, will be marked "For manufacture of vinegar."

(b) Vinegar stock. Where wine is converted into vinegar stock prior to shipment to a vinegar plant, each container will be marked (1) "Acetic acid and wine vinegar stock" where glacial acetic acid, U. S. P., or acetic acid, U. S. P., is used to effect conversion, or (2) "Wine vinegar stock" where wine vinegar is used to effect conversion. The containers will otherwise be marked as required by § 178.219, except that the kind (class or type) of the wine will be omitted. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.327 Records of vinegar plant. Each proprietor of a vinegar plant to which wine is shipped free of tax for use in the manufacture of vinegar shall keep a record of all wine received and used for the manufacture of vinegar and of all vinegar produced and disposed of. The record shall show the following data:

(a) The quantity and alcoholic content of all wine received, the date of receipt, and the name, registry number, and address of the winery or storeroom from which received.

(b) The quantity and alcoholic content of all wine used in the manufacture of vinegar, and the date of use.

(c) The quantity of vinegar produced, and the date of production. (This quantity will be reported on a 100 grain strength basis and will be determined by multiplying the wine gallons of vinegar produced by the grain strength thereof.)

(d) The names and addresses of all persons to whom vinegar is shipped, the quantity and the grain strength thereof shipped to each, and the date of shipment. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.328 Inspection of vinegar plant. Proprietors of vinegar plants procuring wine free of tax for use in the manufacture of vinegar must make their premises, and the records kept there in accordance with § 178.327, available for inspection by Government officers during regular business hours. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

REMOVAL OF SOURED WINE AS VINEGAR OR VINEGAR STOCK

§ 178.329 Removal free of tax—(a) As vinegar stock. Still wine which has so soured as to contain one-half of 1 per cent or more of acetic acid in the case of dry wine, or 1½ per cent or more of acetic acid in the case of fortified wine, may be removed as vinegar stock from bonded wineries and bonded storerooms free of tax for shipment to vinegar plants, in accordance with the provisions of, and subject to, §§ 178.319 to 178.328, inclusive.

(b) As vinegar. Still wine which has acetified into vinegar and contains not less than 4 per cent of acetic acid by volume may be removed free of tax, pursuant to approved application, Form 1415, for use as vinegar. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.330 Application for removal, Form 1415—(a) Vinegar stock. Application for removal of soured wine as vinegar stock will be made on Form 1415 by the proprietor of the vinegar plant to which it is proposed to remove the wine, in accordance with the provisions of § 178.324.

(b) Vinegar. Application for removal of acetified wine, containing 4 per cent or more of acetic acid, for use or sale as vinegar, will be made on Form 1415 by the person to whom the material is to be delivered or shipped. The proprietor of the winery or storeroom may make the application where he intends to use the wine vinegar himself or to sell the same in small quantities to users or retailers. The application will be filed in the same manner as for the removal of vinegar stock. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.331 Test of wine. Upon receipt of the application, the district supervisor will detail an officer to take a sample from each container of the material which it is desired to remove, and submit the samples to the Government chemist for analysis: Provided, That samples need not be taken or tested when the wine is to be removed to a vinegar plant operated (a) by the winemaker on contiguous premises in accordance with § 178.321, or (b) by a person who has filed bond in accordance with § 178.322. After taking the samples, the officer will seal the containers. The chemist will test the wine for both alcohol and acids and submit a report of his findings to the district supervisor. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.332 Approval of application. If the chemist's report shows that the wine contains the required percentage of acetic acid and not less than 6 per cent of alcohol and acids combined by volume, the district supervisor will approve the application, subject to the provisions of § 178.325. If the chemist's report shows that the wine contains less than 6 per cent of alcohol and acids combined by volume, the application will not be approved unless the low alcoholic content is satisfactorily explained by affidavit. Upon receipt of such affidavit, the district supervisor will forward it to the Commissioner with a report of his findings and recommendation in respect thereto. The Commissioner will advise the district supervisor respecting the proper action to be taken. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.333 Marking containers. When soured wine is removed for shipment to a vinegar plant or for use or sale as vinegar, the containers will be marked as required by § 178.219, except that in lieu of the "kind of wine," each container will be marked "Wine vinegar stock," or "Wine vinegar," as the case may be. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.334 Records and inspection—(a) Vinegar plant. When soured wine is shipped to a vinegar plant, the proprietor of such plant shall keep records, and make such records and his premises available for inspection by Government officers, as required by §§ 178.327 and 178.328.

(b) Use or sale of wine vinegar. When soured wine is removed for use or sale as vinegar, the district supervisor may, in his discretion, require the person filing application, Form 1415, to keep a record of its use or sale. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3031 (a), 3171, I.R.C.)

RETURN OF TAX-PAID WINE TO BONDED PREMISES FOR CLARIFICATION

§ 178.335 General. Tax-paid wines may be returned to bonded premises for clarification and reshipment, without retaxpayment, in accordance with the provisions of §§ 178.335 to 178.342, inclusive. (Sec. 2801 (e) (3), I.R.C.)

§ 178.336 Receipt. The tax-paid wines shall be received and retained in the tax-paid room, in the containers (including cases) in which it is received, until it is transferred to the bonded premises for clarification. The wine may be retained in the tax-paid room until a sufficient quantity has been received for economical reconditioning or until reconditioning is otherwise feasible. If the wine is received in unstamped containers, it must be kept separate and apart from stamped containers in the tax-paid room; if received in stamped containers, the stamps must be destroyed when the wine is transferred to the bonded premises and dumped for clarifying, unless it is to be returned to the stamped containers after clarification.

§ 178.337 Transfer to bonded premises. When the proprietor desires to transfer the wine from the tax-paid room to the bonded premises for reconditioning, he will notify the district supervisor of the kind, quantity, and alcoholic content (taxable grade) of the wine, and the date on which he desires to transfer the wine to the bonded premises. The district supervisor may assign an officer to inspect the wine and supervise its transfer to the bonded premises, or he may authorize the proprietor to transfer the wine without such inspection and supervision.

§ 178.338 Tax-payment of additional quantity. When the quantity to be reconditioned is less than 500 gallons of any one kind (class or type) of wine, the proprietor may tax-pay and add thereto a sufficient quantity of the same kind of wine to make not more than 500 gallons, in order to facilitate reconditioning. For this purpose, the proprietor shall provide in the bonded premises an accurately calibrated tank, which will be marked "Tax-payment Tank." When the proprietor desires to tax-pay such an additional quantity of wine, he will so state in his notice to the district supervisor, who will detail an officer to supervise the tax-payment of the additional quantity and the transfer of the returned wine to the tank. The untax-paid wine will first be run into the tax-payment tank and tax-paid by the cancellation and surrender to the Government officer of wine stamps in a value equal to the tax on the wine. The returned wine will then be transferred to the tax-payment tank and added to the wine so tax-paid. The quantity of wine so tax-paid shall be entered on Form 702 in the statement of tax-payments, and on the separate record of tax-paid removals, prescribed in § 178.386, with appropriate explanatory note. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.339 Exception. Upon a proper showing of necessity, the district supervisor may authorize (a) the return of tax-paid wine direct to the bonded premises, instead of to the tax-paid room, (b) the tax-payment of an additional quantity of wine to make more than 500 gallons for the purpose of facilitating reconditioning, and (c) the return of tax-paid wine to bonded premises for treatment, other than clarification, not constituting rectification, or for rebottling, relabeling, repackaging, or similar reconditioning.

§ 178.340 Clarification, bottling, removal, etc. The returned wines shall be reconditioned and removed from the bonded premises expeditiously. In the clarifying, bottling, removal, etc., of the wines and any wines tax-paid and added thereto, as authorized herein, the wines must not be mixed with untax-paid wines. The barrels or cases in which the reconditioned wines are placed shall be marked "Filled from tax-paid container" (unless the wine is returned to the original container after clarification) in addition to the marks prescribed in § 178.219. (Sec. 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.341 Records. The proprietor shall keep a separate record showing the following information respecting all wines returned for clarification:

(a) The name and address of the person from whom the wine is received,

(b) The date of receipt,

(c) The kind, quantity, and alcoholic content (taxable grade) of the wine,

(d) If the wine is returned in serially numbered containers, the serial numbers of the containers and the name, registry number (if any) and address of the person who filled the containers,

(e) The quantity, if any, of additional wine tax-paid and added thereto to facilitate reconditioning,

(f) The date or dates of reconditioning,

(g) The serial numbers and contents in gallons of the containers in which the reconditioned wine is placed,

(h) The names and addresses of the persons to whom the reconditioned wine is shipped,

(i) The date of shipment, and

(j) The kind, quantity, and alcoholic content (taxable grade) shipped to each. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.342 Retax-payment of returned wine. Where, because of the quantity involved, or other reason, the proprietor does not desire to recondition the returned wine separately or to tax-pay an additional quantity for adding thereto to facilitate reconditioning, he may return the tax-paid wine to stock in the bonded premises and retax-pay it upon removal. When such is done, the procedure in §§ 178.336 to 178.340 inclusive need not be followed. The returned wine will be entered on Form 702 or 702–A with explanatory notation, and may be blended with untax-paid wines in the bonded premises in accordance with this part.

CHANGE OF CHAMPAGNE, SPARKLING WINE, AND ARTIFICIALLY CARBONATED WINE INTO STILL WINE

§ 178.343 Conversion into still wine. Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine which has unavoidably become unfit for sale as such may be dumped into other containers and removed as still wine. Such champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine must be dumped into other containers, in each instance, so as to permit the escape of any effervescence (carbon dioxide) remaining in the wine.

§ 178.344 Dumping of 100 bottles or more. When a proprietor has as many as 100 bottles which he wishes to dump, he will notify the district supervisor of the approximate number of bottles and the condition of the wine. The district supervisor will detail an officer to inspect the champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, and, if the officer finds that the material has become unfit for sale as such through no fault of the proprietor, to supervise the dumping of the same: Provided, That the district supervisor may authorize the proprietor to dump the wine without supervision of a Government officer where, because of the quantity involved, or for other reason, the district supervisor does not deem it necessary to assign a Government officer to inspect the wine and supervise its dumping.

§ 178.345 Dumping of less than 100 bottles. Quantities of less than 100 bottles of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine which has unavoidably become unfit for sale as such may be dumped by the proprietor without notice or supervision, unless required by the district supervisor.

§ 178.346 Report of officer. The officer supervising the dumping of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine as still wine, will count the bottles dumped and will state in his report the number and the size of the bottles dumped, the condition of the champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, and the apparent cause of deterioration or spoilage. District supervisors will promptly forward a full report of the findings and action taken in each case, together with a copy of the report of analysis, if made, to the Commissioner.

§ 178.347 Records. When champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine is dumped as still wine, credit will be taken on Form 702–A for the quantity dumped and Form 702 will be debited with a like quantity. If it is desired to destroy champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine because of spoilage, the procedure prescribed in §§ 178.352 to 178.358, inclusive, will be followed. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

REFERMENTATION OF WINE OR WINE LEES

§ 178.348 General. Wine or wine lees may be refermented, as provided in §§ 178.348 to 178.351, inclusive: Provided, That wine or lees, in the manufacture of which sugar or other artificial sweetening was used, may not be refermented, for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery. (Sec. 2825, I.R.C.)

§ 178.349 Application. When the winemaker desires to referment wine or wine lees, he will file written application with the district supervisor, setting forth the quantity and alcoholic content of wine or wine lees he desires to referment, the reasons therefor, whether the wine or wine lees is to be refermented separately or with other material, and whether the refermented material is to be later removed for use as wine or as distilling material at a fruit distillery. If the wine or wine lees is to be refermented for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery, the application shall specify the date the wine or wine lees was produced and, if fortified, the date of fortification, and whether or not sugar or other artificial sweetening was used in producing or ameliorating the wine or wine lees: Provided, That where because of blending, accumulation, or other reason, it is impracticable to specify the date of production or fortification, the application must establish that no sugar or other artificial sweetening was used in producing or ameliorating the wine or wine lees. (Secs. 2825, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.350 District supervisor's action. If the application contains all of the required information and does not cover the refermentation, for use as distilling material at a fruit distillery, of wine or wine lees, in the manufacture of which sugar or other artificial sweetening was used, the district supervisor will approve the application and return it to the winemaker with advice as to whether a Government officer will be detailed to inspect the wine or wine lees and supervise its transfer from storage to fermenting containers, as provided in paragraph (a).

(a) Supervision. Where the quantity of wine or wine lees to be refermented exceeds 100 gallons of fortified wine or wine lees, or 500 gallons of dry wine or dry wine lees, the district supervisor will detail an officer to inspect the wine or wine lees and supervise its transfer from storage to fermenting containers: Provided, That the district supervisor may authorize the winemaker to so transfer the wine or wine lees without supervision by an officer, if the supervisor deems such supervision unnecessary. Where the quantity of wine or wine lees involved does not exceed 100 gallons of fortified wine or fortified wine lees, or 500 gallons of dry wine or dry wine lees, the district supervisor will authorize transfer from storage to fermenting containers without supervision, unless he deems such supervision advisable.

§ 178.351 Forms 701 and 702. When wine or wine lees is refermented, the quantity transferred from storage to fermenting containers will be entered on Form 702 at an unused line, modified to read "Transferred to fermenters for refermenting," in the credit section of the summary, and an explanatory statement will be made in the part of the form headed "Report of Special Operations." The quantity so transferred will also be entered on Form 701 in the statement headed "Materials Deposited in Fermenters," in the section entitled "Production of Wine" or in the section entitled "Production of Distilling Material," depending on whether the refermented wine is to be later removed as wine or as distilling material. The wine or wine lees will not be entered in either the statement or the summary of materials received and used in Form 701. Upon completion of refermentation and removal from fermenters, the quantity so removed will be reported on Form 701 and Form 702 in the usual manner, and an explanatory statement will be made on each form respecting the refermentation. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

DESTRUCTION OF SPOILED WINES

§ 178.352 Destruction free of tax. Wine which has unavoidably so spoiled as to be unfit for use as wine may be destroyed without payment of tax, but the wine must be inspected, and the destruction witnessed, by a Government officer, unless the district supervisor authorizes the proprietor to destroy the wine without inspection and supervision. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.353 Notice to district supervisor. When the proprietor desires to destroy spoiled wine and be relieved of tax liability thereon, he will advise the district supervisor respecting the condition of the wine, the cause of spoilage, and the approximate quantity which he desires to destroy. The district supervisor will detail an officer to inspect the wine and witness the destruction thereof at the earliest practicable date, unless the supervisor determines that because of the quantity involved or for other reason, inspection and supervision by a Government officer is unwarranted. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.354 Inspection by officer. The officer detailed to this duty will carefully inspect the wine; and if he is satisfied from his inspection that the wine has spoiled from unavoidable cause and is unfit for use as wine, and there are no circumstances indicating that the wine has been tampered with through the removal of the original content and the substitution of water or other liquid in lieu thereof, he will permit destruction of the wine in his presence, provided the quantity to be destroyed is not in excess of 500 gallons, or 100 bottles if champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.355 Samples. If there are circumstances indicating that the wine may have been tampered with through removal of the original content and the substitution of water or other liquid in lieu thereof, or if the quantity to be destroyed is in excess of 500 gallons, or 100 bottles if champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, the officer will take a sample from each package or bulk container of the wine which it is desired to destroy, and submit the samples to the nearest Bureau branch laboratory for analysis. After the samples are taken, the packages or bulk containers will be sealed by the officer. A sufficient number of samples of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine to be truly representative of the entire lot to be destroyed should be taken. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.356 Test for alcohol and acids. The chemist will test the wine for both alcohol and acids and examine it for other cause of spoilage, and will state in his report whether the wine is unfit for use as such. Where the analysis indicates that the wine has been tampered with, the chemist will so state in his report. If the chemical analysis of the samples shows the material to be unfit for use as wine and to contain 6 per cent or more of alcohol and acids combined, by volume, the district supervisor may authorize the wine to be destroyed in the presence of the officer. Wine so destroyed will not be included with other losses in calculating the per cent of loss under §§ 178.368 and 178.369. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.357 Explanation required. If the analysis shows the wine to contain less than 6 per cent of alcohol and acids combined, by volume, destruction without payment of tax will not be permitted unless the low alcoholic content is satisfactorily explained by affidavit to the district supervisor. Neither will destruction without payment of tax be authorized where it is found that the wine has spoiled through the failure of the proprietor to use reasonable diligence. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.358 Officer's report. Officers supervising the destruction of spoiled wines will measure the wine before authorizing destruction and will state in their reports the quantity destroyed, the condition of the wine, and the apparent cause of spoilage. District supervisors will forward a full report of their findings and action taken in each case, together with a copy of the chemist's report of analysis, if made, to the Commissioner. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

DISPOSITION OF LEES (INCLUDING FILTER WASH AND OTHER RESIDUES)

§ 178.359 Removal from premises. Where it is desired to remove lees, including filter wash and other residues, from a bonded winery or bonded storeroom for use as fertilizer or for the manufacture of cream of tartar or other by-products, all wine must be expressed or drained from the lees before removal from the premises. Lees removed for such purpose must not be used as distilling material or received upon fruit distillery premises. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3037, I.R.C.)

§ 178.360 Removal as distilling material. Where it is desired to use lees, including filter wash and other residues, as distilling material, the lees must be removed and reported in the same manner as wine removed for distilling material. When necessary, water may be added to lees before removal as distilling material. Appropriate entry, because of the addition of water to the lees, must be made in Form 702. (Secs. 3037, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.361 Application for destruction or removal. When the proprietor of a bonded winery or storeroom has a material quantity of lees which he desires to destroy or remove other than for use as distilling material and obtain special allowance therefor, he shall make application in writing to the district supervisor for permission to do so, stating the approximate quantity and alcoholic content of the lees, and the nature of the proposed disposition. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.362 District supervisor's action. Where the quantity of lees to be destroyed or removed exceeds 100 gallons of fortified wine lees, or 500 gallons of dry wine lees, the district supervisor will detail an officer to inspect the lees and supervise the destruction or removal: Provided, That the district supervisor may authorize the proprietor to destroy or remove the lees without supervision of a Government officer, if the supervisor deems such supervision unnecessary. Where the quantity of lees involved does not exceed 100 gallons of fortified wine lees, or 500 gallons of dry wine lees, the district supervisor will authorize destruction or removal without supervision, unless he deems such supervision advisable. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.363 Form 702. When lees are destroyed or removed under Government supervision or authorization of the district supervisor, the same should be reported on Form 702 as lees destroyed or lees removed, with an explanatory statement showing that the lees were destroyed or removed under supervision of a Government officer or authorization of the district supervisor. Lees so destroyed or removed will not be included with other losses in calculating the per cent of wine lost under §§ 178.368 and 178.369. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

LOSSES

§ 178.364 Allowance for losses. Under the law, the Commissioner may make such allowances for unavoidable loss of wines while on storage or during cellar treatment as in his judgment may be just and proper. The term "on storage" is held to include transportation in bond from one bonded winery or storeroom to another bonded winery or storeroom. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.365 Illegal removal; diversion. The tax must be paid on all wines removed contrary to law while stored in a bonded winery or bonded storeroom or diverted to an unlawful purpose while in transit in bond, regardless of the per cent of loss. (Secs. 3030 (a), 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.366 Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B. Proprietors of bonded wineries and bonded storerooms shall enter losses in their winery or storeroom accounts, Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, only when it is ascertained that losses have been sustained and only in such quantities as are known to have been lost. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.367 Inventories. Each proprietor of a bonded winery or bonded storeroom shall take a physical inventory of all wines on hand on June 30 and December 31 of each year, and enter on his winery or storeroom accounts, Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, for those months any losses disclosed by such inventories. A detailed report of the inventory shall be made on Form 702–C, in triplicate, giving all the information called for by the form. One copy of Form 702–C shall be attached to each copy of Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, to which it pertains, for the month in which the inventory was taken. Additional inventories may be taken at such other times as the proprietor may desire and any losses disclosed thereby shall be entered on the winery or storeroom accounts. Other losses ascertained to have been actually sustained may be entered on Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, but estimated losses may not be entered on the forms. When an inventory is taken, such fact should be noted on Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B.

(a) Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine inventory. The inventory of champagne, sparkling wine, and carbonated wine may be taken by counting the cases, racks, or bottles in which the champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine is contained. An examination or handling of each bottle will not be required. Losses ascertained at the time the bottles are handled, inspected, disgorged, etc., will be reported at that time. Champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine contained in tanks should be inventoried according to the contents of the tanks. (Secs. 3039, 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.368 Losses at wineries and storerooms. Where the losses at a bonded winery or bonded storeroom during any fiscal year, beginning July 1 and ending June 30, exceed 3 per cent of the aggregate quantity of wine on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year and received in bond during the fiscal year, and 6 per cent of the wine produced at a bonded winery by fermentation during the fiscal year, or when requested by the district supervisor, the proprietor of the bonded winery or storeroom must file with the district supervisor for his district an application under oath for remission of the tax on the entire loss. If the loss does not exceed 3 per cent and 6 per cent, respectively, application for allowance of the loss will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the wine lost, or any part thereof, was unlawfully removed. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.370 Percentage of loss. The percentage of wine lost at a bonded winery or storeroom will be calculated by fiscal years, beginning July 1 and ending June 30, and will be based on the quantity of wine on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year, plus the quantity received and produced during the fiscal year. The actual losses of each fiscal year will be considered separately and will not be cumulative. The net increase in volume resulting from amelioration and fortification may be included in calculating the 3 per cent. The percentage of loss from each taxable grade of wine shall be calculated separately, unless such is impracticable because of the mixture of different grades by fortification or blending during the fiscal year, in which case the percentage of loss will be calculated on the aggregate quantity.

(a) Vermouth, champagne, sparkling wine, artificially carbonated wine. Losses of vermouth, champagne (and sparkling wine), and artificially carbonated wine, shall each be determined separately. The 3 per cent shall be applicable to actual losses of vermouth, champagne and sparkling wine made by the bulk process, and artificially carbonated wine produced during the fiscal year, in addition to losses of such products on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year and received in bond during the fiscal year. The 6 per cent shall be applicable to actual losses of champagne and sparkling wine produced by fermentation in bottles during the year.

(b) Distilling material. Wine removed for use as distilling material shortly after production, on which the usual racking, clarifying, and filtering losses are not sustained, will not be included in calculating the per cent of loss on wines produced. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

§ 178.371 Discontinuance of premises; change in proprietorship. Where the bonded premises are discontinued prior to the close of the fiscal year, the prescribed percentages of 3 per cent and 6 per cent will be prorated, according to the portion of the year the premises were operated, for the purpose of determining whether application for remission of tax is required. Likewise, if there is a change in proprietorship during the year, the percentages of loss will be prorated between the old and new proprietor, according to the period the premises were operated by each, in calculating whether application for allowance should be filed by either or both proprietors. When a final report is rendered prior to the close of a fiscal year, because of discontinuance of the premises or change in proprietorship, and the losses claimed are in excess of the specified amounts, the proprietor shall attach to his final report an application for remission of tax, as required by § 178.375 in the case of June reports. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.372 Losses in transit. Where the loss of wine in transit from any package, case, tank car, or other container shipped in bond to another bonded winery or storeroom exceeds 1 per cent (2 per cent on transcontinental shipments) of the quantity so shipped therein, the proprietor of the winery or storeroom to which the wine is shipped must file with the district supervisor for his district an application under oath for remission of the tax on the entire loss. The application shall be prepared in accordance with § 178.375 and attached to the report for the month in which the wine is received. Where, for valid reason, the required application can not be submitted at that time, a statement must be attached to the report in accordance with § 178.375.

(a) Losses less than 1 per cent. If the loss does not exceed 1 per cent (2 per cent on transcontinental shipments) from any package, case, tank car, or other container, application for allowance of the loss will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the wine lost, or any part thereof, was diverted to an unlawful purpose. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.373 Losses by fire or other casualty. Losses by fire or other casualty, or any other extraordinary or unusual losses, including losses by theft, must be reported to the district supervisor immediately after they occur. Such losses shall be entered on Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, for the month in which the loss occurs. Application for remission of tax on wines lost by fire or other casualty shall be prepared in accordance with § 178.375 and attached to the report for the month in which the loss is reported. Where, for valid reason, the required application can not be submitted at that time, a statement must be attached to the report in accordance with § 178.375. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.374 Investigation by district supervisor. Where large or excessive losses from casualty or other cause are reported, district supervisors will, upon receipt of such report, immediately make such investigation or require such evidence to be submitted as may be deemed necessary and will advise the Commissioner of their findings and recommendations relative to allowance or disallowance of the loss. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.375 Application for remission of tax.—(a) Preparation and submission. Applications for remission of tax on wines lost must be prepared by, or at the direction of, the proprietor or his duly authorized agent and, except as provided in §§ 178.372 and 178.373 in the case of losses in transit or by fire or other casualty, must be attached to and submitted with the reports, Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, for the month of June. Where, for valid reason, the required application can not be submitted with the June reports, a statement must be attached to the reports setting forth the reason why the application can not be filed at that time and specifying when it will be filed with the district supervisor. Failure of the proprietor to file such application or statement (and the application in accordance with such statement) may result in assessment of tax on the entire loss or on the portion of the loss in excess of 3 per cent or 6 per cent.

(b) Percentage of loss. The application shall set out the quantity of wine on which the loss was sustained and the percentage of the loss, calculated in accordance with § 178.370 in the case of losses at a bonded winery or storeroom, §§ 178.369 and 178.370 in the case of losses at a bonded field warehouse, and § 178.372 in the case of losses in transit.

(1) At bonded wineries and storerooms. Where the application covers losses at a bonded winery, storeroom, or field warehouse, the quantities of wine (i) on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year, (ii) received in bond during the year, and (iii) produced during the year, shall be stated separately. If the percentage of loss is calculated separately by taxable grades, as provided in § 178.370, such quantities shall be shown separately by taxable grades. Likewise, where the application covers losses of vermouth, champagne and sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, the quantities of each shall be stated separately. If champagne or sparkling wine is shown produced, the application shall show whether the same was made by the bulk process or by fermentation in bottles.

(2) In transit. Applications covering losses in transit between bonded wineries and storerooms shall show the quantity lost from each container, the serial number thereof, the quantity shipped therein, and the points between which the wines were shipped.

(c) Cause of loss. The nature, cause, and extent of the loss must be stated specifically and in sufficient detail to disclose all the material facts and circumstances surrounding the loss.

(1) At bonded wineries and storerooms. Where the loss is due to leakage, the apparent cause of the leakage must be stated; where due to racking, the quantity of wine racked and the time of racking should be given; where due to excessive evaporation, the cause therefor should be set out fully; where due to baking of wine, all of the information required to be entered on the record prescribed by § 178.171 must be furnished. The particulars of losses from other causes should be given in like manner. Where possible to do so, the loss from each tank or cask should be explained separately as to cause and quantity.

(2) In transit. If the loss in transit is due to casualty or accident, full details should be furnished. The application should be supported, if possible, by statements of the carrier or other parties having personal knowledge of the loss, or by a copy of the bill of lading bearing notation of loss.

(d) Indemnity for tax. Each application covering losses by fire or other casualty, or while in transit, must state whether the proprietor has been or will be indemnified by a valid claim of insurance, or by the carrier (in cases of loss in transit), or by any other means, for the tax on the wine lost. If the proprietor is indemnified for the loss, the application must set forth specifically the market value of the wine, less the tax, and the amount of indemnity received. Allowance will not be made for losses where the proprietor is indemnified for the tax on the wine lost. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.376 District supervisor's examination. When an application for remission of tax is received, the district supervisor will verify (a) the quantities of wine shown on hand, received, produced, lost, etc., with the proprietor's monthly reports on Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, and (b) the percentage of the loss, calculated in accordance with § 178.370 or, in case of loss in transit, § 178.372. The district supervisor will carefully examine the reasons described for the loss and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary. Upon completion of his examination of the claim, the district supervisor will forward it to the Commissioner, together with copies of any reports of investigation of the loss submitted by Government officers, and a statement setting out fully any discrepancies in the claim and his recommendations as to allowance or disallowance of the loss and his reasons therefor. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.377 Losses of wine in making vermouth, champagne, and artificially carbonated wine. Where the loss of sweet wine in the process of manufacturing vermouth, or the loss of still wine in manufacturing champagne and sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, appears to be excessive, the district supervisor will make such investigation, or require such evidence to be submitted, as he may deem necessary, and will advise the Commissioner of his findings and recommendation. (Secs. 3039, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.378 District supervisor's accounts. District supervisors will carry all items of loss in bonded wineries and bonded storerooms in their accounts, Forms 733, 733–A, and 733 modified (marked "Vermouth Account"), as not allowed until the close of the fiscal year, after which time they will take credit for the losses which are within the specified percentages, but will continue to carry as not allowed the losses which are excessive, until the loss is allowed by the Commissioner or the tax is paid thereon. Losses in transit in excess of the specified amounts will be carried in the district supervisor's accounts as not allowed until the loss is allowed by the Commissioner or the tax is paid thereon, but credit will be taken for losses which are within the specified amounts at the time such losses are reported. Where the loss in a bonded winery or storeroom or in transit is excessive, the entire loss will be carried as not allowed. (Sec. 3039, I.R.C.)

MONTHLY RECORDS

§ 178.379 Form 702. The proprietor of every bonded winery or bonded storeroom shall keep a monthly record on Form 702, in triplicate, of all still wine produced, received, and disposed of at his winery or storeroom. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.380 Stamp record. The proprietor shall keep a record on Form 702 of all wine stamps received or used at his winery or storeroom. When wine stamps are surrendered for redemption, in accordance with §§ 178.410 to 178.412, inclusive, or are transferred to, or received from, other bonded premises operated by the proprietor, as authorized in § 178.409, record thereof must be made on Form 702, giving the reason for such surrender, transfer, or receipt, the date thereof, and the value of the stamps surrendered, transferred, or received, and, in cases of transfer or receipt, the name, registry number, and location of the premises to which the stamps were transferred or from which they were received. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.381 Form 702–A. The proprietor of every bonded winery manufacturing champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, and the proprietor of every bonded winery or storeroom receiving, storing, or disposing of champagne, sparkling wine, or artificially carbonated wine, shall also keep a monthly record on Form 702–A, in triplicate, of all champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine produced, received, and disposed of at his winery or storeroom. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.382 Form 702–B. The proprietor of every bonded winery manufacturing vermouth, and the proprietor of every bonded winery or storeroom receiving, storing, or disposing of vermouth, shall also keep a monthly record on Form 702–B, in triplicate, of all vermouth produced, received, or disposed of at his winery or storeroom. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.383 Separate record of vermouth materials received. Each winemaker manufacturing vermouth shall keep a separate record showing the names and addresses of all persons from whom materials are received for use in the manufacture of vermouth, together with the date of receipt, and the kind and quantity received from each: Provided, That where commercial records containing such information are kept in chronological order on the premises, available for inspection by Government officers, and in such a manner that the required information may be readily ascertained therefrom, such commercial records will be accepted in lieu of such separate record. The district supervisor may require the keeping of a separate record, instead of commercial papers, in any case where the commercial papers are not satisfactory for this purpose. Entry of materials received must be made in the separate record or the commercial record at the time the materials are received. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.384 Inventory record, Form 702–C. The proprietor of every bonded winery or storeroom shall make a detailed record on Form 702–C, in triplicate, of each inventory taken by him of all wines on storage at his winery or storeroom on June 30 and December 31 of each year, and at any other time an inventory is taken. One copy of Form 702–C shall be attached to each copy of Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B, to which it pertains, for the same month. (Secs. 3040, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.385 Report of removals. When wine is removed tax-paid from the winery or storeroom, the total removals each day must be entered on Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B before the close of business on the following business day. Record of wine removed tax-free or received on bonded winery premises must be made on Form 702, 702–A, or 702–B before the close of business on the day on which the wine is removed or received. When tank cars are shipped, the railroad car number will also be reported on Form 702 and Form 703. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.386 Separate record of tax-paid removals. The proprietor of each winery or storeroom shall keep a separate record showing the date of each tax-paid removal, the quantity, kind (class or type), and alcoholic content (taxable grade) of the wine removed, the serial numbers of the packages or cases, and the name and address of the consignee: Provided, That on sales of not more than 1 gallon, the name and address of the consignee need not be shown. Such separate record may consist of invoices or other commercial papers, kept in chronological order on the premises, available for inspection and in such manner that the required information may be readily ascertained therefrom by Government officers. The district supervisor may require the keeping of a separate record, instead of commercial papers, in any case where the commercial papers are not satisfactory for this purpose. Entry of wine tax-paid and removed must be made in the separate record or the commercial papers at the time removals are made. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.387 Material record, Form 701. The proprietor of every bonded winery shall keep a monthly record on Form 701, in triplicate, of all materials received and used for the manufacture of wine. The total of each kind of such materials received each day must be entered on the form on the day on which the materials are received. Form 701 should not be kept when there are no materials on hand or wine in the process of manufacture.

(a) Condensed must, sugar, or sugar solution. The receipt and use of condensed must as a principal wine-producing material shall be reported on Form 701, and the separate record prescribed by § 178.388 shall be kept in respect to the receipt of the material. The manufacturer's certificate of origin, required by § 178.154 (a), shall be filed with such separate record. The receipt and use of sugar or sugar solution, and of condensed must for ameliorating or sweetening purposes, shall be reported on Form 261, and the use of such materials shall also be reported on Form 701 or 702, as the case may be. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.388 Separate record of materials received. Each winemaker shall keep a separate record showing the names and addresses of all persons from whom materials (other than ameliorating or sweetening materials) are received for use in the manufacture of wine, together with the date of receipt, and the kind and quantity received from each: Provided, That where commercial records containing such information are kept in chronological order on the premises, available for inspection by Government officers, and in such a manner that the required information may be readily ascertained therefrom, such commercial records will be accepted in lieu of such separate record. The district supervisor may require the keeping of a separate record, instead of commercial papers, in any case where the commercial papers are not satisfactory for this purpose. Entry of materials received must be made in the separate record or the commercial record at the time the materials are received. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.389 Crusher or presses located off bonded premises. Where the winery crusher or presses are located off the bonded premises, the quantities of juice or pomace transferred from the crusher or presses to the bonded premises will be entered on Form 701, instead of the quantities of grapes or other fruit crushed or pressed. However, the separate record or commercial record of materials received; required by § 178.388, shall be kept at the winery, showing all the required information, the same as if the crusher or presses were located on the bonded premises. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.390 Complete records required. All the information called for in Forms 701, 702, 702–A, 102–B, and 702–C, as indicated by the headings of the columns and lines of the forms and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto, and as required by this part, must be reported. All operations and transactions must be entered on the forms on the day on which they occur, except tax-paid removals may be entered on the following day, as provided in § 178.385. The entries must be made by the proprietor, or by his agent from personal knowledge or from data furnished by the proprietor. The entries must be made from day to day during the month (a) on all three copies of each form, or (b) on one copy of each form, from which two additional copies must be prepared at the close of the month, or (c) on a rough copy of each form, from which all three copies must be prepared at the close of the month. When a rough copy is kept, the entries shall be made thereon with indelible pencil, ink, or typewriter, and the rough copy shall be filed with the copy (prepared therefrom) retained at the winery or storeroom. When the entries are made from memoranda furnished by the proprietor, such memoranda shall be filed at the winery or storeroom. Care must be used to insure the keeping of accurate and complete records. Each report should be carefully checked before being forwarded to the district supervisor. Reports prepared by persons who have no knowledge of the winery or storeroom operations and who are not furnished with the necessary data by the proprietor will not be accepted. Where forms are rendered in blank they should bear the notation "No transactions." Upon discontinuance of a bonded winery or bonded storeroom, the last reports should be marked "Final." (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.391 Fractional parts of gallon. All fractional parts of a gallon should be stated on Forms 701, 702, 702–B, and 702–C in decimals. For example, one-half gallon should be stated as 0.50 gallon, and not ½ gallon. Fractional parts of a gallon less than one-hundredth will be excluded. Thus, 2.812+ gallons will be called 2.81 gallons.

§ 178.392 Reports signed by proprietor or authorized agent. The reports must be subscribed and sworn to by the proprietor or his duly authorized agent: Provided, That the reports need not be sworn to when no wines were received, on hand, or removed during the month. An agent who signs the reports must have on file with the district supervisor a proper power of attorney authorizing him to execute the reports for the proprietor. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.393 Disposition of forms. One copy each of Forms 701, 702, 702–A, 702–B, and 702–C will be retained at the winery or storeroom by the proprietor as a permanent record, subject to inspection by Government officers at any reasonable hour. On or before the 10th day of the month succeeding that for which rendered, the proprietor will forward two copies of each form to the district supervisor. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.394 Forms forwarded together. When Forms 701, 702–A, 702–B, 702–C, or 261 (§§ 178.500 to 178.503, inclusive) are submitted, the proprietor will insert one copy of each such form in each copy of Form 702.

RETENTION OF RECORDS

§ 178.395 Filing of forms. The proprietor shall file his retained copies of Forms 701, 702, 702–A, 702–B, and 261 separately by form number in chronological order by months in bound or other secure form. Form 702–C shall be filed with Form 702 for the same month. The proprietor shall also file his copies of Forms 186, 427–B, 605, 698, 700–A, 711, 711–A, 711–B, 1415, 1533, 1534, and any other forms, separately by form number in chronological order, except that consents of surety, Form 1533, shall be filed with the bond to which they pertain. Where there are a number of any one of such forms, they should be filed in bound form in order that they may be kept in chronological order. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.396 Records to be kept three years. All records, including all monthly reports and all separate records (or commercial records kept in lieu thereof) of materials received and wines removed on tax-payment, required by these regulations, must be retained by the proprietor at the bonded winery or storeroom for a period of three years: Provided, That the district supervisor or the Commissioner may require records, copies of which are not filed in the office of the district supervisor or the Commissioner, such as records of materials purchased and wines sold upon tax-payment, to be kept for an additional period of not exceeding three years in any case where such retention is deemed necessary or advisable. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.397 Records available for inspection. All records required to be kept at the winery or storeroom shall be subject to inspection by Government officers at any reasonable hour, and shall be filed in such manner that they may be readily inspected by the officers. (Sec. 3171, I.R.C.)

DISTRICT SUPERVISOR'S ACCOUNTS

§ 178.398 Monthly accounts. District supervisors will render monthly accounts on Forms 733 and 733–A of transactions at bonded wineries and bonded storerooms. Form 733 will be used for still wines, Form 733–A for champagne, sparkling wine, and artificially carbonated wine, and a separate Form 733 marked "Vermouth Account" for vermouth. These accounts will be prepared from data obtained from Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, respectively, rendered by the proprietors of bonded wineries and bonded storerooms.

§ 178.399 Unaccounted for items. Wine shipped to other bonded premises will be carried as unaccounted for until Form 702, 702–A, 702–B, or 703 is received showing that the wine has been received at the premises to which shipped. Wine shipped for export will likewise be carried as unaccounted for until Form 711 and bill of lading are received showing exportation of the wine. Wine removed for transfer to customs manufacturing bonded warehouses will be carried as unaccounted for until Form 711–A is received from the customs officer showing deposit of the wine in the customs manufacturing bonded warehouse. Wine removed for use on vessels and aircraft will be carried as unaccounted for until Form 711–B and the certificate of receipt, and the affidavit of use, showing lading, receipt, and use of the wine have been received. Losses of wines on storage and in transit in excess of the specified percentages will be carried as not allowed until the same are allowed by the Commissioner or the tax is paid thereon. Credit will be taken for losses within such percentages, in accordance with § 178.378.

§ 178.400 Spoiled wines and lees. Spoiled wines destroyed in accordance with §§ 178.352 to 178.358, inclusive, and lees destroyed or removed in accordance with §§ 178.359 to 178.363, inclusive, will be reported as loss. Where there is no evidence or circumstances indicating that the wines were tampered with through removal of the original content and the substitution of water or other liquid in lieu thereof, credit may be taken for such items as loss allowed on storage.

§ 178.401 Accounts in duplicate. District supervisor's monthly accounts will be prepared in duplicate and by States within the district. One copy of each account will be retained by the district supervisor and one copy of each forwarded on or before the last day of the month, succeeding that for which rendered, to the Commissioner, together with copies of Forms 701, 702, 702–A, and 702–B. In forwarding the accounts, Forms 702 should be forwarded with Form 733; Forms 702–A with Form 733–A; and Forms 702–B with the copy of Form 733 marked "Vermouth Account."

STAMPS

§ 178.402 Denominations. Stamps for the tax-payment of wines may be purchased in various denominations. Collectors of internal revenue will, upon request, furnish winemakers with copies of current lists, showing the denominations of such stamps.

§ 178.403 Purchase and use. The stamps shall be purchased by winemakers from the collector of internal revenue of the district in which the winery or storeroom is located. Stamps may not be purchased by one winemaker from another, or from rectifiers, nor may they, except in cases of emergency, be purchased from collectors of other districts. Wine tax stamps may be sold only to proprietors of bonded wineries, bonded storerooms, and bonded field warehouses (and rectifying plants, as provided in Part 190 of this chapter), and then only for the payment of tax on wine. Proprietors of bonded wineries or bonded storerooms shall not sell or transfer wine stamps, except that they may (a) transfer such stamps to other bonded premises operated by themselves, in accordance with § 178.409; or (b) return such stamps for redemption, in accordance with §§ 178.410 to 178.412, inclusive. Wine tax stamps, used or unused, may not be purchased, sold, or possessed, except as specifically provided by law or regulations. (Secs. 3040 (a), 3300 (a), 3175, I.R.C.)

§ 178.404 Form 427–B. With each purchase of stamps the winemaker will submit to the collector Form 427–B, Order for Stamps—Wine, in triplicate, properly filled out. The collector will stamp the date of sale on all copies of Form 427–B, return one copy to the winemaker with the stamps, and send one copy to the appropriate district supervisor of the Alcohol Tax Unit. The remaining copy of Form 427–B will be filed in the collector's office so that all purchases of stamps may be verified at any time. Collectors will refuse to sell stamps where such form is not submitted.

§ 178.405 Remittance; delivery. All orders for stamps must be accompanied by cash, post office money order, or certified check in a sum equal to the value of the stamps. Unless the stamps are called for by the winemaker or his agent in person, they will be sent to him by ordinary mail, registered mail, or express at the expense of the purchaser. When the stamps are not called for in person, the winemaker will specify on Form 427–B the means (ordinary mail, registered mail, or express) by which he desires the stamps sent to him. If the stamps are ordered sent by ordinary mail, the winemaker shall enclose with his order sufficient postage stamps, or a separate remittance, to cover postage; if the stamps are ordered sent by registered mail, the winemaker shall include postage and registry fee and any required registry surcharge, as provided by the Postal Laws and Regulations. The sum to cover the postage, registry fee, or surcharge must not be included in the money order or certified check covering the cost of the stamps. The local postmaster should be consulted relative to the amount of registry fee and surcharge required. Stamps forwarded by express will be sent "Collect."

§ 178.406 Affixing and canceling. Stamps denoting the payment of tax on wine must be securely affixed to the containers and canceled in the manner prescribed in § 178.243. (Secs. 3301, 3303, I.R.C.)

§ 178.407 Obliteration of stamps and marks, labels, or tags. Every person who empties any receptacle to which wine stamps are attached shall destroy such stamps; and if the receptacle is a cask, barrel, keg, tank, tank truck, or railroad tank car, he shall also destroy the prescribed marks, labels, or tags thereon: Provided, That when packages of wine are emptied and are to be returned to the winemaker for reuse (refilling), the winemaker's name, address, and registry number need not be obliterated, but the stamps and all other prescribed marks on such packages must be completely destroyed by scraping or otherwise obliterating. The stamps, marks, labels, or tags shall be destroyed by scraping or otherwise obliterating, immediately the receptacles to which they are attached are emptied. (Sec. 3301, I.R.C.)

§ 178.408 Restamping. Packages of wine which have been duly stamped but from which the stamps have been lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident, may be restamped with stamps issued for such purpose without charge by the collector of internal revenue. Application for such restamping should be filed in accordance with Treasury Decision 4744. (See Appendix to this part.) (Sec. 3030 (b) (1), I.R.C.)

§ 178.409 Transfer to other premises. When the winery or storeroom is discontinued, or the proprietor has no use for the stamps thereat, due to the discontinuance of the tax-payment of wine or because of the denomination of the stamps, and the proprietor operates other bonded premises or a rectifying plant at which the stamps could be used, he may transfer the stamps to such other premises for use thereat. In cases of emergency, the district supervisor may authorize the transfer of wine stamps from one bonded premise to another bonded premise (or rectifying plant) operated by the same proprietor in the same supervisory district. Record of all such transfers of stamps must be made on Form 702, as provided in § 178.380.

REDEMPTION OF STAMPS

§ 178.410 Statute governing redemption of stamps. Section 3304, Internal Revenue Code, provides as follows:

SEC. 3304. REDEMPTION OF STAMPS.

(a) Authorization. The Commissioner, subject to regulations prescribed by the Secretary, may, upon receipt of satisfactory evidence of the facts, make allowance for or redeem such of the stamps, issued under authority of law, to denote the payment of any internal revenue tax, as may have been spoiled, destroyed, or rendered useless or unfit for the purpose intended, or for which the owner may have no use, or which through mistake may have been improperly or unnecessarily used, or where the rates or duties represented thereby have been excessive in amount, paid in error, or in any manner wrongfully collected.

(b) Method and conditions of allowance. Such allowance or redemption may be made, either by giving other stamps in lieu of the stamps so allowed for or redeemed, or by refunding the amount or value to the owner thereof, deducting therefrom, in case of repayment, the percentage, if any, allowed to the purchaser thereof; but no allowance or redemption shall be made in any case until the stamps so spoiled or rendered useless shall have been returned to the Commissioner, or until satisfactory proof has been made showing the reason why the same cannot be returned; or, if so required by the said Commissioner, when the person presenting the same cannot satisfactorily trace the history of said stamps from their issuance to the presentation of his claim as aforesaid.

(c) Time for filing claims. No claim for the redemption of or allowance for stamps shall be allowed unless presented within four years after the purchase of such stamps from the Government.

(d) Finality of Commissioner's decisions. The findings of facts in and the decision of the Commissioner upon the merits of any claim presented under or authorized by this section shall, in the absence of fraud or mistake in mathematical calculation, be final and not subject to revision by any accounting officer.

§ 178.411 Claim to collector. Winemakers desiring to have wine stamps redeemed under the foregoing provisions of law must make claim on Form 843 to the collector of internal revenue. The stamps for which redemption is claimed, must be attached to the claim, and the number and denominations thereof must be listed on the claim or on a sheet of paper attached thereto. Where the stamps have been destroyed, evidence satisfactory to the Commissioner establishing such destruction must accompany the claim. (Sec. 3304, I.R.C.)

§ 178.412 Unredeemable stamps. Wine stamps may not be redeemed while wines, on which the stamps can be used in tax-payment, remain on hand. When a winery or storeroom is discontinued and stamps remain on hand, such stamps are not redeemable if the proprietor operates other bonded premises at which the stamps could be used. In such cases the stamps may be transferred to the other premises for use thereat. Notation of the transfer must be made on Form 702 (or Form 45, in case of transfer to a rectifying plant) of both premises. (Sec. 3304, I.R.C.)

OFFICER'S RIGHT OF ENTRY AND EXAMINATION

§ 178.413 Authority to enter and inspect. Internal revenue officers have authority under the law to inspect at any reasonable hour the records, stocks, and premises of winemakers to determine that all provisions of the internal revenue laws and the regulations promulgated thereunder are being complied with. Officers desiring to make inspections will identify themselves by exhibiting their credentials. Any denial of or interference with such inspection by the proprietor, his agents or employees, is a violation of law and will be reported as such for appropriate action. (Sec. 3601, I.R.C.)

§ 178.414 Premises accessible. Proprietors of bonded wineries and storerooms must make such arrangements and issue such instructions to their agents and employees, whom they leave in charge of the premises during their absence, that Government officers, upon properly identifying themselves, will be enabled to examine the records, stocks, and premises at any time during regular business hours. (Sec. 3601, I.R.C.)

RECOGNITION OF AGENTS, ATTORNEYS, AND OTHER PERSONS REPRESENTING CLAIMANTS BEFORE THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

§ 178.415 General. Regulations governing the practice of agents, attorneys, and other persons representing winemakers before the Treasury Department are contained in Department Circular No. 230 (revised) and in Conference and Practice Requirements, Bureau of Internal Revenue (revised). District supervisors, and other officers and employees of the Bureau, will familiarize themselves with the requirements of those regulations and will be governed thereby in dealing with representatives of winemakers under this part. Attention is called particularly to the requirements relative to each attorney or agent presenting (a) evidence of enrollment to practice before the Bureau, (b) power of attorney authorizing him to represent his client, and (c) a statement of fee arrangement.

SUBPART B—THE FORTIFICATION OF WINE

LIMITATIONS RESPECTING FORTIFICATION

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO FORTIFY

§ 178.417 Form 605. Before the start of each vintage season and at least 30 days before commencing the production of wine for fortification, winemakers intending to fortify wines must file with the district supervisor a notice on Form 605, Winemaker's Notice of Intention to Fortify Wines, in duplicate, executed in accordance with instructions printed thereon. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

FORTIFYING ROOM

§ 178.418 Separate room. Winemakers desiring to fortify wines must provide a separate room in the bonded winery for the storage of brandy and the fortification of wine. This room will be known as the fortifying room and must be separated from contiguous buildings and rooms, not constituting a part of the bonded winery, in the manner required by § 178.18. The fortifying room must be well lighted and of sufficient size (a) to permit the storing therein of all brandy that may be received and possessed at any one time, (b) to permit the handling of the brandy and the fortifying of the wine to be done conveniently, and (c) to accommodate the necessary equipment and facilities hereinafter required. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.419 Use of room. The fortifying room shall be used solely for the storage of brandy and the fortification of wine, except that when the room is not devoted to such use, or when all brandy on storage therein is in a separate locked room thereof (as authorized in § 178.429), the room may be used for other authorized purposes: Provided, That fortifying tanks and brandy storage tanks shall not be used for cooking sherry wine (in the case of wooden tanks) or for any other purpose that will affect their capacities or suitability for fortifying or storage purposes. When fortifying tanks and brandy storage tanks are used for other purposes, such as the storage of wine, the tanks must be temporarily marked to show such use, but the permanent markings on the tanks, required by § 178.430 (a), should not be disturbed. All brandy received at the winery for use in fortification shall be promptly deposited within the fortifying room, and all wine fortified shall be fortified within such room. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.420 Suitable facilities. The fortifying room must be provided with suitable facilities for the fortification of wine. There must be provided within the room suitable fortifying tanks sufficient in number and capacity to enable the Government officer to supervise fortification operations efficiently and expeditiously. All wines shall be fortified in such tanks. Where brandy is received by pipe line or in tank cars, suitable closed storage tanks of sufficient capacity for the storage of all brandy so received must also be provided within the room, unless the brandy is run directly into the fortifying tanks and used immediately. Suitable scales and weighing tanks for gauging brandy received and used, shall be provided in accordance with § 178.436. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.421 Period of brandy storage. Brandy may be stored in the fortifying room only temporarily, pending use of the brandy in the fortification of wine. The fortifying room may not be used for the prolonged or indefinite storage of brandy: Provided, That brandy remaining unused at the close of the season, due to unforeseen circumstances, may be retained in the fortifying room for use during the next season, unless the district supervisor deems such retention inadvisable because of the location of the winery, insecurity of the fortifying room, or other reason. Winemakers must not file applications to procure brandy in excess of their current seasonal needs or of the storage capacity of their fortifying rooms. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.422 Construction. The fortifying room must be securely constructed of substantial materials. The foundations, floors, walls, and ceiling (or roof), and the doors, windows, and other openings of the fortifying room shall be constructed, and the doors, windows, and other openings shall be protected and secured, as hereinafter provided. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.423 Walls, ceiling (or roof), and floor. The walls, ceiling (or roof), and floor of the fortifying room must be built of substantial materials and so constructed as to effectively prevent unlawful access to the brandy. If the room does not have a floor, all four walls of the room must rest on solid foundations extending into the ground a sufficient depth to prevent access being gained to the brandy. Where light materials are used in constructing walls, ceilings, roofs, or floors, the same must be applied over solid sheathing. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.424 Doors. All doors in the fortifying room must be securely constructed of heavy lumber or iron, or other equally substantial material. The hinges must be secured by roundheaded or carriage bolts, nutted and riveted or battered on the inside. Hinges that cannot be thus secured must be inaccessible from the outside and so attached that they cannot be removed when the doors are closed. The outside doors must be equipped with hasp and staple, securely fastened on the inside, so that they may be securely locked. Doors secured from the inside must be provided with a cross bar in the middle of the door and with strong and suitable attachments for the reception of locks. Where there are double doors, one of them at least must be provided with substantial bolts at both the top and the bottom. These bolts must be so arranged as to plunge into substantial fastenings or holes in the middle of the frame or wall above the door and of the sill or floor when the door is closed. Folding doors, vertical or horizontal sliding doors, and doors of the roller blind type, must be provided with substantial cross bars or bolts that plunge into the upper and lower parts of the door frame (or the wall and floor) or, in the case of horizontal sliding or roller blind type doors, into the sides of the door frame, so placed as to make the door rigid and secure, unless the doors operate in grooves or tracks that make them rigid and secure. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.425 Windows. All windows in the fortifying room must be securely constructed and so arranged and equipped that they may be securely fastened on the inside.

(a) Within 12 feet of ground, etc. All windows located within 12 feet of the ground, or within 12 feet (1) above a fire escape, (2) above a roof, setback, or balcony within 12 feet of the ground, (3) above a roof or balcony of an adjoining building, or (4) of the roof, window, or other opening of an opposite building, must also be protected by iron bars or solid shutters: Provided, That iron bars or shutters will not be required for windows of the detention type, consisting of solid steel frame, sash and grille, combined in one unit and erected in one piece, equipped with wire glass panes not larger than 6 by 10 inches.

(b) Extension of requirements. The Commissioner or district supervisor may require any other windows in the fortifying room to be protected by iron bars or shutters when deemed necessary to safeguard the brandy.

(c) Set in frame. All windows must be securely set into the window frame in such a manner as to prevent ready removal.

(d) Sash locks. All window sashes must be provided with sash locks or other suitable fasteners.

(e) Shutters. Window shutters must be solid and substantially constructed of metal or wood, and must be fastened inside of the room and so secured that they can not be opened from the outside.

(f) Iron bars. Iron bars for windows must be not less than three-fourths of an inch in diameter, placed perpendicularly in the windows or walls, not more than 5 inches apart from center to center, and reinforced by iron cross bars not more than 36 inches apart. All bars and cross bars must be securely fastened to the window frames or embedded in the walls in such a manner as to prevent their removal. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.426 Skylight, monitors, penthouses, etc. Skylights, monitors, penthouses, and similar openings must be secured in the same manner as windows. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.427 Ventilators. Small openings in the walls, floor, ceiling, or roof, for ventilating or heating purposes, will be permitted, provided such openings are protected by substantial metal gratings, not lighter than No. 6 gauge and having openings not larger than one-half inch, securely attached to or embedded in the wall, floor, ceiling, or roof. Where such openings in the walls, floor, ceiling, or roof are larger than 6 by 6 inches, they should be further protected by iron bars. Such openings will not be permitted in walls, floors, or ceilings which separate the fortifying room from adjoining, unbonded premises not occupied by the winemaker. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.428 Drains. Openings in floors (except floor separating the fortifying room from unbonded premises) will be permitted for drainage or sewage, provided they are permanently connected to the sewer system and protected in the same manner as ventilators. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.429 Brandy storage room. If desired, the fortifying room may be divided into two separate rooms, one for the fortification of wine and the other for the storage of brandy withdrawn for use in fortification. Such separate room for the storage of brandy must be sufficiently large to admit of the storage of all brandy to be received and possessed at any one time. When a brandy storage room is provided, all brandy received at the winery for use in fortification will be deposited therein, except where the brandy is to be used immediately, as provided in § 178.460. The brandy storage room must be constructed in accordance with §§ 178.422 to 178.428. All doors must be constructed, secured, and equipped for locking, in accordance with § 178.424. The entrance door must open into the other part of the fortifying room. The other portion or room of the fortifying room, not used for the storage of brandy, must be securely and substantially constructed, but need not otherwise conform to the detailed requirements of §§ 178.422 to 178.428 inclusive. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.430 Fortifying tanks, weighing tanks, and brandy storage tanks—(a) Markings. Each fortifying tank, weighing tank, and brandy storage tank shall have painted thereon the words "Fortifying Tank," "Weighing Tank," or "Brandy Storage Tank," as the case may be, followed by a permanent serial number and the capacity of the tank in wine gallons. The capacity of the tank per inch of depth shall also be painted on each such tank of uniform dimensions, standing on end. A table showing the capacity of the tank for each inch of depth must be securely attached to each such tank of irregular dimensions or lying on its side, a copy of which shall be attached to each copy of Form 698. The district supervisor will have the calibration of each fortifying tank, weighing tank, and brandy storage tank verified by a Government officer.

(b) Securing. The manholes, inlets, outlets, and any other openings of each weighing tank and each brandy storage tank shall be equipped for locking with Government locks. Where brandy is received by pipe line and is run directly into the fortifying tank, all openings in the fortifying tank shall likewise be equipped for locking with Government locks. Fortifying tanks, weighing tanks, and brandy storage tanks shall not be permanently connected with pipe lines used for the conveyance of air, water, or any substance other than wine and brandy. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.431 Location of tanks. All tanks in the fortifying room must be so constructed as to permit examination of every part thereof, and so arranged as to leave an open space of not less than 4 feet between the top of the tank and the ceiling or roof above, and a space of at least 18 inches from any wall and from each other, except that the supervisor may, if, in his opinion, conditions warrant, permit a lesser distance between such tanks, but in no case less than 12 inches. Properly constructed concrete tanks will be permitted in the fortifying room, either single or in series with no space between if they are so arranged as to permit ready inspection by Government officers. The wall of a concrete fortifying tank (but not of a brandy storage tank) may constitute a part of the wall of the fortifying room. All pipes, hose, or other conveyors leading to or from tanks must be so exposed as to permit ready inspection by Government officers. All stopcocks must be of easy access. Where tanks are equipped with manholes or valves in the top, which are required to be locked with Government locks, suitable walks or landings with steps or stairways leading thereto, must be provided near the top of such tanks in order that ready access may be had by Government officers to the manholes.

(a) Premises heretofore approved. District supervisors may require such walks or landings, with steps or stairways leading thereto, to be installed at wineries now operating, where the tanks have manholes or valves in the top, which are required to be locked with Government locks, and the present method of gaining access to the top of the tanks is hazardous or unsafe to Government officers who are required to open and close the locks on such manholes or valves or to inspect the contents of the tanks from time to time. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.432 Locking fortifying room and brandy storage tanks. All doors in the fortifying room and the brandy storage room, if any, and all openings in brandy storage tanks shall be locked with Government locks. The entrance door to the fortifying room and to the brandy storage room, if any, shall each be locked with a seal lock. The fortifying room and the brandy storage-room, if any, shall be kept locked at all times when brandy is stored therein or wines are held for refortification, except when fortifying operations are being carried on or brandy is being received, or when it is necessary for the proprietor to have access to the fortifying room for the purpose of making repairs or for other legitimate purposes or for the Government officer to enter the room in the performance of his official duties. When business is finished for the day, the doors, windows, and shutters shall be closed and securely fastened by the proprietor and, whenever required, locked by the storekeeper-gauger. The inlets and outlets and other openings in brandy storage tanks shall be kept locked at all times when brandy is stored in the tanks, except when brandy is being transferred to or from the tanks. The keys to all Government locks shall be kept in the possession of the storekeeper-gauger or the district supervisor at all times.

(a) Sunday and night time. The fortifying room shall not be opened on Sunday or at night, except in cases of emergency and then only with the approval of the district supervisor: Provided, That where the brandy is in imminent danger of loss by fire, flood, or other casualty, and it is impracticable to first obtain authorization from the district supervisor for the opening of the fortifying room, the storekeeper-gauger may, upon the request of the proprietor, open the room for the purpose of preventing loss of the brandy, but a report thereof must be made immediately, by telephone or telegraph where possible, to the district supervisor: And provided further, That where the brandy is in imminent danger of loss by fire, and it is impracticable to first communicate with the district supervisor or the storekeeper-gauger, city and State fire officers may break open the fortifying room for the purpose of preventing loss of the brandy, but a similar report thereof must be made immediately to the district supervisor.

(b) Use of room for other purposes. Where there is no brandy stored in the fortifying room, or when all brandy on storage therein is in a separate locked room thereof (as authorized in § 178.429) and no wines are held therein for refortification, and the proprietor desires to use the room for other purposes (as authorized in § 178.419), including the emptying, cleaning, and filling of fortifying tanks, the Government locks should be removed from the doors and the storage tanks. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.433 Pipe lines. Pipe lines used for the conveyance of brandy from fruit distilleries and internal revenue bonded warehouses to brandy storage tanks, weighing tanks, or fortifying tanks in the fortifying room, shall be constructed in accordance with the requirements of Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184) and Regulations 10 (26 CFR, Part 185), respectively. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.434 Valves. Valves in pipe lines, required to be locked, must be equipped for locking with a Government lock. Wheel type valves must be fitted with a hood or cover that may be locked over the valve, or the valves must be so constructed that they may be locked firmly in place. The locking of such valves with chains which permit a cracking or partial turning of the valve, will not be approved. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.435 Pumps. Pumps used to pump brandy into weighing tanks, storage tanks, and fortifying tanks must be prepared for sealing with cap seals the same as pipe lines. Unless the pipe line beyond the pump is so located as to drain by gravity, a check valve or a valve that may be locked must be installed just beyond the pump in the pipe line leading to the weighing tank, storage tank, or fortifying tank. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.436 Scales and weighing tanks. The proprietor must provide in the fortifying room suitable and accurate scales for gauging brandy received and used, except where all brandy used is conveyed by pipe line directly to the fortifying tank immediately after gauging at the distillery or bonded warehouse. Where brandy is received in tank cars or tank trucks, or by pipe line (except as provided above), a weighing tank of suitable size must be provided in the fortifying room. Beams or dials of scales used to weight packages must indicate weight in half-pound graduations. The beams or dials of weighing tank scales must indicate weight in 1-pound graduations, if of less than 10 tons capacity, and in 5-pound graduations, if of 10 tons or more capacity. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.437 Government office. A well-lighted, heated and ventilated office, not less than 10 feet square, must be provided within the fortifying room by the winemaker for the exclusive use of the Government officers assigned to supervise fortification. The office must be furnished with a desk having one or more drawers, suitable for the storage of necessary records and forms, a chair, water for making tests, shelving for storing samples, and such other equipment or furniture as may be necessary for the preparation of reports, preserving Government records, making tests, etc. Where, in the case of wineries heretofore established, it is not practicable to provide an office in the fortifying room in conformity with the requirements hereof, such an office will not be insisted upon if other reasonable and suitable office accommodations for the use of Government offices have been provided. All accommodations for Government officers shall be subject to approval by the district supervisor. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.438 Government cabinet. There shall be provided in the Government office a metal cabinet of adequate strength and size, suitably equipped for locking with a Government seal lock, for use in safeguarding Government locks, keys, seals, and other Government property in the custody of Government officers. Each such cabinet shall be subject to approval by the district supervisor.

§ 178.439 Sign. The proprietor shall place over the entrance door of the fortifying room a sign bearing in plain and legible letters, the words "Fortifying Room." (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.440 Details of construction and equipment. Details of construction and equipment, not covered by these regulations, or for which it is desired to make substitution, shall be governed by the provisions of § 178.43. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.441 Form 698 and plan. The fortifying room and equipment must be accurately described in Form 698 and the plan of the winery premises and apparatus, as prescribed in §§ 178.45 to 178.60 and 178.78 to 178.84, inclusive. Where material changes are made in the fortifying room and equipment, such as the removal or addition of tanks, or changes in the capacity of tanks, report thereof must be made and filed, as provided by § 178.87. (Secs. 3031, 3032, 3033, 3040, I.R.C.)

KINDS OF WINE THAT MAY BE FORTIFIED

§ 178.443 Ineligible wines. The fortification of any wines, other than those made strictly in accordance with §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, constitutes rectification and will incur liability for both the distilled spirits tax of $9 a proof gallon on the brandy used in fortification, and the rectification tax of 30 cents a proof gallon on the fortified wine, in addition to the wine tax (according to taxable grade) on the fortified wine. Winemakers should accordingly exercise every care to see that only wines produced strictly in accordance with §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145 are offered for fortification. Responsibility for fortifying only such wines as are eligible for fortification rests upon the winemaker. Where any doubt exists as to the eligibility of the wine for fortification, the matter should be submitted to the district supervisor for decision before fortifying the wine. (Secs. 3254 (g), 2800 (a) (5), 2801 (e), I.R.C.)

§ 178.444 Supervision by Government officers. Government officers assigned to supervise the fortification of wine will not allow fortification unless the tank label, Form 546, and their examination and tests of the wine indicate that the limitations of these regulations relative to the production and amelioration of wine have been observed, and there is no evidence or circumstances indicating that the wine is ineligible for fortification. If the Government officer is doubtful whether the wine is eligible for fortification, he will submit the matter to the district supervisor for decision before permitting fortification. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3034, I.R.C.)

KIND OF SPIRITS USABLE FOR FORTIFICATION

§ 178.445 Brandies eligible for use in fortification. The brandies authorized to be used for fortification, as enumerated in § 178.416, are those made exclusively from grapes, citrus fruits (except lemons and limes), peaches, cherries, berries, apricots, prunes, plums, pears, pawpaws, papayas, pineapples, cantaloups, or apples, or from the products of the residues of such fruits and berries, or from grape wine, citrus-fruit wine, peach wine, cherry wine, berry wine, apricot wine, prune wine, plum wine, pear wine, pawpaw wine, papaya wine, pineapple wine, cantaloup wine, or apple wine, in the manufacture of which artificial sweetening may have been used under the limitations prescribed in §§ 178.143, 178.144, and 178.145, or from the fruit pomace residuum of such grape wine. As provided in § 178.5 (c), the term brandy as used in these regulations in connection with the fortification of wine shall include wine spirits and spirits—fruit distilled from the same kind of fruit, and wines may be fortified with such wine spirits and spirits—fruit the same as with brandy. No brandy produced otherwise than as specified herein may be used for fortification. Brandy produced from grape cheese and a sugar solution may not be used for the fortification of wine. (Secs. 3032, 3036, I.R.C.)

IDENTIFICATION OF WINES

§ 178.446 Form 546. Where grapes, citrus fruit (except lemons and limes), peaches, cherries, berries, apricots, prunes, plums, pears, pawpaws, papayas, pineapples, cantaloups, or apples are crushed or pressed or where the juice thereof is deposited in fermenters, for fermentation and probable fortification, there shall be attached to the fermenting tanks into which the material is run a label, Form 546, filled out in accordance with the instructions contained therein. The form shall be signed by the winemaker. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, 3171; I.R.C.)

§ 178.447 Removal of Form 546. When the wine is transferred to another tank before amelioration or fortification, the label must be transferred to the new tank and the serial number of the tank and date of transfer entered on the label. Where the contents of a tank are transferred to two or more tanks, duplicate labels will be attached to the new tanks. Upon fortification of the wine, the label will be removed and attached to the copy of the storekeeper-gauger's report of fortification, Form 275, forwarded to the district supervisor. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.448 Transfer of labels. The labels must be so attached to the tanks that they will not become detached or obliterated and so that they may be transferred from one tank to another upon transfer of the wines. Government officers will not permit the fortification of wine contained in any tank which is not labeled in accordance with this part. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

MANNER OF PROCURING BRANDY FROM FRUIT DISTILLERIES AND INTERNAL REVENUE BONDED WAREHOUSES

§ 178.449 General. Winemakers may procure brandy from fruit distilleries and internal revenue bonded warehouses without payment of tax for the fortification of wine, in accordance with this part. The brandy may be procured in packages or railroad tank cars, or by pipe line, as hereinafter provided. Brandy so procured must conform to the provisions of § 178.445, and must be used to fortify wines conforming to the provisions of § 178.442. Both the brandy and the wines in which it is used must be made from the same kind of fruit, as provided in § 178.416. No other brandies may be procured and no other wines may be fortified, and no brandy made from one kind of fruit may be used to fortify wine made from another kind of fruit. (Secs. 2883, 3031, 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.450 Application, Form 257. Where it is desired to procure brandy from a fruit distillery or an internal revenue bonded warehouse for the fortification of wine, application will be made by the winemaker on Form 257 to the supervisor of the district in which the winery is located. The winemaker shall specify in Form 257 whether the brandy is to be procured in packages or railroad tank cars, or by pipe line, and (a) if the brandy is to be procured in railroad tank cars, whether both the winery and the distillery or warehouse from which the brandy is to be procured are equipped with suitable railroad siding facilities and weighing tanks for gauging the brandy, and (b) if the brandy is to be procured by pipe line, whether the winery and the distillery or warehouse from which the brandy is to be procured are located on contiguous premises and are equipped with a suitable weighing tank and whether the pipe line has been inspected and approved, as required by § 178.457. The application shall be filed in triplicate where the winery and the distillery or warehouse are in the same supervisory district, and in quadruplicate where they are in different districts. The same application may not include brandy from more than one distillery or warehouse or from both a distillery and a warehouse, nor two or more lots to be removed from the same distillery or warehouse at different times, except where the distillery or warehouse is contiguous to the winery, as provided in § 178.454. (Secs. 3031, 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.451 Action by district supervisor. If the application is in proper order and the bond of the winemaker (where not in the maximum penal sum) is sufficient to cover the tax on the brandy to be procured, in addition to the tax on the wine and brandy then on hand at the winery, the district supervisor will (a) where the distillery or warehouse is in the same district, execute his certificate and order on the form and send all three copies to the storekeeper-gauger designated to gauge the brandy and (b) where the distillery or warehouse is located in another supervisory district, execute his certificate on the form and forward all four copies to the supervisor of such district, who will in turn execute his order on the form and send all four copies to the storekeeper-gauger designated to gauge the brandy. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.452 Removal of brandy from distillery or warehouse. The brandy will be gauged, marked, and removed from the distillery or warehouse, and the copies of Form 257, with the report of gauge, Form 1520, will be disposed of by the storekeeper-gauger at the distillery or warehouse in accordance with Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184) and Regulations 10 (26 CFR, Part 185), respectively. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.453 Deposit of brandy in fortifying room—(a) Distillery or warehouse and winery on contiguous premises. Where the distillery or warehouse and the winery are located on contiguous premises, and the storekeeper-gauger at the distillery or warehouse is charged with supervising the deposit of the brandy in the fortifying room, he will, upon such deposit of the brandy execute his certificates on all copies of Form 257, retain one copy, with Form 1520 attached, at the winery, and forward one copy to the district supervisor. The other copy of Form 257 will be retained at the distillery or warehouse and the extra copy of Form 1520 will be delivered to the distiller or warehouseman, as provided in Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184) and Regulations 10 (26 CFR, Part 185), respectively.

(b) Distillery or warehouse and winery on non-contiguous premises. Where the distillery or warehouse and the winery are located on non-contiguous premises and the storekeeper-gauger at the distillery or warehouse is not charged with supervising the deposit of the brandy in the fortifying room of the winery, he will, upon removal of the brandy and the execution of his certificate of gauge and removal on all copies of the Form 257, retain one copy, with a copy of Form 1520 attached, at the distillery or warehouse, as the case may be, and immediately forward the remaining copies (two or three, as the case may be), with a copy of Form 1520 attached to each, to the winemaker, who will present them to the officer at the winery as a voucher for deposit in the fortifying room. Where no officer is assigned to the winery, the winemaker will on receipt of the brandy request the district supervisor to detail an officer to supervise the deposit of the brandy in the fortifying room. After the brandy has been deposited within the fortifying room and any necessary gauging performed, the officer will execute his certificate of receipt on all copies of Form 257, with copy or copies of Form 1520 attached, at the winery as a permanent record, and forward the other copy, or copies, with Form 1520 attached to each, to the district supervisor, who will, in cases where the brandy was withdrawn from a distillery or warehouse in another district, forward the extra copy, or copies, of each form to the supervisor of such district. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.454 One application for monthly removals from contiguous distillery or warehouse. If the distillery or warehouse and the winery are located on contiguous premises and brandy is to be transferred to the winery from time to time during the month under supervision of a Government officer, the winemaker's application on Form 257, and the district supervisor's order to gauge on the form, may cover all brandy to be transferred to the winery during the month. In such case, if the bond of the winemaker is not in the maximum penal sum, the winemaker shall specify on Form 257 the maximum quantity of brandy that will be removed from the distillery or warehouse on any one day, less the quantity on hand unused at the beginning of the day. The Government officer supervising the removal of the brandy from the distillery or warehouse will see that this daily quantity is not exceeded. As provided in § 178.499 (a), district supervisors will use such daily quantity in determining the sufficiency of the winemaker's bond.

(a) Same officer at distillery or warehouse and winery. If the officer gauging the brandy supervises its transfer to and deposit in the fortifying room, he will certify to such deposit on each copy of Form 1520 as the brandy is deposited, and attach one copy thereof to each copy of Form 257. At the close of the month, the officer will execute his certificates on each copy of Form 257, retain one copy thereof, with a copy of each Form 1520 attached, at the winery as a permanent record, and one copy similarly completed, at the distillery or warehouse for the same purpose, and forward the other copy to the district supervisor.

(b) Separate officers at distillery or warehouse and winery. When an officer is separately assigned to duty at the winery, the officer at the distillery or warehouse will retain one copy of Form 257 and deliver the other two copies to the officer at the winery. Each time brandy is transferred to the winery, the officer at the distillery or warehouse will attach one copy of Form 1520, covering the brandy so transferred, to his copy of Form 257, and deliver two copies of the Form 1520 to the officer at the winery, who will certify to deposit on each Form 1520, as the brandy is received and deposited in the fortifying room; and attach a copy of Form 1520 to each copy of Form 257. At the close of the month the officer at the distillery or warehouse will execute his certificate of gauge on all three copies of Form 257 and the officer at the winery will execute his certificate of receipt on all copies of the form. The forms will then be disposed of as provided in paragraph (a) of this section. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

Procurement of Brandy in Packages

§ 178.455 Officer's examination. When packages of brandy are received at the winery, the officer will examine the packages and satisfy himself that the brandy is the same as that described in Forms 257 and 1520, and will supervise the deposit of the brandy in the fortifying room. The officer will gauge any packages which appear to have been tampered with, or from which brandy appears to have been abstracted or lost. The details of packages so gauged will be reported on Form 1520, with a statement setting forth fully the apparent cause of the loss. A copy of such Form 1520 will be attached to each copy of Form 257. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

Procurement of Brandy by Pipe Line

§ 178.456 General. Where the distillery or warehouse and the winery are located on contiguous premises, brandy may be transferred from the distillery or warehouse to the winery by pipe line under the immediate supervision of a Government officer, as herein provided. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.457 Pipe line. The pipe line from the distillery or warehouse to the winery shall be constructed and secured in accordance with the provisions of Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184) or Regulations 10 (26 CFR, Part 185), respectively, and shall be connected with the brandy storage tanks, weighing tanks, or fortifying tanks in the fortifying room in the same manner as it is required to be connected with the receiving tanks, storage tanks, or weighing tanks in the distillery or warehouse. Where the brandy is weighed in the distillery or warehouse and not in the fortifying room, the pipe line shall be directly connected in the prescribed manner with the brandy storage tanks or the fortifying tanks in the fortifying room. Where the brandy is weighed in the fortifying room and not in the distillery or warehouse, the pipe line shall be directly connected in the prescribed manner with the receiving or brandy storage tanks in the distillery or warehousee. The pipe line shall be fitted with valves so constructed that they may be locked with Government locks and so arranged as to control the flow of brandy from or into each tank with which it is connected in the distillery or warehouse and the winery. The valves will be closed and locked with Government locks at all times, except when necessary to be open for the transfer of brandy. The keys will remain in the custody of the Government officer, or, if no officer is regularly assigned, in the custody of the district supervisor or other officer designated by him. No pipe line may be used until it has been inspected and the district supervisor has approved it, and no brandy may be transferred except under the immediate supervision of a Government officer. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.458 Underground conduit. If the distance from the distillery or warehouse to the fortifying room is great enough to make an underground conduit necessary, or desirable, or it is necessary for the pipe line to cross a public highway, or the conduit is necessary or desirable for other valid reason, the same may be used, but must be on a straight line, and not less than 15 inches in diameter, and constructed of iron, concrete, or other suitable material. Such conduit must be supplied with lights in order that it may be readily examined throughout its entire length. The pipe line passing through this conduit must be clear of the walls thereof, and with no openings except at either end. Each end of the conduit must be provided with some means of closing that may be securely locked with a Government lock, the keys to which will be in the custody of the district supervisor or other officer designated by him. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.459 Weighing tanks. Where brandy is transferred by pipe line, a suitable weighing tank or tanks must be provided for gauging the brandy. Such weighing tank or tanks may be located in either the distillery or warehouse or in the fortifying room. Only one weighing of the brandy will be required in connection with its transfer to the fortifying room. The brandy may be weighed either in the distillery or warehouse immediately before being run into the fortifying room or in the fortifying room immediately upon being received. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.460 Fortifying room not having weighing tank. Where a weighing tank is not provided in the fortifying room, the brandy may be transferred thereto by pipe line only for immediate use and only in such quantities as are necessary to fortify a given lot of wine. In such cases, the wine to be fortified will be run into the fortifying tank and the required quantity of brandy to fortify the wine will be gauged in a weighing tank in the distillery or warehouse, and run directly into the fortifying tank containing the wine. The Government officer at the winery should see that the pipe line will discharge directly into the tank of wine to be fortified before the valve permitting the flow to that tank is opened. After all the brandy in the weighing tank has been run into the fortifying tank, the valve in the pipe line will be locked. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.461 Storage tank in fortifying room. Where it is desired to transfer brandy to the fortifying room and store the same therein prior to use, there must be provided within the fortifying room (or brandy storage room therein, if one is provided) a suitable storage tank or tanks for storing the brandy and a weighing tank for use in gauging the brandy when used, as required by §§ 178.420 and 178.436. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.462 Tank locks. The pipe line must empty into a closed storage tank, weighing tank, or fortifying tank, which will be locked with a Government lock while brandy is being discharged therein or remains therein. The keys to this lock will be retained in the possession of the officer at all times. Where the brandy is run directly by pipe line into the fortifying tank, such tank must be fitted with a locked cover. If, however, the weighing tank is located in the fortifying room, it is not necessary that the fortifying tanks be fitted with locked covers. (Secs. 2829, 2883, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.463 Report on Form 275. Where brandy is transferred by pipe line to the fortifying tank in the fortifying room for immediate use, the Government officer will note on the copies of Form 1520 attached to his fortification report, Form 275, the statement "Received by pipe line from Distillery (or Warehouse) No. ------."

Procurement of Brandy in Tank Cars

§ 178.464 General. Brandy may be procured in railroad tank cars, as herein provided, where both the winery and the distillery or warehouse from which the brandy is to be procured are equipped with suitable railroad siding facilities and an appropriate weighing tank is provided in both the distillery or warehouse and the winery for weighing the brandy, and a closed storage tank, or tanks, of sufficient capacity to hold the brandy are provided in the fortifying room. (Secs. 2829, 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.465 Tank car requirements. Railroad tank cars used to transport brandy for the fortification of wine must be constructed, marked, filled, labeled, inspected, and seal-locked in the manner

required by Regulations 5 (26 CFR, Part 184) and Regulations 10 (26 CFR, Part 185). The key of each seal lock used in locking the tank car will be forwarded on the day of shipment by the storekeeper-gauger at the distillery or warehouse to the Government officer, if any, at the winery. Where no officer is assigned at the winery regularly when the brandy is shipped, the district supervisor will direct that the keys be forwarded to him or such other officer as he may designate. All locks and keys will be promptly returned by the officer at the winery to the distillery or warehouse from which the brandy was shipped. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.466 Examination of tank car upon arrival at winery. Upon arrival of the tank car at the winery, the seals must not be broken or any brandy removed except in the presence of the Government officer, who will first carefully examine the car to see whether the locks and seals are intact and whether there is any evidence of loss by leakage or otherwise. If the locks or seals are found to have been broken or if there is other evidence that the contents of the car have been tampered with, the officer will immediately communicate with the district supervisor, and, except in cases of emergency, await instructions before permitting the car to be unloaded. When a tank car is unloaded, the contents will be pumped into the weighing tank in the fortifying room of the winery, where the brandy will be gauged and transferred to storage tanks in the fortifying room. The transfer of the brandy from the tank car to the fortifying room must be done in the immediate presence of the Government officer. The pipe line or hose connection from the car to the weighing tank must be in full view of the officer and must not be connected or used except in his presence. The label attached to the tank car at the distillery or warehouse shall be scraped and obliterated immediately the car is emptied. (Secs. 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

§ 178.467 Report of gauge at winery. If the gauge of the brandy upon receipt at the winery discloses a loss in transit other than that which may be ascribed to variation in gauge, the officer will prepare a report of his gauge on Form 1520, and attach a copy of the form to each copy of Form 257 received from the officer at the distillery or warehouse. If the loss exceeds one-half of 1 per cent, or there is any evidence that the tank car was tampered with in transit, the officer will make a report of his gauge on Form 1520 in each instance, with a statement respecting his inspection of the tank car and the apparent cause of the loss. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031, 3033, I.R.C.)

FORTIFICATION OF WINE

§ 178.468 Application, Form 276. When the winemaker desires to fortify wine, he will file application on Form 276 with the district supervisor for the assignment of an officer to supervise fortification: Provided, That where pursuant to a prior application the district supervisor has assigned an officer to the winery and authorized him to supervise fortification upon application of the winemaker, Form 276 may be filed directly with such officer, who may permit fortification prior to formal approval of Form 276 by the district supervisor. Where the application is filed with the district supervisor, it must be filed in sufficient time to enable the district supervisor to assign the required officer. The application should set forth the date on which it is desired to begin fortification, the approximate quantity of wine to be fortified, and the probable length of time (number of days) which will be required to fortify the wine. This information should be given as definitely as possible in order that the district supervisor may assign an officer accordingly. A separate application must be filed for each month in which it is desired to fortify wine. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3034, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.469 Action by district supervisor. If the application is properly prepared and the winemaker's notice of intention to fortify wine, Form 605, has been filed with the district supervisor, and the winemaker has procured or been authorized to procure brandy to fortify the wine, the district supervisor will, except in cases where the application is filed directly with a designated officer, as provided in § 178.468, execute his order on the form and send all three copies to the officer designated to supervise fortification. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.470 Inspection by Government officer. The officer who receives the order to supervise fortification will inspect the fortifying room and equipment, and the brandy and wine to be used in fortification to determine whether the same are in legal condition as required by these regulations. He will examine the fortifying tanks to determine that the same are completely empty and will not permit the use of any fortifying tank in which any wine or lees remain. The officer will also examine the packages of brandy and any brandy in storage tanks to see that the same corresponds with that shown on Forms 257 on file at the winery. If any irregularity is found, the officer will immediately communicate with the district supervisor and await instructions before permitting fortification. The officer will proceed in a similar manner in cases where he has been authorized to supervise fortification upon application of the winemaker, without prior approval of Form 276 by the district supervisor. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.471 Transfer of wine to fortifying room. When it is desired to transfer wine to the fortifying room for fortification, the officer will see (a) that the tank bears a label, Form 546, properly identifying the wine; (b) that according to the label the wine is eligible for fortification; (c) that the wine apparently corresponds with the label; and (d) that the wine appears in all respects to be eligible for fortification. (See §§ 178.311 to 178.313, inclusive.) If the wine appears to be eligible for fortification, it will be transferred to the fortifying room and tested by the officer for alcoholic content. After testing the wine for alcohol, the officer will calculate the quantity of brandy required to fortify the wine to the alcoholic strength desired, and will proceed to gauge such quantity of brandy and superintend its transfer to the fortifying tank and mixing with the wine. Wines may not be fortified above 24 per cent by volume, including both the natural and added alcoholic content, as such wines are classed as distilled spirits by section 3030, I.R.C., as amended. (Secs. 3030, 3032, 3033, 3034, 3036, 3044, 3045. I.R.C.)

§ 178.472 Gauge of brandy; Form 1520. Brandy used to fortify wine will be gauged by the Government officer immediatey prior to use. The details of the gauge will be reported on Form 1520, one copy of which will be attached to each copy of the officer's daily report, Form 275.

(a) Tare of packages. In gauging packages of brandy for use in fortification, the total tare of each package as shown on Form 1520, covering withdrawal of the package from the distillery or warehouse, will be taken as the present tare of the package in preparing Form 1520, covering the gauge of the package immediately prior to use in fortification. The present gallonage and any loss shown on the basis of such tare will be reported on Forms 261 and 276 as the quantities of brandy used and lost, respectively. When wooden packages are gauged for use in fortification and it is desired to fortify the wine to a certain set alcoholic content, the present actual contents of the packages may be determined precisely by weighing the empty packages after their contents have been dumped for use in fortification, and any excess or deficiency in gallonage indicated by the difference in withdrawal tare and actual tare may be added to or subtracted from the total gallonage shown on the basis of the withdrawal tare, for the purpose of determining the actual quantity of brandy to be added to the wine, but the gallonage and any loss shown on the basis of the withdrawal tare will be entered on Forms 261 and 276 as the quantities used and lost, respectively.

(b) Proof of brandy. Likewise, in preparing Form 1520, covering the gauge of the brandy immediately prior to use in fortification, the proof will be stated in the nearest whole per cent, in accordance with the rule in Table No. 1 of the Gauging Manual (Part 186 of this chapter). The present gallonage and any loss shown on the basis of such proof, will be reported on Forms 261 and 276 as the quantities of brandy used and lost, respectively.

(1) Calculating brandy required for fortification. In calculating the quantity of brandy required to fortify wine to the desired per cent of alcohol, in accordance with the rule, formula, or tables in the appendix, it is usually sufficient to take the nearest whole per cent of proof of the brandy used. However, where it is desired to fortify the wine to an exact per cent of alcohol, a more precise calculation can be made by taking the actual proof of the brandy, as shown in Table 1 of the Gauging Manual (Part 186 of this chapter) in tenths of per cent, rather than the nearest whole per cent. For example, where the hydrometer reading is 192 and the temperature 66°, the proof of 190.6 shown in the Gauging Manual may be used, which, divided by 2, gives an alcoholic content of the brandy of 95.3 per cent. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031, 3032, 3033, 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.473 Losses of brandy indicating tampering. Where the officer's gauge indicates that a package may have been tampered with, as where a material deficiency is found and there is no evidence of loss by leakage or accident, or where deterioration in proof not accountable for by variation in gauge is disclosed, the officer will immediately notify the district supervisor of all the facts in the case and will not permit the package to be used until he is instructed to do so by the district supervisor. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031, I.R.C.)

§ 178.474 Sweetening and fortifying procedure. Sweetening agents, if any are used, may be added only prior to fortification. After the sweetening agents, if any, have been added to the wine, and the brandy and wine have been run into the fortifying tank, the contents must be thoroughly mixed by plunging or otherwise by the winemaker. Except as provided in § 178.460, in mixing wine and brandy in the fortifying tank, the winemaker may run the wine into the tank first, or, if he so desires, he may run the brandy into the tank first. After the wine and brandy have been completely mixed, the officer will test the wine for alcoholic content, and ascertain the quantity. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.475 Samples. The officer will take a 1-pint sample of each tank of wine fortified, seal the same, and attach a label, Form 491, to the bottle. The officer will enter on the label the alcoholic content of the wine as shown by his test, the date of fortification, etc. These samples will be retained in the fortifying room and at the close of the month or upon completion of fortification for the month, the officer will forward two of the samples, representing fortifications at different periods of the month, to the nearest Bureau branch laboratory for testing. Where not over three lots of wine have been fortified during the month, but one sample need be sent to the chemist. If the chemist's analysis indicates that the tests made at the winery were incorrect, he will advise the district supervisor, who will have the instruments used by the officer tested to determine whether they are inaccurate or whether the tests were improperly made by the officer. The samples not used for testing purposes will be held in the fortifying room for a period of six months, after which they may be returned to the winemaker. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3034, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.476 Refortification. If the winemaker does not have sufficient brandy on hand to complete the fortification of a given lot of wine, the wine may, if desired, be partially fortified and held in the fortifying room for further fortification. In making a refortification of wine the Government officer will test the wine for alcohol before the wine is refortified, and compare the results of such tests with the tests of the same wine as shown by the report on Form 275 in which the partial fortification was reported. If the comparison of tests discloses discrepancies of a nature indicating that the wine was tampered with since its partial fortification, the officer will report the facts to the district supervisor and await instructions before permitting the wine to be refortified. If the wine is refortified, the discrepancies found will be reported on the Form 275 in which the refortification is reported. Where discrepancies not of a serious nature are disclosed, and the wine is refortified without first reporting the facts to the district supervisor, the discrepancies will likewise be entered on Form 275. The last test will be made the basis of the refortification. The data reported in the original fortification, as well as the refortification, must be entered on the Form 275, thus making a double report. Similar report of the refortification will be made on Form 276. (Secs. 3032, 3033, 3034, 3036, 3044, 3045, I.R.C.)

§ 178.477 Report of losses of brandy—(a) From packages. Where the Government officer's gauge discloses a loss since deposit of the brandy in the fortifying room, the officer will report the loss on Form 1520 and Form 276, giving the serial numbers of the packages from which the loss was sustained, the quantity lost from each package, and the apparent cause of the loss.

(b) From storage tanks. Losses from storage tanks will be reported by the Government officer on Form 276, giving the serial numbers of the tanks from which the loss was sustained, the quantity lost from each tank, and the apparent cause of the loss in sufficient detail to bring out all the known material facts and circumstances surrounding the loss. Losses from storage tanks will be determined at the end of the month during which wines are fortified or upon completion of fortification for the month, as provided in § 178.482 (b) (1). (Secs. 2901 (b) (c), 3031, I.R.C.)

§ 178.478 Daily report of fortification, Form 275. Each day wines are fortified, the officer supervising fortification will make report thereof on Form 275, in triplicate, giving all the information called for in the form, as required by these regulations and as indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines and the instructions printed on the form. The officer will retain one copy of the form at the winery as a permanent record, give one copy to the winemaker, and at the close of the day forward the other copy, with Form 546 attached, to the district supervisor. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.479 Monthly report, Form 276. Each day wines are fortified the officer will enter on Form 276 the information called for on that form, as required by these regulations and as indicated by the headings of the various columns and lines and the instructions printed on the form. Losses of brandy will be entered on Form 276 in accordance with § 178.477. At the close of the month, or upon completion of fortification for the month, the officer will complete Form 276, retain one copy at the winery as a permanent record, and forward the other two copies to the district supervisor, who will transmit one copy to the Commissioner with his brandy account, Form 290. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

LOSSES OF BRANDY

§ 178.480 Losses in transit—(a) By theft. The tax on brandy withdrawn for fortification and lost by theft while being transferred to the fortifying room, not as the result of connivance, collusion, fraud, or negligence on the part of the distiller, owner, consignor, consignee, bailee, or carrier, or the employees of any of them, may be remitted to the extent that the claimant is not indemnified against or recompensed for such loss.

(b) Except by theft, intentional destruction, leakage, or evaporation. The tax on brandy withdrawn for fortification and lost, otherwise than by theft (except as provided in paragraph (a)), intentional destruction, leakage, or evaporation, while being transferred to the fortifying room, may be remitted to the extent that the claimant is not indemnified against or recompensed for such loss. (Sec. 2901 (b) (c) (d), I.R.C.)

§ 178.481 Losses in fortifying room—(a) By theft. The tax on brandy withdrawn for fortification and lost by theft in the fortifying room, not as the result of connivance, collusion, fraud or negligence on the part of the distiller or the owner, or the employees of either of them, may be remitted to the extent that the claimant is not indemnified against or recompensed for the tax on such loss.

(b) Except by theft, intentional destruction, leakage, or evaporation. The tax on brandy withdrawn for fortification and lost, otherwise than by theft (except as provided in paragraph (a)), intentional destruction, or by leakage and evaporation (except as provided in paragraph (c)), while stored in the fortifying room, may be remitted to the extent that the claimant is not indemnified against or recompensed for such loss.

(c) By leakage or evaporation. The tax on brandy withdrawn for fortification and lost by leakage or evaporation while in the fortifying room, not as the result of any negligence, connivance, collusion, or fraud on the part of the winemaker or his agents, may be remitted to the extent that the winemaker is not indemnified against or recompensed for such loss. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.482 Determination of losses—(a) In transit. Losses in transit to the winery will be ascertained at the time the brandy is received at the winery, as provided in §§ 178.455 and 178.466.

(b) In fortifying room—(1) By leakage or evaporation. Losses by leakage or evaporation from packages while stored in the fortifying room will be ascertained at the time the packages are gauged for use in fortification. Losses by leakage or evaporation from storage tanks will be determined by physical inventory of such tanks at the close of the month during which wines are fortified or upon completion of fortification for the month.

(2) By theft, accident, etc. Losses by theft, accident, or other cause than leakage or evaporation in the fortifying room will be determined and reported at the time the loss is discovered. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031 (b), I.R.C.)

age or railroad tank car in transit to the winery exceeds 1 per cent of the quantity shipped therein, claim for remission of tax on the entire quantity lost from the package or railroad tank car must be made by the winemaker. Claim must likewise be filed by the winemaker for any known deficiency, exceeding 1 per cent, on any lot of brandy transferred to the fortifying room by pipe line. Where the loss in the fortifying room from any package exceeds 1 per cent of the quantity contained in the package at the time of receipt, or where the loss from storage tanks exceeds 1 per cent of the total quantity contained in such tanks during the month, claim for remission of tax on the entire quantity lost from each such package or from such storage tanks must be made by the winemaker.

(b) When not required. Where the loss in transit or in the fortifying room does not exceed 1 per cent, calculated in accordance with paragraph (a), claim for remission of tax will not be required, provided there are no circumstances indicating that the loss is not allowable under the law.

(c) Form of claims. No special forms have been prescribed for use in filing claims for remission of tax. Such claims shall be made on legal or letter size paper, in duplicate, and shall set forth, under oath, the following information:

1. The name of the fruit distiller who produced the brandy, and the registry number and location of the distillery.
2. The serial numbers of the packages or other containers from which the brandy was lost and the quantity lost from each.
3. The date of the loss or, if such date is not known, the date on which the loss was discovered, and the nature and cause of the loss, together with all the known, material facts and circumstances surrounding the loss.
4. The name of the carrier, if any.
5. If lost by theft, whether the loss occurred as the result of any negligence, connivance, collusion, or fraud on the part of the distiller, owner, consignor, consignee, bailee, or carrier, or the employees of any of them.
6. If lost by leakage or evaporation while in the fortifying room, whether the loss occurred without negligence, connivance, collusion, or fraud on the part of the winemaker or his agents.
7. Whether the claimant is indemnified or recompensed for the loss, and, if so, the amount and nature of such indemnity or recompense. The actual value of the brandy, less the tax, must be stated explicitly, and certified copies of all policies of insurance or other documents of indemnity covering the brandy must be furnished.

(d) Supporting documents. Claims for remission of tax on brandy lost while being transferred to the fortifying room shall, if the transfer was made by carrier, be supported whenever possible by a copy of the bill of lading and statements of the agents of the carrier having personal knowledge of the loss. Claims covering losses in the fortifying room must be supported by affidavits of persons having personal knowledge of the loss.

(e) Filing of claims. Claims for remission of tax on brandy lost in transit or in the fortifying room must be filed by the winemaker with the district supervisor of the district in which the winery is located, within 30 days after the loss is ascertained. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031 (b), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.484 Report of losses. Losses of brandy by theft, accident, or otherwise than by leakage or evaporation, must be reported to the district supervisor by the winemaker or other persons concerned immediately after the losses are discovered. Where losses of brandy occur while in transit and are ascertained by an officer at the time of receipt at the bonded winery, or where losses occur while in the fortifying room of the bonded winery and are ascertained while an officer is on duty, the officer will immediately gauge the contents of the package or other approved container and prepare Form 1520 in quadruplicate. The officer will prepare a letter report in triplicate to the district supervisor setting forth the nature, cause and extent of the loss in sufficient detail to bring out all the known, material facts and circumstances. The condition of each package or other container from which the loss was sustained, and the quantity lost therefrom, should be stated in such report. The officer will forward two copies of Form 1520 and two copies of the letter report to the district supervisor, deliver one copy of Form 1520 to the winemaker, and retain one copy of Form 1520 and the letter report for his files. (Secs. 2901 (b), 3031 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.485 Investigation by district supervisor. Where large losses by theft, accident, or other causes are reported, the district supervisor will, upon receipt of such report, immediately make such investigation and require such evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary and will advise the Commissioner of his findings and recommendations relative to remission of the tax on the brandy. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031 (b), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.486 District supervisor's examination of claims. When a claim for remission of tax is received by the district supervisor, he will carefully examine it and cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary, and will forward the claim to the Commissioner, together with a statement setting out his recommendation and his reasons therefor, as expeditiously as possible. The district supervisor will transmit to the Commissioner with the claim copies of any reports of investigation of the loss submitted by Government officers. (Secs. 2901 (b) (c) (d), 3031 (b), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.487 District supervisor's accounts. District supervisors will enter all items of loss of brandy in the fortifying room or in transit thereto in their accounts, Form 290. Credit will be taken in the account in which the loss is first entered for those losses for which claim is not required by § 178.483 (b). Losses for which claim is required by § 178.483 (a) will be carried in the account as not allowed until the loss is allowed by the Commissioner or the tax is paid thereon. Where the loss is excessive, for which claim is required, the entire loss will be carried as not allowed. (Secs. 2901 (b), 3031 (b), I.R.C.)

VOLUNTARY DESTRUCTION OF BRANDY UNFIT FOR BEVERAGE PURPOSES

§ 178.488 General. Brandy withdrawn for fortification which is found by the Commissioner to be unfit for use for beverage purposes may be voluntarily destroyed without payment of tax by the winemaker in accordance with the procedure hereinafter set forth. (Sec. 2901 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.489 Application. When the winemaker desires to so destroy unfit brandy, he will make written application to the district supervisor of the district in which the winery is located for permission to destroy the brandy. The application shall specify the kind and approximate quantity in wine gallons and proof gallons of the brandy; the name, address, and registered distillery number of the distiller who produced the brandy; the date of transfer of the brandy to the fortifying room; the serial numbers of the barrels or tanks in which the brandy is contained; and a statement showing the condition of the brandy which renders it unfit for beverage purposes. Unfitness for use in fortification, without unfitness for use for beverage purposes, does not warrant destruction without payment of tax. (Secs. 2901 (b), 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.490 Action by supervisor. Upon receipt of the application, the district supervisor will have a Government officer inspect the brandy to verify the correctness of the application and to procure a sample from each barrel or tank in which the brandy is contained for submission to the district chemist for analysis to determine whether the brandy is unfit for use for beverage purposes. Each sample shall consist of one pint, or if deemed advisable, one quart. The officer will label the samples so as to readily identify the brandy, and will forward them to the district chemist at the expense of the winemaker. The chemist will analyze the samples and furnish a report of his analysis to the district supervisor. The unused portions of the samples will be retained by the chemist for further examination should such be found necessary. The district supervisor will forward the winemaker's application, the Government officer's report, and a copy of the chemist's report of analysis to the Commissioner with his recommendation. (Sec. 2901 (b), I.R.C.)

§ 178.491 Action by Commissioner—(a) Unfit for beverage purposes. If the Commissioner finds that the brandy is unfit for beverage purposes, he will authorize the district supervisor to permit the brandy to be destroyed by the winemaker under the supervision of a Government officer.

(b) Fit for beverage purposes. If the Commissioner finds that the brandy is fit for beverage purposes he will disapprove the application and notify the district supervisor of such disapproval. The district supervisor will thereupon inform the winemaker that the brandy has been found to be fit for beverage purposes and may not be destroyed without payment of tax. (Secs. 2901 (b), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.492 Destruction—(a) Regauge. Brandy authorized to be destroyed will be regauged by the Government officer and reported for that purpose on Form 1520, in quadruplicate. Following such regauge and payment of tax, as hereinafter set forth, on any deficiencies subject to tax, the brandy may be destroyed under the immediate supervision of the Government officer by running the same into the sewer or by other suitable means. The Government officer will then certify to such destruction on each copy of Form 1520, furnish one copy of the form to the winemaker, retain one copy at the fortifying room, and forward one copy to the district supervisor. The officer will enter the brandy so destroyed at a special line in Part 5 of Form 276. The district supervisor will take appropriate credit at special lines in the appropriate part of his account, Form 290, for the brandy so destroyed.

(b) Tax-payment of losses. If the regauge discloses losses other than those allowable by this part, such losses must be tax-paid prior to destruction of the brandy. If the losses disclosed by the regauge are apparently allowable upon the filing of a claim for remission of tax in accordance with §§ 178.480 to 178.487, inclusive, such claim must be filed with the district supervisor prior to destruction of the brandy, but destruction need not be held in abeyance pending action on the claim by the Commissioner. Where the losses must be tax-paid, the Form 1520, in quadruplicate, will be submitted by the winemaker to the collector, accompanied by remittance for the tax. Upon collection of the tax, the collector will certify to the tax-payment on all four copies of Form 1520, retain one copy of the form, and return the other three copies to the winemaker. The collector will list the collection on his current distilled spirits tax list. The winemaker will deliver the three copies of Form 1520 received from the collector to the Government officer for disposition in accordance with paragraph (a) upon destruction of the brandy. (Secs. 2901 (b), 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

TAX-PAYMENT OR TRANSFER TO BONDED WAREHOUSE OF UNUSED BRANDY

§ 178.493 Permission required. Brandy remaining on hand unused after fortification has been finished for the season, or upon discontinuance of the winery or of fortification of wine thereat, may be tax-paid or transferred to a bonded warehouse by the winemaker, pursuant to permission first obtained from the Commissioner: Provided, That packages from which a portion of the contents have been used in fortification may not be transferred to a bonded warehouse. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.494 Application. Application for permission to tax-pay or transfer the brandy to a bonded warehouse shall be filed with the district supervisor. The application shall set forth the serial numbers of the packages or storage tanks in which the brandy is contained, the kind and quantity of brandy involved, the name and registry number of the distiller of the brandy, the date of receipt of the brandy in the fortifying room, and the reason it is desired to tax-pay or transfer the brandy to a bonded warehouse.

(a) Transfer to bonded warehouse. When it is desired to transfer the brandy to a bonded warehouse, the application shall specify the name, number, and location of the warehouse and the means or containers by or in which it is proposed to transfer the brandy to the warehouse. The application shall also specify whether the warehouseman is agreeable to receiving the brandy and filing a consent of surety on his warehouse bond, extending the terms of the bond to cover the transfer and storage of the brandy in the warehouse. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.495 District supervisor's action. Upon receipt of the application, the district supervisor will assign an officer to inspect the brandy and verify the correctness of the application. When the officer has completed his inspection, the district supervisor will forward the application, with his recommendation and the officer's report, to the Commissioner. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.496 Procedure. If the application is approved by the Commissioner, the brandy will be tax-paid or transferred to bonded warehouse in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the Commissioner at the time he approves the application. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

TAX LIABILITY ON BRANDY WITHDRAWN FOR FORTIFICATION

§ 178.497 Charge against winemaker. Under the law, winemakers become responsible for the tax on all brandy withdrawn by them for the fortification of wine, and their bonds must fully cover at all times the payment of the internal revenue tax at the rate imposed by law on such brandy. The bonds must also be in a sufficient penal sum to cover the tax on the wine on hand, as provided in § 178.55. (Secs. 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, 3040, I.R.C.)

§ 178.498 Assessment of tax. Where it appears that brandy withdrawn for fortification has been unlawfully used or removed, or that the tax should not be remitted on a loss of brandy in transit or in the fortifying room, the district supervisor will transmit all pertinent papers with appropriate recommendation to the Commissioner. If tax is found to be due, it will be assessed against the winemaker by the Commissioner. (Sec. 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

§ 178.499 District supervisor's record, Form 1597. The district supervisor shall maintain an account on card Form 1597 with the bond of each winemaker who has been authorized to withdraw brandy for fortification and whose bond is not in the maximum penal sum of $50,000.

(a) Brandy charges. When Form 257 is approved, the bond shall be charged with the tax on the quantity of brandy authorized to be withdrawn: Provided, That when Form 257 is approved on a monthly basis and the maximum quantity to be withdrawn on any one day, less the quantity on hand unused at the beginning of the day, is specified, as provided in § 17.454, the bond shall be charged with such daily quantity, rather than the total quantity authorized to be withdrawn during the entire month.

(b) Brandy credits. When Form 275 is received, the bond shall be credited with the tax on the quantity of brandy shown used in fortification. The bond shall also be credited with the tax on any losses of brandy in transit or in the fortifying room allowed or tax-paid. When Form 257, with Form 1520 attached, is received showing the withdrawal of a less quantity of brandy than that for which the bond was charged at the time the form was approved, the bond will be credited with the tax on the difference between such quantities. Likewise, when Form 257 is returned unused, the bond will be credited with the tax on the quantity of brandy for which the bond was charged at the time of approval of the form. When unused brandy is tax-paid or transferred to a bonded warehouse, as provided in §§ 178.493 to 178.496, inclusive, or is destroyed because of being unfit for beverage purposes, as provided in §§ 178.488 to 178.492, inclusive, the bond will be credited with the tax on the quantity of brandy so tax-paid, returned to warehouse or destroyed.

(c) Wine charge. For the purpose of determining the balance on the bond available for brandy, the tax on the wine shown on hand end of month in the last Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B, rendered by the winemaker shall be deducted from the penal sum of the bond, as indicated by Form 1597. The available brandy balance so determined shall continue until Forms 702, 702–A, and 702–B are received for the next month, when the wine tax will be recalculated according to the quantities of wine shown on hand last of month in such forms, and a new deduction and determination will be made in the same manner. (Sec. 3031 (a), I.R.C.)

WINEMAKER'S BRANDY AND SWEETENING AGENTS REPORT

§ 178.500 Form 261. Each month that brandy or sweetening agents are on hand, received, or used, the winemaker will render a monthly report on Form 261, giving all the information called for by the form, as indicated by the headings of the columns and lines of the form and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto, and as required by this part. (Secs. 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.501 Preparation of the report. Form 261 shall be prepared in accordance with the requirements of § 178.390, respecting the preparation of Forms 701, 702, 702–A, and 702–B. The entries must be made by the winemaker, or by his agent from personal knowledge or data furnished by the winemaker, on the day the brandy and sweetening agents are received or used. The report shall be subscribed and sworn to by the winemaker or his duly authorized agent. Where the form is signed by an agent, proper power of attorney authorizing the agent to execute the reports for the winemaker must be filed with the district supervisor. (Secs. 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

nent record, subject to inspection by Government officers at any reasonable hour. On or before the 10th day of the succeeding month, the winemaker will forward two copies of the form to the district supervisor, who will transmit one copy to the Commissioner with his brandy account, Form 290. (Secs. 3031 (a), 3032, 3033, 3171, I.R.C.)

§ 178.503 Audit of reports. Before the brandy account, Form 290, is prepared, the correctness of the winemaker's report, Form 261, will be verified by check against the Government officer's reports on Forms 257, 275, and 276.

GOVERNMENT OFFICER'S FILES

§ 178.504 System of filing. Government officers assigned to supervise fortification of wine will file Forms 257, with Forms 1520 attached, in a separate file in chronological order in bound form. In another file, the officers will file Forms 275 with Forms 1520 attached, and Forms 276, in chronological order in bound form; Forms 275, with Forms 1520 attached, being filed according to date, and Forms 276 being filed on top of the Forms 275 and 1520 for the month. At the close of the season or when the files are full, the completed forms will be removed from the files in the same order and placed in envelopes plainly marked to show the form numbers and the period covered by the forms. Suitable Acco or other binders and punching equipment for the maintenance of these files will be furnished Government officers by district supervisors. (Sec. 3034, I.R.C.)

§ 178.505 Retention of records. The forms and files specified in § 178.504 and any other records of Government officers pertaining to fortification will be retained in the Government office of the fortifying room, available for inspection by Government officers.

DISTRICT SUPERVISOR'S ACCOUNT

§ 178.506 District supervisor's account, Form 290. Each district supervisor will render a monthly account on Form 290 of brandy and ameliorating or sweetening agents received and used, and wine fortified, at wineries in his district. The account will be prepared from data obtained from Forms 261, after such forms have been audited as provided in § 178.503. The entries will be made as required by these regulations and as indicated by the headings of the columns and lines of the form and the instructions printed thereon or issued in respect thereto.

§ 178.507 Filing of accounts. The accounts will be prepared, in duplicate, by States within the district. One copy will be retained by the district supervisor, and one copy, with copies of Form 261 and Form 276, will be forwarded to the Commissioner not later than the last day of the month succeeding that for which the account is rendered.

[SEAL] JOSEPH D. NUNAN, Jr.,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: September 21, 1945.

APPENDIX—INSTRUCTIONS AND TABLES

AMELIORATION OF THE MUST OR WINE

If the acid of the must (juice) does not exceed 5 parts per thousand (5 grams per thousand ml.), no addition of sugar-water solution is allowed.

If the acid of the must is in excess of 5 grams per thousand ml., the addition of sugar-water solution is allowed in a quantity sufficient to reduce the acid to not less than 5 grams per thousand ml.: Provided, That in no case shall the volume of the resultant product be increased more than 35 per cent. Table I shows the maximum quantity of sugar-water solution that may be added, according to the acid content of the must.

The amelioration of must or wine, or both, with sugar-water solution, is dependent upon the acid content of the must. Therefore, when it is desired to add sugar-water solution to the must or to the wine, or to both the must and the wine, the acid content of the must shall be determined before fermentation, and the total quantity of sugar-water solution added to both the must and the wine shall not exceed the quantity authorized by Table I.

DETERMINATION OF THE ACIDITY OF MUST

1. Apparatus necessary. (a) Burette, 50 ml., graduated to $\frac{1}{10}$ ml.
(b) Burette stand.
(c) Pipettes, 5, 10, and 20 ml.
(d) Medicine dropper.
(e) Stirring rods.
(f) Glass funnels, 90 mm. (approx. 3.6" inside diameter, 160 mm. stem approx. 6.3").
(g) Flasks (Erlenmeyer approx. 500 ml.).
(h) Graduated cylinder (100 ml.).
(i) Beakers, 250 ml.
(j) Absorbent cotton.
(k) Porcelain dishes, 7" or 8" in diameter.
(l) Filter paper (folded, No. 12, 24–0 cms.).

2. Solutions necessary. (a) N/10 sodium hydroxide, exact.
(b) N/10 sulfuric acid (standard acid sample).
(c) Indicator, phenolphthalein solution, 1 gram per 100 ml. of neutral alcohol.

NOTE. When pipettes, burettes, or flasks marked "cc." instead of "ml." are used, the same quantities should be measured, the units of measure "ml." and "cc." being the same.

3. Use and care of the burette. (a) Before using the burette the stopcock should be greased while dry with a very little vaseline. It should then be washed thoroughly inside with a soapy-water solution and rinsed thoroughly, first with water and then twice with the N/10 sodium hydroxide, care being taken that all the interior of the burette comes in contact with the rinsing liquid. The burette is then filled to the top with N/10 sodium hydroxide, placed in a stand, and after standing for a minute the level of the liquid is brought exactly to the 0 mark by opening the stopcock. The instrument is now ready for use.
(b) After using the burette it should be emptied, washed with water, and placed inverted in the stand, with the cock open until needed again. Under no condition should the N/10 sodium hydroxide be permitted to remain in the burette overnight.

4. Use and care of the pipette. (a) The pipette is used to measure the amount of must to be used for ascertaining the quantity of acid. The must is sucked with the mouth into the pipette until the level of the liquid is about an inch above the mark, the finger is quickly placed over the end, and the must allowed to flow out slowly until the mark is reached. The pipette now holds the amount of must needed for the acid determination. The contents should then be run into the porcelain dish. A little practice makes the operation of the pipette very easy.
(b) Before using the pipette it should be always rinsed thoroughly with the must to be tested, and after using should be washed with water.

5. Care of other apparatus. One main precaution, as in all chemical work, is to keep all glassware, etc., scrupulously clean.

6. Determination of acid—(a) Selection of sample. Endeavor to obtain a sample representative of the whole lot or container of must to be tested. If the must can not be mixed thoroughly, take equal portions from different parts of the container and then mix these portions thoroughly. A sufficient amount is then filtered through a small pad of absorbent cotton or filter paper placed in the funnel, using a flask to catch the filtered must.

(b) Measuring the sample of must. Before measuring the sample of must, remove the gas (CO_2) contained in the sample by placing the hand tightly over the mouth of the flask and shaking vigorously for about half a minute. Let the gas escape and repeat the operation several times until the gas has been removed. This is important, for the reason that this gas has acid properties which would affect the result and because it is impossible to measure correctly a must containing gas.

(c) The titration. Place 250 or 300 ml., or more, of distilled water in the large porcelain dish and neutralize with the N/10 sodium hydroxide solution to a distinct pink color, using 1 medicine dropper of the phenolphthalein indicator solution.

The quality of sample of must to be measured and titrated depends on the depth of the color of the must: it is generally 5 ml. for deeply colored red must and 10 ml. or less for white must. Measure the sample of must accurately in the proper pipette and run it into the neutralized distilled water in the porcelain dish. Then titrate rapidly by running the standard N/10 sodium hydroxide solution from the burette into the diluted sample contained in the porcelain dish, stirring continuously, until a distinct pink color has been obtained. The number of ml. of the N/10 sodium hydroxide solution required to produce the desired color should then be read on the burette. To determine the amount of acid, in grams per thousand ml., contained in grape must, divide the burette reading by the number of ml. of the sample taken and multiply by the factor 7.5. The result is the number of grams of acid calculated as tartaric in 1,000 ml. of the must. For all berry wines, multiply by the factor 7.0, and for apple wine multiply by 6.7, to obtain the grams of acid calculated as citric and malic, respectively, contained in 1,000 ml. of juice.

(d) Examples. A 10 ml. sample of a white must (grape) gave a burette reading of 6.4 ml. Calculate the acid content $6.4 \div 10 \times 7.5 = 4.8$ grams per 1,000 ml.

A 5.0 ml. sample of a red must (grape) gave a burette reading of 4.2 ml. Calculate the acid content $4.2 \div 5 \times 7.5 = 6.3$ grams per 1,000 ml.

A 5.0 ml. sample of blackberry must (juice) gave a burette reading of 5.8 ml. Calculate the acid content $5.8 \div 5 \times 7.0 = 8.12$ grams per 1,000 ml.

(e) Precautions for the titration. When placing the N/10 sodium hydroxide solution in the burette read the lowest part of the meniscus (or quarter moon) as the level of the liquid, and take the same level in the final reading. Remember these facts: The bottle containing the N/10 sodium hydroxide must always be kept stoppered when not in use and nothing should be allowed to enter this bottle; if some of the N/10 sodium hydroxide in the burette is not needed, throw it away—do not pour it back into the bottle.

7. Sample for control of titration. (a) In order that one may be assured he is correctly determining the acid in a must, a standard acid sample of N/10 sulfuric acid is included among the solutions required. This solution contains 4.9 grams of sulfuric acid per thousand ml. By making an acid determination of this solution, in accordance with the instructions contained in paragraph 6 (c), using 20 ml. of the solution, instead of the quantity specified for must, the one testing the must can readily ascertain whether he is making the determination correctly. The acid content is calculated by dividing the burette reading by 20 (the number of mls. of the sample) and multiplying by the factor 4.9. The result is the number of grams of sulfuric acid found in 1,000 ml. of the sample. If this result is within 0.05 grams of the known acid content (4.9 grams per thousand ml.) of the solution, he will know that he is making the determination properly.

DETERMINATION OF THE ACIDITY OF WINE

The acidity of wine may be determined in the same manner as the acidity of must is determined. However, the addition of sugar-water solution to the must or to the wine, or to both the must and the wine, is dependent solely upon the acid content of the must before fermentation. The acid content of the wine may not, therefore, be used as a basis for calculating the quantity of sugar-water solution that may be added to the wine.

DETERMINATION OF SUGAR IN JUICE

Instruction. Use a Balling saccharometer. Pour as much juice into a glass cylinder as is necessary to float the saccharometer, which should be carefully lowered into the juice in such a way that the surface of the stem above the liquid is not moistened. The instrument should float freely and not touch the bottom or walls of the cylinder. Read the scale on the stem at the intersection of the surface of the liquid. Remove the saccharometer and determine the temperature of the juice. Make correction for temperature according to Table II. Subtract 2 from the corrected reading to allow for nonsugar solids.

TABLE II—BALLING CORRECTION

This table shows the correction to be applied to the reading of Balling's saccharometer at different temperatures.

Explanation. Where the temperature of the juice is other than 60° F., the saccharometer reading of the juice must be corrected for temperature according to this table, in order to determine the true Balling of the juice.

When the temperature of the juice is below 60° F., the correction shown by the table should be deducted from the saccharometer reading, and when the temperature of the juice is above 60° F. the indicated correction should be added to the reading.

In calculating the sugar in juice, 2 should be subtracted from the correct reading to allow for nonsugar solids.

Example. The saccharometer reading is 20° Balling and the temperature is 75° F. What is the sugar content of the juice?

Table II shows that the correction for this reading and temperature is .58, which should be added to the reading. Therefore—

20° + .58° = 20.58° corrected reading.
20.58° − 2.0 = 18.58 per cent sugar by weight.

N. B. The correction for indications between 21° and 30° Balling and 60° and 70° F. temperature may be made by adding 0.005 to each correction given in the above table, column 21°, for each increase in degree Balling. For instance, 25° Balling 79° F., correction to be added to column 21° and 70°, 0.02 + 0.38 = 0.40.

TABLE III—JUICES AND CONCENTRATES

This table shows the specific gravity, weight, sugar and water content per gallon of juices and concentrates, according to degree Balling. The table should be used in calculating the proper composition of sugar-water solutions used for amelioration, and in making other computations as indicated herein.

Explanation. Balling or Brix means per cent sugar by weight. Thus, if a quantity of solution weighs 880 pounds and is 10° Balling, it will contain 10 per cent of 880, or 88 pounds sugar.

In this table, specific gravity is the weight of a volume of solution measured at 60° F. compared to the weight of the same volume of water measured at the same temperature. A solution which is 10° Balling is 1.04022 times as heavy as water.

A juice which contains 20.24 per cent sugar will, with good commercial fermentation, yield 13 per cent alcohol by volume. However, juices contain soluble matter which is not sugar and does not produce alcohol. This non-sugar content produces about 2° Balling and should be subtracted from the saccharometer reading to obtain Balling due to sugar. If the saccharometer reads 22° the true Balling is 20°. This correction should not be made for sugar-water solutions.

Interpolation between degrees Balling. The Balling of a juice is 16.3°. What is the specific gravity?

The table shows that if the Balling increases from 16 to 17, the specific gravity increases from 1.06579 to 1.07016; therefore, an increase of .3° Balling will correspond to an increase in specific gravity amounting to 0.3 per cent of the difference. Thus—(1.07016 − 1.06579) × .3 + 1.06579 = 1.06710 specific gravity at 16.3° Balling.

The weight per gallon, sugar per gallon, and water per gallon can be determined similarly between degrees Balling, except that in determining the water per gallon the difference represented by the fractional degree Balling should be subtracted, instead of added, to the quantity shown for the next preceding whole degree Balling.

TABLE IV—USE OF DRY SUGAR

This table shows the pounds of dry sugar required to raise the Balling of one gallon of juice to 20.24° Balling (equivalent to 13 per cent alcohol, i. e., sufficient to produce 13 per cent alcohol in the wine after complete fermentation), and the resulting gallonage. The table should be used in determining the quantity of dry sugar that may be added to fruit and berry juices to correct the natural sugar deficiency in the juice.

This table is calculated as follows:

Let X represent the weight of required sugar—

$$\frac{X + \text{wt. sugar in juice}}{X + \text{wt. juice}} = .2024.$$

Solving for X

$$X = \frac{.2024 \times \text{wt. of juice} - \text{wt. sugar in juice}}{(1 - .2024)}$$

Example. Find the amount of dry sugar required to raise the Balling of a juice from 12° to 20.24° and the resultant gallonage.

One gallon juice at 12° B. weighs 8.7332 pounds and contains 1.04798 pounds of sugar (Table III).

One gallon at 20.24 B. weighs 9.0323 pounds.

$$\frac{\text{Wt. of juice} + \text{wt. added sugar}}{\text{Wt. 1 gal. of solution}} = \text{resultant gallonage.}$$

$$\frac{8.7332 + .90223}{9.0323} = 1.06677 \text{ resultant gallonage (increase in gallonage per gallon of juice).}$$

The true Balling of the juice should be found as instructed in Table II. Interpolation between degrees Balling should be made as instructed in Table III.

The quantity of sugar required per gallon of juice, and the resultant increase in gallonage, should then be multiplied by the number of gallons of juice to be treated, to ascertain the total quantity of sugar required and the resultant gallonage after addition of the sugar.

TABLE V—SUGAR-WATER SOLUTION

This table shows the composition of a sugar-water solution of 20.24° Balling (equivalent to 13 per cent alcohol, i. e., capable of producing 13 per cent alcohol by complete fermentation), according to the maximum quantity of solution allowed for each thousand (1,000) gallons of juice. The table should be used where the Balling of fruit and berry juice is increased to 20.24° by the addition of dry sugar, and it is desired to reduce the acidity of the juice with a sugar-water solution and maintain the desired Balling of 20.24°.

CALCULATION OF COMPOSITION OF SUGAR-WATER SOLUTION TO REDUCE ACIDITY AND INCREASE SUGAR CONTENT OF JUICE

The required composition of a sugar-water solution to ameliorate grape must to reduce the acidity to not less than 5 grams per thousand ml. and to increase the Balling to not more than 20.24° (equivalent to 13 per cent alcohol), may be calculated as follows:

Example. Determine the composition of a sugar-water solution required to ameliorate 1,550 gallons of grape juice, containing 16° Balling and 6 grams of acid per thousand ml.

to 20.24° Balling and 5 grams of acid per thousand ml.

According to Table III, this juice weighs 1550 × 8.8761 = 13757.95 pounds and, as its Balling is 16, it will contain .16 × 13757.95 = 2201.28 pounds of sugar.

From Table I: 1.550 × 200 = 310 gallons sugar-water solution may be added, which will make the final volume 1550 + 310 = 1860 gallons.

According to Table III, 20.24° Balling is required to produce 13 per cent alcohol by volume, and at such Balling a solution weighs 9.0323 pounds per gallon; therefore, in this example we would have

.2024 × 16800.08 = 3400.34 pounds, weight of sugar in the ameliorated juice.

The original juice contains 2201.28 pounds sugar, therefore 3400.34 − 2201.28 = 1196.06 pounds of sugar required in sugar-water solution.

The weight of the juice and added sugar is 13757.95 + 1199.06 = 14957.01 pounds, but because the final weight will be 16800.08 pounds we require 16800.08 − 14957.01 = 1843.07 pounds water.

$$\frac{1843.07}{8.32823} = 221.30 \text{ gallons water required in sugar-water solution.}$$

The 310 gallons of sugar-water solution should therefore contain 1843.07 pounds of water and 1199.06 pounds of sugar, making the weight of the solution 3042.13 pounds.

$$\frac{1199.06}{3042.13} \times 100 = 39.41 \text{ Balling of sugar-water solution.}$$

TABLE VI—DILUTION OF CONCENTRATE

This table shows the gallons of water required to reduce 1 gallon of concentrate to a desired Balling, according to the Balling of the concentrate and the Balling to which it is desired to reduce the concentrate. When it is desired to produce (ferment) standard wine from concentrate in accordance with § 178.154, the table should be used in calculating the quantity of water required to reduce the concentrate to the original Balling of the juice.

This table is calculated as follows:

Reduce concentrate from 70° to 20° Balling.

From Table III: 1 gallon of concentrate at 70 B. contains 7.87976 pounds of sugar and weighs 11.2568 pounds.

When the concentrate is diluted to 20° Balling, the sugar will represent 20 per cent of the weight of the diluted concentrate; therefore, 7.87976 ÷ .20 = 39.3988 pounds, the weight of the diluted concentrate per gallon of concentrate.

The concentrate weighs 11.2568 pounds; therefore, 39.3988 − 11.2568 = 28.1420 pounds of water required per gallon of concentrate.

One gallon of water weighs 8.32823 pounds; therefore, 28.1420 ÷ 8.32823 = 3.3791 gallons of water required per gallon of concentrate.

The volume of the diluted solution will therefore be 1 + 3.3791 = 4.3791 gallons.

If the volume of a concentrate is not known, it may be calculated from its weight and Balling.

Example. What is the volume of 1,000 pounds of concentrate which is 70° B.?

Table III shows that 1 gallon at 70° weighs 11.2568 pounds; therefore, 1000 ÷ 11.2568 = 88.84 gallons of concentrate.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR DETERMINING THE ALCOHOL AND SUGAR CONTENT OF WINES

WINE SETS; DIRECTIONS FOR USING

Apparatus. Wine sets consist of 1 thermometer, 3 saccharometers, graded to read from 0 to 10, 10 to 20, and 20 to 30, 3 alcoholometers graded in the same way, 1 glass cylinder with rubber stopper, 1 copper still, condenser, and stand, with 3 feet of rubber tubing, and a rubber apron to spread over the box while making the test.

Samples. The sample taken for analysis must be truly representative of the whole volume of the wine in the tank from which it is taken.

Care of instruments. The instruments to be used must be perfectly clean and should be washed with clean water and thoroughly dried before and after making the tests. A small bit of grease on the spindle or on the surface of the liquid tested will destroy the efficiency of the tests. Instruments should not be handled more than is absolutely necessary, and when picking up the hydrometers they should be held by the upper part of the spindle so as to avoid soiling with the natural oil of the hands that part of the instrument which will be immersed in the liquid when the readings are taken.

Test for alcohol. Fill the cylinder exactly to the upper mark with the liquid to be tested, lift out the tray holding the hydrometers, and remove the still, etc. Spread the apron over the case, connect the stand, and place the alcohol lamp and still in position. Note the temperature of the liquid in the cylinder and empty it into the still, letting it drain as completely as possible; then fill the cylinder with water to the lower mark, rinse it about, and pour the rinsings into the still. Close the still, connect the condenser, and attach the rubber tube to it to carry away the water; insert the tail of the worm into one of the holes of the rubber stopper and place the stopper in the mouth of the cylinder into which the distillate will flow; fill the condenser with water, which should never be permitted to go above 80° F., and must be kept circulating; light the lamp under the still and continue the distillation at as low a temperature as possible to avoid frothing or priming and until nearly the original volume taken has been collected in the cylinder. Too rapid distillation will result in the loss of alcohol because of imperfect condensation.

As soon as the distillation is complete, disconnect the worm of the still from the cylinder, insert the thermometer through the hole in the stopper, and bring the distillate to the same temperature as noted before distillation; remove the stopper, add enough water of the same temperature to fill the cylinder exactly to the upper mark, place the palm of the hand over the mouth of the cylinder and slowly invert it a few times to blend the water and distillate, and then immediately insert the alcoholometer in the cylinder and note the indication. Finally, correct the reading according to Table VII to ascertain the true per cent of alcohol. The rubber stopper must be kept in the mouth of the cylinder from the time distillation is commenced until ready to take the reading of the alcoholometer to prevent loss of alcohol by evaporation.

Test for sugar. The test for saccharine or sugar will be made in the following manner: Pour the residue left in the still after distillation into the cylinder, rinsing the still with a little water a few times to obtain all of the residue contained therein, and empty the rinsings into the cylinder, taking care that none of the residue or rinsings are spilled or lost. Fill the cylinder nearly to the upper mark with water and place the palm of the hand over the mouth of the cylinder and slowly invert it several times until the liquid is thoroughly mixed and bring the temperature to the exact degree noted in the sample before distillation, then fill the cylinder up to the upper mark with water of the same temperature and take the reading of the saccharometer and make the corrections according to Table II.

Verifying tests. The above instructions will be followed in all tests made when the wine or must to be tested has fermented and in the tests before and after fortification. The greatest care must be taken in making the tests in order to get correct results.

TABLE VII—ALCOHOLOMETER CORRECTIONS

This table shows the correction to be made on the readings of alcoholometers at different temperatures. As indicated by the table, the correction should be added to the reading, when the temperature of the liquid is below 60° F., and subtracted when the temperature is above 60° F.

EBULLIOMETERS

Description. Ebulliometers are instruments for determining the per cent of alcohol in solution in water, but when proper dilution is made because of dissolved sugar, they can be used to ascertain the alcoholic content of wines. Alcoholic solutions boil at lower temperatures than water, and all ebulliometers determine differences in boiling points, which are referred to tables or sliding scales to find the corresponding per cent of alcohol. Because boiling points are affected by atmospheric changes, the boiling point of water should be determined several times a day.

Kinds. The Malligand (with shield), E. B. Torina (with shield), Arnoldo-Sala (with shield), and L'Ebulliometer Levesque (with shield) ebulliometers have been approved for testing wine. All of these ebulliometers are of the Malligand type, and the directions for their use are the same. The Juerst, Tag-Twin (with shield), Lefco, Salleron-Du-Jardin, and Braun ebulliometers have also been approved for testing wine. Directions for the use of all of these instruments are outlined in the following paragraphs.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR USING

Dilution of wine. It is a general rule that all wines should be diluted before testing so that the difference between the boiling point of water and that of the wine is not greater than 4. The error in the indicated per cent alcohol will then be less than 0.1 per cent regardless of sugar content and for practical purposes is negligible.

Dilutions should be made by measuring 100 ml., 50 ml., or 20 ml. of the wine with a pipette and running it into a 200 ml. narrow-necked, volumetric flask. Then add sufficient water of the same temperature as the wine to bring the liquid to precisely the 200 ml. mark on the flask. This gives a sufficient quantity for the test and for rinsing the boiler prior to making the test. The wine and water should be thoroughly mixed.

NOTE. When pipettes or flasks marked "cc.," instead of "ml.," are used, the same quantities should be measured, the units of measure "ml." and "cc." being the same.

The wine should not be diluted to a greater extent than that necessary to bring the boiling point of the diluted wine within 4 of the boiling point of water, but one of the quantities of wine (100 ml., 50 ml., or 20 ml.) specified in the preceding paragraph should always be used. The degree of dilution required will depend upon the sugar and alcohol content of the wine. Experience in testing various types of wine will usually indicate the degree of dilution required. When a test shows a difference of more than 4 between the boiling point of water and that of the diluted wine, it is necessary to make another test, using a lesser quantity of wine.

In measuring the quantity of wine to be diluted for testing, a pipette of the same size (capacity) as the quantity of wine to be diluted must be used and the wine measured precisely to the mark. In adding water for dilution, care must be used to fill the flask precisely to the 200 ml. line. Inaccurate dilution is one of the principal causes of incorrect tests.

Because of the dilution, where 100 ml. of wine is used, the percentage of alcohol indicated by the test must be multiplied by 2; where 50 ml. of wine is used, the result must be multiplied by 4; and where 20 ml. of wine is used, the result must be multiplied by 10.

Determining boiling point. Before each test to determine the boiling point of water or diluted wine, the boiler should first be drained of any liquid that may remain therein and then rinsed with a portion of the liquid (water or diluted wine) to be tested. After such rinsing, the boiler should be thoroughly drained before another portion of the material (water or diluted wine) to be tested is poured into the boiler. The rinsings should not be used to make the test.

In determining the boiling point of water, when steam comes out of the top of the instrument, which indicates that the water has started to boil, watch the thermometer. The point at which the mercury remains constant is the boiling point of the water.

In determining the boiling point of diluted wine, when the mercury in the thermometer begins to rise, readings should be made every 15 seconds and written on a slip of paper. The point at which the mercury remains stationary for several consecutive observations is the boiling point of the diluted wine.

Readings should be estimated between the smallest divisions of the thermometer scale. For example, if the thermometer scale is in tenths of a degree and the top of the mercury column is between two of the lines, the difference should be estimated and read accordingly, as 98.95 degrees, and such reading used in referring to the table or sliding scale. Inaccurate thermometer readings are a principal cause of incorrect results.

Removal of carbon dioxide. If the wine contains an amount of carbon dioxide which can be detected by the appearance of rising bubbles, it should be degassed. This is best accomplished by pouring the wine into a beaker and stirring about 5 seconds with a small bar of soap (hotel size) fastened to a stick.

Care of instrument. Cleanliness of the boiler is important because scale or residue will cause bumping and produce rapid fluctuations of the thermometer, which make correct readings impossible. The boiler should be flushed several times with water after each determination. After about 50 determinations, an approximately 2 per cent solution of caustic soda should be put in the boiler and boiled for about one minute. The boiler should then be flushed thoroughly with water, after which two determinations of the boiling point of water should be made. If these readings do not agree, more washing of the boiler with water is required.

Precaution. When attaching the condenser to the boiler, be sure the washer is placed on the connection between the condenser and the boiler, and see that the condenser is screwed tightly to the boiler before using; otherwise, leakage will occur and the reading will be incorrect.

Alcohol lamp. The alcohol lamp must be kept clean and well filled with alcohol. From time to time the lamp must be emptied, cleaned out, and refilled with clean alcohol. The wick should be kept in good condition. The tip should be trimmed where it becomes burned through a scanty supply of alcohol, and the wick should be replaced as soon as it becomes too short to reach well down into the alcohol.

The flame of the lamp (or gas burner, if used instead of the lamp) should be shielded from drafts and should be adjusted so that about eight minutes elapse before the thermometer begins to rise when the boiler contains water or diluted wine. Do not force rapid boiling. Do not continue heating after the condenser has become very warm.

Additional Instructions for Each Instrument

Braun Ebulliometer

The percentage of alcohol content is read by means of the alcohol percentage calculator included with the instrument. The revolving disk of the calculator is graduated in degrees centigrade corresponding to the graduations on the thermometer. The graduations on the outer circle of the calculator represent percentages of alcohol by volume.

Assembling the ebulliometer. Attach the condenser to the threaded opening on top of the ebulliometer. Place the instrument on a level table and shield it from drafts which may cause unsteady temperature conditions.

Determination of boiling point of water. Fill the graduated measuring glass with water up to the line marked "25 ml." Pour this quantity of water into the instrument through the opening provided for the thermometer at the top of the ebulliometer. Now place the thermometer in this opening, being sure that rubber stopper fits snugly. Fill the condenser jacket with water. Light the alcohol burner and place it in the fork of the ebulliometer directly under the circular chimney. Adjust the length of the lamp wick so that the point of the flame will hit the horizontal tube.

The rising temperature of the water will be indicated by the thermometer. When the water reaches its boiling point the thermometer reading will remain constant. Read this boiling point temperature accurately. Take the calculator and set the revolving disk so that the figure on it corresponding to the boiling point of the water is exactly opposite the zero mark on the outer circle. Clamp the disk firmly in this position by means of the screw in the center of the disk.

Drain the water completely from the instrument through the petcock at the front. Empty the water from the condenser. Remove the thermometer from the instrument. Cool the instrument and thermometer to room temperature.

Determination of boiling point of diluted wine. Be sure that all water previously used in cylinder is removed before putting in diluted wine. Rinse the instrument thoroughly with a portion of the diluted wine to be tested and drain carefully. Fill measuring cylinder up to 50 ml. mark with another portion of the diluted wine. Pour this 50 ml. of diluted wine into the instrument and replace condenser and thermometer. Fill condenser with cool water and apply heat to instrument by means of the burner as before. Continue heat until thermometer reading becomes constant. Heating should not be continued after the condenser has become very warm. Read thermometer accurately. This reading point is the boiling point of the diluted wine.

Reading alcohol percentage. Locate the boiling point of the diluted wine on inner dark circle. Read exactly opposite this graduation mark the percentage content on the outer circle. This gives the percentage of alcohol by volume in the diluted wine. This result should be multiplied by 2, 4, or 10, according to the ratio of water used to dilute the wine.

Precautions. Always be sure that condenser is screwed tightly to the instrument body, and that rubber stopper on the thermometer is fitted snugly in the proper opening on top of the instrument.

Be sure that exactly 50 ml. of water or diluted wine is accurately measured and that the entire 50 ml. is poured in the instrument.

Always be sure that measuring glass and instrument are clean and free of liquid before adding either water or wine.

Be sure that rotating disk is always clamped securely after setting for boiling point of water and that this setting is not changed before reading boiling point of diluted wine and the alcohol content.

Be sure that thermometer shows constant temperature before reading boiling points.

Juerst Ebulliometer

Determination of the boiling point of water. Rinse the instrument twice with ordinary water. In doing so pour an approximate glass tube full of water through one of the openings into the ebulliometer. Take the instrument in your left hand and close the two openings on top of the instrument with the index and middle fingers, shake slightly and empty. Now measure in the glass tube as much water as is indicated by the top mark and pour it into the ebulliometer. Fasten the empty condenser to the ebulliometer. Place the thermometer into the opening in front of the condenser. The lamp, which is to be filled with alcohol, should now be lit and put under the instrument. In order to protect the thermometer from heat, the little shield should always be fastened to the top of the heating tubes. Within about eight or nine minutes the mercury in the thermometer commences to rise. When steam comes out of the top of the condenser, indicating that the water has commenced to boil, watch the thermometer until the mercury remains stationary. The temperature at which the water boils is then noted.

Determination of the boiling point of the wine. After the boiling point of the water has been determined, remove the thermometer, empty the ebulliometer, drain it through the draining cock and blow out any liquid which may have remained in the condenser and in the instrument. Rinse the ebulliometer twice with 50 ml. of the diluted wine which is to be tested. Drain the instrument through the draining cock. Fill the glass tube to the top mark with the diluted wine, which must be well decarbonated, and pour it into the ebulliometer through the thermometer opening. Insert the thermometer. Fill the condenser with water. Light the alcohol lamp. When the mercury remains stationary, which will be after 10 or 12 minutes from the time the alcohol lamp has been lit, the temperature should be read and noted.

How to read the thermometer. Each degree is marked on the thermometer. Every degree is subdivided in twentieths, or, in other words, in 5/100 of a degree.

How to read the alcohol table. Example: The boiling point of the water was found to be 10.00 and that of the diluted wine 6.00. Subtract the one figure from the other and look up the corresponding percentage of alcohol by volume in Table VIII.

For instance:
10.00 = (Boiling point of water).
6.00 = (Boiling point of diluted wine).
4.00 = (Difference of the two boiling points).

According to the above difference of 4.00, we find in Table VIII the corresponding percentage of 4.53 per cent alcohol by volume, which, multiplied by 2, because of the dilution (addition of an equal part of water to the wine tested), shows that the wine contains 9.06 per cent of alcohol by volume.

Determining boiling point. Always determine the boiling point of water first. Since the atmospheric pressure changes from day to day and frequently during the day, the boiling point of water and that of the wine to be tested will vary accordingly. It is, therefore, necessary to determine the boiling point of water every day, when it is desired to make an alcohol determination. If the ebulliometer is used at different times during the day, the boiling point of water should be determined from time to time during the day.

Removal of carbonic gas. It is important that the wine of which the alcohol content is to be determined be thoroughly freed of carbonic-acid gas to prevent foaming.

Lefco Ebulliometer

Determination of the boiling point of water. Fill the lamp with denatured alcohol. Rinse the ebulliometer boiler with water by pouring through the thermometer opening. Measure in the glass tube the quantity of water indicated by the graduation and pour it into the ebulliometer. Place the thermometer in position. Light the lamp and place it under the small tube. Within about eight or nine minutes the mercury in the thermometer commences to rise. When steam comes out of the top of the instrument (which indicates that the water has commenced to boil) and the mercury becomes stationary, read the thermometer; it is the boiling point of the water.

NOTE. Do not put any water into the condenser jacket while determining the boiling point of the water.

Determination of the boiling point of wine. Open the cock, empty the boiler, rinse it with some of the diluted wine to be tested, and blow out any remaining liquid in the condenser and boiler. The procedure then is the same as given above for determining the boiling point of water, except that in this case water is used in the condenser jacket. Heating should not be continued after the condenser has become very warm.

Directions for reading alcohol table. Determine the boiling point of the water. Determine the boiling point of the diluted wine. Should the observed boiling point of water be greater than 100 degrees centigrade, then subtract 100 degrees from this boiling point. Subtract the difference from the observed boiling point of the diluted wine. This is the corrected boiling point of the diluted wine. See Table IX.

Example

Boiling point of water = 100.50° C.
100.50° − 100.00° = 0.50° C.
Observed boiling point of the diluted wine = 97.70° C.
97.70° − 0.50° = 97.20° C., the corrected boiling point of the diluted wine.
97.20° C. = 3.06 per cent alcohol by volume, the alcoholic content of the diluted wine, which multiplied by 2, 4, or 10, according to the degree of dilution of the wine tested, will give the per cent of alcohol in the undiluted wine. (Table IX.)

Should the observed boiling point of water be less than 100 degrees centigrade, then subtract this observed boiling point from 100 degrees centigrade. Add this difference to the observed boiling point of the diluted wine. This is the corrected boiling point of the diluted wine.

Example

Observed boiling point of water = 99.70° C.
100.00° C. − 99.70° C. = 0.30° C.
Observed boiling point of the diluted wine = 96.30° C.
96.30° + 0.30° = 96.60° C., the corrected boiling point of the diluted wine.
96.60° C. = 3.74 per cent alcohol by volume, the alcoholic content of the diluted wine, which multiplied by 2, 4, or 10, according to the degree of dilution of the wine tested, will give the per cent of alcohol in the undiluted wine. (Table IX.)

Malligand Type Ebullioscopes

Determination of the boiling point of water. Fill the conical boiler with water to the lower inside ring. Do this carefully, using the pipette which is sent with the instrument. Do not let the thermometer bulb containing the mercury touch the water. Now close the boiler with its cover to which the thermometer is fastened. Screw the cover into the boiler. Fill the lamp with alcohol, set it under the chimney which is fastened to the ring in front, light the lamp and bring the water to a boil. When the water is in full boil, shown by the escaping steam, let the mercury rise until it becomes stationary. Then loosen the screw in the back of the thermometer frame and move the scale so that its "0" line exactly meets the very end of the mercury column, then tighten again the screw in the back so that the scale may not accidentally be moved. The cylindrical cooler is not used during the foregoing part of the process.

The "0" point, determined as explained, may be used for two or three hours, unless some atmospheric disturbance should occur in the meantime.

Now extinguish the flame, unscrew and remove the cover and empty the boiler and you are ready to test the wine.

Determination of the boiling point of the diluted wine. First rinse the boiler thoroughly with some of the diluted wine to be tested. Empty the rinsings and then fill with another portion of the diluted wine to the upper ring within the boiler. Screw the cover on again and set the cooler on top, screwing it into the short tube in front of the thermometer frame. Fill the cooler with cold water, but do not pour any water through the narrow tube in the center. Now put the lamp under the chimney again, light it, and bring the diluted wine to a boil. When the mercury column of the thermometer stops rising and has become stationary read from the scale the percentage of alcohol contained in the diluted wine. The test must be stopped if and when the water in the cooler should get warm. The sliding pointer on the thermometer frame helps to easy reading of the scale.

After cooler and boiler have been emptied and have cooled off, another test can be immediately made. Again thoroughly rinse the boiler with the diluted wine to be tested and proceed as before. As stated, it is not necessary to determine the "0" point anew for each test. It may for two or three hours remain the same as originally found, unless some atmospheric disturbance has occurred in the meantime. The water in the cooler must not get warm and therefore must be renewed for each test.

To prevent foaming of only partly fermented wine, drop one or two drops of oil or a small particle of stearine or tallow on top of the liquid in the boiler before screwing on the cover with the thermometer.

Care of the instrument. It is most necessary to empty the boiler immediately and thoroughly rinse with clean water and then carefully dry the boiler inside and outside, particularly inside, because wine left in the boiler will form a crust within the heating-ring. The heating-ring is the ring which holds the chimney. It is hollow and open at the two ends where fastened to the boiler. When the boiler is filled the heating-ring also fills. A crust within the heating-ring first slows up and in the end makes impossible the proper working of the instrument. When it takes more and more time to make the liquid boil it is not due to anything else but that a crust has formed within the heating-ring. It is then necessary to thoroughly clean the instrument by boiling water in it, and, while boiling, adding about one-eighth ounce of caustic potash in small pieces to the boiling water. After three or four minutes of boiling empty the boiler, rinse it several times with clean water, then repeat the caustic potash treatment and rinsing until the water comes out clear, then finish by carefully and thoroughly drying the boiler inside and outside. Be sure during the entire cleaning process to keep the cover with the thermometer away in a safe place and not to put it on the boiler.

Care of alcohol lamp. To make sure that the lamp will work properly it must, as far as practicable, be kept well filled with alcohol. When not in use, keep the cap on the lamp. From time to time the lamp must be emptied, cleaned out, and refilled with clean alcohol.

Soot may form where the chimney sets on the heating-ring. Remove it, because soot will slow up the working of the instrument.

The wick must always be kept in good condition, i. e., at its original height and with plenty of cotton for its entire length.

Salleron-Dujardin Ebullioscope

Apparatus. This set of instruments consists of 1 Salleron-Du Jardin ebullioscope with reflux condenser, 1 rule with sliding scale for determining the per cent of alcohol, 1 alcohol lamp, 1 standardized centigrade thermometer, 1 glass cylinder graduated to read 15 ml., 25 ml., and 50 ml., for accurately measuring the sample to be tested, and 1 plain or mixing glass cylinder of not less than 75 ml. capacity.

Determination of boiling point of water. Pour 15 ml. of water into the ebullioscope, insert the thermometer, and bring the water to the boiling point. When the mercury becomes stationary, note the temperature and adjust the sliding scale on the rule so that the line indicating the temperature noted will be exactly parallel with the zero mark on the left-hand side of the rule. Now remove the thermometer and empty the water and rinse the ebullioscope thoroughly with some of the diluted wine to be tested.

Test of wine. Take 50 ml. of the diluted wine to be tested and pour it into the ebullioscope, fill the reflux condenser with cold water, insert the thermometer, and bring the sample to the boiling point. Heating should not be continued after the condenser has become very warm. When the mercury in the thermometer becomes stationary and the reading noted, refer to the rule, and the reading on the right-hand side parallel with the line on the sliding scale, indicating the temperature noted, will be the alcoholic content of the diluted wine, which should be multiplied by 2, 4, or 10, according to the ratio of dilution, to find the alcoholic content of the undiluted wine.

Tag-twin ebulliometer

Place instrument on a level table and shield from drafts which may cause unsteady temperature conditions. Fill the graduated measuring glass with the diluted wine to be tested up to the top line marked 50 ml. Pour the liquid to be tested in the right-hand receptacle.

Now fill the measuring glass up to the 50 ml. mark with water and pour the water into the left-hand container. Fill condenser with water and place it and thermometers in position. The thermometer provided with the sliding scale is for determining the boiling point of the wine, and goes in the right-hand container. The other thermometer without the scale is for the water container.

Light burner after filling with alcohol. With the chimney in place adjust apparatus so that the flame covers the two circular tubes Use a low flame in starting, as too rapid boiling may result in a loss of some of the alcohol due to the velocity of the vapor particles. The flame may be increased after the first few minutes, but in no case use the strongest flame. When the temperature indicates that the liquids are near the boiling points, the flame may be reduced again.

When the mercury columns in both thermometers reach their highest point and become stationary, and when the readings are steady, observe mercury column of the thermometer in the receptacle containing the water. Note at what degree the water boils. Then set the sliding scale on the other thermometer so that the zero "0" mark on the sliding scale is at the same reading as the mercury of the thermometer in the receptacle with the boiling water. For instance, if the water registers 100 degrees, move the sliding scale on the other thermometer so that the zero mark of the sliding scale will be at the point of 100 degrees. If the thermometer in the receptacle with the water registers 99.6 degrees, adjust the sliding scale on the other thermometer so that its zero mark will be as 99.6 degrees of the attached thermometer, and so on.

After the boiling points have been reached, i. e., when the mercury columns in both thermometers have become stationary, keep a small flame burning for about one minute (heating should not be continued after the right-hand condenser has become very warm). Then read on the sliding scale the point corresponding to the top of the mercury column in the right-hand thermometer. That figure on the sliding scale will be the exact percentage of alcohol present in the diluted wine being tested. This figure will then be multiplied by 2, 4, or 10, according to the degree of dilution, to find the per cent of alcohol by volume contained in the undiluted wine.

The alcohol percentage scale from 1 to 5 per cent is graduated in $\frac{1}{20}$ parts, each line indicating $\frac{1}{20}$ of 1 per cent. The remainder of the scale is divided in $\frac{1}{10}$ parts, each line indicating $\frac{1}{10}$ of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume.

Care of Thermometers

Thermometers are easily broken. Great care must be exercised in handling and using them to prevent breakage. A thermometer should never be knocked against anything hard, nor dipped into a cold liquid when it is hot or into a hot liquid when it is cold, nor should the bulb come in contact with a cold surface just after being taken out of the boiler or with a hot surface when it is cold.

Separation of mercury column. Great care must likewise be used in attempting to reunite the mercury column when it becomes separated, as the thermometer may be broken by any swinging, tapping, chilling, or heating of the instrument employed to unite the separated column. Government officers should use every care when endeavoring to reunite the mercury column of Government thermometers, and they should not assume the responsibility of attempting to reunite the mercury columns of thermometers belonging to winemakers.

Manufacturers' instructions. The following instructions, issued by manufacturers for reuniting the mercury columns of thermometers, are quoted for the information of winemakers, but great care should be exercised in attempting to follow them:

Salleron-DuJardin instructions. Should the mercury column in the thermometer become separated as a consequence of jolting or handling, it is easy to get the bubbles or portions of mercury back into the proper place by shaking the thermometer like a pendulum, the bulb being held in the hand, the stem upwards against the forearm.

Tag-Twin instructions. To obtain accurate results, the mercury column in the thermometer must be unbroken. If, for any reason, a separation of the mercury occurs in the column of either thermometer, the mercury can usually be joined in the chamber above the bulb by tapping the thermometer end on a pad of paper or some other solid, but not hard, surface.

Malligand instructions. Due to rough handling in transportation or some similar cause the mercury column may become divided and portions of it may appear anywhere in the thermometer tube. This can easily be remedied by turning the thermometer upside down and swinging it lightly up and down, to cause the mercury in the tube to move and press forward toward the extreme end of the tube, thus uniting the separated portions on its way.

A divided mercury column may sometimes completely fill the bulb at the extreme end of the horizontal tube and if turning and swinging does not unite the mercury, the bulb should be gradually heated by holding it above the flame of the alcohol lamp at a distance of about 2 or 3 inches, slowly moving it a little closer, until the heat makes the mercury rise and the separated portions unite. A little swinging up and down will help. Be careful not to have the flame too high or the bulb too close to the flame, else the bulb will break.

Juerst instructions. (a) To join mercury column when broken within the capillary—

(1) Warm the bulb in water or oil or in the air high above a gas or alcohol flame. Great care must be taken, especially with high temperature thermometers, not to heat the bulb to a temperature higher than the thermometer is intended to measure. The upper end of a thermometer stem may be warmed over a Bunsen burner, if this is done very gradually. When the thermometer is warmed over a flame, it should be rotated about its axis.

(2) Cool in cold water, ice, a freezing mixture, or CO_2 snow; but such cooling should not be attempted while the thermometer bulb is still hot to the touch.

(3) Tap or strike thermometer on the end. This must be done carefully, particularly when the bulb is only partially filled with mercury and the thermometer is inverted. This tapping may be "soft," as when the thermometer is held vertically and the hand (not the thermometer) is struck on the table, or it may be "sharp," as when the thermometer is held vertically and struck downward on a pad of paper.

(4) Tap on the side of the thermometer "softly" with the hand, or "sharply" with a pencil. Either must be done with care, as there is danger of breaking the stem. Different thermometers require different treatment.

(b) To remove mercury from the upper bulb when it is partially full and when thermometer is not filled with gas under pressure—

Hold thermometer vertically, bulb down. Tap "softly" on side near the top and "softly" on end, to bring mercury to lower part of upper reservoir. Then try both tapping "softly" and "sharply," on end, and if this fails to bring the mercury down the stem warm the bulb until mercury rises and unites with that in the reservoir. Cool very slowly and probably the mercury will all come down. If not, try again, cooling more slowly.

(c) To remove mercury from the upper reservoir when this is completely full or when mercury persistently stays at the top reservoir—

Warm the upper end carefully over a Bunsen flame, beginning at the extreme tip. Mercury will be driven down the capillary by its own vapor pressure. If small mercury globules are left, warm a little more and they will condense farther down. Wait until the upper end cools to a temperature comfortable to the hand. Warm the lower bulb until mercury rises and collects the small globules.

(d) To find whether there is any residual gas in the thermometer bulb—

Warm the bulb until at least a few centimeters of mercury appear in the capillary; if mercury is already there, do not warm. Invert the thermometer and see whether mercury runs down. If not, there is probably no gas in the bulb. If mercury runs down, let it run a few centimeters and look for a bubble in the bulb. Right the thermometer and see whether this bubble entirely disappears when the mercury returns to the bulb. If this bubble disappears, no significant amount of gas is present.

(e) To remove gas when found—

Invert thermometer and run some mercury into the capillary. Right thermometer and tap "sharply" on side and on end to bring gas to the top of bulb before mercury all returns. Cool bulb as much as possible, tapping sharply on end when cold. Invert thermometer and tap very "softly" on end to bring down mercury, which is still separated by the air bubble from that in the bulb. When this has come down, either tap "sharply" or warm to bring down the mercury from the bulb, but do not let the separated thread get into the upper bulb until the main mercury column is ready to join it. Get the two separated parts to join in any convenient enlargement or in the upper reservoir. Right the thermometer or hold it at an angle, with the top higher, and let the mercury run slowly into the bulb, watching carefully the point where the bubble is left, to be sure that the column does not separate. If the bubble begins to enlarge, run the mercury more slowly.

DETERMINATION OF SUGAR IN WINE (WITHOUT DISTILLATION)

Pour some of the wine to be tested into a glass cylinder, carefully insert the proper Balling saccharometer stem into the liquid, and note the reading. Withdraw the stem, insert the thermometer, and note the temperature of the wine.

If this temperature is other than 60° F., correct the saccharometer reading according to Table II. Then refer to Table III to ascertain the specific gravity of the wine at the corrected reading. Find the specific gravity of the alcohol, shown by the ebulliometer, by reference to Table X.

Add 1 to the specific gravity of the wine and subtract the specific gravity of the alcohol; the result will be the specific gravity which would be obtained if a given volume of the wine had been dealcoholized and then made to original volume with water. Referring again to Table III, find the per cent of sugar corresponding to this specific gravity.

Example. Corrected saccharometer reading is 2.00. See Table III to find corresponding specific gravity of 1.00781.

Alcohol was found to be 12.25 per cent, which has a specific gravity of .98402 (Table X, interpolating between the 2 tenths and 3 tenths columns).

1.00781 + 1. − .98402 = 1.02379, the specific gravity of the dealcoholized wine, which corresponds to 6.0 degrees Balling (Table III) and means that 6 per cent of the weight of the wine is sugar, calculated on a dealcoholized basis.

If the lowest scale saccharometer fails to register, use an alcohol stem, and, if the temperature is other than 60° F., correct the reading according to Table VII.

Example. The alcohol stem reads 10.5 at 70° F.

Subtract .93 (Table VII, interpolating between columns 10 and 11), the correction for temperature, to obtain 9.57 corrected reading.

The specific gravity of the wine for 9.57 reading is .98712 (Table X, interpolating between the 5 tenths and 6 tenths columns).

The alcohol found by the ebulliometer is 12.25 per cent, which has a specific gravity of .98402 (Table X, interpolating between the 2 tenths and 3 tenths columns).

.98712 + 1. − .98402 = 1.00310 specific gravity of the wine, calculated on a dealcoholized basis, which is equal to .79 degrees Balling (Table III, interpolating between the 0 and 1 lines).

METHOD OF DETERMINING THE AMOUNT OF BRANDY REQUIRED TO FORTIFY WINES TO THE DESIRED ALCOHOLIC STRENGTH

Determining brandy necessary for fortification. After samples have been taken for the first test in the fortifying room and the officer is satisfied that the wine is eligible for fortification, the winemaker may be permitted to add, if he so desires, enough brandy to the wine to arrest fermentation. The brandy so added should be duly gauged prior to use. The officer should then complete the tests to determine the amount of brandy necessary to fortify the wine to the desired alcoholic strength in the following way:

Rule for calculation. Multiply the number of wine gallons of wine to be fortified by the difference between its per cent of alcohol by volume and the desired per cent of alcohol by volume in the wine after fortification; divide this product by the difference between the per cent of alcohol by volume in the brandy which is to be used for fortifying and the desired per cent of alcohol by volume in the wine after fortification; the quotient will represent the number of wine gallons of brandy required to produce the desired alcoholic strength in the fortified wine.

NOTE: The per cent of alcohol in the brandy is one-half the proof of the brandy. In calculating the quantity of brandy required to fortify wine, it is usually sufficient to take the nearest whole per cent of proof of the brandy used. However, where it is desired to fortify the wine to an exact per cent of alcohol, a more precise determination can be made by taking the actual proof of the brandy, as shown in Table No. 1 of the Gauging Manual in tenths of per cent, rather than the nearest whole per cent of proof. For example, where the hydrometer reading is 192 and the temperature is 66°, the actual proof of 190.6 shown in Table No. 1 of the Gauging Manual may be used, instead of the next nearest whole per cent of 191. Thus, the alcoholic content of such brandy would be 190.6 ÷ 2 = 95.3 per cent. See section 494 (b). When the actual proof of the brandy in tenths of per cent is used, it is necessary to interpolate between weights per gallon according to whole per cents of proof in determining the weight of the wine gallons of brandy required.

Example No. 1. How many wine gallons of brandy having a per cent of alcohol by volume of 90 shall be added to 100 gallons of wine having an alcoholic content of 10 per cent by volume to fortify the wine to 20 per cent alcohol by volume?

100 × (20 − 10) ÷ (90 − 20) = 14.86 w. g. brandy

Example No. 2. (Using actual proof). It is desired to fortify 100 gallons of wine containing 11.9 per cent alcohol to 20.7 per cent with brandy containing 90.3 per cent alcohol:

100 × (20.7 − 11.9) ÷ (90.3 − 20.7) = 12.644 w. g. brandy

Formula. The determination may also be made by the following formula:

FORMULA

$$X = \frac{V(C-A)}{B-C}$$

A = the per cent of alcohol by volume in the wine to be fortified;
B = the per cent of alcohol by volume in the brandy to be used in fortifying the wine;
C = the desired per cent of alcohol by volume in the wine after being fortified;
V = the number of wine gallons of the wine to be fortified; and
X = the number of wine gallons of brandy to be used.

Example No. 1. How many wine gallons of brandy having a per cent of alcohol by volume of 90 shall be added to 100 gallons of wine having an alcoholic content of 10 per cent by volume to fortify the wine to 20 per cent alcohol by volume?

A = 10 per cent.
B = 90 per cent.
C = 20 per cent.
V = 100 gallons.

$$X = \frac{100\ (20-10)}{(90-20)} = 14.86 \text{ w. g. brandy.}$$

Example No. 2 (Using actual proof). It is desired to fortify 100 gallons of wine containing 11.9 per cent alcohol to 20.7 per cent with brandy containing 90.3 per cent alcohol:

A = 11.9 per cent.
B = 90.3 per cent.
C = 20.7 per cent.
V = 100 gallons.

$$X = \frac{100\ (20.7-11.9)}{(90.3-20.7)} = 12.644 \text{ w. g. brandy.}$$

Determining weight of brandy to be used. The number of pounds of brandy necessary to fortify the wine to the desired alcoholic content may be readily determined by multiplying the wine gallons of brandy found by the foregoing rule or formula by the pounds per wine gallon shown in the following table for brandy of the proof of that being used:

TABLE XI—FOR FINDING THE QUANTITY OF BRANDY IN POUNDS REQUIRED TO FORTIFY WINE

The pounds of brandy required to fortify wine of any per cent alcohol to between 18.0 and 24.0 per cent, both inclusive, with brandy of any proof between 167° and 193°, both inclusive, may be readily determined by this table.

Instruction. As indicated by the heading of the table, the per cent of alcohol desired in the wine after fortification is shown in the lines in the first column to the left, and the proof of the brandy to be used is shown at the top of the other columns. To find the pounds of brandy required for the desired fortification, multiply the factor shown at the line for the per cent of alcohol desired after fortification, in the column for the proof of the brandy to be used, by the difference between the per cent of alcohol contained in the wine before fortification and the per cent desired after fortification, then multiply the product by the number of gallons of wine to be fortified.

Example No. 1. How many pounds of brandy of 180 proof shall be added to 10,000 gallons of wine containing 10 per cent alcohol to fortify the wine to 20 per cent alcohol?

.09918 × (20 − 10) × 10,000 = 9918 pounds, brandy required.

Example No. 2. (Using actual proof and interpolating between columns.) It is desired to fortify 10,000 gallons of wine containing 11.9 per cent alcohol to 20.7 per cent with brandy of 180.6 proof.

Interpolation between columns 181 and 180 is made as follows:

.10018 − .000546 = .099634 factor for 180.6 proof brandy.
.099634 × (20.7 − 11.9) × 10,000 = 8767.79 pounds, brandy required.

NOTE: In calculating the quantity of brandy required to fortify wine, it is usually sufficient to take the nearest whole per cent of proof of the brandy used. However, where it is desired to fortify the wine to an exact per cent of alcohol, a more precise determination can be made by taking the actual proof of the brandy, as shown in Table No. 1 of the Gauging Manual in tenths of per cent, rather than the nearest whole per cent of proof. For example, where the hydrometer reading is 192 and the temperature is 66°, the actual proof of 190.6 shown in Table No. 1 of the Gauging Manual may be used, instead of the next nearest whole per cent of 191. See section 472 (b) (1). When the actual proof of the brandy in tenths of per cent is used, it is necessary to interpolate between columns for whole per cents of proof, as shown in example No. 2.

TABLE XII—FOR FINDING THE QUANTITY OF BRANDY IN WINE GALLONS REQUIRED TO FORTIFY 1 GALLON OF WINE

The quantity of brandy in wine gallons required to fortify 1 gallon of wine to any per cent alcohol between 1 and 24 per cent, both inclusive, with brandy of any per cent alcohol between 70 and 95 per cent, both inclusive (140° and 190° proof), may be readily determined by this table.

The total quantity of brandy required for the desired fortification can be determined by multiplying the quantity of brandy found necessary to fortify 1 gallon of wine by the number of gallons of wine to be fortified.

Example No. 1. It is desired to fortify wine containing 10 per cent alcohol to 20 per cent with brandy containing 90 per cent alcohol. Line: 90−10=80. Column: 20−10=10. Thus, at line 80 in column 10 is found the fractional part of a wine gallon (.14286) of 90 per cent brandy required for each gallon of wine.

Example No. 2. (Involving interpolation between columns.) It is desired to fortify wine containing 10.5 per cent alcohol to 22.3 per cent with brandy containing 90 per cent alcohol. Line: 90−10.5=79.5. Column: 22.3−10.5=11.8. Interpolation between columns 11 and 12 is made as follows: (.17778−.16050)×.8+.16058=.17434 wine gallons of 90 per cent brandy required for each gallon of wine.

The use of this table is not recommended where it is desired to use the actual proof of the brandy in tenths of per cent (as 180.6°), in order to calculate more precisely the quantity of brandy required, as such necessitates (1) interpolation between lines, in addition to the interpolation between columns shown in example No. 2, and (2) interpolation between weights according to whole per cents of proof to ascertain the weight of the split proof.

TABLE XII—FOR FINDING THE QUANTITY OF BRANDY IN WINE GALLONS REQUIRED TO FORTIFY 1 GALLON OF WINE

Instruction.—In the table the lines are numbered at the left and the columns at the top. To find the proper line and column in the table the following formula is used: To find the line: Subtract the percent of alcohol in the wine to be fortified from the percent of alcohol in the brandy to be used, e. g., 90 (brandy)−10 (wine)=80 (line). To find the column: Subtract the percent of alcohol in the wine to be fortified from the percent of alcohol desired in the wine after fortification, e. g., 22 (after fortification)−10 (before fortification)=12 (column). Then at line 80 in column 12 is found the fractional part of a wine gallon (.17647) of brandy required to so fortify the wine.

DIRECTIONS FOR TAKING SAMPLES OF FORTIFIED WINE AND THEIR DISPOSITION

Time of taking samples. As provided in § 178.497, the storekeeper-gauger will take a 1-pint sample from each tank of wine fortified, except partial fortifications. This sample should be taken after the sweetening agents, if any, and brandy have been added and the fortifying tank has been thoroughly plunged to insure complete mixture of the contents. The officer should also make his test for alcohol before taking the sample so that the results thereof may be entered on label, Form 491, to be attached to the bottle.

Bottles and labels. The bottles used for this purpose must be perfectly clean and drained dry before the wine is placed therein. Rinse the bottles with a little of the wine before filling them; close them with a new and perfect cork or screw cap; affix to each sample a label, Form 491, properly made out, and signed both by the officer taking the sample and the winemaker or his representative.

Forwarding samples. Hold the samples in the fortifying room until the close of the month and then forward two of the samples, representing fortifications at different intervals of the month, to the Bureau branch laboratory for testing. Where not over three lots have been fortified during the month, but one sample need be sent the chemist. The other samples will be held in the fortifying room for a period of six months, after which they may be returned to the winemaker. The storekeeper-gauger will be held to a strict accountability for all wine released from the fortifying room by him.

FINDING THE CALCULATED PER CENT OF SUGAR AND ALCOHOL AFTER FORTIFICATION

To find the calculated per cent of sugar or alcohol after fortification, multiply the gallons of wine before fortification by the per cent of sugar or alcohol present in the wine, as shown by the first test, and add the amount of sugar or alcohol added, which in the case of the alcohol will be one-half of the proof gallons of brandy added, and divide the sum found by the gallons of wine after fortification. The result will be the calculated per cent of sugar or alcohol present after the fortification has been completed.

RULES FOR FINDING CAPACITY AND CONTENTS OF TANKS

ROUND TANKS OF UNIFORM DIMENSIONS, STANDING ON END

To find the capacity. Ascertain the inside depth of the tank by accurately measuring the same with a rod or steel tape. Ascertain the diameter of the tank (1) by accurately measuring the inside width of the tank with a rod or steel tape, or (2) by measuring the outside circumference of the tank and dividing the same by 3.1416 and deducting from the quotient twice the thickness of the staves or sides of the tank. The result will be the inside diameter of the tank.

After determining the depth and diameter of the tank, multiply the diameter by itself and by the depth and by 0.0034, and the product will be the capacity of the tank in gallons.

Example. What is the capacity of a tank 120 inches in diameter and 100 inches in depth?

120×120×100×0.0034=4,896 gallons, capacity of tank.

To find the capacity per inch of depth. The capacity of the tank for 1 inch of depth can be determined by multiplying the diameter by itself and by 0.0034.

120×120×0.0034=48.96 gallons per inch.

To find the liquid contents when partly filled. Where the tank is partly filled, the liquid contents can be determined by ascertaining the depth of the wine in inches and multiplying same by the capacity of the tank for 1 inch of depth. (The depth of the wine can be ascertained by measuring the same with a rod or steel tape or by measuring the dry inches in the tank and subtracting same from the depth of the tank.)

Example. What are the liquid contents of the above tank if the depth of the wine in it is 75 inches?

75×48.96=3,672 gallons of wine in tank.

ROUND TANKS STANDING ON END AND LARGER AT BOTTOM THAN AT TOP, BUT NOT BULGED IN THE MIDDLE

To find capacity. Ascertain the inside diameter of the tank at the top and at the bottom and the inside depth of the tank in the manner set forth above. (In ascertaining the depth, the rod or tape should be run straight down and not allowed to follow the course of the staves or sides of the tank. All measurements should be in inches.) Add together the square of the top diameter, the square of the bottom diameter, and four times the square of the midway diameter (ascertained by adding the top and bottom diameters together and dividing by 2), and divide the sum by 6, which gives the square of the true mean diameter; multiply this by the depth of the tank, and the product will be the capacity in cylindrical inches. As there are 294 cylindrical inches in a gallon, divide this last product by 294, and the quotient will be the capacity of the tank in gallons.

Example. What is the capacity of a tank 108 inches in diameter at the top, 120 inches in diameter at the bottom, and 100 inches in depth?

(13008×100)÷294=4,424 gallons, capacity of tank.

The following rule is shorter and, though not mathematically correct, is for all practical purposes sufficiently so, unless the tank is much smaller at the top than at the bottom, and may be used in determining the capacity of such tank:

Add the top and bottom diameters, divide the sum by 2, multiply the quotient by itself and by 0.0034 and by the depth of the tank, the result will be the capacity of the tank in gallons.

114×114×100×0.0034=4,418 gallons, capacity of tank.

To find the capacity for each foot of depth. Subtract the top diameter from the bottom diameter, and divide the difference by the depth in inches to get the decrease in diameter for each inch of depth; multiply the quotient by 12, which gives the decrease in diameter per foot; subtract the product from the bottom diameter to get the diameter at 1 foot of depth from the bottom; add the bottom diameter and the diameter at 1 foot from the bottom, divide the sum by 2, multiply the quotient by itself and by 0.0034. The result will be the capacity of the tank for the first foot of depth.

(120−108)÷100=0.12 inches, decrease in diameter per inch of depth.
0.12×12=1.44 inches, decrease in diameter per foot of depth.
120−1.44=118.56 inches, diameter 1 foot from bottom.
(120+118.56)÷2=119.28 inches, mean diameter.
119.28×119.28×0.0034=48.37 gallons per inch for first foot.
48.37×12=580.44 gallons, capacity first foot.

The capacity for the next foot of depth can be ascertained by the same process of taking the diameter at the top of the first foot as the bottom diameter for the calculation. For example, the bottom diameter of the second foot of depth is 118.56 inches, and the top diameter would be 118.56−1.44 (decrease in diameter) =117.12 inches top diameter. By following the above rule the capacity for the second foot is found as follows:

47.21×12=566.52 gallons capacity for second foot.

Each other foot of depth can be found in the same way, care being used that each calculation is correct.

To find the liquid contents when partly filled. Ascertain the decrease in diameter of the tank per inch of depth by subtracting the top diameter of the tank from its bottom diameter and dividing the difference by the depth in inches of the tank, to get the decrease in diameter per inch of depth. Then ascertain the depth in inches of the liquid, and multiply the same by the decrease in diameter per inch of depth, the product will be the difference between the bottom diameter of the tank and the diameter of the tank at the top of the liquid. Then add these two diameters, divide the sum by 2, multiply the quotient by itself and by 0.0034 and by the depth in inches of the liquid. The result will be the gallons of liquid contained in the tank.

Example. What are the liquid contents of the above tank if the depth of the wine in it is 75 inches?

0.12×75=9 inches, difference between the bottom and top of wine.
120−9=111 inches, diameter at top of wine.
(111+120)÷2=115.5 inches, mean diameter.
115.5×115.5×0.0034×75=3,402 gallons, contents.

ROUND TANKS OR CASKS BULGED IN THE MIDDLE

To find the capacity. The capacities of casks bulged in the middle can best be determined by filling them with liquid and measuring such liquid (1) with an accurate meter, or (2) in a measuring tank or in a tank of uniform dimensions.

The following rule while not mathematically correct may be used by officers in taking inventories of such casks:

Ascertain the inside head and middle diameters in the manner set forth under directions for finding the capacity of "Round Tanks of Uniform Dimensions, Standing on End." In doing this care should be used to get the true diameter at the head and at the center of the cask. Where the diameters are determined by taking the circumference and dividing same by 3.1416, the measurements should be made in the exact center of the cask and at the heads rather than at the end of the staves in cases where the staves extend beyond the heads.

Add to the head diameter two-thirds of the difference between the head and middle diameter (if the staves are only slightly curved, add only six-tenths of the difference); this gives the mean diameter; multiply the mean diameter by itself and by the inside length, where the cask is lying on its side, or inside height where the cask is standing on one head, and by 0.0034. The result will be the capacity of the cask in gallons.

Example. A wine cask is 64 inches long, the head diameter is 36 inches, and the center diameter is 42 inches. What is the capacity of the cask?

(⅔ of 6)+36=40 inches mean diameter.
40×40×64×0.0034=348.16 gallons, capacity of cask.

SQUARE OR RECTANGULAR TANKS OR VATS WITH PERPENDICULAR SIDES

To find the capacity. Multiply the inside length by the inside breadth and by the inside height and divide by 231, the number of cubic inches in a gallon, the result will be the capacity in gallons of the tank or vat.

Example. A rectangular tank is 120 inches long, 108 inches wide, and 100 inches deep. What is its capacity?

(120×108×100)÷231=5,610 gallons, capacity of tank.

To find the capacity per inch of depth. Multiply the inside length by the inside breadth and divide by 231; the result will be the capacity per inch of depth.

Example. What is the capacity per inch of depth of the above tank?

(120×108)÷231=56.10 gallons, capacity per inch.

To find the liquid contents when partly filled. Multiply the depth of the wine in inches by the capacity per inch.

Example. What are the liquid contents of the above tank if the depth of the wine in it is 75 inches?

75×56.10=4,207.5 gallons, contents of tank.

SQUARE OR RECTANGULAR TANKS OR VATS LARGER AT THE TOP THAN AT THE BOTTOM, OR VICE VERSA

To find the capacity. Find the mean length by adding the top length and the bottom length and dividing by 2. Find the mean width by adding the top width and the bottom width and dividing by 2. Multiply the mean length by the mean width and by the depth and divide by 231. The result will be the capacity of the tank in gallons.

Example. A rectangular tank is 120 inches long at the top and 108 inches at the bottom, 100 inches wide at the top and 90 inches at the bottom, and 72 inches deep. What is its capacity?

(114×95×72)÷231=3,375.5 gallons, capacity of tank.

To find the contents when partly filled. Subtract the top length from the bottom length and divide the difference by the depth; the result will be the difference in length per inch of depth. Multiply the depth of the wine in inches by the difference in length per inch of depth to get the difference in length at the top of the wine and at the bottom of the tank. Add this difference to the bottom length to get the length at the top of the wine. Add the length at the top of the wine and the bottom length and divide by 2 to get the mean length.

Find the mean width in the same way.

Multiply the mean length by the mean width and by the depth of the wine and divide by 231; the result will be the contents of the tank in gallons.

Example. What are the liquid contents of the above tank if the depth of the wine in it is 48 inches?

(120−108)÷72=⅙ inch, difference in length per inch of depth.
48×⅙=8 inches, difference in length top of wine.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE,
Washington, D. C.

To Collectors of Internal Revenue, District Supervisors, and Other Officers and Employees of the Bureau of Internal Revenue Concerned.

1. Section 3315, Revised Statutes, as amended (U. S. C., 1934 ed., Title 26, Secs. 803 (b), 812 (b), 1152 (b), 1300 (b), and 1332 (d)), provides that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may, under regulations prescribed by him with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, issue stamps for restamping packages of tobacco, snuff, cigarettes, cigars, distilled spirits, wines, and fermented liquors, which have been duly stamped, but from which the stamps have been lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident.

* * * * * *

3. The following regulations are prescribed in conformity with the provisions of law above cited:

APPLICATIONS FOR RESTAMPING

4. Applications for restamping should be made in writing to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the packages to be restamped are situated. With respect to containers of distilled spirits required to bear strip stamps by the Liquor Taxing Act of 1934 (Title 26, sec. 1552 (c), U.S.C., 1934 ed.) the procedure outlined in paragraphs 11, 12, and 13 hereof should be observed. The applicants should state in detail the number of packages, description of the contents, where the packages are located, the kind and denomination of the stamps lost or destroyed, and the nature of the applicant's interest in the property.

5. If the stamps were lost or destroyed in transit, the application should be accompanied by an affidavit of the consignor that the packages were properly stamped when shipped and, if possible, the affidavit of some one having knowledge of the facts attending their loss or destruction en route.

6. In the event the stamps were lost or destroyed either before or after shipment and while in the possession of the applicant, the application should be accompanied by an affidavit of the applicant or some one in his employ stating that the packages were once duly stamped or properly stamped when received, as the case may be, and detailing all the circumstances connected with the destruction of the stamps.

INSPECTION

7. When an application is received, the collector will examine it and the supporting affidavits for the purpose of determining whether all of the papers have been correctly prepared. If so, the collector will order an immediate inspection of the packages by one of his deputy collectors, who will make a written report to the collector of the number of packages which need restamping, the condition and contents of each, and the kind of stamps or fragments of stamps still attached thereto.

8. In the case of spirits in barrels, the inspection should be made by a storekeeper-gauger, if possible, or by some other representative of the district supervisor's office. A full report of regauge on the prescribed gauging form and a statement of the marks and brands found upon the bung stave and stamp head of the packages must be made.

9. If this inspection can not be made without substantial expense to the Government, the collector will, before expenses are incurred, forward to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for consideration the application and accompanying papers as well as an estimate of the cost of completing the examination.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE

10. In the following cases where stamps for spirits and wine have been lost or destroyed, collectors of internal revenue will procure and forward to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue with the application, report of inspection, and report of regauge, additional evidence as follows, according to the nature of the case—

(a) For tax-paid spirits in original packages: Certified copy of the report on the prescribed gauging form showing the contents of the packages at the time they were gauged for tax payment; certificate of the collector in whose district the missing or mutilated stamps were purchased, which should contain all of the information shown on the stubs from which the original stamps were detached.

* * * * *

(e) For wine: Affidavit from the taxpayer showing the contents of the cases or packages when stamped, value of stamps affixed to the cases or packages, taxable grade of wine, serial numbers of the cases or packages, and date on which the stamps were affixed to the packages.

* * * * *

FAILURE TO MAKE VOLUNTARY APPLICATION FOR RESTAMPING CONTAINERS OF LIQUORS

15. Where an unstamped container of distilled spirits, fermented malt liquor, or wine, from which the original stamp has been lost or destroyed, is discovered and it is ascertained that no application for the restamping thereof has been made, such container will be detained pending appropriate action. If, upon investigation, it develops that the container has been tax-paid, the officer who made the discovery shall secure an affidavit from the proper party, setting forth the reason for the loss or destruction of the stamp, as well as documentary evidence, if any, in support thereof. He shall then require the party involved to execute a suitable restamping application to be submitted through the office of the district supervisor to the local collector of internal revenue, accompanied by a statement of the facts and the officer's recommendation. Such officer will inform the possessor of the unstamped container of liquor that it is his privilege to submit an offer in compromise. In the event a suitable offer in compromise is tendered, the procedure shall thereafter conform with the procedure governing cases in which an application for restamping was made without the intervention of a Government officer. When received, the stamp may be issued and affixed, and the container of liquor may be released from detention without awaiting action on the offer in compromise. Where no offer in compromise is submitted, the container of liquor shall be seized for forfeiture.

* * * * *

ISSUANCE OF STAMPS

19. With the exception of applications for the restamping of containers of fermented malt liquors, as set forth in paragraph 14 hereof, the collector will forward all applications, together with supporting evidence, to the Accounts and Collections Unit of the Bureau for consideration and an appropriate authorization on Form 7706, prior to issuing any duplicate stamps.

CREDIT FOR STAMPS ISSUED

20. The issuance of all stamps under these regulations should be reflected in the appropriate monthly record of stamps received, issued, etc., in column headed "Issued by Order of the Commissioner," and credit for the stamps should be taken on the proper line of the collector's monthly stamp report.

21. In every case, the collector should obtain a receipt from the party receiving duplicate stamps and transmit such receipt to the Bureau with his stamp report for the month in which the stamps were issued.

22. The regulations herein promulgated supersede those contained in Treasury Decisions 1869 and 4580 dated, respectively, August 5, 1913, and August 20, 1935.

GUY T. HELVERING,
Commissioner.

Approved: June 24, 1937.

WAYNE C. TAYLOR,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1, Direction 1, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

CHANGES MADE BY CUSTOMERS IN ORDERS PLACED WITH MANUFACTURERS

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 1:

(a) This direction tells what happens when a customer, having placed a rated order with a manufacturer, wishes to make a change in that order.

(b) The general rule is that any change in a customer's order constitutes a cancellation of the earlier order and must be considered as a new order received on the date of the change if (but only if) the change will require the manufacturer to interfere with his production. For example:

(1) A change in shipping destination does not constitute the placing of a new order.

(2) An increase in the total amount ordered is a new order to the extent of the increase unless it can be filled with only a negligible interference with sequence of later orders.

(3) A change in the date of the delivery, whether advanced or deferred, when made by the customer is a new order if it interferes with production, or delays delivery on an equal or higher rated order.

(4) Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.

(5) A change in preference rating will not constitute a new order. Treatment of the new rating is governed by the provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 12.

(6) A reduction in the total amount ordered will presumably not require a change in the manufacturer's schedule and will not constitute a new order. If the quantity is reduced below a minimum production quantity, the manufacturer may insist on the delivery of not less than the minimum production quantity as explained in Interpretation No. 7. If the customer is not willing to order that amount, the manufacturer may reject the order. The manufacturer may not discriminate between customers in requiring delivery of minimum production amounts or in rejecting orders.

(7) When the customer directs the manufacturer to hold or suspend production without specifying a new delivery date, the order must be considered cancelled. If requested to do so within ten days after receiving such an instruction, the manufacturer must reinstate the order as nearly as possible to its former place in his proposed schedule of deliveries as long as the reinstatement does not cause loss of production or delay in the scheduled deliveries on equal or higher rated orders. Any request for reinstatement made after ten days shall be treated as the placing of an entirely new order.

(8) Where minor variations in size, design, capacity, etc., are requested by the customer and can be arranged by the manufacturer without interfering with his production, such changes do not constitute a new order.

(c) Where a change in an order constitutes a new order the conditions existing at the time the changes are received govern the acceptance of the order and its sequence in delivery under the rules of Priorities Regulation No. 1. If a customer changes his order in such a way as to constitute a new order, but finds that as a new order it will not be scheduled for delivery at the time required by the customer, he may, if he likes, request reinstatement of his original order within the time and manner provided in paragraph (b) (7) above.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

Priorities Reg. 1, Direction 4, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

APPLICATION FOR PERMISSION TO USE EXCESS MATERIALS

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 1:

(a) What this direction does. This direction tells you how to get the same right to use materials and products which you have on hand that you would have if you bought them from someone else under Priorities Regulation 13. This direction applies only to materials and products which you got with priorities assistance and which you have in your inventory, but which you cannot use for the purpose for which you got them.

You may already have the right to use the material under the provisions of § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1. If that section does not let you use material the way you want to, you may ask for permission in the way explained in paragraph (b) of this direction.

(b) Method of applying for authorization. If you need permission to use materials and products as explained in paragraph (a), you should apply by letter, in duplicate, to the nearest field office of the War Production Board. The letter that you write should describe the material you want to use, what you want to use it for, how you got it, and any other relevant circumstances.

(c) When an authorization will be issued. The War Production Board may give you the permission you ask for, but will do so only under the following conditions:

(1) The War Production Board will give you this permission only under the same circumstances and under the same conditions that it would allow you to buy the materials from somebody else under Priorities Regulation 13.

(2) WPB will authorize the use of materials still subject to restrictions only for essential purposes, and only for other uses where the material cannot be used or disposed of for essential purposes.

(d) No authorization that you get under this direction shall constitute an exception to the provisions of any E, L, or M Order or any direction issued under any such order.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 3, Direction 7, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

REPLACEMENT OF DEFECTIVE MATERIALS OR MATERIALS LOST, STOLEN, DAMAGED OR DESTROYED IN TRANSIT

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to PR 3:

(a) Purpose. This direction explains how a supplier must schedule delivery of material covered by a rated order where the material delivered is defective or where it is not received by the purchaser because lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed in transit.

(b) When supplier must replace notice required. When a person places a rated order for material and the material sent him is damaged or defective, or where he does not receive physical delivery of the material because it is lost, stolen, or destroyed in transit, he may promptly notify his supplier and, if the notice is received by the supplier within fifteen days after the material was delivered in the case of damaged or defective material, or within forty-five days after the material was shipped in the case of material lost, stolen or destroyed in transit, the supplier must schedule delivery of the material on the basis of the date the original order was placed. If the notice is received by the supplier after the fifteen or forty-five day period, he must schedule delivery of the material just as though he had received an order for it on the date on which he receives the notice. If the purchaser prefers, he may, instead of notifying the original supplier, place an order for the material with another supplier using the same rating, but the new supplier must treat the order as a new order.

(c) Materials spoiled by purchaser. Materials which are spoiled by the purchaser cannot be replaced under this direction.

(d) What is meant by "in transit." For purposes of this direction, loss, damage, destruction or theft is regarded as happening in transit if it happens before the purchaser receives actual physical delivery, regardless of whether he has title or constructive possession. For example, material in the hands of a carrier is in transit although delivery to the carrier may have given the purchaser title or constructive possession. It is not in transit if the buyer has picked it up from the seller's plant or from the carrier, or if it has been unloaded at his plant. It does not make any difference whether the buyer or the seller has to bear the financial loss.

(e) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(f) Exports. This direction applies to deliveries to territories and possessions of the United States or to Canada, but does not apply to materials exported to any foreign country, other than Canada, unless the materials are lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed while in transit within the United States or unless the defect is discovered before the materials leave the United States. Where material is damaged, lost, stolen or destroyed outside of the United States while in transit to a foreign country, other than Canada, or where the defect is not discovered until after the material has left the United States, the buyer's replacement order must be treated like a new rated order.

(g) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(h) No effect on private contractual rights. This direction has nothing to do with the question of whether the buyer or the seller must bear any financial loss involved as a result of materials being defective or being lost, damaged, destroyed or stolen in transit.

(i) Applications for special assistance. Where a purchaser cannot give his supplier notice within the time limits mentioned in paragraph (b) above, and postponement of delivery will result in a substantial loss of production or delay in operations, he may apply to his Claimant Agency or Industry Division for special assistance. Special assistance will be granted only in exceptional cases where a clear showing of substantial interference with the war effort is made.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

[Priorities Reg. 3, Direction 14]

USE OF RATINGS ASSIGNED BY OTHER GOVERNMENT AGENCIES TO PRIVATE CONTRACTORS FOR CONSTRUCTION

The following direction is issued pursuant to PR 3:

(a) What this direction does. This direction explains how private contractors may use the ratings assigned to them by the Army, Navy and government agencies other than the WPB when the ratings are assigned for construction under the authority of Directive 41. It also explains how ratings for construction may be used when the ratings have been assigned by the Veterans' Administration under the authority of Directive 39.

(b) Definitions. "Construction" as used in this direction means putting up, altering, remodeling, rehabilitating, reconstructing or repairing any structure such as a building, road, bridge, dam, sewer, or the like.

(c) Method of assigning ratings. In the future the Army, Navy and government agencies authorized in Directive 41 will use only Form WPB-542 to assign ratings for construction. Form CMPL-593 Army (Navy) will no longer be issued. The Veterans' Administration assigns ratings for construction by means of a certificate set out in Directive 39.

(d) Materials for which ratings may be used. The ratings assigned for construction to private contractors pursuant to Directives 39 and 41 may be used to get any materials and equipment which are either to be physically incorporated in the project or attached firmly to it, or which are to be consumed in the course of construction of the project (such as form lumber, explosives, and the like).

(e) Materials and equipment for which the ratings may not be used. Private contractors may not use the ratings assigned for construction pursuant to Directives 39 and 41 for any equipment which will neither be physically incorporated in or attached to the project, nor be consumed in the course of construction of the project. For example, a private contractor to whom the Army assigns a rating on Form WPB-542 for a construction project may not use the rating to buy construction machinery.

(f) Cancellation of ratings. A private contractor who has been assigned a rating for a construction project pursuant to Directives 39 and 41 (including ratings assigned on WPB-542 or Form CMPL-593 Army (Navy) and who has applied this rating to an order for equipment which will neither be physically incorporated in the project nor be consumed in the course of the project must immediately either cancel the order or withdraw the rating.

(g) Application and extension of ratings. Ratings assigned for construction under Directives 39 and 41 may be applied and extended subject to paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) above only in accordance with Priorities Regulation 3 and other applicable orders and regulations of the War Production Board.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

ENTWISTLE MFG. CO., INC.

Entwistle Manufacturing Co., Inc. of Rockingham, North Carolina, is a textile mill engaged in the manufacture of cotton fabrics. On or about the middle of the month of May, 1945, the Entwistle Manufacturing Co., Inc. received through its New York selling agents, Joshua L. Baily & Company, from M. Lowenstein and Sons, Inc., New York converters, two purchase orders, one for 498,889 yards of 38½"—60 x 48—6.25, and the other for 190,945 yards of 38½"—64 x 56—5.50 of print cloth in the gray, both bearing a preference rating of AA-1 for May and June, 1945 deliveries. Entwistle Manufacturing Co., Inc. refused to accept and fill the orders and on June 1, 1945, its selling agents, Joshua L. Baily & Company, notified M. Lowenstein and Sons, Inc. in writing of the refusal and specifically rejected the purchase orders for reasons other than those set forth in Priorities Regulation No. 1. These acts constituted wilful violations of Priorities Regulation No. 1 and have interfered with the controls established by the War Production Board for the allocation of critical materials. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, that:

§ 1010.906 Suspension Order No. S-906. (a) Unless otherwise authorized in writing by the War Production Board, Entwistle Manufacturing Co., Inc., its successors and assigns, shall not for a period of three months from the effective date of this order deliver print cloth in the gray or otherwise of 38½—60 x 48—6.25 yard per pound, or print cloth of the same construction of pro rata widths or weights, except upon purchase orders bearing preference ratings of AA-3 or higher or on purchase orders bearing CC or MM ratings, and except that it may deliver such print cloth upon rated export purchase orders given in conformity with the provisions of paragraph (d) (1) of General Conservation Order M-317, as amended and in accordance with the obligation imposed by paragraph (c) in Distribution Schedule 2 of Supplementary Order M-317-a as amended, and except that the provisions of the order shall not apply to seconds, shorts, remnants or rags produced in the normal course of manufacture referred to in paragraph (d) of Distribution Schedule 2 of M-317-a as amended.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Entwistle Manufacturing Co., Inc., its successors and assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on October 1, 1945.

[General Conservation Order M-317, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

COTTON TEXTILE DISTRIBUTION

Section 3290.115 General Conservation Order M-317 is amended to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of cotton textiles and materials for making cotton textiles for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3290.115 General Conservation Order M-317—(a) Definitions. In this order (which term includes orders supplementary to this order):

(1) "Cotton textiles" means the following products, containing 50% or more by weight of cotton or cotton waste, or a combination of the two.

(i) Woven and braided fabrics, whether gray, original mill or regular finish, bleached, dyed or printed and the following cotton products: bedsheets, pillow cases, blankets, towels, diapers, face cloths, table "linens" and fish netting and

(ii) Yarns, whether gray, bleached, colored mercerized, glazed, polished, single, plied, cabled or braided, including thread, twines and cordage (e. g. tying, sail, seine, etc., twine, rope, sash cord, etc.) and including any of the foregoing which may be spun on roving, ring, mule or converted twister spindles.

"Cotton textiles" does not include:

Cotton duck.

Blankets or blanketing containing 25 percent or more by weight of wool;

Fabrics (other than blankets or blanketing) or yarns containing wool produced on the woolen or worsted system.

(2) "Producer" means any manufacturer who makes cotton textiles in the United States.

(b) How ratings for cotton textiles are to be applied or extended. Preference ratings shall be applied and extended as provided in Priorities Regulation 3. The standard certification described in Priorities Regulation 7 may be used in applying or extending the rating but the provisions of this paragraph must also be complied with.

(1) Cotton textiles for export. (i) Each person who places a rated order for cotton textiles (for clothing manufactured from cotton textiles) for export, must place upon the purchase order a certificate in substantially the following form:

These cotton textiles will be exported, or will replace in inventory to the extent allowed under Priorities Regulation 3, cotton textiles which have been exported within 90 days.

In addition, for exports to Canada, the Canadian Cotton Administrators' Serial Number, or the WPB Form and Case Number must be added, and for exports to other places the United States Treasury Procurement Division Contract Number, or the Export License Number must be added. These provisions do not apply to orders for cotton textiles (or clothing made from cotton textiles) for direct or ultimate delivery to the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration.

(ii) A preference rating assigned for cotton textiles on an export license which has not been applied or extended to an order accepted by a producer or made the subject of a WPB scheduling direction at the end of six months from the date of issuance of a license is revoked.

(iii) Any person who gets any cotton textiles (or clothing manufactured from cotton textiles) with a preference rating assigned for export must, if possible, use the material so obtained for the purpose for which the rating was assigned in preference to the filling of other or higher rated orders. This rule is an exception to the provisions of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation 1 which require the filling of higher rated orders in preference to lower rated orders.

(2) Cotton textiles for domestic use. In all other cases a person applying or extending a rating for a cotton textile shall place upon the purchase order a certificate in substantially the following form:

This rating has been assigned on Form ------ No. ------- (Insert the WPB Form number and Serial number.)

These provisions do not apply to the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration on their direct purchase orders.

(3) Other certification not required. When the above is complied with, the requirements of M-328 are met and it is unnecessary to use any other notation.

(c) Restrictions relating to yarn or fiber. No person owning or controlling spinning machinery shall use any preference rating which was assigned, applied or extended for cotton textiles, in order to obtain any yarn from another producer except to the extent authorized by the War Production Board, upon his showing, on Form WPB-2842, that his own spinning is insufficient or unsuitable.

(d) Advance orders. No person is required to accept any rated order for cotton textiles calling for delivery more than 90 days after the receipt of the order, except from the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration.

(e) Exports. No person shall deliver for export without a preference rating or specific individual direction any cotton textiles, except woven or braided fabrics 12" or less wide, remnants (pieces shorter than ten yards) and rags (pieces shorter than two yards commonly sold by the pound).

(f) Allocation. The War Production Board may assign preference ratings for or allocate and direct deliveries of cotton textiles pursuant to application on Form WPB-2842.

(g) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise provided herein, this order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board.

(h) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order or of Supplementary Order M-317A shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provisions appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(i) Reports. All persons operating spindles for the production of cotton yarn of any kind shall file with the War Production Board, at the times specified in the reporting form, reports on Form WPB-658-E, giving the information required. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(j) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order (including Supplementary Order M-317A), or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priorities control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(k) Communications. All reports to be filed, appeals and other communications concerning this order should be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-317.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Order M-328B, Direction 6]

SPECIAL RULES FOR M-328B PROGRAMS, (SCHEDULES C, D, J AND K) FOR THE FOURTH QUARTER OF 1945

The following direction is issued pursuant to Order M-328B:

1. This direction applies only to ratings assigned under Schedules C, D, J and K of Order M-328B.

2. The purpose of this direction is to limit the use of ratings assigned under Order M-328B, to require the filing of a report by manufacturers participating in the programs and to require the use of a special rating extension form on CC rated orders placed under the M-328B programs.

3. Manufacturers participating in the M-323B programs for the fourth quarter of 1945 are currently receiving. Form WPB-3732 which they filed under the order. This form authorizes them to use CC ratings to obtain delivery of the quantity and kind of material indicated on the form. This material is to be used for the manufacture of low-cost apparel under the schedules of Order M-328B.

4. So that the War Production Board can assist manufacturers in obtaining their full authorization of rated yardage, it must have prompt information on rated orders accepted and rated orders not accepted. Manufacturers are therefore asked to serve rated orders for their entire authorization before October 8, 1945, and they are required to file Form WPB-4342 (report form) on or before October 8, 1945. This form gives the War Production Board information needed to assist the programs.

5. In order to keep his CC rating authorization in force, each manufacturer must (1) serve CC rated orders before October 8, 1945, for the entire fourth quarter authorization which he received on Form WPB-3732 and (2) file Form WPB-4342, (report form), on or before October 8, 1945. If a manufacturer does those two things and if his rated orders are rejected, he may apply at any time to the nearest field office of the War Production Board for assistance in getting the rated orders accepted, and he may use the CC ratings to obtain the authorized material from other suppliers even after October 8, 1945. However, if a manufacturer has not both served CC rated orders for his entire authorization, as stated above, and also filed Form WPB-4342 (report form) by October 8, 1945, he may not apply the CC rating to any orders after that date.

In any event, every manufacturer receiving an authorization on Form WPB-3732 is required to file Form WPB-4342 (report form) by October 8, 1945, as explained above.

6. The restrictions in paragraph (4) above on the use of ratings after October 8, 1945, apply only to manufacturers. Any person receiving a CC rated order from a manufacturer after October 8, 1945, shall assume that the manufacturer is not prohibited by this direction from using the rating unless he knows or has reason to believe that the manufacturer has failed to comply with the requirements of this direction.

7. Notwithstanding any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, no person may use, apply or extend any CC rating which he knows or has reason to believe was assigned on Form WPB-3732 under Order M-328B unless his purchase order is accompanied by Form WPB-4343 (rating extension form) prepared in accordance with the instructions thereon. If a supplier of finished fabrics receives and accepts a rated order for fabrics covered by Schedule C, J or K of Order M-328B accompanied by Form WPB-4343 and does not extend the CC rating he must immediately send the form to the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., instead of sending it to his supplier. The form must be properly filled out on its face and the reverse side must contain the name of the producers of fabric who have accepted orders from him bearing the special certification of Schedule C, J or K and must state the fabric and the total quantity purchased on such certificates from the producers.

[Conservation Order M-328B, Direction 7]

SET-ASIDES OF COTTON FABRICS FOR FOURTH QUARTER 1945 PROGRAMS UNDER SCHEDULES C AND D OF ORDER M-328B

The following direction is issued pursuant to Conservation Order M-328B:

(a) This direction applies only to the deliveries of fabrics under ratings assigned under Schedules C and D of Order M-328B.

(b) The purpose of this direction is to establish set-asides of the particular fabrics for which CC ratings are assigned in Schedules C and D of Order M-328B and to establish rules for the acceptance of orders by those persons subject to the set-aside provisions.

(c) Every producer of any cotton fabrics listed in the fabric set-aside table, in the gray state, whether he sells it in the gray or finished state or uses it to manufacture civilian items, shall deliver or use, during the fourth quarter of 1945, a yardage of that cotton fabric at least equal to the percentage shown in the fabric set-aside table of his production during that period to fill either orders bearing CC ratings assigned under Order M-328B or orders bearing the following certification (the term "orders" includes orders between branches or divisions of a company as well as orders from other companies):

"The undersigned certifies, subject to the criminal penalties of Section 35 (A) of the U. S. Criminal Code, that he will deliver during the fourth quarter of 1945, to fill orders rated CC under Schedules C and D of Order M-328B, a yardage of finished cotton fabric of the type covered by this purchase order equal to at least (1) all unfinished cotton gray fabric of that type to which he takes title during that period on orders bearing this certificate, or (II) --[1] % of all unfinished cotton fabric of that type to which he takes title during the same period, whichever is greater."

(d) A producer of cotton fabric is not required to deliver or use, in the fourth quarter of 1945, to fill such rated or certified orders, of any type of cotton fabric listed on the fabric set-aside table, more than a yardage of his fourth quarter production equal to the listed percentage for that fabric. After a producer has accepted orders bearing the certification described above, he may schedule them for delivery as if they bore CC ratings.

(e) (1) Every supplier of finished fabric making the certification described in paragraph (c) above must deliver finished cotton fabrics during the fourth quarter of 1945 in accordance with its terms. In establishing the percentage for the particular fabric, the supplier of finished fabric may take into consideration actual processing loss on material delivered in the fourth quarter. For example, a finished fabric supplier has an actual processing shrinkage of 5% on a particular cotton fabric delivered by him in the fourth quarter of 1945, and for which the set-aside percentage is 20%. If he takes title to 100,000 yards of the particular cotton gray fabric in the fourth quarter his 20% is based on 95,000 yards which is 19,000 yards of finished fabric.

(2) No supplier of finished cotton fabric is required to accept orders rated CC under Schedules C and D of M-328B for a greater yardage of any type of finished cotton fabric listed on the fabric set-aside table for delivery in the fourth quarter of 1945 than a yardage equal to the listed percentage of the unfinished cotton gray fabric of that type to which he takes title during that period, or a yardage equal to all unfinished cotton gray fabric of that type to which he takes title during that period on orders bearing the certification in paragraph (c) above, whichever is greater.

(3) After a supplier of finished fabrics uses the certificate set forth in paragraph (c) on any of his purchase orders to his suppliers, he must not extend on orders for the particular cotton fabric covered by the certificate any CC ratings which he knows or has reason to believe were assigned under Schedule C or D of Order M-328B.

(f) (1) If a supplier of gray or finished cotton fabric receives orders bearing CC ratings assigned under Schedule C or D of M-328B before October 3, 1945, he may hold them until that date before determining whether he is required to accept them. However, he must not actually reject any such CC orders before that date. If, on October 3, 1945 he has received such rated orders and orders certified under paragraph (c) above for more than the yardage which he is required by paragraph (c) to deliver on such rated or certified orders, he may then reject any CC rated orders previously served on him to the extent of the excess. This paragraph (f) (1) does not affect AA-3 purchase orders which have been accepted and which may be re-rated CC before October 1, 1945, in accordance with Direction 18 to Order M-328.

(2 Any purchaser who is unable to get his rated orders accepted, should notify the War Production Board.

(g) This paragraph explains how a finished goods supplier who is unable to get CC rated orders to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) above may obtain relief from that requirement.

(1) He must send two copies of Form WPB-4351 by registered mail to the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., within the time stated below. This form must be completely filled out in accordance with its instructions. Copies of the form may be obtained from any War Production Board Field Office.

(2) Form WPB-4351 may not be filed before November 1, 1945.

(3) Seven days after the mailing of Form WPB-4351 in accordance with the rules above, if the War Production Board does not otherwise direct in writing, the finished goods supplier seeking relief may, to the extent that he is unable to obtain orders rated CC under M-328B, disregard the requirements that he deliver during the fourth quarter the yardage of finished fabric specified in paragraph (c).

(h) The special rules of this Direction for the handling of ratings apply only to CC ratings assigned under Schedules C and D of Order M-328B. Nothing in this Direction affects CC ratings assigned on Form. WPB-541A under PR-28, or MM ratings.

Issued this 28th day of September 1945.

Recording Secretary.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1382—HARDWOOD LUMBER

[MPR 155,[1] Incl. Amdt. 1–17]

CENTRAL HARDWOOD LUMBER

This compilation of Maximum Price Regulation 155 includes Amendment 17, effective October 2, 1945. The text added or amended by Amendment 17 is underscored. Deletions, redesignations and changes in tables are indicated by notes.

Maximum prices for hardwood lumber produced in the Kentucky and Tennessee portions of the Central hardwoods area were established in Price Schedule No. 97 which included these portions of the Central area within the Southern hardwoods area. In the judgment of the Price Administrator the prices of hardwood lumber produced in the other portions of the Central hardwoods area have risen and are threatening further to rise to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and the Price Administrator is of the opinion that the purposes of said act can be better accomplished by a separate Regulation for hardwood lumber produced in the Central hardwoods area. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of Central hardwood lumber prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this Regulation.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this Regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said act. A statement of the considerations[2] involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected.

[Preamble amended by Supplementary Order 61, 8 F.R. 12552, effective 9–11–43]

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1,[3] issued by the Office of Price Administration, Maximum Price Regulation No. 155 is hereby issued.

§ 1382.51 Maximum prices for Central hardwood lumber. (a) On and after June 1, 1942, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any Central hardwood lumber, where shipment originates at the mill rather than at a distribution yard, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business any Central hardwood lumber so shipped, at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in this regulation; and no person subject to this Maximum Price Regulation 155 shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. The provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation 155 shall not be applicable to retail sales as defined in § 1482.58 (a) (10). Such retail sales shall be subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation.[4] Further, the provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation 155 shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries of Central hardwood lumber to a purchaser, if, prior to June 1, 1942, such lumber had been received by a carrier, other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller for shipment to such purchaser.

It shall not be treated, under any provision of any price regulation or any interpretation thereof, as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price."]

[NOTE: 2nd Revised Supplementary Order No. 34 (10 F.R. 2014) permits special packing expenses to be added to maximum prices on sales to procurement agencies of the United States.]

§ 1382.52 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those set forth in this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.

[§ 1382.52 amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

§ 1382.53 Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of shipment; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after shipment. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price or to give the authorization.

The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

[§ 1382.53 amended by Am. 4, 8 F.R. 3056, effective 3–16–43, and Supplementary Order 50, 8 F.R. 10568, effective 7–27–43, and Am. 1 thereto, 8 F.R. 14310, effective 10–26–43]

§ 1382.54 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 155 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to Central hardwood lumber, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited:

(1) making credit terms more onerous than those in effect or available to the purchaser on October 1, 1941;

(2) unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard;

(3) unreasonably refusing to ship an item of lumber except in a small quantity which entitles the seller to a premium;

(4) unreasonably refusing to ship lumber on standard grades and in grade-rule range widths and lengths;

(5) falsely or wrongly grading or invoicing lumber;

(6) grading as a special grade lumber which normally is graded by the seller as a standard grade;

(7) making charges for delivery which exceed the actual cost to the seller of such delivery (except as provided in paragraph (g) of § 1382.61).

(8) Selling graded hardwood lumber at an average price.

(9) Selling hardwood lumber priced on an ungraded basis, or priced on grade solely on the basis of buyer's inspection as delivered, except as provided in § 1382.67.

[Subparagraphs (8) and (9) added by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(c) It is unlawful for any person to charge, receive or pay a commission for the service of procuring (including buying, selling, or locating lumber, or for any related service such as "expediting") which does not involve actual physical handling of lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of lumber which is higher than the maximum price of the lumber. For purposes of this regulation, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid for the procurement of lumber. This prohibition has no application to the case of a bona fide employer-employee relationship where the employee serves only one employer, insofar as lumber procurement is concerned, and where the compensation paid by the employer is a fixed salary and is not based directly or indirectly on the quantity, price or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

[Paragraph (c) added by Supplementary Order 37, 8 F.R. 2192, effective 2–23–43; amended by Supplementary Order 77, 8 F.R. 14310, effective 10–23–43]

§ 1382.55 Records and reports. (a) Every seller and purchaser subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 155 making sales or deliveries or purchases of Central hardwood lumber to the value of $500.00 or more in any one month, after May 31, 1942 shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than two years a complete and accurate record of each sale or delivery or purchase of Central hardwood lumber, showing the date of purchase or sale, the name and address of the buyer and seller, the quantities and grades purchased or sold, and the price paid or received.

(b) Such persons shall keep such other records in addition to or in place of the records required in paragraph (a) of this section and shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as that Office may from time to time require or permit.

§ 1382.56 Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 155 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Am. 3, 7 F.R. 8385, effective 10–21–42]

(b) Persons who have evidence of any violation of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 155 or any price schedule, regulation or order issued by the Office of Price Administration or of any acts or practices which constitute such a violation are urged to communicate with the nearest field or regional office of the Office of Price Administration or its principal office in Washington, D. C.

§ 1382.56a Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[5] licensing all persons who make sales under price control are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation or schedule. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

[§ 1382.56a added by Am. 3, 7 F.R. 8385, effective 10–21–42; amended by Supplementary Order 72, 8 F.R. 13244, effective 10–1–43]

[§ 1382.57 amended by Supplementary Order 26, 7 F.R. 8948, effective 11–4–42]

In treating with petitions for amendment or adjustment, consideration will not be given to log and bolt costs which are higher than the applicable maximum purchase prices for logs and bolts established in Revised Maximum Price Regulation 161[6]—West Coast Logs, or Maximum Price Regulation 313[7]—Prime Grade Hardwood Logs and Maximum Price Regulation 348[8]—Logs and Bolts, or any revision or amendment of these regulations. This rule shall be followed regardless of whether the petitioner gets logs and bolts by purchasing them, logging his own standing timber, contracting for the logging of his own standing timber, or any other means. All petitions in any way based on the cost of logs or bolts must show the actual cost to the petitioner of logs and bolts received at his plant during the three months immediately prior to filing the petition, and the cost which would have been incurred by the petitioner if all of these logs and bolts had been purchased by him at ceiling prices. To figure these ceiling prices the petitioner should refer to the regulation which fixes the maximum prices for purchases and sales of the kinds of logs and bolts received at his plant.

[NOTE: Procedural Regulation No. 6 (7 F.R. 5087, 5665) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment of maximum prices for commodities or services under Government contracts or subcontracts. Revised Supplementary Order No. 9 (8 F.R. 6175) makes the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 6 applicable to all price regulations, with the exception of those which expressly prohibit such applications, and certain specific regulations listed in Revised Supplementary Order No. 9.]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 28 (7 F.R. 9619) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment or petitions for amendment based on a pending wage or salary increase requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board.]

NOTES ON WHITE OAK OR RED OAK—STRUCTURAL STOCK OR SOUND SQUARE EDGE

Random Widths; in 2", 3" and 4" thicknesses—$43.00.

Free of Heart; in 2", 3", and 4" thicknesses—add $6.00 to maximum price for same thickness, width and length in above schedule.

Deduction for mixed hardwoods. For Mixed Hardwoods—Structural Stock or Sound Square Edge, deduct $4.00 from the maximum price for White Oak or Red Oak—Structural Stock or Sound Square Edge in the same size in above schedule.

(5) Inspecting, grading and measuring after kiln drying: 5 per cent of the f. o. b. mill price of the lumber in a rough air dried condition. This addition may be made only where the seller performs all three of these services, at the request of the purchaser, after kiln drying.

(6) End-racking or band sawing: No addition.

(7) Where Central hardwood lumber is kiln dried or milled for the seller by a custom kiln or milling establishment and the custom kiln or milling establishment is not owned or operated by or connected with the sawmill, the seller may add the actual cost of the kiln drying or milling, under circumstances permitted in, and in amounts not greater than, the maximum prices established by the applicable regulation covering custom kiln drying and or milling services.

[Subparagraph (7) added by Am. 6, 8 F.R. 5479, effective 4–29–43 and amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(e) The following additions per 1,000 feet of Central hardwood lumber may be charged where the purchaser (or purchaser's yard, does not necessarily mean that green lumber has been shipped, but in case of dispute any lumber which weighs 25% or more in excess of the air-dried weight as published in the Rules for the Measurement and Inspection of Hardwood Lumber, issued by the National Hardwood Lumber Association, January 1, 1943, or for weights filed with the Office of Price Administration by the individual shippers, shall be considered to be "green".

Any purchaser who accepts "green" lumber at prices applicable to "dry" lumber is guilty of violation of the regulation to the same extent as the seller.

[Paragraph (f) added; former paragraphs (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j) redesignated (g), (h), (i), (j) and (k), respectively, by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(g) For lumber sold in accordance with the provisions of § 1382.61 (b), 1382.61 (c), or § 1382.67 (b) a delivered price in excess of the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in the applicable section may be charged, consisting of such maximum prices, plus the transportation charges set forth below: Provided, That the invoice contains the point of origin of shipment, the destination, the applicable rail or truck rate, or, if shipment is by private truck, the amount added for transportation, and the words, "Direct mill shipment."

[Above paragraph amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(1) Common or contract carrier. When shipment is by common or contract carrier, the following rules govern:

(i) When estimated weights are used, the rate times the estimated weight is the proper transportation charge. Estimated weights may be used only if they have been filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. The weights must be the weights used by the seller during the period October 1 to October 15, 1941. The estimated weight must be the weight for the exact kind of lumber actually shipped; for example, green weights may not be used if dry lumber is shipped. The transportation charge may be evened out to the nearest quarter-dollar per M.

(ii) When estimated weights are not used, the amount added for transportation must not be more than the amount actually paid to the common or contract carrier, evened out to the nearest quarter-dollar per M.

(2) Private truck. When shipment is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the amount added for transportation may not be more than the actual cost to the seller of delivery by truck; and, no matter what the actual cost is, the amount added may not be more than the railroad charge at the carload rate for the most similar haul. However, if this railroad charge is less than $1.50, and if the actual cost of delivery is more than $1.50, a transportation charge of $1.50 may be made.

(3) Trucking to railhead. When a truck haul precedes rail shipment, as when a mill located away from a railhead hauls lumber by truck to the railhead, no addition may be made for the truck haul. However, in the following two cases a mill may apply for special permission to make an addition:

(i) Where the mill was located away from rail connections because it specialized in water-borne lumber, and where shortage of shipping has forced it to operate by rail;

(ii) Where a mill's rail connection has been abandoned since September 5, 1941.

[Former subparagraph (ii) revoked, former subparagraph (iii) redesignated (ii) by Am. 8, 8 F.R. 13007, effective 9–28–43]

The application should be made by letter to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. The addition may not be made on quotations or sales until permission has been received.

(4) Truck delivery after rail haul. When truck delivery follows a rail haul, the actual cost of truck delivery may be added.

(5) All-truck haul. When an all-truck haul ends in delivery to the job site, no special addition may be made above the charges provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, since in this case delivery to the job site involves no extra expense.

[Paragraph (g), formerly (f) amended by Am. 4, 8 F.R. 3056, effective 3–16–43]

(h) Where the purchaser requests an inspection by, and an inspection certificate issued by, the National Hardwood Lumber Association, the seller may make an added charge which does not exceed the inspection fees and expenses charged by the Association to the seller and shown on the certificate.

(i) Combination grades. Graded hardwood lumber sold on combination (special inspection) grades for which no maximum prices have been established in this regulation, such as No. 1 Common and Better, Log run (full run of the logs, excluding all grades below No. 2 Common) and Mill Run (full run of the logs, No. 3 Common and Better) may not be sold at above the maximum price for the lowest grade included in the combination grades. For example, the maximum price for Log Run (No. 2 Common and Better) is that established for No. 2 Common for the species sold.

Of course, the different grades included can be quoted and invoiced separately on the individual footage and price for those grades.

[Paragraph (i), formerly (h), amended by Am. 7, 8 F.R. 9417, effective 7–14–43; redesignated and amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(j) The maximum prices established in this Appendix shall not be increased by any charges for the extension of credit and shall be decreased for prompt payment to the same extent that the sale price would have been decreased on October 1, 1941, in a sale of a similar nature to a purchaser of the same class as involved in the transaction subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 155.

(k) Export sales of Central hardwood lumber are subject to the provisions of the Maximum Export Price Regulation.[10]

[Paragraph (k), formerly (j) amended by Am. 7, 8 F.R. 9417, effective 7–14–43]

The above additions in the tables in subparagraphs (1) and (2) shall be permitted only on the following conditions:

1. The purchaser's original inquiry or order covering the lumber desired must specifically state the "special" widths and/or lengths required. This original inquiry or order must be made a part of the seller's order file covering the particular transaction. This order file must also contain whatever correspondence passed between the purchaser and the seller in the particular transaction, together with a copy of the order as finally entered. In other words, this order file must show that the purchaser has not accepted lumber of specifications other than originally desired and that the seller is not in violation of any of the provisions of Section 1382.54—Evasion—of this regulation.

2. A shipment of any "special" item, the price for which includes any addition provided for in this subdivision, must contain no other stock of the same species, grade, and thickness and each special item must be invoiced at only one price. According to the National Hardwood Lumber Association Rules for the Measurement and Inspection of Hardwood Lumber, all width and length specifications are inclusive.

For example:

a. A shipment against a "special" item specification, for instance for "6" and wider", or "8' and longer", or a combined width and length such as "8" and wider, 8' and longer", must contain no widths and/or lengths under the minimums specified and must contain all standard widths and/or lengths for the grade over the minimums specified.

b. A shipment against a "special" item specification priced under this paragraph (a) must not contain, or be invoiced to show, any other item in the same species of the same grade and thickness.

Example: 15,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak, 8" and wider, standard lengths, could not be shipped as

9,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak, 8" widths, standard lengths @ $69.00, and the various quantities of the other wider widths in the shipment billed as such at the "special" item prices in this Section.

c. A shipment against a standard grade specification must not contain, or be invoiced to show, any "special" item of the same species, grade, and thickness which is priced under this subparagraph.

Example: An order for 15,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak could not be shipped as:

10,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak @ $61.00

5,000' BM 8" and wider @ $69.00

NOTE: In each case the order specification is all inclusive with respect to the stock to be shipped.

[Above note added and subparagraph (1) and (2) headnotes amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(b) Additions, adjustments, and restrictions. The additions, adjustments, and restrictions provided in paragraphs (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k) of § 1382.61, Appendix A, shall apply to the prices established in this § 1382.62, Appendix B.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(c) Effect on special prices. The maximum prices contained in this Appendix B supersede the maximum prices for like material authorized for individual sellers under the special pricing provisions of this regulation.

[§ 1382.62 added by Am. 7, 8 F.R. 9417, effective 7–14–43. Former § 1382.62 revoked by Am. 7]

§ 1382.63 Appendix C: Maximum prices for North Central hardwood lumber in grades, specifications, and extras not specifically priced—(a) Application of Appendix C. (1) North Central hardwood lumber sold on special grades or specifications or with special services or other extras not specifically mentioned in Appendices A and B (§§ 1382.61 and 1382.62), is nevertheless subject to this regulation. The maximum price for such lumber shall be determined in accordance with the formula in paragraph (b) below.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the term "North Central hardwood lumber" shall include all items of lumber in the species set forth in § 1382.58 (a) (3), but shall not include the following items (the term "items" includes specifications, workings, and/or extras).

(i) Glued stock.
(ii) Moulding.
(iii) Shiplap.
(iv) Risers, step treads, thresholds, handrails.
(v) Flooring.
(vi) Switch, cross, and mine ties.
(vii) Mine materials.
(viii) Small dimension stock.
(x) Navy oak ship stock (see Maximum Price Regulation No. 281[11]).

[Subparagraph (v) deleted and former (vi) through (xi) redesignated (v) through (x), respectively, by Am. 17, effective 10–2–45]

(b) Maximum prices for grades, specifications and extras not specifically priced. (1) North Central hardwood lumber, sold on special grades or specifications or with special services or other extras not specifically mentioned in Appendix A, is nevertheless subject to this regulation. The maximum price is a price which bears the October 1941 relation to the most comparable standard item. The seller should find his price difference between the special item and this most comparable standard item in October 1941 or the first month before that in which he had sales of both items, or if this is impossible, the price differential he would have used. This difference is then added to or subtracted from the maximum price of the comparable standard grade, and the result is the maximum price for the special grade. This price must be reported to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. on OPA Form 255:1 revised, given in subparagraph (3) below. It may be ordered reduced, if it is found excessive. But if the price is not disapproved within 30 days of the receipt of the report, it is approved. Applications for approval of maximum prices for special grades and items under this section will be considered only when accompanied by (i) a true copy of the order or of customer's inquiry on the basis of which the application has been submitted; and (ii) a statement certified to be true by the purchaser or prospective purchaser to the effect that none of the grades specifically priced in the regulation will serve the purpose for which the stock is intended to be used, which purpose is to be stated; that it has been his custom to purchase lumber on such special specifications. Approval of the price will be conditional on a finding that the purpose for which the special grade item is to be used is classified by the War Production Board as essential to the war effort. Prices for such special grades or items, when approved, will be based on the price differential previously established between the particular special item requirement and the related grade rule specification.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 11, 8 F.R. 16740, effective 12-17-43]

(2) A seller using this pricing section can go ahead with delivery of the lumber and collection of the price he has computed or requested. But he must tell the buyer that the price is subject to revision within the thirty-day period, and, if the price is ordered reduced, must refund any excess over the final approved price.

(c) Maximum prices for dunnage. (1) The maximum rail-delivered price for 1,000 feet of dunnage lumber shall be as follows:

Delivered at:	Maximum delivered price
Baltimore, Md	$32.00
Beaumont, Tex	22.00
Boston, Mass	36.00
Charleston, S. C	23.00
Corpus Christi, Tex	23.00
Galveston, Tex	23.00
Gulfport, Miss	22.00
Houston, Tex	23.00
Jacksonville, Fla	23.00
Lake Charles, La	22.00
Morgan City, La	22.00
Newark, N. J	34.00
New Orleans, La	22.00
New York, N. Y	34.00
Pensacola, Fla	23.00
Philadelphia, Pa	33.00
Port Arthur, Tex	23.00
Portsmouth, Va	26.00
Savannah, Ga	23.00
Tampa, Fla	25.00

(2) The maximum price for dunnage delivered at the above ports by water shall be the rail-delivered price as above set forth less the difference between the rail transportation charge from the point of shipment to the particular port, computed by multiplying the applicable rail rate by the weight of the lumber based on 3500 pounds per M'BM, and the actual water transportation charge from the point of shipment to the particular port.

(3) The term "dunnage" as used above means lumber of any hardwood species, of standard widths and lengths, but poorer in quality than the lowest standard grade in the particular species.

[Paragraph (c) added and former (c), (d) and (e) redesignated (d), (e) and (f) by Am. 9, 8 F.R. 14343, effective 10-20-43]

(d) Deduction for green. For lumber shipped in a "green" condition, deduct from the maximum prices for air-dried lumber established in this Appendix "A", 10 percent of the maximum price for rough, air-dried material in the same specifications.

This deduction shall not apply to special sawn timbers, Tough Ash lumber, or to lumber customarily used without air seasoning, but it shall apply to any lumber which requires further air seasoning by the purchaser before being placed in the kiln for kiln-drying, or before fabrication if not kiln-dried.

The mere fact that the lumber is not used immediately, but is stored on the purchaser's yard, does not necessarily mean that green lumber has been shipped, but in case of dispute any lumber which weighs 25% or more in excess of the air-dried weight as published in the Rules for the Measurement and Inspection of Hardwood Lumber, issued by the National Hardwood Lumber Association January 1, 1943, or for weights filed with the Office of Price Administration by the individual shippers, shall be considered to be "green."

Any purchaser who accepts "green" lumber at prices applicable to "dry" lumber is guilty of violation of the regulation to the same extent as the seller.

[Paragraph (d) formerly (c) amended by Am. 7, 8 F.R. 9417, effective 7-14-43 and Am. 9]

(e) The following additions per 1,000 feet of South Central hardwood lumber may be charged for the specified treatments and workings:

The above additions in the tables in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) shall be permitted only on the following conditions.

1. The purchaser's original inquiry or order covering the lumber desired must specifically state the "special" widths and/or lengths required. This original inquiry or order must be made a part of the seller's order file covering the particular transaction. This order file must also contain whatever correspondence passed between the purchaser and the seller in the particular transaction, together with a copy of the order as finally entered. In other words, this order file must show that the purchaser has not accepted lumber of specifications other than originally desired and that the seller is not in violation of any of the provisions of Section 1382.54—Evasion—of this regulation.

2. A shipment of any "special" item the price for which includes any addition provided for in this subdivision must contain no other stock of the same species, grade, and thickness and each special item must be invoiced at only one price. According to the National Hardwood Lumber Association Rules for the Measurement and Inspection of Hardwood Lumber, all width and length specifications are inclusive. For example:

a. A shipment against a "special" item specification, for instance for "8" and wider", or "8' and longer", or a combined width and length such as "8" and wider, 8' and longer", must contain no widths and/or lengths under the minimums specified and must contain all standard widths and/or lengths for the grade over the minimums specified.

b. A shipment against a "special" item specification priced under this paragraph (a) must not contain, or be invoiced to show any other item in the same species of the same grade and thickness.

Example: 15,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak, 8" and wider, standard lengths could not be shipped as

9,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak 8" widths, standard lengths @ $59.00, and the various quantities of the other wider widths in the shipment billed as such at the "special" item prices in this Section.

c. A shipment against a standard grade specification must not contain, or be invoiced to show any "special" item of the same species, grade and thickness which is priced under this subparagraph.

Example: An order for 15,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak could not be shipped as

10,000' BM 4/4" No. 1 Common and Selects Plain Red Oak @ $54.00

5,000' BM 8" and wider at $59.00

NOTE: In each case the order specification is all inclusive with respect to the stock to be shipped.

[Above note added and headnote of subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) amended by Am. 17, effective 10-2-45]

(b) Additions, adjustments and restrictions. The additions, adjustments and restrictions provided in paragraphs (d), and (e) of § 1382.64, Appendix D, and in paragraphs (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j) and (k) of § 1382.61, Appendix A, shall apply to the prices established in this Appendix E.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Am. 17, effective 10-2-45]

(c) Effect on special prices. The maximum prices contained in this Appendix E supersede the maximum prices for like material authorized for individual sellers under the special pricing provisions of this regulation.

[§ 1382.65 added by Am. 7, 8 F.R. 9417, effective 7-14-43. Former § 1382.65 revoked by Am. 7]

§ 1382.66 Appendix F: Maximum prices for South Central hardwood lumber in "non-standard special" grades or items—(a) Application of Appendix F. (1) This section shall apply to South Central hardwood lumber which is sold on special specifications not covered by Appendices D and E (§§ 1382.64 and 1382.65).

(2) For the purposes of this section, the term "South Central hardwood lumber" shall include all items of lumber in the species set forth in § 1382.58 (a) (4) but shall not include the following items: (The term "items" includes specifications, workings, services, and/or extras).

(i) Glued stock.
(ii) Moulding.
(iii) Shiplap.
(iv) Risers, step treads, thresholds, handrails.
(v) Flooring.
(vi) Switch, cross, and mine ties.
(vii) Mine material.
(viii) Small dimension stock.
(x) Navy oak ship stock (see Maximum Price Regulation No. 281).

[Subparagraph (v) deleted and former subparagraphs (vi) through (xi) redesignated (v) through (x), respectively, by Am. 17, effective 10-2-45]

(b) Maximum prices for grades, specifications and extras not specifically priced. (1) South Central hardwood lumber, sold on special grades or specifications or with special services or other extras not specifically mentioned in Appendix D, is nevertheless subject to this regulation. The maximum price is a price which bears the October 1941 relation to the most comparable standard item. The seller should find his price difference between the special item and this most comparable standard item in October 1941 or the first month before that in which he had sales of both items, or if this is impossible, the price differential he would have used. This difference is then added to or subtracted from the maximum price of the comparable standard grade, and the result is the maximum price for the special grade. This price must be reported to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. on OPA Form 255:2 revised, given in subparagraph (3) below. It may be ordered reduced, if it is found excessive. But if the price is not disapproved within 30 days of the receipt of the report, it is approved. Applications for approval of maximum prices for special grades and items under this section will be considered only when accompanied by (i) a true copy of the order or of customer's inquiry on the basis of which the application has been submitted; and (ii) a statement certified to be true by the purchaser or prospective purchaser to the effect that none of the grades specifically priced in the regulation will serve the purpose for which the stock is intended to be used, which purpose is to be stated; that it has been his custom to purchase lumber on such special specifications. Approval of the price will be conditional on a finding that the purpose for which the special grade item is to be used is classfied by the War production Board as essential to the war effort. Prices for such special grades or items, when approved, will be based on the price differential previously established between the particular special item requirement and the related grade rule specification.

[Subparagraph (1) amended by Am. 11, 8 F.R. 16740, effective 12-17-43]

(2) A seller using this pricing section can go ahead with delivery of the lumber and collection of the price he has computed or requested. But he must tell the buyer that the price is subject to revision within the thirty-day period, and, if the price is ordered reduced, must refund any excess over the final approved price.

§ 1382.67 Appendix G: Maximum prices for hardwood lumber sold by "small mills." A "small mill" for the purpose of this section means only a mill in the South Central hardwood lumber region which produced, during no consecutive twelve-month period since October 1941, more than one and a half million feet of hardwood lumber or more than four million feet of softwood and hardwood lumber combined.

A "small mill" may sell on grade according to the provisions of the other sections of the regulation if it is willing to take full responsibility for the accuracy of its grading and if it does not wish to sell according to the provisions of this section.

Yellow cypress lumber sold by a small mill duly authorized by the Office of Price Administration under this section to sell South Central hardwood lumber either on its own inspection as provided in the preceding paragraph or under the conditions provided in paragraph (b) below, shall be sold under the appropriate provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 97. (Note that maximum prices of graded yellow cypress sold by small mills on grades determined by National Hardwood Lumber Association inspection or on authorized buyer's inspection are established in § 1382.113 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 97.)

(a) Ungraded hardwood lumber; maximum prices. The maximum prices for 1,000 feet board measure for the full product of the logs of ungraded South Central hardwood lumber, including yellow cypress, produced by small mills, of any species or combination of species in green or dry condition are as follows:

Lumber cut to dry to:

Thicknesses of 1", 1¼" and 1½"----	$32.00
Thickness of 2"----------	29.00
Thicknesses over 2"----------	28.00

(b) Graded hardwood lumber; maximum prices. Only a "small mill" which has registered as such with the Office of Price Administration as required by paragraph (f) below, which does not grade its own hardwood lumber, and which does not sell ungraded hardwood lumber under (a) above, may sell hardwood lumber on grade subject to the maximum prices for the species, grades, and thicknesses established in this regulation under the following conditions:

(2) Buyer's inspection—(i) Eligible buyers. A "small mill" may sell hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection at graded hardwood lumber prices to a buyer authorized under the provisions of subparagraph (d) of this section by the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., to buy on his own inspection.

(ii) Maximum prices. The maximum prices for this type of sale shall be the applicable maximum prices established in this regulation for the particular species, grades, and thicknesses of hardwood lumber, less 5%. Buyer's inspection on truck or rail shipments may be made at either the point of origin or at destination.

(3) Residue sales. A small mill which sells hardwood lumber on grade on National Hardwood Lumber Association or authorized buyer's inspection may sell any of its hardwood lumber ungraded at not more than $20 per 1,000 feet board measure.

(c) Buyer's application. In order to obtain authorization to buy hardwood lumber on grade by his own inspection, a buyer must apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., and submit the following information:

(1) Whether it was his continuous procedure before October 15, 1941 to buy hardwood lumber principally on separate species, grades and thicknesses as determined by his own inspection according to the effective rules issued by the National Hardwood Lumber Association and at a separate price for each item. If so, copies of settlement sheets and bills showing payment on this basis are to be submitted.

(2) Whether the efficiency, facilities and practices of his inspection procedure have been maintained.

(3) Names of inspectors, and for each inspector his period of employment by the buyer and his previous experience and employment in grading hardwood lumber.

(d) Buyer's authorization. Permission to purchase graded hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection, and on authorization number, will be given by the Administrator, or person delegated by him, if, in his judgment, the buyer is qualified to purchase on his own grading. The authorization will be denied or withdrawn if it is found that any material statements in the application were false or do not apply due to a change in circumstances, or that the hardwood lumber has been graded inaccurately by the buyer to such an extent as to show either intentional false grading, incompetence or negligence in grading. Where buyer's grading indicates abnormally high grade realization, the buyer's authorization may, in the absence of adequate explanation, be revoked. The buyer shall be held fully responsible for the grading. In addition to withdrawal of permission, the buyer, of course, is subject to the usual penalties imposed by law for any violation of this regulation.

After authorization is granted, the buyer must notify the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., of any changes in his position affecting his ability to inspect and grade hardwood lumber.

(e) Records. (1) The buyer shall furnish the seller a true copy of the inspection report and both the seller and the buyer shall maintain adequate records of each sale or purchase of hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection for a period of at least two years or for the duration of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, whichever is shorter. These records must show the buyer's authorization number, the name of the seller and of the buyer, the date of sale, the footage of each species, grade and thickness of hardwood lumber, the moisture condition (whether green, air-dried, or kiln-dried), the itemized prices received and paid therefor and a statement from the seller that he is qualified to sell on buyer's inspection under this section.

(2) The buyer shall submit quarterly to the Lumber Branch, Washington 25, D. C., a statement of the volume of his purchases of hardwood lumber on his own inspection broken down to show the total for each species by grades and thicknesses.

(f) Registration of sellers. Within 30 days from October 2, 1945 or, in the case of new sellers, within 30 days of the first sale under this section, every mill which does not sell its hardwood lumber on grade on its own inspection, must file a statement with the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C., indicating which type of sales it will make under this § 1382.67. Any change in selling method thereafter made must be approved in writing by the Administrator upon application for approval of such change made to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(g) Prohibited practices. To prevent evasion of this section the following practices are prohibited unless changes in selling methods have been approved by the Administrator under paragraph (f) above:

(1) Sales of hardwood lumber on grade, by a "small mill" that has been selling ungraded lumber.

(2) Sales of ungraded hardwood lumber, or graded hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection, by sellers previously selling on their own inspection.

(3) Sales of ungraded hardwood lumber or graded hardwood lumber on his own inspection by a seller who has been selling graded hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection, except as provided in paragraph (b) (3) of this section.

(4) Sales of hardwood lumber priced on grade by inspection of an unauthorized buyer.

(5) Sales of ungraded lumber under paragraph (a) which is not substantially the run of the log in the thickness sold.

(6) Sales of ungraded hardwood lumber by a seller who has been selling graded hardwood lumber.

The maximum price for lumber sold in any such manner shall be $20.00 per 1,000 feet board measure. The establishment of a maximum price of $20.00 per 1,000 feet board measure for such lumber does not mean that these sales are permitted, but is established solely for the purpose of providing a fair and equitable basis for determining the amount of overcharges in the event that such sales take place.

However, anything contained herein to the contrary notwithstanding, any mill may sell the products covered by Third Revised Maximum Price Regulation 216—Eastern Railroad Ties, or by Maximum Price Regulation 558—Eastern Wooden Mine Material and Industrial Blocking, or any superseding regulation at the applicable prices under such regulations.

(h) Delivery. The maximum prices of hardwood lumber under paragraph (a) in this section include loading on rail cars within 30 miles or delivery for 30 miles or less. Where delivery or car loading is over 30 miles, a charge of 10 cents per 1,000 feet board measure for each mile over 30 and up to 100 miles may be made, with no addition for the return trip. For example, if delivery is made for 50 miles, a delivery charge of $2.00 per 1,000 feet board measure may be added. If delivery is over 100 miles, the charge to be added may be only the carload rail freight for the whole distance from the nearest rail loading-out point to destination.

If the seller does not load the lumber on rail cars or provide delivery within 30 miles, or if it is necessary for the buyer to incur any delivery or loading expense within the 30 miles (except rail freight), the prices for hardwood lumber must be reduced by $2.50 per 1,000 feet board measure. Maximum delivery charges on sales made under paragraph (b) of this section shall be the charges set forth in § 1382.61 (g).

(i) Intermediate sellers. Any person who acts as a selling agent for "small mills," and does not take title to the lumber, stands in the same position as the mills whose lumber he sells.

(j) Sales to United States Government or any of its agencies. The United States Government or any of its agencies may purchase hardwood lumber on buyer's inspection without authorization from the Office of Price Administration.

[§ 1382.67 added by Am. 17, effective 10-2-45]

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This amendment shall become effective October 1, 1945.

(a) Cat's eyes.

	Per shell
Shaping cat's eyes into hearts or crosses	$1.25
Drilling holes in cat's eyes for insertion of links	.20

(iii) Then multiply the sum of the charges permitted under (i) and (ii) above by 1.50. The resulting price is your maximum manufacturer's price. The wholesale ceiling is the same as your manufacturer's price.

(c) Retailers' maximum prices for cat's eye or cowry shell jewelry manufactured in the Territory of Hawaii or imported into the Territory of Hawaii. (1) For locally manufactured jewelry containing cat's eyes or cowry shells: If you are a retailer you determine your maximum prices for sales of any item of jewelry locally made from cat's eyes or cowry shells in the following manner: First multiply your manufacturer's selling price by 1.50; then adjust this amount to the nearest nickel. The resulting price is your maximum retail price.

(2) For jewelry containing cat's eyes or cowry shells imported from the mainland by a retailer: Add the mainland manufacturer's or mainland original importer's selling price (as established under the Maximum Import Price Regulation) and transportation charges actually incurred and multiply by 1.50. Then adjust this amount to the nearest nickel. The resulting price is your maximum retail price.

(3) For jewelry containing cat's eyes or cowry shells imported direct from a foreign country by a retailer: Add the foreign exporter's selling price as shown on his invoice plus transportation charges actually incurred, and multiply by 1.50. To the resultant price, customs duties actually incurred may be added. The resultant price is your maximum retail price.

(4) For jewelry containing cat's eyes or cowry shells purchased from a mainland or local wholesaler: Add the manufacturer's or mainland importer's selling price (as established under the Maximum Import Price Regulation) to the wholesaler as shown on your supplier's invoice, to transportation charges actually incurred and multiplied by 1.50. The resultant price is your maximum retail price.

(d) Assemblers' maximum prices—(1) For sales at wholesale. First, compute your wholesale price for the jewelry items to be assembled under Territorial Consumer Goods Regulation 1, Supplement 1. Then add the wholesale price of cowry shells or cat's eyes used. If stones are removed from a completed jewelry item deduct 10% to cover the stones being removed.

(2) For sales at retail. Multiply the assembler's price as outlined in (1) above, by 1.50.

(e) Inability to determine maximum prices. If you are unable to determine your maximum price for any article covered by this section, you shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Honolulu 2, T. H., for the establishment of a maximum price.

(f) Definitions. (1) "Shell jewelry" means all jewelry made of, set or mounted with natural shells or parts of shells.

(2) "Cowry shell" is the solid oval or pear-shaped shell of a certain mollusk. There are many species of cowries, differing both in color and size. Money cowries, ring cowries, goldringer cowries, measled cowries, tiger cowries, humpback cowries, and leho are among the names commonly given to these shells.

(3) "Cat's eye" is the thick calcareous operculum to a turbine shell. A cat's eye is convex on the exterior and polished, with ordinarily a bright green spot in the center.

(4) "Other materials used" include such materials as chains, pins, earrings, rings, etc., which are used in the manufacture of jewelry made with cowry shells and cat's eyes, but do not include cotton or other material used for packing the shells, cement, and similar incidental supplies.

(5) "Net cost" is the amount the manufacturer paid his supplier (a manufacturer or wholesaler) for "other materials used" less all discounts and allowances.

(6) "Niihau shell leis" mean leis made exclusively of shells commonly known in the Territory of Hawaii as Niihau shells.

(7) "A manufacturer" is a person who takes raw materials or jewelers' findings and changes their form to fashion a new item.

(8) "An assembler" is a person who takes a complete piece of jewelry that could be sold as a separate item and adds cat's eyes or cowry shells as an additional sales inducement. For example, a person who removes stones from a brooch or a bracelet or other items of jewelry and inserts cat's eyes or cowry shells, shall be considered an assembler.

This amendment shall become effective as of September 4, 1945.

Issued this 28th day of September 1945.

Administrator.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[Rev. RO 16,[1] Amdt. 76]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESES

A rationale accompanying this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Revised Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 26.3 (c) is amended by deleting the third sentence in that paragraph and substituting in place thereof the following sentence: "For each succeeding allotment period his allotment is determined by multiplying the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired in the allotment period preceding the period in question by 4."

2. Sections 26.5a (b) (1) and (b) (2) are amended to read as follows:

(b) (1) Allotments. (1) His first allotment is determined by multiplying by four the number of pounds of household salvage fats which the district office estimates he will acquire between the date of his registration and the end of the next calendar month.

(2) His second allotment is determined by multiplying by four the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired during his first full calendar month of operation. The result is multiplied by the number of months remaining in the allotment period for which the allotment is made.

3. Section 26.7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Allowable inventory. An independent collector who registers is given an allowable inventory of points to enable him to acquire household salvage fats for sale or transfer. This allowable inventory is his working capital and is determined by multiplying by four the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired in October 1943. The district office will issue to him a certificate in this amount, less the number of points owed to him for household salvage fats he transferred, the number of points he has on hand and in his ration bank account, and the number of pounds of such fats multiplied by four which he has on hand on the date of his application. However, if he owes points for fats acquired by him, the amount of any certificate issued under this paragraph shall be increased by the number of points owed. An independent collector who does not register will have to operate on the basis of the stocks he has and the points he obtains from the persons to whom he sells or transfers such stocks.

4. Section 26.7 (c) is amended by deleting the last paragraph of that section and substituting in place thereof the following paragraph:

His allowable inventory is determined by multiplying by four the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired in the calendar month preceding the month in which the application is made, or if he was not in operation during that month (or if he was in operation during only part of that month), the number of pounds of such fats which the district office estimates he will acquire in the following calendar month. The district office will issue to him a check for an amount determined in the way described in paragraph (b).

5. Section 26.7 (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) An independent collector who has registered and whose allowable inventory has been established prior to October 1, 1945, may apply for and obtain an increase in his allowable inventory equal to the allowable inventory he has. Application must be made in writing, to the district office where his establishment or group of establishments is registered, and must state the establishment or group of establishments for which application is made, the date on which his allowable inventory was established, the amount of his allowable inventory and the amount in pounds of household salvage fat he had on hand on October 1, 1945. The district office may grant such an increase, and issue a certificate to him in the amount of the increase, less half the point value of the household salvage fat he had on hand on October 1, 1945.

6. Section 26.11 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(b) (1) Household salvage fats have a point value of one point for each one-quarter pound. No points may be given for any fraction of less than one-quarter pound.

This amendment shall become effective 12:01 a. m. September 30, 1945.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Docket No. G-664]

CHICAGO DISTRICT PIPELINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

SEPTEMBER 28, 1945.

Notice is hereby given that on September 17, 1945, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by Chicago District Pipeline Company (Applicant), an Illinois corporation with its principal place of business at Joliet, Illinois, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Section 7 of the Natural Gas Act as amended, to authorize the construction and operation of certain facilities hereinafter described.

Applicant is engaged in the purchase, transmission and sale of natural gas for resale to The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Western United Gas and Electric Company, and Northern Indiana Public Service Company. It obtains its natural gas supply from Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America at a point in Rutland Township, LaSalle County, near Wedron, Illinois, and at a point in Joliet Township, Will County, near Joliet, Illinois.

Applicant's present gas transmission system consists of two transmission pipe lines extending from a point near the City of Joliet, Illinois, to the City of Chicago, Illinois. One of its transmission pipe lines, known as the Calumet line, consists of approximately 41 miles of 24-inch pipe and extends easterly from a point near the City of Joliet through the City of Chicago Heights and thence northerly to a point of connection with the gas main of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company. Applicant's other line, known as the Crawford line, consists of approximately 34 miles of 24-inch and 20-inch pipe and extends northeasterly from a point near the City of Joliet, Illinois, following generally the north bank of the drainage canal of the Sanitary District of Chicago to a connection with a gas main of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company at the western City limits of Chicago, Illinois. Applicant's transmission system also has connections with the gas distribution systems of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Western United Gas and Electric Company, and Northern Indiana Public Service Company.

Applicant seeks authority to construct and operate two sections of 24-inch pipe line aggregating approximately 23 miles, paralleling two sections of its Crawford line in Will, Cook and DuPage Counties, Illinois, and additional necessary appurtenant facilities, and to serve the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois at a new point of delivery located near Volo, Lake County, Illinois.

The Applicant asserts that The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company is engaged in the distribution and sale of gas to the general public in the City of Chicago, Illinois; that Public Service Company of Northern Illinois is engaged in the distribution and sale of natural gas in the communities of Ottawa, Streator, Marseilles, Seneca, in LaSalle County, Pontiac in Livingston County, and Morris in Grundy County, Illinois, and in contiguous areas through which its mains extend, in Kankakee, Will, Cook and Lake Counties, all in the State of Illinois; that Western United Gas and Electric Company is engaged in the distribution and sale of gas and electricity to the general public in and in the vicinity of certain Illinois municipalities located generally west of the City of Chicago; and that Northern Indiana Public Service Company is engaged in the distribution and sale of gas and electricity to the general public in and in the vicinity of certain municipalities located in northwestern portion of the State of Indiana.

The application recites that the capacity of the Crawford line will be increased from its present capacity of 140,000 Mcf of gas per day to 220,000 Mcf per day. It is further asserted by Applicant that the increase in the capacity of its Crawford line is intended to permit transmission through that line of additional natural gas which Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America proposes to make available to Applicant at Joliet and also to permit transmission through that line of the gas ordinarily to be transported through Applicant's Calumet line if the operation of the latter line should be interrupted for reasons beyond its control.

Applicant submits that it does not now serve nor does it propose to serve any main line industrial customers directly from its system nor does it propose to serve any public utility corporation other than those referred to or any other natural gas company.

It is estimated that the total cost of construction of the proposed facilities will approximate $1,425,000. Applicant proposes to borrow all of the funds necessary to finance the construction from its parent company, The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company.

The application recites that due to the natural growth of the communities served by the gas distributing utility companies above referred to, and the increased utilization of gas as a fuel, has brought about an increased public demand to such an extent that Applicant's present facilities have become inadequate to supply the immediate prospective natural gas requirements of such utilities and that the proposed facilities are necessary to meet such increased demands.

The making of the application is conditioned upon the granting by the Commission of the application of Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America and Texoma Natural Gas Company, Docket No. G–651.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should, on or before the 15th day of October, 1945, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

Acting Secretary.

All interested persons are referred to said documents which are on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized briefly as follows:

I. Consolidated, a registered holding company and presently the owner, among other investments, of all of the outstanding common stock of Atlanta Gas Light Company ("Atlanta"), a gas utility company engaged in the manufacture of gas and the distribution of natural and manufactured gas in various municipalities in the State of Georgia, proposes, in pursuance of its program of divesting itself of all of its domestic public utility subsidiaries, to sell said common stock (represented by 240,145 shares, $25 per share par value) to Southern, a subsidiary of Federal, a registered holding company, for $11,000,000 in cash, subject to certain adjustments at the date of closing. The common stock of Atlanta at the present time is pledged as collateral under the collateral trust indenture of Consolidated securing its outstanding Collateral Trust Bonds.

As at June 30, 1945, the bond indebtedness of Consolidated consisted of Collateral Trust Bonds as follows: 6% Series, due August 1, 1957, $1,447,000 principal amount ("6% Series Bonds"); and 3%-6% Series, due August 1, 1952, $13,269,000 principal amount ("3%-6% Series Bonds") ($11,930,500 principal amount thereof being designated as Series A and $1,338,500 principal amount thereof being designated as Series B). The 6% Series Bonds are by their terms redeemable at the option of Consolidated at their principal amount and accrued interest to the date of redemption. The 3%-6% Series Bonds are by their terms redeemable at the option of Consolidated at 103% of principal amount thereof plus accrued interest to the date of redemption.

By the terms of the plan, Consolidated will satisfy and retire all of its outstanding bonds by payment in cash of the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest thereon to the date of payment but without the payment of the redemption premium applicable to the 3%-6% Series Bonds.

The proposed payment and satisfaction of the outstanding Collateral Trust Bonds of Consolidated are to be accomplished by the use of the proceeds of the sale of the common stock of Atlanta together with the proceeds either of the sale or other disposition of other investments of Consolidated, or of a bank loan; or in the alternative, by the use of proceeds from a bank loan which will in turn be discharged by the proceeds from the sale of the securiites of Atlanta and other investments of Consolidated;

Consolidated requests that this Commission, in the event that it approves said plan, apply to an appropriate Federal court in accordance with the provisions of sections 11 (e) and 18 (f) of the act to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of said plan applicable to the payment, satisfaction and discharge of the 3%-6% Series Bonds. Consolidated has not requested court enforcement of the provisions of the plan relating to the payment, satisfaction and discharge of the 6% Series Bonds which are being redeemed pursuant to their terms. Within ten days after the entry of an appropriate court order regarding the plan, Consolidated proposes to give notice to the effect that it will satisfy and retire all of its 3%-6% Series Bonds. The date of payment is to be at least 30 days after the first publication of said notice and shall be on the first day of a month. The holders of the 3%-6% Series Bonds are to have the right to receive cash equal to the principal thereof and interest to the date fixed for payment at any time after the first publication of notice upon surrendering their bonds to Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, trustee under the indenture securing said bonds.

The plan further provides that from and after the date designated for payment, no further interest is to accrue upon any of the 3%-6% Series Bonds.

Consolidated further proposes that it have the right, subsequent to the issuance of an order of this Commission approving said plan, if such approval is given, to purchase 3%-6% Series Bonds in the open market through brokers or from the holders thereof but without solicitation by payment of cash equal to the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest thereon to the date of purchase.

The filing indicates that an appropriate additional filing will be made by Consolidated to provide for the needed bank loans.

Consolidated requests that such order or orders as this Commission shall issue herein regarding the proposed sale of the stock of Atlanta conform to the requirements of sections 371 (b), 371 (f) and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, and contain the recitals and specifications required thereby.

II. Southern proposes to acquire from Consolidated all of the outstanding common stock of Atlanta as above described for a total base purchase price of $11,000,000. Southern further proposes to acquire and Federal proposes to sell to Southern 12,500 shares (all) of the common stock, no par value, of Mississippi Public Service Company ("Mississippi") for a base cash consideration of $1,173,484. Southern further proposes to acquire and Federal proposes to sell to Southern 7,500 shares (all) of the common stock, $100 per share par value, of Chattanooga Gas Company ("Chattanooga") for a base cash consideration of $1,000,000.

Southern proposes to issue and sell: (a) $18,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Pipe Line Sinking Fund Bonds, Series 1965 (at competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50), the price to Southern and the interest rate on the bonds to be determined by such competitive bidding; (b) $9,000,000 principal amount of serial notes maturing semi-annually during the ten years immediately succeeding the date of issue (the filing indicates that these securities are not to be issued at competitive bidding but does not indicate the identity of the proposed acquirer or acquirers); and (c) 281,842 shares of common stock, par value $7.50 per share. This stock is to be offered for subscription in the ratio of 1/5 of a share for each share held by the present stockholders of Southern. The offering price of said new common stock has not as yet been determined by the company. Transferable warrants evidencing subscription rights are to be issued by Southern as soon as practicable after the receipt by it of needed regulatory approval, such warrants to expire 30 days from the date of issuance thereof.

Southern further proposes to redeem its presently outstanding First Mortgage Pipe Line Sinking Fund Bonds 3¼% Series due 1956, outstanding as at June 30, 1945, in the aggregate principal amount of $13,214,000, these bonds being redeemable at any time prior to April 2, 1946, on not less than 30 days notice, at 105% of their principal amount plus interest accrued to the date of redemption; and 2½% Serial Notes, due November 1, 1945 (and semi-annually thereafter until May 1, 1947), outstanding as of June 30, 1945, in the aggregate face amount of $1,625,000.

Federal proposes to acquire from Southern a minimum of 153,004 shares of the new common stock of Southern, this being the number of shares Federal would be entitled to subscribe for as the holder of 765,022 shares of said stock at the present time. Federal further proposes to acquire all additional shares of new stock which are not subscribed for by the other stockholders of Southern. Federal further proposes to acquire in the open market or directly from the holders thereof subscription warrants to purchase shares of new common stock of Southern and to purchase said shares of common stock upon the exercise of such warrants in accordance with their terms. It is represented that warrants acquired by Federal will be purchased at the market price current at the time of purchase during the period between the issue and expiration date of such warrants.

Federal requests that such order or orders as this Commission may issue herein regarding the proposed sale by it of the stocks of Mississippi and Chattanooga and the proposed purchase of new stock of Southern recite that these transactions are necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which Federal and Southern are members and that such order or orders conform to the requirements of sections 371 (b), 371 (f) and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, and contain the recitals and specifications required thereby.

III. The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of the act before approving any plan submitted thereunder to find after notice and opportunity for hearing that such plan, as submitted or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and is fair and equitable to the persons affected by such plan; and it appearing that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the joint application-declaration of Federal and Southern and that said plan should not be approved or said joint application-declaration granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and

It further appearing to the Commission that the plan of Consolidated and the joint application-declaration of Federal and Southern involve common questions of law and fact and should be consolidated and heard together;

It is ordered, That the proceedings herein be, and they hereby are, consolidated for the purpose of considering the issues presented thereby;

It is further ordered, That a consolidated hearing under the applicable provisions of the Act and rules of the Commission promulgated thereunder be held on October 29, 1945, at 10:00 a. m., E. S. T., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will at that time advise. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings shall file with the Commission on or before October 26, 1945, a written request relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and it hereby is, reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or to dispose, in whole or in part, of any issues or questions which may arise in these proceedings and to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the matters involved;

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing copies of this order by registered mail to Consolidated Electric and Gas Company, Federal Water and Gas Corporation, Federal Power Commission, Alabama Public Service Commission, Georgia Public Service Commission, Mississippi Public Service Commission, Tennessee Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Trustee under the indenture securing the bonds of Consolidated Electric and Gas Company, and that notice of said hearing be given to all other persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That Consolidated give written notice of this hearing in such form as the Commission shall approve to the holders of its bonds and preferred stock (insofar as the identity of such security holders is known or is available to Consolidated) at least fifteen days prior to October 29, 1945.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty, or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said filing, particular attention be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether competitive conditions have been maintained in connection with the proposed sale by Consolidated of the securities of Atlanta and whether the consideration to be received by Consolidated is reasonable;

(2) Whether the proposed acquisition by Southern of the securities of Atlanta will tend towards interlocking relations or the concentration of control of public utility companies, of a kind or to an extent detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers; will be detrimental to the public interest or the interests of investors or consumers or the proper functioning of the holding company system of Southern; will be detrimental to the carrying out of the provisions of section 11; and whether the proposed acquisition will serve the public interest by tending towards the economical and efficient development of an integrated public utility system;

(3) Whether it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers to require, pursuant to Rule U-50 and Rule U-100, that the proposed sale by Consolidated be made on the basis of public invitations for bids, and, if so, whether Southern may appropriately be permitted to bid for said common stock;

(4) Whether the transactions proposed by Consolidated are necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and are fair and equitable to all persons affected thereby and particularly whether the proposal that the indebtedness represented by the 3⅝–6% Series Bonds be satisfied by payment of the principal amount thereof with accrued interest to date of same in cash but without payment of any redemption premium thereon, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b), and is fair and equitable to the holders of said bonds, to the remaining security holders of Consolidated, and to all other persons affected thereby;

(5) Whether the plan appropriately provides for the payment of fees and expenses by Consolidated in connection with the plan;

(6) Whether and in what manner the proposed plan should be modified to insure adequate protection of the public interest and the interests of investors and consumers and compliance with all the applicable provisions of the act and rules promulgated thereunder;

(8) Whether the securities proposed to be issued and sold by Southern are reasonably adapted to the earning power of Southern and to the security structure of Southern and other companies in the Federal holding company system and whether financing by the issue and sale of such securities in the respective amounts proposed is necessary or appropriate to the economical and efficient operation of the business in which Southern is engaged;

(9) Whether the proposed acquisitions by Federal of shares of the common stock of Southern in the manner and under the circumstances proposed meet all of the applicable requirements of the Act and rules promulgated thereunder;

(10) Whether the accounting entries to be made in connection with the proposed transactions are proper;

(11) Whether the fees, commissions or other remunerations to be paid directly or indirectly in connection with the proposed transactions are reasonable; and

(d) The Solid Fuels Administrator for War may exercise the power, authority and discretion conferred upon him by this directive through such personnel of the Solid Fuels Administration for War and the Department of Interior, and in such manner as he may determine and accept the services of other departments, agencies and officials of the government in carrying out the purposes of this directive.

(e) As used in this directive the term "producer" means any person who produces coke; the term "domestic consumer" means any person who acquires coke for space heating, domestic hot water or domestic cooking but does not include any person to the extent that he acquires coke for use in an industrial process or for the production of power or for space heating which is incidental thereto; and the term "person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, government or government agency or any other organized group or enterprise; and the term "coke" means (1) coke made from bituminous coal and (2) coke made from petroleum.

(f) Nothing herein shall be construed to limit or modify any regulation, order or directive heretofore issued by or under the authority of the Chairman of the War Production Board nor to terminate or limit the power of the Chairman of the War Production Board to issue further directives, regulations or orders regulating the delivery or use of coke, nor to affect the authority vested in the Chairman of the War Production Board, pursuant to Executive Orders 9024, 9040 and 9125 to determine the relative importance of deliveries and certify as to the preferential treatment to be accorded them with respect to the delivery or use of coke, nor to affect the program of rationing coal, coke and wood for the Northwest Pacific Area by the Office of Price Administration in accordance with the provisions of its Rationing Order 14-A, effective September 18, 1943.

[Priorities Reg. 3, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

§ 944.23 Priorities Regulation 3—(a) Purpose of this regulation. This regulation states the rules for the use of preference ratings, what kind of purchase orders or services may be rated and how a rating may be put on an order. It also places restrictions on the use of ratings and includes lists of products for which ratings may not be used at all. In general this regulation should be consulted before using a rating whether it was gotten directly from the War Production Board or from a customer.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this regulation:

(1) "Person" and "material" mean the same thing they do in Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) "Assignment" of a preference rating. A preference rating is assigned to a person when the War Production Board or someone that it has authorized issues an order or preference rating certificate giving him the right to use the rating.

(3) "Application" of a preference rating. A preference rating is applied when the person to whom it is assigned uses the rating. A rating is applied also when any governmental agency which is authorized by the War Production Board rates an order for delivery of material directly to it.

(4) "Extension" of a preference rating. A preference rating is extended when it is used by the person to whom it is applied or extended by another person.

(c) Use of ratings in general. (1) When a regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate assigns a rating to any person, either by naming him or by describing the class of persons to which he belongs, that person may apply the rating to get delivery of material or the performance of certain services. Also, a person may under certain conditions extend a rating which has been applied or extended to his deliveries of material, but not one applied to services. More detailed rules as to how and when ratings may be applied or extended are set out below in this regulation.

(2) When a War Production Board order or certificate states the quantities and kinds of material or the particular services which are rated, the person to whom it is assigned may use the rating to get only that quantity and kind of material or that particular service named in the order or certificate. If the quantities of material are not stated in the order or certificate assigning the rating it may be applied only to get the minimum amount needed.

(3) No person may place rated orders for more material than he is authorized to rate even though he intends to cancel some of the orders or reduce the quantity of material ordered to the authorized amount before it is all delivered.

(d) When AAA or MM ratings may be extended for material. The following provisions of this paragraph (d) apply to all extensions of AAA or MM preference ratings to get deliveries of material, unless they are modified by or are inconsistent with the provisions of any particular order.

(1) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(2) When a person has received a AAA or MM rated order for the delivery of material, he may extend the AAA or MM rating to get the material which he will deliver on that order, or which will be physically incorporated in material which he will deliver. If the material is to be processed, this includes the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-products in the course of processing.

(3) If a person has made delivery of material, or has incorporated it into other material which he has delivered on an AAA or MM rated order, he may extend the AAA or MM rating to replace it in his inventory. However, if after delivering the material he still has a practicable working minimum inventory he may not extend the AAA or MM rating to replace the material delivered; and if by making the delivery his inventory is reduced below this minimum, the AAA or MM rating may be extended to get only the amount necessary to restore the inventory to a practicable working minimum. Any material ordered to replace in inventory must be substantially the same as the material which the person delivered or incorporated in the material which he delivered, except for minor variations in size, shape or design.

(4) A person to whom a rating of AAA or MM has been applied or extended to get material may not extend that AAA or MM rating to get any material for his own plant improvement expansion or construction, or to get machine tools or other items which he will carry as capital equipment, or to get business machines for his own use whether purchased or leased, or to get maintenance, repair or operating supplies for his own use.

(d-1) CC ratings may not ordinarily be extended. CC ratings may not be extended by a supplier to get production materials needed to make the item sold to his customer, or to replace in inventory materials used to make the item or to get containers or closures needed to pack the item. A distributor, warehouse, retailer, or other person who resells the item without further fabrication may extend the CC rating where he does not have the item in inventory, but may not extend the rating to replace the item in inventory.

A textile converter receiving a CC rating from his customer for finished fabric may extend the rating to get the gray fabric (including the portion of it which would normally be consumed or converted into scrap or by-product in the course of processing) which he will deliver in finished state on that order, or to replace in inventory fabric used to fill the order. However, if after delivering the material he still has a practicable working minimum inventory he may not extend the CC rating to replace the material delivered; and if by making the delivery his inventory is reduced below this minimum, the CC rating may be extended to get only the amount necessary to restore the inventory to a practicable working minimum. Any material ordered to replace inventory must be substantially the same (except for the finishing) as the material which the person delivered, except for minor variations in construction.

(e) Additional restrictions upon use of ratings for certain materials. Because of special circumstances which exist with respect to certain materials and products, the use of preference ratings to get items on List A attached to this regulation is restricted as follows:

(1) Items as to which preference ratings have no effect; List A. Any item on List A may be produced or delivered without regard to preference ratings. No person shall apply or extend any rating to get any of these items and no person selling any such item shall require a rating as a condition of sale. Any rating purporting to be applied or extended to any such item shall be void and no person shall give any effect to it in filling an order.

(2) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(3) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(f) Use of ratings for services—(1) Ratings may not be used for personal services. Preference ratings may never be used to get labor or personal services as distinct from services performed in the course of a regular business involving the use of plant, machinery or equipment owned by the person furnishing the services. For example, ratings may be used to get a repair job done in a repair shop as explained below but may not be used to compel an individual employee to work on a repair job or to obtain the services of a consulting engineer.

(2) Three cases where ratings may be used for services. There are only three situations in which a preference rating may be used to get services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material:

(i) A rating assigned for the purpose. If the War Production Board assigns a rating to a named person to get specified services, he may use the rating for that purpose.

(ii) For processing. When a person has a rating which he may use to get processed material, he may (unless prohibited by another regulation or order) furnish the unprocessed material to a processor and use the same rating to get it processed.

(iii) For repairs. A rating assigned on Form WPB-541 (formerly PD-1A), or WPB-542 (formerly PD-3A), or any other rating which may be applied to the delivery of specific repair parts or materials, may also be applied to the installation of the repair parts or materials or to the repair job alone if it is found that installing the parts or materials is not necessary. However, in the case of ordinary plumbing, heating, electrical, automotive or refrigeration repairs, a rating may not be applied to repair work even if the rating is expressly applicable to repair parts or materials. As used in this subparagraph "repair" means to fix a plant, machinery or equipment after it has broken down or when it is about to break down. "Repair" does not mean upkeep or maintenance service such as periodic inspection, cleaning, painting, lubricating, etc.

(3) Ratings for services only may not be extended. A person to whom a rating for services, as distinct from the production or delivery of material, has been applied or extended may not extend the rating for any purpose.

(g) How to apply or extend a rating. (1) When a person applies or extends a preference rating he must put the rating (and symbol, if appropriate) on the order together with a certification signed as prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7. He may use the standard certification set out in that regulation, or if he prefers the following:

CERTIFICATION

The undersigned purchaser hereby represents to the seller and to the War Production Board that he is entitled to apply or extend the preference ratings indicated opposite the items shown on this order, and that such application or extension is in accordance with Priorities Regulation 3 as amended, with the terms of which the undersigned is familiar.

(Name of Purchaser)

(Address)

By --- (Signature and Title of Duly Authorized Officer)

(Date)

The person who receives the certification shall be entitled to rely on it as a representation of the buyer unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

(4) When a person applies or extends a rating he shall also include on his purchase order or contract any information which may be required by any applicable War Production Board order. However, he is not required to include the serial number of the preference rating certificate assigning the rating.

(5) Each person who applies or extends a rating must keep at his regular place of business all documents including purchase orders and preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating. These documents, orders and certificates must be kept in such a way that they can be readily segregated and furnished to representatives of the War Production Board for inspection.

(6) When either certification authorized in this paragraph (g) is used it will not be necessary to use any other certification in order to apply or extend a preference rating, nor will it be necessary to furnish a copy of any preference rating order no matter what any regulation, preference rating order or preference rating certificate says unless it expressly states that this regulation does not apply.

(7) No person shall knowingly purport to apply or extend a preference rating to any order unless he is entitled to do so. No person shall apply or extend a rating for material or services after he has received the material or after the services have been performed, and any person who receives such a rating shall not extend it.

(h) Provisions applicable to extensions; deferment and grouping. No matter what any applicable preference rating order or certificate may say,

(1) No person may extend any rating to replace inventory after three months have passed from the time he could have first extended it;

(2) When a person has two or more ratings of the same grade which were assigned by different preference rating certificates or orders he may combine them and extend them to one delivery; and

(3) When a person has two or more ratings of different grades, or where they were assigned by the same or different certificates or orders, he may extend them to deliveries under one purchase order. However, the purchase order must show the amount of each material to which a particular grade of rating is extended. If the type and quantity of the material is such that the supplier can readily determine the exact effect of the extension of the rating on his production and delivery schedule from percentage figures alone, then the purchase order may show the amount of the material to which the particular grade of rating is extended on a percentage basis; otherwise, it must be shown as a separate item. In order to avoid production or delivery of material in quantities smaller than the minimum commercially practicable a person may combine ratings of different grades and extend the rating of the lowest grade to the total production or delivery.

(i) Restrictions in other orders. When any person applies or extends a rating he shall be subject to any applicable rule or restriction which may be set forth in the order of the War Production Board which assigns the rating or any other order which regulates transactions in the material or the facilities for which he is using the rating. This includes restrictions as to the kind and amount of material to which ratings may be applied or extended, requirements for written approval of any particular transaction, restrictions on certain uses of material or facilities and any other rules which may be applicable to the particular transaction. However, the rules of paragraphs (g) (4) and (g) (6) apply unless some other order or certificate expressly says that they do not.

Interpretation 1 of Priorities Regulation 3 [Revoked Nov. 17, 1943.]

[1] Subject to War Food Order 71 (formerly FD Regulation No. 1) of the War Food Administration.

INTERPRETATION 6

EFFECT OF PREFERENCE RATING CERTIFICATE REFERRING TO PRODUCT OF A PARTICULAR MANUFACTURER

(a) When a preference rating certificate in assigning a rating to a product describes the product by its trade name or by the manufacturer's name and catalogue number, the rating may ordinarily be used to get the product from any manufacturer if the model actually obtained is substantially identical in size, operation and function with that named in the certificate.

(b) The rule stated in the preceding paragraph is consistent with the statement in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23), that a preference rating may be applied only to the specific quantities and kinds of material authorized. Ordinarily a reference in a preference rating certificate to a particular product of a particular manufacturer is no more than a shorthand way of describing the product. It is safe to assume, unless the certificate clearly states otherwise, that what is being rated is a certain kind and size of product which may be obtained from any manufacturer who makes that kind and size. If it is intended to confine the rating to a particular product of a particular manufacturer, the certificate should say so explicitly (Issued Sept. 8, 1943.)

RECORDS OF EXPORTERS

Paragraph (g) (5) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 requires each person who applies or extends a rating to keep all documents including preference rating orders and certificates which authorize him to apply or extend the rating at his regular place of business. The Foreign Economic Administration and its predecessors, the Board of Economic Warfare and the Office of Economic Warfare, have assigned preference ratings to exporters for export by endorsing appropriate legends upon export licenses. The original of every export license, however, is required by other government regulations to be surrendered to export officials at the time of shipment. Consequently, persons who receive their assignments of preference ratings on export licenses are not in a position to retain the original of the export license and thus are not required to do so by paragraph (g) (5) except only in those cases where other government regulations do not require the surrender to the government of the documents referred to. However, such persons must keep any copies of the export licenses which are returned to them for their files. (Issued August 24, 1945.)

USE OF RATING TO OBTAIN LEASED MACHINERY

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 3:

(a) A preference rating which has been assigned for the delivery of an item of machinery or equipment may be used to lease the equipment as long as the following conditions are fulfilled:

(1) The lease must be a long-term semi-permanent arrangement where both parties contemplate the comparatively permanent installation of the machine or equipment. For instance, a rating could be used to obtain a machine under lease where the lease was for one year, with provision for renewal at the end of each year, and both parties expected that the lease would be renewed from time to time. However, the rating could not be used to obtain a machine for a month's use.

(2) If the rating is limited by specific dollar amount, it may be used only to lease machinery or equipment whose fair market value is no greater than the amount specified.

(b) If the instrument assigning the ratings specifies a lease rather than a purchase, it is not necessary to comply with the above conditions.

TIME LIMIT ON USE OF RATINGS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 3:

Preference ratings may not be extended to replace material in inventory after three months from the time delivery was made to the customer. This is the rule of paragraph (h) (1) of the regulation.

When a rating is being applied (except a blanket rating such as one assigned by CMP Regulation 5) or when any rating is extended for some purpose other than to replace inventory, this may be done only within a reasonable time after the rating was received. Generally speaking, more than three months is deemed to be an unreasonable delay in the use of a rating. In a particular case there may be circumstances which make a reasonable time shorter or longer than three months. For example,

(1) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(2) A rating assigned in connection with an export license may be applied as long as the license is valid and expires when the license expires or is revoked. (For explanation of this rule see Interpretation 2, Directive 27.)

(3) When a rating is applied to a long term contract (such as the construction of a ship), it may be extended for material needed to fill the contract, even though more than three months have elapsed.

(4) If the purpose for which the rating was assigned no longer exists, the rating may not be applied even though three months have not elapsed.

(5) When a rating is extended by a person to get material to deliver to his customer, or to incorporate in such material, the time within which it may be done will, in general, be controlled by the delivery date on his customer's order.

The fact that a person has not been able to get his rated order accepted by a supplier does not lengthen the time within which he may use his rating.

Nothing in this interpretation means that any AA rating still has any effect. All AA ratings become ineffective in every respect on September 30, 1945.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

REFERENCES IN LIST A TO ORDERS WHICH HAVE BEEN REVOKED

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 3:

In many items on List A of Priorities Regulation 3 reference is made to specific WPB orders or schedules for a definition of the specific items covered by the lists. Sometimes the order or schedule referred to is revoked without any change in the listing on List A. When one of these orders or schedules is revoked, the listing of the item on List A, nevertheless, remains in full force and effect, and the item as listed on List A has the same meaning as before the revocation of the order.

LIST B—RESTRICTIONS ON SPECIAL SALES FOR EXPORT

Explanation and Scope

§ 944.34 Priorities Regulation 13—(a) What this regulation does. This regulation covers special sales, which, in general, are sales of materials or products by persons who acquired or made them for use and not for sale or resale. This is more fully explained in paragraph (b) (1). Special sales may be made freely, except for materials or products on List A (Domestic) or List B (Export), and certain sales as scrap. This is the only WPB regulation on special sales, and a seller who wants to make a special sale need not look at any other WPB regulation or order unless this regulation says he must. However, all buyers must comply with applicable WPB orders on use, inventory, resale, etc., as explained in paragraph (j).

(b) Definitions. As used in this regulation:

(1) "Special sale" means a sale of a material or product by any person (including a Government agency) who acquired or made it for use and not for sale or resale. All sales by trustees in bankruptcy, receivers and other kinds of liquidators (in the course of liquidation as distinct from continued operation of a business) are special sales even though neither they nor their beneficiaries bought for use. All sales at public auction by general auctioneers are special sales regardless of the purpose for which the material or product was acquired. All sales of surplus materials or products by Government agencies are special sales. Transfers of materials acquired or made for use, from one plant or operating unit to another which is owned by the same person but which normally buys separately, are special sales.

(2) "Material or product" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly or product of any kind in finished, semi-finished or raw material form.

(3) A "used" material or product is one which has been put into actual use.

(4) "Persons buying for use" include, among others, a contractor who buys with intent to incorporate the material in a building or product for a third person.

(c) Sales not covered by this regulation. The following types of sales are not considered special sales and are not governed by this regulation, even though they may involve materials or products acquired or made for use:

(1) A sale of a material or product by a person regularly engaged in the business of selling it. He is governed, however, by all WPB orders and regulations which apply to his business and to the material or product he is selling.

(2) Sales of plant-generated scrap, meaning scrap which is generated in the course of manufacture or is the waste of industrial fabrication. Sales of other kinds of scrap are covered by paragraph (i).

(3) Sales of rationed products which are controlled by another Government Agency.

NOTE: Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.

(4) Sales of foods for humans or animals, medicines, tobacco, oils and fats, petroleum and petroleum products including natural and liquefied petroleum gases.

(5) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(6) A sale of an entire business which is transferred as a going concern to a new owner who continues to operate it in the same or substantially the same form.

(7) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

General Rules for All Special Sales

(d) Most special sales may be made freely; general rules. A seller may make a special sale of most materials or products freely to anyone without WPB authorization and without requiring the buyer to apply or extend a preference rating. The only exceptions are special sales of materials or products on List A (domestic sales) and on List B (export), and certain sales as scrap, as explained in paragraphs (g), (h) and (i). In addition, all sellers are subject to the following general rules and conditions:

(1) If the seller knows that a person who wants to buy the material or product will use it for a prohibited purpose or would have more of it than he is permitted to have, the sale may not be made. The buyers' obligations are stated in paragraph (j).

(2) At special sales, preference ratings have no effect either by way of obliging a holder to sell or by way of determining as among several buyers who shall get the material or product. However, this does not excuse a seller from complying with the restrictions on List A or B applying to the items listed.

(3) Even if the buyer gives the seller a preference rating at a special sale, the seller cannot use this rating to replace the material or product he has sold. The effect of this rating stops when the seller receives it.

(4) If the sale relates to surplus Government-owned or Government-involved materials or products (including contractor inventories and sales by owning or disposal agencies), the seller may be subject to regulations of the Surplus Property Administration.

(e) Use of material acquired with priorities assistance. This regulation does not change the general rule of § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1 that material acquired with priorities assistance must, if possible, be used for the purpose for which the assistance was given. Where such material cannot be used for this purpose, then this regulation applies if a special sale is made.

(f) Sales through an agent. Where a person sells through an agent, except at public auction sales, the sale is a special sale only if it would be a special sale if made directly by the principal. If it is a special sale, the restrictions of this regulation apply to the principal and also to his agent if the latter knows or has reason to know the facts. In cases of special sales made at public auctions, the restrictions of this regulation are applicable both to the auctioneer and to his principal.

NOTE: Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.

Restricted Special Sales

(g) Materials or products on List A. A special sale of a material or product on List A attached to this regulation, other than a sale for export, may be made only under the conditions described in the list.

(h) Materials or products on List B (export). A special sale of a material or product on List B to a foreign purchaser or to a domestic purchaser who is buying for export or for resale to a foreign purchaser may be made only under the conditions described in the list. Used materials or used products, however, may be sold freely for export unless a notation on List B indicates a restriction on the sale in their used condition. Also, if an exporter, is unable to export material purchased for export, he may make a special sale of it in the domestic market under the rules of this regulation. Nothing in this regulation relieves any exporter from complying with all applicable regulations of the Foreign Economic Administration or other Government agencies who may have jurisdiction over exports.

(i) Sales as scrap of materials or products other than plant-generated scrap. (1) Any material or product (other than those listed below and plant-generated scrap) may be sold as scrap in a special sale if it is obsolete, unusable or not-readily-salable and will be used or consumed principally as scrap although some part of it may possibly be salvaged by the scrap buyer. A person may make such a special sale as scrap without stripping, disassembling or breaking up the material or product before sale. The sale may be made either to any consumer of scrap to be used only as scrap, or to any person regularly engaged in the collection, disassembling, sorting, and disposal of that kind of scrap material, primarily for remelt or other scrap use. Subsequent sales of any salvaged materials or products by such a scrap dealer are not covered by this regulation, but are subject to any WPB orders or regulations which apply to the distribution of the particular material or product. The above does not apply to the following:

Used tin cans sold as scrap are governed by Order M-325.

(2) If the buyer by contract, warranty or otherwise has stated that the particular material or product being sold as scrap will be used or disposed of as scrap, this regulation does not relieve the buyer from compliance with that condition.

(3) The sale at low prices, even as low as scrap prices, of prime or off-grade materials or products for use or resale "as is" does not constitute a sale as scrap and such sales may not be made under this paragraph. Instead such a sale is subject to all the other rules of this regulation which apply to special sales of the particular materials or products.

(4) This paragraph permits special sales as scrap only for use or resale within the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

Provisions Relating to Buyers

(j) Provisions relating to buyers—(1) Use and quantity restrictions still apply. The buyer at a special sale may not violate any WPB order or regulation controlling the amount of any material or product he may make or the use or disposition that he may make of it. He must also comply with any applicable order which limits the amount of any material or product he may buy (in terms of a specified quantity or quota, as distinguished from a provision requiring WPB permission for all purchases. The latter type of provision does not apply when a special sale is made unless required by this regulation). All the prohibitions in WPB orders or regulations against the use of materials or products for particular purposes remain in effect, and even though a special sale may not be restricted by this regulation, the buyer may have to get permission to use under the applicable order.

(2) Inventories. A person buying for use may accept delivery of any item of a material or product bought on a special sale under this regulation if his total inventory of that item is or will by virtue of accepting such delivery be not in excess of his succeeding six months' requirements. This permits a person to exceed applicable inventory limits only if he acquires the excess under this regulation. However, if thereafter he places orders for deliveries of the particular item from producers or distributors, he may not receive such further deliveries until his inventory is reduced to a practicable minimum working inventory or other applicable limit, and such orders may not call for delivery before that time. This paragraph does not apply to persons buying for resale. It also does not permit a person to stockpile in anticipation of starting or resuming civilian production except as permitted by other applicable regulations or orders. However, if any applicable WPB order or regulation permits a larger inventory than six months, this paragraph does not restrict receipts below the larger amount.

(3) Persons buying for resale. If a person at a special sale buys a material or product for resale, he may not resell in violation of any WPB regulation or order which applies to persons engaged in the business of selling the particular material or product. Even if the buyer for resale has not previously sold the material or product as part of his regular business, he is subject to the same restrictions in reselling as a regular wholesaler, retailer or other distributor of it under all applicable WPB regulations and orders, unless the particular regulation or order specifically states otherwise. For example, if an order requires specific WPB permission before a regular distributor of a product can sell it, any person who buys it at a special sale for resale must do what the order says.

(4) Reports. If any order or regulation provides that a buyer of a material or product must make any report or furnish any information either to the War Production Board or to the seller, this regulation does not excuse him from these requirements.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(k) Records. Any person making a sale under this regulation must keep sufficient records so that he can show that the sale was permitted under this regulation.

(l) Revisions of Lists A and B. Lists A and B attached to this regulation will be revised from time to time. A person wishing to sell a material or product under this regulation should be sure that he has the lists which are in effect at the time of the sale. Copies may be obtained from any field office of the WPB.

(m) Letters and questions. Any letters or questions about this regulation should be sent to the War Production Board in Washington 25, D. C., marked "Ref: P.R. 13".

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

LIST A—RESTRICTIONS ON SPECIAL SALES
(DOMESTIC)

A. General rules. Special sales in the domestic market of materials or products in Column 1 of List A below are restricted to certain classes of buyers as indicated below in section B, and in accordance with any special rules for a particular material or product as shown on the list. The listings show in some instances the class or group of materials and do not always list all the trade names and related materials. Exceptions to the restrictions are indicated below in section C. Special sales of materials or products not listed may be made freely, but all special sales are subject to the general rules in paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) of the regulation.

B. Classes of buyers. Special sales of materials or products on this List A may be made to the following classes of buyers:

(1) To a producer of the same kind of material or product.

(2) To a reprocessor, unless a note in Column 4 of the list indicates to the contrary with respect to a particular material or product. A reprocessor means any person who remakes, repairs or reworks new, rejected or second-grade materials or products of the kind being sold.

(3) To a regular dealer, unless Column 3 or a note in Column 4 of the list indicates to the contrary with respect to a particular material or product. A dealer means any wholesaler or retailer regularly dealing in the materials or products of the kind being sold, and reselling them from stock or inventory to industrial users or to other persons. It also includes persons who recondition or rebuild equipment and machinery of the kind being sold for resale to industrial users. Such persons are not, however, relieved from compliance with any WPB orders or regulations which control the distribution of the material by them.

If this List A shows no restrictions on the special sale of a material or product to a regular dealer, the seller may sell it to any person for resale who gives him the following certification, provided the seller has no reason to believe that it is false.

The undersigned buyer certifies under Priorities Regulation 13 to the seller and to the WPB that he will in good faith offer for sale the material or product covered by this order in substantially the same time and manner as would a person regularly dealing in it, that he will render substantially the same type of service as would such a person, and that he will comply with all WPB regulations and orders applicable to such a person.

(Signature)

Any person giving such a certification must comply with all applicable WPB regulations and orders as he has certified he will. The standard certification provided in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used in place of this certification.

(4) To persons buying for use subject to the restrictions indicated in Columns 2 and 4 of the list.

C. Exceptions from the restrictions on the list. Even if this List A shows a restriction on the special sale of a particular material or product, the sale may still be made if one or more of the following conditions apply:

(1) Special permission. If the list requires special authorization from the WPB in order for a sale of a particular material or product to be made, or if other conditions imposed by the list cannot be met, the seller may apply on Form WPB–1161 for special permission to sell unless the list states that some other form must be used. If Form WPB–1161 is applicable, and permission is given, it may be restricted to a specific buyer or class of buyers, or may permit the sale to any buyer for resale who gives the certification described in section B (3) above relating to dealers.

(2) Used materials or products. If the material or product is used, it may be sold freely to anyone unless a notation on List A indicates a restriction on its sale.

(3) Small quantity exemption. A special sale may be made freely if all the material or product of the same kind or type that the seller has at any one plant, operating unit or location did not cost him more than $100. In the case of any materials or products involved in a Government contract termination, this exemption applies if there is no more than $100 worth of the material or product in the termination inventory at any one location. Similarly, $100 worth (at cost) of any material or product may be sold at any single public auction, regardless of the amount of the material or product the seller has. Also, for the purpose of determining whether a particular lot of material or product is suitable for the prospective customer's use, a person may make a special sale of a sample lot, provided the amount involved (at cost to the seller) of any such sample does not exceed $20.

(4) Special orders. If the War Production Board by an order or in any other way has ruled that all persons engaged in a particular business may sell or exchange the materials or products between themselves, they may do so.

(5) Disposal of contract termination inventories. For the purpose of making a settlement of a Government contract, surplus materials or products on List A may be transferred freely from any subcontractor or prime contractor to a procuring agency or disposal agency of the Government, providing the procuring agency has so directed. However, if any material or product is later withdrawn from the contract settlement, its disposition is controlled by this List A.

(6) Sales to Government stockpiling agencies. A person may sell surplus materials or products on List A freely to one of the following Government Corporations or to anyone buying as agent for one of them: Commodity Credit Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve or Rubber Reserve Company.

(7) Transfers of surplus Government-owned materials or products. Transfers by Government agencies of surplus materials or products, or of idle or excess materials or products not acquired for sale or resale, may be made freely to a Government Disposal Agency acting as such and may be made freely between and within the War Department, Navy Department, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Veterans' Administration, and the Defense Plant Corporation, and from the Government Disposal Agencies to any of the above.

D. Buyers obligations. No matter who the buyer is or how the sale is made or authorized, the buyer is always subject to the conditions and other provisions stated in paragraph (j) of the regulation.

LIST A—RESTRICTIONS ON SPECIAL SALES

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED

"WPB–1161" (or other designated WPB form number) means that the seller may not sell to the class of buyer listed at the head of the column without special WPB permission pursuant to application on the form specified. A note in the Remarks Column may show limited exceptions to this requirement. Section C (1) in the introduction to this list tells how to get permission.

"PR–CC" means that the seller may sell only to a person in the particular class of buyer who gives him a CC or higher preference rating. These ratings cannot be used further by the seller, as explained in paragraph (d) (3) of the regulation. This regulation does not in any way assign preference ratings.

"WOP" means that the seller can sell to the class of buyer listed at the head of the column without any preference rating, allocation, or other special permission being necessary.

Provisions in the Remarks Column applicable to the particular material or product must be complied with.

DIRECTION 4

INVENTORY EXEMPTION FOR SURPLUS AIRCRAFT MATERIALS FOR USE IN MANUFACTURE OF CIVILIAN AIRCRAFT

(a) What this direction does. The reduction in military aircraft programs has resulted in large surpluses of aircraft quality materials and components far exceeding foreseeable commercial requirements for civilian aircraft. In order to encourage the disposal of these materials for use in the manufacture of civilian aircraft, this direction permits such manufacturers to receive them on special sales without regard to inventory restrictions.

(b) Inventory exception. The inventory restrictions of paragraph (j) (2) of Priorities Regulation 13 and other WPB inventory restrictions on receipts do not apply to delivery and acceptance of idle, excess or surplus materials or components received by a civilian aircraft manufacturer or aircraft sub-assembly manufacturer, provided all the following conditions are complied with:

(1) The materials must be received from aircraft or aircraft sub-assembly contractors or from Government owning or disposal agencies; and

(2) They must be received pursuant to a special sale under Priorities Regulation 13; and

(3) They must be acquired for use in the manufacture of civilian aircraft and components and not for sale or resale.

(c) Further deliveries. A person who receives materials or components under this direction may not thereafter receive further deliveries of the particular item from producers or distributors of it until his inventory of it is reduced to a practicable minimum working inventory or other applicable limitation, and his orders may not call for delivery before that time. (Issued Aug. 29, 1945.)

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 13, Direction 3, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

Direction 3 to Priorities Regulation 13 is amended to read as follows:

Government agencies and state or local governments are entitled to certain priorities in getting surplus property from government disposal agencies under the Surplus Property Act of 1944 and Surplus Property Board Regulation 2. Although, under paragraph (d) (2) of Priorities Regulation 13, WPB preference ratings no longer have any effect on disposals of surplus property, disposals under SPB Regulation 2 are still subject to any individual directives which the WPB may issue with respect to delivery of specified surplus property to a named buyer or class of buyers. Such directives will be issued only where a particular material or product is urgently needed, and is not readily obtainable from new production because of generally short supply. Disposal agencies must also comply with the restrictions on special sales of the materials and products on Lists A and B of Priorities Regulation 13.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

PART 3133—PRINTING AND PUBLISHING

[Limitation Order L-240, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

NEWSPAPERS AND OTHER USERS OF NEWSPRINT

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of the supply of print paper for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

Scope

(a) The purpose of this order.

Definitions and Explanations

(b) Newspaper.

(d) Publisher.
(e) Print paper.
(f) Use.
(g) Net paid circulation.

(i) Transfer of quotas.

Consumption Quota

(j) Allowable consumption.
(k) Computation of consumption quota.
(l) Carry-over.
(m) Consumption quotas for certain types of newspapers.
(n) Allotment to Army and Navy.

(u) Applicability of regulations.
(v) Appeals.
(w) Communications to the War Production Board.
(x) Violations.

Schedule I

(a) The purpose of this schedule.
(b) Definition of "newsprint".
(c) Newsprint consumption quotas for persons other than newspaper publishers.
(d) Newsprint delivery quotas for persons other than newspaper publishers.

Scope

§ 3133.6 Limitation Order L-240—(a) The purpose of this order. This order does four things: First, it limits the tonnage of print paper which may be used by a publisher in printing a newspaper. This is called his "consumption quota". Second, it limits the tonnage of print paper which may be ordered or accepted by a newspaper publisher. This is called his "delivery quota". A publisher's consumption quota is on a quarterly basis and his delivery quota is on a monthly basis. Third, Schedule I limits the tonnage of newsprint which a person may use or cause to be used for purposes other than the printing of a newspaper. Fourth, Schedule I limits the tonnage of newsprint which may be ordered or accepted by persons other than newspaper publishers.

Definitions and Explanations

(b) Newspaper. "Newspaper" means any publication generally recognized as a newspaper in the newspaper industry, regardless of the frequency of issuance. The term includes all supplements, inserts and other printed matter physically incorporated into a newspaper or delivered together with it.

Where two or more newspapers are published by the same publisher, whether in the same city or in different cities, each newspaper shall operate under a separate consumption quota and a separate delivery quota. In computing his consumption quota a publisher must make separate calculations for morning, evening and Sunday editions, but these figures must be consolidated into a single consumption quota for each newspaper, in accordance with the instructions contained in paragraph (k).

However, morning, evening, Sunday and other editions of the same newspaper shall operate under a single consumption quota and a single delivery quota.

In determining whether a publisher issues separate newspapers or separate editions of the same newspaper, the number and form of the reports filed by the publisher with the Audit Bureau of Circulations in 1941 will be controlling, in the absence of special circumstances. Thus, if a publisher in 1941 filed consolidated statements with the Audit Bureau of Circulations covering morning, evening and Sunday issues, even if these issues had different names, different formats and different staffs, they will ordinarily be considered as a single newspaper for the purposes of this order. If a publisher in 1941 filed separate statements with the Audit Bureau of Circulations covering his morning, evening, Sunday and other publications, they will ordinarily be considered as separate newspapers for the purposes of this order.

If a publisher is uncertain as to whether or not his publication is a newspaper as defined in this order or any of the items covered by Schedule I, he may ask the War Production Board for an official determination. The War Production Board may also make this determination upon its own motion. Such a determination, issued to the publisher in the name of the Recording Secretary of the War Production Board, shall be conclusive for the purposes of this order, unless revoked or modified by the same authority.

(c) Camp papers and free distribution publications. Army or Navy camp, post, station or unit "newspapers" or news sheets generally are not recognized as newspapers in the newspaper industry. They are covered by Schedule I, paragraph (c) (3) of this order. Shopping guides, want ad periodicals and publications in newspaper format distributed free or at nominal cost also are not recognized as newspapers within the meaning of this order and are governed by Schedule I, paragraph (c) (2) of this order. If a publisher issued a free distribution newspaper in 1941, his consumption quota shall be determined in accordance with Schedule I, paragraph (c) (2) of this order and that schedule shall govern even if the circulation of the publication has subsequently been changed in whole or in part to a net paid basis.

(d) Publisher. "Publisher" means a person who publishes a newspaper including an individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(e) Print paper. "Print paper" means any grade, quality, type or basis weight of paper used in publishing a newspaper. The term includes paper reclaimed wholly or partly from printed or unprinted waste, as well as paper made entirely from virgin fiber. It also includes roll wrappers, newsprint used as wrappers, identification sheets and labels for newspapers, and production waste, whether or not this waste is subsequently salvaged for other uses.

(f) Use. All production waste shall be included in the tonnage of print paper "used" in printing a newspaper. Transit damage shall not be included in a publisher's "use" of print paper. A publisher may determine the dates on which paper is "used" under this order either on the basis of the dates when the paper is actually printed or the dates appearing on the respective issues of the newspaper, provided he continues to use the same method which he used in computing his 1941 base tonnages.

(g) Net paid circulation. "Net paid circulation" means the number of copies of a newspaper which have been sold (exclusive of bulk sales), as audited by the Audit Bureau of Circulations or (in the case of newspapers which are not members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations) as verified in accordance with the standards of the Audit Bureau of Circulations of January 1, 1942.

(h) Inventory. "Inventory" means all the print paper which is owned by a publisher or is available for his use. It includes the print paper which he has on hand, in storage, and in transit and paper held for his use by a paper merchant, warehouseman or other person, regardless of its physical location. However, it does not include print paper shipped by water and held in warehouse by a paper manufacturer or merchant as part of the inventory of the manufacturer or merchant; such paper does not become part of a publisher's inventory until it is delivered to him.

(i) Transfer of quotas—(1) Quotas established under different paragraphs. Quotas established under paragraphs (k) or (m) of this order or the several subdivisions of paragraph (c) of Schedule I are not interchangeable. Thus, for example, a publisher may not use for the printing of a newspaper any part of a consumption quota established under Schedule I, and he may not permit any part of his consumption quota established under paragraphs (k) or (m) to be used for any purpose other than a newspaper. Moreover, a consumption quota established under any of the subdivisions of paragraph (c) of Schedule I may not be used for a purpose covered by any other subdivision of that paragraph or for a newspaper. If a newspaper publisher also conducts a job printing business he must keep these two operations separate for quota purposes.

(2) Transfer of quotas to different persons. The rules governing the assignability of quotas are set forth in Priorities Regulation 7a.

Consumption Quota

(j) Allowable consumption. In the third quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that, no publisher may use or cause to be used, in the publication of a newspaper, print paper in excess of:

(1) His quarterly consumption quota, which shall be computed in accordance with the instructions set forth in paragraph (k) or (m) plus

(2) Any less-than-quota savings carried over from previous calendar quarters, as provided in paragraph (l), plus

(3) Ex-quota tonnage, if any, which may have been granted on appeal for consumption in that quarter.

(k) Computation of consumption quota—(1) Base tonnages. Ascertain, separately, the tonnage of print paper comprising the net paid circulation of morning, evening, Sunday or other issues of the newspaper in the corresponding quarter of 1941. Add 3 per cent to each figure. (This 3 per cent is an arbitrary allowance to compensate for production waste and should be added whether the actual production waste in 1941 was greater or less than 3 per cent). These are the "base tonnages" for morning, evening, Sunday or other issues of the newspaper, which shall be adjusted in accordance with instructions 2, 3, and 4.

(2) Circulation increase. Ascertain, separately, the percentage increase or decrease in average net paid circulation of morning, evening, Sunday or other issues of the newspaper in the calendar year 1942 as compared with the calendar year 1941. (The average net paid circulation for each year shall be determined by adding together the average net paid circulation for each of the four quarters of the year and dividing by four).

(3) Tonnage equivalent of circulation increase. Apply, separately, the respective percentages of circulation increase or decrease determined under instruction number 2 to the respective base tonnages determined under instruction number 1 for morning, evening, Sunday or other issues of the newspaper.

(4) Adjustment of base tonnages. Adjust the respective base tonnages determined under instruction number 1 by adding or subtracting the number of tons represented by the percentage circulation gain or loss determined under instruction number 3.

(5) Total adjusted base tonnage. Total the respective base tonnages for morning, evening, Sunday or other issues of the newspaper determined under instruction number 1. Total the respective adjusted base tonnages for morning, evening, Sunday, or other issues of the newspaper determined under instruction number 4. The larger of these two totals is the publisher's "total adjusted base tonnage" from which the required reductions shall be applied.

(6) Sliding scale of reductions. Reduce the total adjusted base tonnage by the following sliding scale of percentage cuts:

(i) Deduct 2% of the amount over 25 tons but not over 125 tons.
(ii) Deduct 4% of the amount over 125 tons but not over 250 tons.
(iii) Deduct 6% of the amount over 250 tons but not over 500 tons.
(iv) Deduct 10% of the amount over 500 tons but not over 1000 tons.
(v) Deduct 12% of the amount over 1000 tons.

(7) Consumption quota. The balance remaining after subtraction of the above reductions from the total adjusted base tonnage determined under instruction number 5 is the publisher's consumption quota for the quarter.

(8) Adjustment for print paper lighter than 32-pound basis weight. If a publisher orders print paper lighter than 32-pound basis weight, his consumption quota for the current calendar quarter shall be reduced proportionately as follows: First, determine the percentage by which 32-pound paper exceeds such lighter paper in weight. Second, multiply the tonnage of lighter paper so ordered by this percentage. Third, subtract the result from the publisher's consumption quota. For example, if a publisher has a consumption quota of 200 tons and orders 100 tons of 30-pound basis weight paper, his consumption quota shall be reduced by 6⅔ tons, since 32-pound paper is 6⅔% heavier than 30-pound paper.

(9) Fourteenth Sunday in third quarter of 1945. Inasmuch as there are 14 Sundays and 78 weekdays in the third quarter of 1945, compared with 13 Sundays and 79 weekdays in the third quarter of 1941 and 1944, the publisher of a daily and Sunday newspaper may increase his consumption quota in the third quarter of 1945 by the excess of his average Sunday use of print paper in the third quarter of 1944 over his average weekday use of print paper in the third quarter of 1944. The publisher of a newspaper issued only on Sundays may increase his consumption quota in the third quarter of 1945 by one-thirteenth of his allowable use of print paper in the third quarter of 1944. No publisher may increase his delivery quota because of any additional tonnage he may use for the fourteenth Sunday in the third quarter of 1945.

(l) Carry-over. If a publisher uses less print paper than he is permitted to use in the fourth quarter of 1943, or in any calendar quarter after that, he may add this tonnage to his consumption quota but not to his delivery quota, in any succeeding quarter. This paragraph does not apply to the print paper which a publisher is permitted to use under paragraph (m) (2).

(m) Consumption quotas for certain types of newspapers. Excepted from the provisions of paragraph (k) are certain types of newspapers described in this paragraph (m), whose consumption quotas shall be computed as follows:

(1) Special types of newspapers. Any newspaper containing the equivalent of 8 standard-size pages or less which is authorized to be admitted to the mails as second-class matter under the provisions of section 521 of the Postal Laws and Regulations of 1940 (Title 39, U. S. C., sec. 229) pertaining to the publications of benevolent, fraternal, trades-union, professional, literary, historical, and scientific organizations and societies shall have a consumption quota of print paper in any calendar quarter equal to either:

(i) Its quarterly consumption of print paper in any one of the first three calendar quarters of 1944; or

(ii) Its consumption of print paper in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1943. If the publisher selects this latter method in any calendar quarter, he may increase his consumption quota in that quarter by that percentage by which the average number of copies per issue in the third quarter of 1944 exceeds the average number of copies per issue in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1943. For example, if a newspaper's consumption of print paper in the first quarter of 1943 was 5 tons with an average press-run in that quarter of 5,000 copies per issue, and its average press-run in the third quarter of 1944 was 6,250 copies per issue, his consumption quota for the first calendar quarter of 1945 is 6¼ tons.

(2) Small newspapers. During the third calendar quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that, any person may use or cause to be used 10 tons of print paper for a newspaper published weekly or less frequently, 11¼ tons of print paper for a newspaper published semi-weekly, 12½ tons of print paper for a newspaper published tri-weekly, 13¾ tons of print paper for a newspaper published four times a week, 15 tons of print paper for a newspaper published 5 times a week, 16¼ tons of print paper for a newspaper published 6 times a week, or 17½ tons of print paper for a newspaper published 7 times a week. It makes no difference whether he used that much print paper or any print paper in the publication of a newspaper during any previous period.

(3) Other newspapers using less than 25 tons per quarter. If, prior to October 1, 1944, a publisher used less than 25 tons of print paper per calendar quarter for civilian readers (whether or not he used additional paper for military readers), his total quarterly consumption quota for all types of readers shall be computed as follows:

(i) Ascertain the total number of copies of all issues printed in each of the seven calendar quarters between January 1, 1943 and September 30, 1944.

(ii) Ascertain the average number of pages per issue printed in each of the seven calendar quarters between January 1, 1943 and September 30, 1944.

(iii) Multiply the highest quarterly figure determined under subdivision (i) by the highest quarterly figure determined under subdivision (ii). The weight of paper required to produce this number of pages is the publisher's quarterly consumption quota; Provided, however, That if this figure is in excess of 25 tons, the publisher shall be limited to 25 tons per quarter plus the tonnage in excess of 25 tons which he used for military circulation in the third quarter of 1944.

(n) Allotment to Army and Navy. The War Production Board may from time to time delegate to the Army and the Navy authority to add to the consumption quotas of newspaper, magazine, and book publishers the tonnage consumed in publications which are distributed by the Army or Navy to United States Armed Forces personnel (1) in the Continental United States without charge or (2) outside the Continental United States with or without charge. This provision does not cover purchases by military exchanges or service departments as defined in Priorities Regulation No. 17 for distribution within the continental limits of the United States. All newspapers, magazines, and books sold to the military shall be charged against the publisher's consumption quota unless the publisher has received a specific grant from the Army or the Navy pursuant to this paragraph.

Delivery Quota

(o) Computation of delivery quota. In July 1945, and in each calendar month after that, no publisher may order or accept delivery of print paper in excess of his monthly delivery quota, which shall be computed in accordance with the following instructions:

(1) Monthly base. Total the publisher's consumption quotas for the third and fourth quarters of 1945 and add the ex-quota tonnage, if any, which may have been granted for the third and fourth quarters of 1945. Divide by 6. Do not add any carry-over from preceding quarters.

(2) Inventory ceiling. The above amount shall be reduced accordingly if a publisher's inventory is, or by virtue of such order or acceptance will become, on December 31, 1945, greater than: (i) 30 days' supply for publishers in the states named in List A, (ii) 50 days' supply for publishers in the States named in List B, or (iii) 60 tons for publishers who would be limited to a smaller amount by subdivision (i) or (ii) above.

3. Exclusions. In computing his monthly base under paragraph (o) (1), and in computing the maximum tonnage which he may have in his inventory on December 31, 1945 in accordance with paragraph (o) (2), a publisher shall exclude any less-than-quota savings under his consumption quota carried over from previous quarters. He shall also exclude print paper which he has received by Great Lakes or coastal water-borne shipments; provided on May 1 of any calendar year he shall have on hand or available for use not more than (i) a 30 days' supply if he is located in one of the States named on List A above, or (ii) a 50 days' supply if he is located in one of the States named in List B above and provided further that no publisher may order or accept delivery of a total amount of print paper by water, rail or otherwise in any calendar year (including both the open and closed navigation seasons) in excess of his permitted consumption for that calendar year.

(4) Computation of rate of consumption. The number of days' supply shall be computed at the average daily rate of allowable consumption for the last six months of 1945.

(5) Fractional carloads. If a publisher's delivery quota for any month is less than one carload, he may nevertheless order and accept, in that month, up to one full carload. If a publisher's delivery quota for any month is a whole number of carloads plus a fraction of another carload, the fraction may be added to his delivery quota for any succeeding month.

(6) Transit damage. If print paper in inventory is destroyed or damaged to such an extent that it becomes unusable in publishing his newspaper, whether this occurs while the paper is in transit or after it has reached its destination, the publisher may increase his delivery quota (but not his consumption quota) in the same or any subsequent month by an amount sufficient to replace such paper. It is immaterial whether or not the publisher is reimbursed for the destroyed or damaged paper by the shipper, the carrier, or an insurance company. It is also immaterial whether or not the publisher salvages all or part of the damaged paper for use other than in publishing his newspaper.

(7) Report on transit damage. Any publisher who increases his delivery quota to replace destroyed or damaged print paper in accordance with subparagraph 6 above shall, within 15 days after placing the order for such replacement, file a letter with the War Production Board stating the number of tons comprising the publisher's delivery quota for that month, the number of tons destroyed or damaged, the manner in which such print paper was rendered unfit for use in publishing his newspaper, and the number of tons ordered in excess of his delivery quota. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(p) Exceptions. Permission to order or accept delivery of print paper in excess of the tonnage allowed under paragraph (o) may be granted by the War Production Board upon a written request for specific authorization stating the number of tons and the number of days' supply of print paper which the publisher has in inventory, the number of tons comprising his delivery quota, the number of additional tons he desires to order and accept, and the reasons why the denial of the request would create undue hardship.

(q) Certification. No mill or other supplier may sell or deliver to any person, and no person may accept, any newsprint for use under Order L-240 or Schedule I of Order L-240 except on a delivery order bearing or accompanied by a certification substantially in the form set forth below. This certification must be signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7 by the purchaser or by an official duly authorized for such purpose:

> The undersigned certifies, subject to the penalties of section 35 (a) of the U. S. Criminal Code, to the seller and to the War Production Board: (a) that he is permitted to place this delivery order and to accept the newsprint ordered; (b) that the newsprint will be used or delivered, or that it is required to replace in inventory newsprint previously used or delivered, under War Production Board Order L-240 or Schedule I to Order L-240.

The above certification must be placed on, or must accompany, each delivery order placed by any person for newsprint to be used under Order L-240, and the certification provided for in Priorities Regulation No. 7 may not be used in its place.

(r) Inventory reports and copies of orders. On and after July 1, 1945, the publisher of every newspaper which consumes 25 tons of print paper or more in any calendar quarter shall file with the War Production Board:

(1) A monthly statement of his inventory of print paper on Form WPB 4292 within three days after the close of each month, beginning with June 1945.

(2) Copies of all orders for the delivery of print paper placed by him or for his account. Such copies of orders must be mailed within three days after the orders are placed.

These reporting requirements have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(s) Intra-company transfers. The foregoing restrictions apply not only to deliveries from one person to another, including affiliates and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division, or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division, or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(t) Loans of print paper. Any loan of print paper made by a publisher shall be reported to the War Production Board by letter within 15 days after the date of the loan. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(u) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected by it are subject to all present and future regulations of the War Production Board.

(v) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. Appeals by newspaper publishers shall be acted upon in accordance with Supplement I of this order.

(w) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, requests for specific authorization, appeals and other communications concerning this order shall be addressed to: War Production Board, Printing and Publishing Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: L-240.

(x) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE I

(a) The purpose of this schedule. This schedule limits the acceptance and use of newsprint for all purposes other than newspapers.

(b) Definition of "newsprint". "Newsprint" means the grades of paper commonly known as "standard newsprint" and "supercalendered newsprint."

(c) Newsprint consumption quota for persons other than newspaper publishers. (1) In the third calendar quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that no person may cause to be used in the publication of magazines or books more than 113.3 per cent of the newsprint which he lawfully used or caused to be used for that purpose in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1944 or the second calendar quarter of 1945, or 10 tons, whichever is greatest: Provided, however, That any person who did not publish magazines or books in 1942 may not cause any newsprint to be used for such purposes in any quarter in which he is associated directly or indirectly with any person, firm or corporation having a consumption quota under this paragraph.

(2) In the third calendar quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that no person may cause to be used in the publication of shopping guides, free distribution newspapers, want ad publications and free distribution publications in newspaper format more than 110 per cent of the newsprint which he lawfully caused to be used for that purpose in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1944 or the second calendar quarter of 1945, or 10 tons, whichever is greatest. However, no part of a consumption quota under this paragraph may be transferred to a different city or trading area.

(3) In the third calendar quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that no person may use (except for newspapers, magazines, books, shopping guides, free distribution newspapers, want ad publications and free distribution publications in newspaper format) more than 113.3 per cent of the newsprint which he lawfully used in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1944 or the second calendar quarter of 1945, or 10 tons, whichever is greatest. However, a printer is not limited in the amount of newsprint which he may use for printing, including official Army or Navy post, camp, station or unit newspapers, to be delivered to the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration directly, or as a part of a contract for an item purchased by one of those agencies.

(d) Newsprint delivery quotas for persons other than newspaper publishers. In the fourth calendar quarter of 1945 and in each calendar quarter after that no person (other than the publisher of a newspaper) may order or accept newsprint in excess of his consumption quota for that calendar quarter. This amount shall be reduced accordingly if his inventory of newsprint is, or by virtue of such acceptances will become, on the first day of any calendar quarter commencing with the fourth quarter of 1945, more than 33⅓ per cent of the newsprint which he lawfully used or caused to be used in the preceding calendar quarter, or 60 tons, whichever is greatest.

(e) Transfer of quotas. Except under circumstances stated in Priorities Regulation No. 7A, the transfer of quotas from one person to another and the acquisition or use of one person's quota by any other person, directly or indirectly, is a violation punishable in accordance with paragraph (x). Quotas established by this order may not be bought or sold under any guise. Thus, for example, if A, a publisher with a newsprint quota under paragraph (c) (1), places his name in the masthead of a magazine, and otherwise identifies himself as its publisher, but B performs most of the customary publishing functions, this is an unauthorized use by B of A's quota.

(f) Additional restrictions concerning magazines. (1) The newsprint consumed in reprints containing 40% or more of the editorial content appearing in any issue of a magazine must be charged against the newsprint quota of the publisher from whose magazine the material was reprinted.

(2) Not more than one person's newsprint consumption quota may be used to publish the same or substantially the same magazine.

INTERPRETATION 1: Revoked Dec 24, 1943.
INTERPRETATION 2: Revoked Dec. 24, 1943.
INTERPRETATION 3: Revoked Dec. 24, 1943.

TRANSIT DAMAGE

Paragraph (f) of Order L-240 states in part: "Transit damage shall not be included in a publisher's 'use' of print paper." This provision which was inserted in the order on December 24, 1943, merely explained, and did not change, the existing rule.

At all times since the issuance of Order L–240 on December 31, 1942, a publisher has been obliged to charge against his consumption quota only the print paper which was actually "used" in publishing his newspaper; print paper which was destroyed or damaged in transit need not be charged against the publisher's consumption quota to the extent that such print paper was rendered unusable in the publication of his newspaper. However, at all times since the issuance of Order L–240 on December 31, 1942, production waste has been included in the tonnage of print paper which is "used" in publishing a newspaper. PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[FFR 1; Amdt. 2 to Supp. 19]

PACKED FRUITS, BERRIES AND VEGETABLES (1943 AND LATER PACKS)

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Supplement 13 to Food Products Regulation No. 1 is amended in the following respects:

1. The table in the text of section 5 preceding paragraph (a) is amended by adding the following item immediately following the item "Peas (except blackeye, crowder, cream and field) ----- C ------- 15":

Snap beans.....	D	15

2. In section 15, Appendix D is added to read as follows:

APPENDIX D—SNAP BEANS

Explanation of how maximum prices for packed snap beans are figured and special pricing provisions. For the purpose of this appendix the following only shall be considered as separate varieties: all pole beans, all green bush beans, and all wax bush beans.

(a) Pricing method where only substandard grade of the product was sold during base period. If the processor sold only substandard grade of the product during the base period he shall establish his maximum prices under section 5 (b).

(b) Special pricing provision for blends of two sieve sizes. Under this supplement a blend of two sieve sizes of snap beans shall be considered the same as the larger single sieve size in the blend for the purposes of figuring a maximum price for the blend and of selecting a base period item when pricing another item.

"Blend of two sieve sizes" means a combination of two sieve sizes which contains not more than 10 percent by volume of snap beans which are larger than the larger sieve size declared in the blend, and not more than 2 percent by volume of snap beans which are two or more sieve sizes larger than the larger sieve size declared in the blend. No portion of either sieve size declared in the blend shall have been removed from the field run thereof except as a result of table picking or hand sorting for quality.

If the combination contains more than the specified percentage by volume of sieve sizes larger than the larger sieve size declared in the blend, the maximum price shall be the same as the maximum price for the sieve size next larger than the larger sieve size declared in the blend of the same variety, style of pack and grade, packed in the same container.

(c) Selection of base period item. In figuring a maximum price under the provisions of subparagraph (3) or (4) of section 5 (a), the processor shall select a base period item nearest in container size to item being priced and nearest in such other respects as may be specified in the applicable appendix. After the nearest container size of packed snap beans sold in the base period has been determined, the processor from that classification shall:

(1) Select items of the same variety if available. If there are no such items, select items as follows: to price pole beans, select items of any other variety; to price green bush beans, select items of wax beans, and if no item of pole beans is available, select items of wax beans is available, select items of pole beans; to price wax beans, select items of green bush beans, and if no item of green bush beans is available, select pole beans.

(2) From the selected classification, select items of the same style of pack if available. If there are no such items, select as follows:

(i) When pricing whole beans, if no items of whole beans are available, select items of cut beans. If none of these items is available, select items of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack; if none of these items is available, select French style of pack.

(ii) When pricing cut beans, if no items of cut beans are available, select items of whole beans. If none of these items is available, select items of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack; if none of these items is available, select French style of pack.

(3) From the selected classification, select items of the same size and grade as the item being priced. If there are no such items, select as follows:

(i) When pricing whole beans, if no items of whole beans are available, select items of cut beans. If none of these items is available, select items of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack; if none of these items is available, select French style of pack.

(ii) When pricing cut beans, if no items of cut beans are available, select items of whole beans. If none of these items is available, select items of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack; if none of these items is available, select French style of pack.

(4) From the selected classification:

(i) When pricing any single sieve size (or blend of two sieve sizes), select items of the same sieve size if available. If there are no such items, select as follows: If any items of larger single sieve sizes are available, select items of the nearest such larger sieve size (including blends of two sizes); if no items of larger single sieve sizes are available, select items of the nearest smaller single sieve size (including blends of two sieve sizes); if none of these items is available, select items ungraded as to sieve size. If none of these items is available, select items of any blend of more than two sieve sizes.

(ii) When pricing snap beans ungraded as to sieve size, select items ungraded as to sieve size, if available. If there is no such item, select items of the largest single sieve size available (including blends of two sieve sizes); if no such item of single sieve size is available, select items of any blend of more than two sieve sizes.

(5) From the selected classification, select an item of the same grade, if available. If there is no such item, select as follows: select price fancy grade; select extra standard grade before standard; to price extra standard grade, select standard grade before fancy; to price standard grade, select extra standard grade before fancy; to price substandard grade, select standard and extra standard grade before extra standard and extra standard grade before fancy. In no case shall substandard grade be used as the base period item.

NOTE: If it is necessary to use as the base period item one of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack, or a blend of more than two sieve sizes, when pricing an item of a single sieve size (or blend of two sieve sizes) not asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack, the processor shall figure his maximum price as follows. He shall:

First, add to the base period price (converted for container type and size where necessary) the permitted increase named for the largest single sieve size of whole beans of the same variety and grade used in processing the item, in the case of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack, and the permitted increase named for the same variety, style and grade in the blend of the largest single sieve size of whole beans appropriate for the resulting figure the appropriate amount named below opposite the base period item:

	No. 2 cans	No. 10 cans
Blends of more than two sieve sizes.....	Per dozen $0.05	Per dozen $0.25
Asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack.....	.25	1.25
French style of pack.....	.05	.25

Next, convert the price so figured for sieve size and grade by applying the conversion factors named in the applicable tables and apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the price range applicable to the sieve size and grade being priced.

Finally, proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8, as set forth in the note at the beginning of section 5 (a) (2).

(d) Conversion from one style of pack to another style of pack. In each case of conversion from one style of pack to another style of pack (whole or cut, but not asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style), the processor shall figure the conversion by taking the difference between the specified dollars-and-cents maximum prices named in Table 4 for the two items and either adding it to or subtracting it from the constructed base price as the situation requires depending on whether the dollars-and-cents price named in Table 4 for the item being priced is higher or lower than that for the item from or to which the conversion is being made. For example, Y Company, whose factory is located in Area 1, sold only No. 3 sieve Fancy whole snap beans in No. 2 cans during the base period, and is now pricing No. 3 sieve Fancy cut snap beans in No. 2 cans. To figure the conversion for style of pack the company takes the difference between the dollars-and-cents prices named in Table 4 for the two items ($1.58 minus $1.32 equals $0.24). Because the company is pricing an item with a lower dollars-and-cents price than that named for the item from which the conversion is being made, the $0.24 differential is subtracted from its constructed base price in making the conversion for style of pack.

(e) Base period prices for two or more single sieve sizes of snap beans that fall in the same price range. The processor shall figure a separate weighted average price for each item sold in the base period, except that where single sieve-size items differ in sieve size only and only one price range is provided for them a single weighted average base period price shall be figured for all such items. For example, X Company, whose factory is located in Area 1, sold No. 2 cans of No. 5 sieve size Standard whole snap beans and No. 2 cans of No. 6 sieve size Standard whole snap beans during the base period. Because both sieve sizes are included in a single price range, X Company figures a single weighted average price for both items as follows:

(f) Special pricing provisions for blends of more than two sieve sizes.

NOTE: The differentials set forth in this paragraph (f) and paragraphs (g) and (h), below, for blends of three or four sieve sizes, for packed pole beans in areas other than Area II and for packed bush beans in Area 11, and for asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack, are cumulative in each case where applicable. For example, a processor in Area 10, in pricing asparagus style pole beans adds both the differential for pole beans and the differential for asparagus style.

In pricing under paragraph (f) (1) (i), (f) (1) (ii), (f) (2), (g) (1) (i), (g) (3) (iii), (h) (2) or (3), below, if the processor does not have a maximum price (for the item described) whose maximum price applies or to which the named differential is added or from which it is subtracted, he shall determine what his maximum price for that item would be and add or subtract the designated differential where appropriate.

(i) Blends of three or four sieve sizes. (1) The maximum price of a blend of three or four sieve sizes containing only No. 4 sieve size and larger shall be the same as the maximum price for the same variety, style of pack and grade, ungraded as to sieve size, packed in the same container.

(ii) For an item of a blend of three or four sieve sizes including at least one sieve size which is smaller than No. 4 sieve size, of a variety, style of pack and grade sold during the base period, the processor shall figure his maximum price, first by adding to his base price for that item the permitted increase named (plus or minus any appropriate differential especially provided by paragraph (g), below) for the largest single sieve size in the blend for the same variety, style of pack and grade, packed in the same container. He shall then apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range (i. e., the price range, adjusted where appropriate under paragraph (g), below, for the largest single sieve size in the blend of the variety, style of pack, and grade used in the item, packed in the same container size), after adding to the top and bottom prices $0.05 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $0.25 per dozen for No. 10 cans. The processor shall then proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8 as set forth in the note at beginning of section 5 (a) (2).

(iii) For an item of a blend of three or four sieve sizes including at least one sieve size which is smaller than No. 4 sieve size, of a variety, style of pack and grade not sold during the base period, the processor's maximum price shall be: For No. 2 cans $0.05 per dozen, and for No. 10 cans $0.25 per dozen, more than the maximum price of the largest sieve size in the blend, packed in the same container. (The differential to be added for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5.)

"Blend of three or four sieve sizes" means a combination of three or four sieve sizes which contains not more than 5 percent by volume of snap beans which are larger than the largest sieve size declared in the blend, and not more than 1 percent by volume of snap beans which are two or more sieve sizes larger than the largest sieve size declared in the blend. No portion of any sieve size declared in the blend shall have been removed from the field run thereof except as a result of table picking or hand sorting for quality.

If the combination contains more than the specified percentage by volume of sieve sizes larger than the largest size declared in the blend, the maximum price shall be the same as the maximum price for the sieve size next larger than the largest size declared in the blend of the same variety, style of pack and grade, packed in the same container.

(2) Blends of more than four sieve sizes. The maximum price of an item of a blend of more than four sieve sizes shall be the same as the maximum price for the item ungraded as to sieve size, of the same variety, style of pack and grade, packed in the same container.

(g) Special pricing provisions for packed pole beans in areas other than Area 11 and for packed bush beans in Area 11—(1) Maximum prices for packed pole beans in Area 10. (i) For an item of pole beans produced in Area 10, single sieve sizes Nos. 1 through 4 in No. 2 or No. 10 cans sold during the base period, the processor shall figure his maximum price, first by adding to his base price for the item the permitted increase named for the same style of pack and grade of bush beans packed in the same container, plus $0.25 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $1.22 per dozen for No. 10 cans. He shall then apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range (i. e., the price range for the same style of pack, sieve size, grade and container size of bush beans), after adding to the top and bottom prices $0.25 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $0.64 per dozen for No. 10 cans. The processor shall then proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8, as set forth in the note at the beginning of section 5 (a) (2). For an item of pole beans, single sieve size No. 5 or larger, and for ungraded, the maximum price shall be figured in the same manner as the maximum price for the corresponding item of bush beans is figured and no adjustment shall be made in the permitted increase or in the top and bottom prices of the price range for bush beans.

(ii) For an item of pole beans produced in Area 10, not sold during the base period, the processor's maximum price shall be: For single sieve sizes Nos. 1 through 4, in No. 2 cans $0.25 per dozen, and in No. 10 cans $1.22 per dozen, more than the maximum price for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of bush beans packed in the same container (the differential to be added for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5); and for single sieve size No. 5 or larger, and for ungraded, the maximum price for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of bush beans packed in the same container.

(2) Maximum prices for packed pole beans in areas other than Areas 10 and 11. (i) For an item of pole beans of any single sieve size or ungraded, style or pack and grade produced in areas other than Areas 10 and 11, sold during the base period, the processor shall figure his maximum price, first by adding to his base price for the item the permitted increase named for the same style of pack and grade of bush beans, packed in the same container, plus $0.13 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $0.64 per dozen for No. 10 cans. He shall then apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range (i. e., the price range for the same style of pack, sieve size, grade and container size of bush beans), after adding to the top and bottom prices $0.13 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $0.64 per dozen for No. 10 cans. The processor shall then proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8, as set forth in the note at the beginning of section 5 (a) (2).

(ii) For an item of pole beans of any single sieve size or ungraded, style of pack and grade produced in areas other than Areas 10 and 11, not sold during the base period, the processor's maximum price shall be: For No. 2 cans $0.13 per dozen, and for No. 10 cans $0.64 per dozen, more than the maximum price for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of bush beans packed in the same container size. (The differential to be added for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5.)

(3) Maximum prices for packed bush beans in Area 11. (i) For an item of bush beans of any single size or ungraded, style of pack and grade produced in Area 11, sold during the base period, the processor shall figure his maximum price, first by adding to his base price for the item the permitted increase named for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of pole beans packed in the same container less, for sieve sizes Nos. 1 through 4, in No. 2 cans $0.23 per dozen and in No. 10 cans $1.13 per dozen, and for sieve size No. 5 or larger and for ungraded, in No. 2 cans $0.04 per dozen and in No. 10 cans $0.20 per dozen. He shall then apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range (i. e., the price range for the same style of pack, sieve size, grade and container size of pole beans), after subtracting from the bottom and top prices: for sieve sizes Nos. 1 through 4, in No. 2 cans $0.23 per dozen and in No. 10 cans $1.13 per dozen; and for sieve size No. 5 or larger and for ungraded, in No. 2 cans $0.04 per dozen and in No. 10 cans $0.20 per dozen. The processor shall then proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8, as set forth in the note at the beginning of section 5 (a) (2).

(ii) For an item of bush beans of any single sieve size or ungraded, style of pack and grade produced in Area 11, not sold during the base period, the processor's maximum price shall be: for sieve sizes Nos. 1 through 4, in No. 2 cans $0.23 per dozen, and in No. 10 cans $1.13 per dozen, less than the maximum price for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of pole beans packed in the same container; and for sieve size No. 5 or larger and for ungraded, in No. 2 cans $0.04 per dozen, and in No. 10 cans $0.20 per dozen, less than the maximum price for the same style of pack, sieve size and grade of pole beans packed in the same container. (The differential to be subtracted for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5.)

NOTE: Asparagus (horizontal or vertical) and French styles of pack are not priced under this paragraph. They are priced under paragraph (h), below.

Also, blends of sieve sizes are not priced under this paragraph. They are priced under paragraph (f), above.

(h) Special pricing provisions for certain styles of pack. (1) For any item of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack sold during the base period, the processor shall figure his maximum price, first by adding to his base price for the item the permitted increase named (plus or minus any appropriate differential especially provided by paragraph (g), above) for the largest single sieve size of whole beans of the variety and grade used in the style of pack being priced, packed in the same container. He shall then apply to the resulting figure the limitations of the applicable price range (i. e., the price range, adjusted where appropriate under paragraph (g), above, for the largest single sieve size of whole beans of the variety and grade used in the item, packed in the same container size), after adding to the top and bottom prices $0.25 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $1.25 per dozen for No. 10 cans in the case of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack, and $0.05 per dozen for No. 2 cans and $0.25 per dozen for No. 10 cans in the case of French style of pack. The processor shall then proceed with steps 5, 7 and 8, as set forth in the note at beginning of section 5 (a) (2).

(2) For an item of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) or French style of pack not sold during the base period, the processor's maximum price shall be: For No. 2 cans $0.25 per dozen, and for No. 10 cans $1.25 per dozen, in the case of asparagus (horizontal or vertical) style of pack, and for No. 2 cans $0.05 per dozen and for No. 10 cans $0.25 per dozen, in the case of French style of pack, more than the maximum price for packed whole beans of the same variety, grade and sieve size. (The differential to be added for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5.)

(i) Maximum prices for short cuts, end pieces and nubbins. For an item of short cuts, end pieces or nubbins, the processor's maximum price shall be: For all blends of sieve sizes No. 4 and smaller, the maximum price for standard grade No. 5 sieve and up, packed in the same container; for sieve size No. 5 or larger, and for ungraded, in No. 2 cans $0.10 per dozen, and in No. 10 cans $0.49 per dozen, less than the maximum price for standard grade No. 5 sieve and up, packed in the same container (the differential to be subtracted for another container size shall be figured by use of the appropriate conversion factor set forth in Table 5).

(j) Meaning of "ungraded" as used in this appendix. When used in this appendix the term "ungraded" refers to sieve size and means that the snap beans have been packed field run, (that is, without sieve size separation except as a result of table picking or hand sorting for quality).

PART 1439—UNPROCESSED AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

ROUGH RICE

This compilation of Maximum Price Regulation 518 includes Amendment 7, effective October 7, 1945. A new item added by Amendment 7 is indicated by a note.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices of rough rice have risen and are threatening to rise further to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and are thereby causing undue increases in prices.

The maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation are, in the judgment of the Price Administrator, generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328.

Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation have previously been promulgated and their use lawfully required by another Government agency. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[2]

In fixing the maximum prices established by this regulation, the Price Administrator has given adequate weighting to farm labor. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation.

§ 1439.13 Maximum prices for sales of rough rice. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, Executive Order 9250 and Executive Order 9328, this Maximum Price Regulation 518 (Rough Rice) which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

AUTHORITY: § 1439.13 issued under 56 Stat. 23, 765; 57 Stat. 566; Pub. Law 383, 78th Cong.; Pub. Law 108, 79th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871; E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681.

SECTION 1. Applicability. (a) Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, this regulation shall apply to all sales of domestic and imported rough rice whether for immediate or future delivery within the 48 states and the District of Columbia of the United States.

(b) This regulation shall have no application to any rough rice purchased by the United States or any of its agencies under such circumstances of emergency as to make immediate delivery imperative and as to render it impossible to secure or unfair to require immediate delivery at the maximum price which would otherwise be applicable, if such purchases and deliveries are made pursuant to the provisions of section 4.3 (f) of Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 1[3] to the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(c) Except as provided in section 13 hereof, this regulation shall have no application to sales of rough rice for use or resale only as seed for planting.

SEC. 2. Effect of maximum prices. (a) While this regulation is in effect, regardless of any contract or other commitment, no person shall in the course of trade or business sell, deliver, buy or receive rough rice at prices above the maximum prices established by this regulation; nor shall any person offer, solicit, agree or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

(b) However, prices lower than the maximum prices established by this regulation may be charged and paid.

[Subparagraph (7) amended by Am. 2, 9 F.R. 12278, effective 10-14-44]

(8) "Transportation charges" shall be the reasonable value of transporting the lot in question between the points involved by a usual route and method of transportation, not to exceed the lowest published common carrier rate, if any, where common carrier service is available; Provided, That the maximum rates for the transportation of rough rice to San Francisco from the points set forth in Appendix A shall be the rates set forth therein.

Every contract for the sale of rough rice, which is governed by this regulation, entered into after September 24, 1945, shall be in writing, shall set forth the information required by the previous paragraph of this section and shall be filed with the district office of the Office of Price Administration for the district in which the rough rice is grown within ten days of the execution.

SEC. 13. Sales of rough rice for use only as seed for planting. (a) Within 10 days after each sale to or by a rice mill or agent thereof of any lot of rough rice for use or resale only as seed for planting, the seller shall deliver to the nearest district or state office of the Office of Price Administration a copy of the invoice of sale showing the quantity sold, the price paid, the name and address of the seller and the buyer, the county or parish where grown, and the place of sale. Said invoice shall also contain a statement signed by the buyer and reading as follows:

As required by MPR 518, I have agreed to buy and you have agreed to sell ____ pounds of rough rice for use or resale only as seed for planting and not for human consumption or any other purpose.

(b) Any rice mill or agent thereof who has purchased a lot of rough rice for use or resale only as seed for planting may file a written application with the Rice and Seeds Unit of the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C., after July 1st next following such purchase for the permission to mill the same for use for human consumption. Good cause appearing, such application may be granted by order, letter or telegram: Provided, That any sale of finished rice or of rice milling by-products produced from such rough rice shall be sold only under and subject to the provisions of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 150,[6] as amended, governing such sales.

SEC. 14. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the license revocation or suspension provisions, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and criminal penalties as provided in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 15. Protests and petitions. Any person desiring to file a protest against, or seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may do so in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[7]

SEC. 16. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1[8] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 17. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

[Sec. 17 added by Am. 1, 9 F.R. 5440, effective 5–27–44]

SEC. 18. Position of commission agents of buyers. (a) In no case may a commission agent of a buyer or any other person negotiating the purchase or sale of rough rice receive a fee if the sum of that fee and the amount paid by the buyer to the seller exceed the seller's maximum price: Except, that any person who functioned as a commission agent of purchasers of rough rice during the base period April 1, 1942, to April 1, 1944, may in any consecutive twelve month period, receive such a fee for his services on a quantity of rough rice equal to the quantity purchased by him on a commission basis in any consecutive twelve month period included in the base period. The amount of the fee received per 100 pounds of rough rice shall not exceed the average commission per 100 pounds which he charged during the period from April 1, 1942 to April 1, 1944, and in no case may the amount of this fee exceed 5 cents per 100 pounds.

(b) Any person receiving a fee under the provisions of this section shall within thirty days after October 14, 1944 register with the nearest District Office of the Office of Price Administration and present evidence of the fact that he functioned as a commission buying agent for purchasers of rough rice during the base period from April 1, 1942, to April 1, 1944, stating specifically the quantity of rough rice handled by him on a commission basis during each month of the base period.[9]

(c) No restriction or limitation is placed on persons accepting commissions or fees in connection with the purchase or sale of rough rice at prices which, when added to such commission or fee, do not exceed the maximum price in this regulation for the particular variety in question.

[Sec. 18 added by Am. 1, 9 F.R. 5440, effective 5–27–44 and amended by Am. 2, 9 F.R. 12278, effective 10–14–44]

[Special Order 22]

USE OF SURPLUS PROPERTY FOR CARE AND HANDLING

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765, 50 U.S.C. App. Supp. 1611), It is hereby ordered, That:

1. Permits. Property, both real and personal, declared surplus to a disposal agency may be used by such disposal agency or any other disposal agency to carry out its responsibilities for the care and handling of surplus property. The use of such property by a disposal agency other than that to which the property was declared surplus may be authorized by the issuance of a permit by the disposal agency responsible for the disposition of the property. No rental or other consideration for the use of such property need be imposed other than the obligation of the agency receiving the permit to maintain, preserve and protect the property, to return it to the appropriate disposal agency when no longer required for the purposes of care and handling and, in the case of personal property, to take delivery at the place where the property is located and to return it to the place and in the manner specified by the disposal agency. Such permits shall be revocable upon reasonable notice in writing by the disposal agency issuing the permits or by direction of the Surplus Property Board. Such permits may not be issued to cover standard administrative property such as office furniture and office equipment, nor expendable items or property consumed in use.

2. Records and reports. Disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain complete records showing property which has been declared to them as surplus and which is either (a) being used by them to carry out their responsibilities for care and handling or (b) which is covered by permits issued by them to other disposal agencies. Such records shall be maintained in such manner as will enable the disposal agency to report to the Board promptly upon request the information contained in these records.

This order shall become effective September 28, 1945.

SURPLUS PROPERTY BOARD,
W. STUART SYMINGTON,
Chairman.

FORMS FOR DECLARATION OF SURPLUS[2]

Surplus Property Board Regulation 1, Order 3, April 2, 1945, as amended to July 31, 1945, entitled "Forms for Declaration of Surplus" (10 F.R. 3771, 4356, 9678) is hereby revised and amended as set forth herein. New matter is indicated by underscoring.

Pursuant to the authority of the Surplus Property Act of 1944 (58 Stat. 765; 50 U.S.C. App. Sup. 1611) and in accordance with § 8301.9; It is hereby ordered, That:

Where the owning agency also acts as the disposal agency, the same procedure shall be followed. Owning agencies shall transmit to the Surplus Property Board, one copy of each SPB–1, in which property having a total cost of $50,000 or more is listed simultaneously with the transmittal of copies of Form SPB–1 to the disposal agency. Corrections or withdrawals of prior declarations of surplus personal property shall be submitted to the appropriate disposal agency on Form SPB–1.1, Adjustment of Prior Declaration of Surplus Personal Property, as attached hereto, in accordance with the instructions accompanying such form. Owning agencies shall transmit to the Surplus Property Board, one copy of each correction or withdrawal of a declaration on Form SPB–1.1 which involves a total cost (appearing in Block 10) amounting to $50,000 or more, simultaneously with the transmittal of copies to the disposal agency. Disposal agencies are authorized to correct or adjust a declaration on Form SPB–1 after verification of the declaration and inspection of the property. When the disposal agency makes such correction or adjustment without the submission by the owning agency of a Form SPB–1.1 covering such correction or adjustment, the submission of such Form SPB–1.1 by the owning agency shall not be required.

2. Each owning agency shall declare such personal property surplus to the Surplus Property Board on Revised Form SPB–2, Declarations of Surplus Personal Property to Surplus Property Board, as attached hereto, in accordance with the instructions accompanying such form.

7. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized to correct or adjust a declaration previously made on SPB–1.2 and SPB–1.3 by the War Department to conform to the property thereafter delivered to or upon the order of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. When the Reconstruction Finance Corporation makes such correction or adjustment without the submission by the owning agency of a Form SPB–1.1 covering such correction or adjustment, the submission of such Form SPB–1.1 may be omitted.

§ 8308.1 Definitions—(a) Terms defined in act. Terms not defined in paragraph (b) of this section which are defined in the Surplus Property Act of 1944 shall in this part have the meaning given to them in the act.

(b) Other terms. (1) "Foreign area" means any area outside of the continental United States, its territories and possessions. For the purpose of administering the Surplus Property Act and the regulations of the Surplus Property Board, the Panama Canal Zone, the Philippine Islands and all military bases leased to the United States by foreign governments shall be considered foreign areas.

(2) "Government agency" means any executive department, independent establishment, board, bureau, commission or other agency of the Federal Government, or any corporation wholly owned (either directly or through one or more corporations) by the United States.

(3) "Nonprofit institution" means any nonprofit scientific, literary, educational, public health, public welfare, charitable, or eleemosynary institution, any hospital or similar institution, organization or association (i) which is organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, territory or possession thereof, and (ii) which is directly supported in whole or in part through use of funds derived from taxation by the United States, its territories or possessions or by a State or political subdivision thereof, or which is exempt from taxation under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code.

§ 8308.2 Scope. This part governs the disposal of surplus property, both real and personal, located outside of the continental United States, its territories and possessions.

§ 8308.3 Designation of disposal agencies. (a) The Department of State is hereby designated under the act as the disposal agency for all surplus property located in foreign areas except surplus property covered by paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) The United States Maritime Commission is hereby designated as the disposal agency for vessels located in foreign areas which it determines to be merchant vessels or capable of conversion to merchant use.

§ 8308.4 Delegation of authority. Disposal agencies may delegate their authority for disposal of surplus property to a Government agency or to a person under the complete control of a Government agency; Provided, That copies of all instruments delegating such authority shall be filed with the Board. No delegation of such authority to any other person through agency agreements or otherwise may be made without prior approval of the Board.

§ 8308.5 Active theaters of military operations. Nothing herein limits or affects the authority of commanders in active theaters of military operations with respect to property in their control.

§ 8308.6 Declarations of surplus property—(a) Where filed. Declarations to the Department of State of surplus real and personal property located in foreign areas shall be filed as directed by the Department of State. Surplus declarations to the Maritime Commission shall be filed at the office of the United States Maritime Commission, Washington 25, D. C., or at such other office as the Maritime Commission shall designate. Forms on which such declarations are made may be prescribed by order hereunder.

(b) Limitations on power of disposal. Declarations of surplus property shall fully set forth any legal or contractual restrictions, known to the owning agency, upon the authority of the Government to dispose of the property covered by the declaration. To the extent that such information is furnished directly by owning agencies to disposal agencies, it may be omitted from the declarations of surplus. It shall be the duty of owning agencies to keep their field representatives fully informed as to all such information which is to be included in declarations of surplus. It shall similarly be the duty of the disposal agencies and of any person acting under delegated authority to keep their field representatives and any person to whom they have delegated disposal authority fully informed as to all such information received directly from the owning agencies.

(c) Red Cross property. Declarations of surplus personal property shall designate any such property known to have been processed, produced or donated by the American Red Cross.

§ 8308.7 Exemptions from Surplus Property Act. In accordance with section 32 (b) of the act, and pending further determinations and regulations or orders of the Board, the Board hereby exempts disposition of property located in foreign areas from the following provisions of the act:

(b) Section 12, "Utilization of Surplus Property by Federal Agencies."

(c) Section 13, subsections (a), (c), (d), (e) and (f), "Disposal to Local Governments and Nonprofit Institutions."

(h) Section 22, "Stock Piling."

(i) Section 23, "Disposal of Surplus Real Property."

(j) Section 36, "Termination Inventories."

§ 8308.8 Utilization of surplus property by Federal agencies. It shall be the responsibility of all Government agencies having any requirements in foreign areas to consult the records of surplus property established by the disposal agencies to determine whether their requirements can be satisfied out of surplus property.

§ 8308.9 Donations. A disposal agency may make donations pursuant to section 13 (b) of the act whenever it finds that surplus property has no commercial value or that the cost of its care and handling and disposition would exceed the estimated proceeds: Provided, That the disposal agency makes and retains a record of its findings justifying the donation, together with any supporting data. Such donations may be made to foreign nonprofit educational or charitable organizations but preference shall be given to nonprofit institutions as defined in § 8308.1 (f). In making donations of surplus property which was processed, produced or donated by the American Red Cross, the provisions of section 11 (f) of the act shall be observed.

§ 8308.10 Destruction or abandonment. Any surplus property and any waste, salvage or scrap located in foreign areas may be destroyed or abandoned by an owning or disposal agency without any notice of the proposed destruction: (a) when the destruction or abandonment is required by military necessity, safety, or considerations of health or security; or (b) whenever it is determined by the disposal agency that the property has no commercial value, or that the cost of its care, handling and disposition would exceed the estimated proceeds. Any agency authorizing destruction or abandonment under paragraph (a) of this section shall make and retain a record of the surplus property destroyed and the reasons therefor. A disposal agency should not authorize or consent to the abandonment or destruction of surplus property under paragraph (b) of this section without exploring the possibilities of making a donation under § 8308.9. Any agency authorizing destruction or abandonment under paragraph (b) of this section shall make and retain a record of its findings justifying such action.

§ 8308.12 Aircraft and property peculiar thereto. Pending further regulations or orders of the Board, surplus aircraft and property peculiar to aircraft located in foreign areas shall be disposed of only in accordance with existing procedures except that donations of such property may be made pursuant to § 8308.9.

§ 8308.13 Plants, pipe lines or other installations costing $1,000,000 or more. Whenever any disposal agency shall begin negotiations for the disposition of any plants, pipe lines, or other installations, located in foreign areas, which cost the Government $1,000,000 or more, the disposal agency shall promptly notify the Board and the Attorney General.

§ 8308.15 Importations into the United States. Pending further regulations or orders by the Board under section 33 (a) of the act, surplus property which has been sold in foreign areas shall not be imported into the United States in the same or substantially the same form if such property was originally produced in the United States and is readily identifiable as such, and disposal agencies shall include a condition to that effect in the terms of disposition, unless the purchase is made for one of the purposes in the following proviso and the purchaser so certifies to the disposal agency; Provided, however, That such property may be so imported (a) on consignment to a person or firm in the United States for the purpose of reconditioning for re-export or (b) by a member of the armed forces abroad for his personal use, if the importer certifies to the Treasury Department that the importation is being made for one of such purposes. Nothing in this section shall prevent surplus property which is owned by a Government agency from being transported to the continental United States, its territories or possessions.

§ 8308.16 Disposal policies—(a) Price policy. The governing price policy shall be to obtain for the Government, as nearly as possible, the fair value of surplus property on its disposition.

(b) Purchasers—(1) Government agencies. Transfer of surplus property to Government agencies for their use in foreign areas shall be given priority over all other disposals. This priority shall extend to transfers to any Government agency when acquiring surplus property to be used for the contribution of the United States to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

(2) Other than Government agencies. Disposal agencies may establish such order of priorities among persons other than Government agencies as they may deem appropriate in the respective foreign areas, but shall, to such extent and in such order of priority as they may deem feasible, afford the following persons appropriate opportunity to purchase surplus property:

(i) The following institutions, for use in foreign areas: (a) Nonprofit institutions as defined in § 8308.1 (f), and (b) nonprofit educational and charitable institutions organized under the laws of a foreign country which are directly supported in whole or in part through use of funds derived from taxation by the United States, its territories or possessions or which are certified by the appropriate diplomatic mission as being supported in whole or in part from funds derived from the United States;

(ii) American manufacturers or distributors, with regard to surplus property bearing their name or trade-mark, for use or disposal in foreign areas or for importation into the United States for the purpose of reconditioning for re-export;

(iii) Foreign governments for relief, rehabilitation and reconstruction purposes.

Although disposal agencies should make reasonable efforts to apprise such persons of any opportunity afforded them to purchase surplus property, it shall be the primary responsibility of such persons to make their requirements known to the disposal agencies.

(c) Payment—(1) Government agencies. Transfers to Government agencies shall be made at the fair value of the property as fixed by the disposal agency and payment shall be made by transfer of United States dollar funds or by reduction of appropriation unless transfer without reimbursement or transfer of funds is otherwise authorized by law.

(2) Other than Government agencies. When payment for surplus property located in foreign areas is made in currency, the determination as to whether disposal agencies shall accept United States dollars or foreign currencies shall be made by the United States Treasury Department in consultation with the Department of State. Where foreign currencies are accepted, the Treasury Department, in consultation with the State Department, shall determine the conditions with respect to the over-all acceptable amount of any such currency, the applicable rate of exchange, any provisions for conversion and any guarantee against loss through fluctuations of exchange. Any advice or approval heretofore given by the Treasury Department with regard to the acceptance of United States dollars or of foreign currencies shall continue in effect until changed by the Treasury Department.

Where surplus property is to be disposed of without any agreement between the disposal agency and a foreign government, the disposal agency shall request the State Department or its foreign diplomatic or consular missions to negotiate, where necessary, such arrangements with the foreign government.

(e) Limitations on exchanges. No disposal agency shall dispose of surplus property in exchange for claims or the cancellation of claims. The War and Navy Departments shall assume responsibility for care and handling of property declared surplus by owning agencies whose activities in foreign areas are discontinued.

§ 8308.18 Records. Disposal agencies shall prepare and maintain such records as will show full compliance with this part and with the applicable provisions of the act as to each disposal transaction.

§ 8308.19 Reports. Reports shall be made to the Board of property declared surplus, held, and disposed of hereunder in foreign areas at such times and in such form as may be prescribed by the Board.

§ 8308.21 Contractor inventories. Owning agencies are empowered to authorize any contractor with such agency or any subcontractor thereunder to retain or to dispose of contractor inventories located in foreign areas at the fair value thereof. In making any such authorization, owning agencies shall consult with the Department of State and shall obtain the approval of the Treasury Department as to the currencies to be accepted and the conditions of payment unless payment is made as a credit to the price or cost of work under the contract.

§ 8308.22 Surplus War Property Administration disposal procedure rescinded. All regulations, orders, instructions and arrangements made by and with the Surplus War Property Administration relating to disposal of surplus property in foreign areas are hereby superseded and rescinded.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION.

[Docket No. 5383]

LAKELAND HIGHLANDS CANNING CO., INC.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of Carroll E. Lindsey, as President, and Gordon T. Rou, as Secretary and Treasurer of Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., and Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., a corporation.

Complaint. The Federal Trade Commission having reason to believe that the parties respondent named in the caption hereof, and hereinafter more particularly designated and described, since June 19, 1936, have violated and are violating the provisions of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act (U.S.C. Title 15, Sec. 13) as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act, approved June 19, 1936, hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges with respect thereto as follows:

PARAGRAPH ONE: Respondent Carroll E. Lindsey is an individual residing in Highland City, Florida. He is now President of Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, and has been an officer of that Company since some time after June 19, 1936. After becoming an officer, and at the present time and for some time past as President, respondent Lindsey has exercised and still exercises a substantial degree of authority and control over the business conducted by said Company, including the direction of its distribution and sales policies.

PAR. TWO: Respondent Gordon T. Rou is an individual residing in Highland City, Florida. He is now Secretary and Treasurer of Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, and has been an officer of that Company since sometime after June 19, 1936. After becoming an officer, and at the present time, and for some time past as Secretary and Treasurer, respondent Rou has exercised and still exercises a substantial degree of authority and control over the business conducted by said Company, including the direction of its distribution and sales policies.

PAR. THREE: Respondent Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Florida with its principal office and place of business located at Highland City, Florida.

PAR. FOUR: Respondents Carroll E. Lindsey, as President, and Gordon T. Rou, as Secretary and Treasurer of said corporation, and Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., are now engaged, and for many years prior hereto have engaged, in the business of buying, selling, canning and distributing orange juice and grapefruit juice and other fruit juices and fruit products for their own account. The respondents' said business is conducted under the name of, and for the account of, Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc.

PAR. FIVE: The respondents sell and distribute their fruit juices and fruit products by two separate and distinct methods. The first and principal method is by utilizing intermediaries or brokers who act as respondents' agents in negotiating the sale of their fruit juices and fruit products at respondents' prices and on respondents' terms and for which services to respondents such intermediaries or brokers are paid commissions or brokerage fees. This method of distributing respondents' commodities is not challenged by this complaint.

The second method, which is challenged by this complaint, is by the sale by respondents of their fruit juices and fruit products direct to buyers, who are paid by respondents, directly or indirectly, commissions or brokerage fees on such purchases. All such buyers referred to herein are "direct buyers". In transactions between respondents and such buyers respondents do not use intermediaries or brokers.

Such direct buyers transmit their own purchase orders for such commodities directly to the respondents. The respondents thereafter invoice and ship such commodities to such buyers from whom respondents collect the purchase price of the merchandise.

Some such buyers, upon receipt of such fruit juices and fruit products from respondents, warehouse such commodities in their own warehouses or in public warehouses, and insure the commodities at their own expense and in their own names, and for their own account against contingent loss or damage.

Representative of respondents' direct buyers are: W. F. Pendleton Company, Inc., Valdosta, Georgia; Charles R. Allen, Charleston, South Carolina; Austelle-Flintom Company, Orangeburg, South Carolina; Britt-Pfaff Company, Raleigh, North Carolina; The Halfhill Company, Los Angeles, California; National Canned Food Distributors, Los Angeles, California; and Thomas E. Perry, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

PAR. SIX: The respondents, since June 19, 1936, in the course and conduct of their said business, have sold and distributed a substantial portion of their commodities through intermediaries or brokers to buyers and also directly to buyers located in states other than the state in which respondents are located and as a result of said sales and the respondents' instructions, such commodities have been shipped, and are now shipped and transported across state lines to such buyers so located.

PAR. SEVEN: The respondents, since June 19, 1936, in connection with the interstate sale of their commodities have been and are now, paying or granting, or have paid or granted, directly or indirectly, commissions, brokerage or other compensation or allowances or discounts in lieu thereof, to buyers on their own purchases of respondents' commodities. Such buyers have purchased respondents' commodities in their own name and for their own respective accounts for resale.

PAR. EIGHT: The acts and practices of the respondents Carroll E. Lindsey, as President and Gordon T. Rou, as Secretary and Treasurer of Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., and Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., a corporation, in promoting the sale of their commodities by paying to buyers, directly or indirectly, commissions, brokerage or other compensation and allowances or discounts in lieu thereof as set forth above, are in violation of subsection (c) of section 2 of the Clayton Act as amended.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission, on this 25th day of September, A. D., 1945, issues its complaint against said respondents.

Notice. Notice is hereby given you Carroll E. Lindsey, as President, and Gordon T. Rou, as Secretary and Treasurer of Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., and Lakeland Highlands Canning Company, Inc., a corporation, respondents herein, that the 2d day of November A. D. 1945, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said Act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

> In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.
> Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.
> If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true.
> Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondent may give notice in writing that he desires to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint, to be signed by its Secretary, and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of September, A. D., 1945.

By the Commission.

[Admin. Exception Order 12 Under Rev. RO 16; Admin. Exception Order 7, Under 2d Rev. RO 3]

SURRENDER OF RATION EVIDENCES BY CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

The Canadian National Railways run special trains for the purpose of transporting armed forces and Merchant Marine personnel traveling under orders in large groups from Canada to the United States and from the United States to Canada. These trains are made up in Canada and, if to be used to transport such personnel from the United States to Canada, are run empty to the United States; the commissary or dining cars attached to them are stocked with food in Canada, which is used only to feed the passengers on the trains.

Under Revised Ration Order 16 and Second Revised Ration Order 3, the Canadian National Railways have been obliged to surrender ration evidences to the Collector of Customs for all food rationed under these orders brought into the United States in the commissary or dining cars attached to these trains. The railroad has requested relief from the obligation to surrender ration evidences to the United States Collector of Customs in this situation.

Granting this relief will not impair the policy of any of the ration orders affected, since the supply of rationed foods available for civilians will not be decreased thereby nor will the railroad, as an institutional user, secure more than a fair share of rationed foods for service to civilians.

It is hereby ordered, That the Canadian National Railways are authorized to import foods rationed under Revised Ration Order 16 and Second Revised Ration Order 3 without surrendering ration evidences for such foods to the Collector of Customs under the following conditions:

(1) The foods must be imported for use in the service of meals on trains operated solely for the transportation of armed forces and Merchant Marine personnel traveling under orders from the United States to Canada or from Canada to the United States.

(2) The foods must be imported on the trains on which they are to be used.

(3) The Canadian National Railways must file with the Collector of Customs or his deputy, at the time the foods are imported into the United States, a list of the rationed foods imported, the amounts thereof, and a statement that the train on which they are imported meets the conditions set forth in paragraph (1) above.

The Collector of Customs shall turn over each month to the District Office for the area in which the point of entry is located all such lists and statements filed during the preceding month.

It is further ordered, That any other common carrier may be authorized to import foods rationed under Revised Ration Order 16 and Second Revised Ration Order 3 without surrendering ration evidences to the Collector of Customs in a similar situation. Such authority may be granted in writing by the Deputy Administrator for Rationing, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

This order shall become effective October 1, 1945.

MAX MCCULLOUGH,
Deputy Administrator of Rationing.

ELECTRIC HOUSEHOLD UTILITIES CORP.

APPROVAL OF CEILING PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register and pursuant to sections 5 and 14 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 86, it is ordered:

SECTION 1. Manufacturer's ceiling prices. (a) The Hurley Machine Division of the Electric Household Utilities Corporation, 54th Avenue and Cermak Road, Chicago, Illinois, may not adjust its ceiling prices established under Section 3 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 86 by all or any part of the amount provided in section 5 of that regulation.

(b) A revocation in whole or in part of the denial of permission to make the reconversion adjustment will be issued under the circumstances stated below:

(1) If the manufacturer, within 15 days after the issuance of this order, files a written application with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for such a revocation, and it appears that his average ceiling price for each type of machine he produced between the date he resumed production of those articles for general civilian consumption and the date this order was issued, is not more than 7.7 percent greater than his average net selling price for machines of those types during the six month period January 1 to June 30, 1941, increased by 10 percent.

Any adjustment granted pursuant to this paragraph will be made retroactive to the date on which the ceiling prices fixed by Maximum Price Regulation No. 86 became applicable to the manufacturer's sales.

(2) If the manufacturer files a written application with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for such a revocation at any time in the future, and it appears that his average ceiling price for each type of machine which he will produce in the 90 days following the date of his application is not more than 7.7 percent greater than his average net selling price for machines of those types during the six month period January 1 to June 30, 1941, increased by 10 percent.

Any adjustment granted pursuant to this paragraph will apply only to sales and deliveries made by the manufacturer on and after the effective date of the order granting the adjustment.

(3) The extent of the adjustment which will be permitted under this paragraph (b) will be 7.7 percent if it appears that the manufacturer's average ceiling price for each type of machine (computed according to the applicable one of the above provisions) is not above his average net selling price during the six month period January 1 to June 30, 1941, increased by 10 percent. The adjustment permitted will, however, be lower than 7.7 percent to the extent that it is necessary to compensate for the amount by which the manufacturer's average ceiling price (computed in the same manner) exceeds that average net selling price, increased by 10 percent. All computations of both the average ceiling prices and the average net selling price shall be made on the basis of sales to the same class of purchasers.

SEC. 2. Distributor's ceiling prices. A distributor selling any articles for which the manufacturer's ceiling prices are established by paragraph (a) above, shall determine his ceiling prices for such articles in accordance with the provisions of section 15 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 86, except that he shall exclude from his ceiling prices so established the 4.9% increase allowed by that section.

If the manufacturer applies under section 1 (b) (1) of this order for a revocation in whole or in part of the denial to him of permission to make the reconversion adjustment, distributors are hereby authorized to sell any articles which may be affected by any action taken on that application, at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with the action which may be taken on the manufacturer's application by the Office of Price Administration after delivery by the distributor.

SEC. 3. Dealer's ceiling prices. The ceiling price for sales by a dealer in each zone for the models listed below are as follows:

	Dealers' ceiling prices to consumers
	Zone 1	Zone 2	Zone 3
Washing machines
Model 42-8	Each $69.95	Each $74.95	Each $79.95
Model 42-8 ER	79.95	84.95	84.95
Model 42-9 ER	89.95	94.95	94.95
Ironing machines
Model 88	34.95	34.95	34.95
Model 89	44.95	44.95	44.95

These ceiling prices are subject to each retail seller's customary terms, discounts, allowances and other conditions of sale applied by him to sales of similar articles during the period October 1-15, 1941, inclusive.

SEC. 4. Zones. For purposes of this order Zones 1, 2, and 3 comprise the following states:

Zone 1. Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, California and the District of Columbia.

Zone 2. Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Zone 3. Oregon and Washington.

SEC. 5. Notification. At the time of or prior to the first invoice to each purchaser for resale the manufacturer shall notify each purchaser for resale of the ceiling prices established by this order for resales by the purchaser. This notice may be given in any convenient form.

SEC. 6. General provisions. (a) All the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 86 continue to apply to all sales and deliveries of articles covered by this order, except to the extent that those provisions are modified by this order.

(b) Unless the context otherwise requires the definitions set forth in the various sections of Maximum Price Regulation No. 86 shall apply to the terms used herein.

This order may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

PART 10—FEDERAL LAND BANKS GENERALLY

INSURANCE REQUIREMENTS

Sections 10.182–50 and 10.183 of Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations are hereby amended and § 10.199 is hereby added thereto to read as follows:

§ 10.182–50 Interest rate on Commissioner loans. Under the provisions of the fourth sentence of section 32 of the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, as amended, the contract rate of interest on Commissioner loans, except those guaranteed under Title III of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, is required to be 1 percent per annum higher than the basic rate on loans made at the same time by the bank through associations, otherwise than pursuant to section 25 (b) of the Farm Credit Act of 1937. With the exception stated, this requirement is applicable to all Commissioner loans, including those closed jointly with section 25 (b), direct, or special risk bank loans bearing a higher rate than such basic rate on bank loans made through associations.

(Sec. 32, 48 Stat. 48, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1016 (c))

§ 10.183 Insurance requirements. Insurance on buildings shall be required against such risks and in such amounts as the bank may determine to be necessary for adequate protection of the mortgagee's interest. In making the determination consideration should be given to the size of the loan in relation to the value of the security, the extent to which the buildings enter into such value, and the extent to which the borrower's ability to operate the property efficiently would be affected if a loss occurred and the buildings were not replaced. In closing loans the associations should notify the bank when the maximum amount of insurance obtainable is less than that required by the bank.

(Sec. 12 "Ninth", 39 Stat. 370; 12 U.S.C. 771 "Ninth")

§ 10.199 Applicability of regulations to loans, mortgages, and contracts purchased from the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation. The provisions with reference to insurance in connection with mortgage loans also apply to loans, purchase money mortgages, and contracts purchased from the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation.

PART 243—DAIRY PRODUCTION PAYMENTS

OFFER TO MAKE PAYMENTS

The "Offer to Make Production Payments" to producers of eligible dairy products issued by Commodity Credit Corporation for the period July 1, 1945, to March 31, 1946 (10 F.R. 4694, 5759), is hereby amended as follows:

1. Amend § 243.4 to read as follows:

§ 243.4 Measure of payment. Payments in respect of eligible dairy products, pursuant hereto, shall be based upon the quantity of whole milk or butterfat: (a) Produced by eligible producers and sold by them, or (b) in the case of eligible producers who are distributors or processors handling also dairy products produced by others, produced and sold from their own herds, during the period covered by the application for payment. For the purpose of any such payment for the period covered by the application for payment: (1) The quantity of whole milk shall be rounded to the nearest hundredweight; (2) the quantity of butter shall be converted to pounds of butterfat on the basis of eight-tenths (0.8) pounds of butterfat per pound of butter; (3) the quantity of cream sold by eligible producers for consumption as cream, shall be converted to pounds of butterfat on the basis of four-tenths (0.4) pounds of butterfat per quart of cream, except that if the producer is able to supply evidence satisfactory to the County Agricultural Conservation Committee (or such other agent as may be designated) that the cream contains more than four-tenths (0.4) pounds of butterfat per quart, the actual quantity of butterfat sold shall be computed as follows: Multiply the number of quarts of cream sold by 2.1 pounds and multiply the result by the butterfat test of the cream sold; (4) the quantity of butterfat shall be rounded to the nearest pound; and (5) the quantity of milk sold by liquid measure shall be converted to pounds of whole milk on the basis of 2.15 pounds per quart. To the extent that eligible producers deliver whole milk and do not recover their skim milk, payments hereunder shall be made on the basis of the applicable whole milk rates regardless of the basis on which they are paid for their product. To the extent that eligible producers deliver cream or butter, or deliver milk as whole milk and recover their skim milk payments hereunder shall be made at the applicable butterfat rate.

2. Delete the terms "County AAA Committee" and "County AAA" wherever they appear in the offer and insert, in lieu thereof, the term "County Agricultural Conservation Committee."

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter XI—Production and Marketing Administration (War Food Distribution Orders)

[WFO 143]

APPLES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of apples for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1405.58 Restrictions with respect to apples—(a) Definitions. (1) "Apples" means whole, fresh apples of any or all strains of: (i) the Winesap or Delicious (except Golden Delicious) varieties of C grade, or higher grades, and of 216 size, or larger sizes, grown in the Wenatchee-Okanogan District or in that part of the Yakima-Hood River District situated in Washington, and which apples are located in either Washington or Oregon; or (ii) the Winesap, Newtown, or Delicious (except Golden Delicious) varieties of C grade, or higher grades, and of 216 size, or larger sizes, grown in that part of the Yakima-Hood River District situated in Oregon, and which apples are located in either Oregon or Washington. This definition does not, however, apply to the word "apples" as used the first two times in (c) of this order.

(2) "C grade, or higher grades," means (i) with respect to apples grown in Washington, those which meet the minimum requirements of the C grade, or higher grades, of apples as specified in the "Washington Standards for Apples" promulgated in May 1939, and (ii) with respect to apples grown in Oregon, those which meet the minimum requirements of the C grade, or higher grades, of apples as specified in the "Oregon Standards for Apples" promulgated on July 28, 1937, and reissued on July 31, 1941.

(3) "Fancy grade, or higher grades," means (i) with respect to apples grown in Washington, those which meet the minimum requirements of the fancy grade, or higher grades, of apples as specified in the "Washington Standards for Apples" promulgated in May 1939, and (ii) with respect to apples grown in Oregon, those which meet the minimum requirements of the fancy grade, or higher grades, of apples as specified in the "Oregon Standards for Apples" promulgated on July 28, 1937, and reissued on July 31, 1941.

(4) "Size" means the size as determined by the number of apples of fairly uniform size which are customarily wrapped and place-packed in a closed container, the inside measurements of which are 18 inches in length, 11½ inches in width, and 10½ inches in depth.

(5) "Handler" means any person who ships apples, or who is engaged in shipping, marketing, consigning, or dealing in apples, either in person, or as or through an agent, broker, representative, or otherwise, but does not include any person acting only in his capacity as a grower in delivering from his orchard to the place where the fruit is first prepared for market, or delivery by such person to or for transportation to a processor.

(6) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(7) "Assistant Administrator" means the Assistant Administrator for Regulatory and Marketing Service matters, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture.

(8) "Governmental agency" means (i) the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States (excluding, for the purposes of this order, United States Army post exchanges, United States Navy ships' service departments, United States Marine Corps post exchanges, and other similar organizations); (ii) the War Shipping Administration; (iii) the United States Department of Agriculture (including, but not limited to, any corporate agency thereof); and (iv) any other agency or instrumentality of the United States designated by the Assistant Administrator.

(9) "Wenatchee-Okanogan District" includes the Counties of Chelan, Okanogan, Douglas, Grant, and that part of Kittitas County which is commonly known as "West Bar," all in Washington.

(10) "Yakima-Hood River District" includes the Counties of Yakima, Benton, Klickitat, Skamania, and that portion of Kittitas County which is not included in the "Wenatchee-Okanogan District," all in Washington; and such term also includes the Counties of Hood River and Wasco in Oregon.

(b) Restrictions. (1) No handler shall purchase, or sell, contract to sell, ship, or deliver any one of the specified varieties of apples to any person except on condition that he sets aside and thereafter holds for sale and delivery to a governmental agency, a quantity of apples, in the aggregate, of the fancy grade, or higher grades, and of sizes from 100 to 163, inclusive, equivalent to 25 percent of the total quantity of the apples of such variety which he owns or controls at the effective time of this order and of which he acquires ownership or control after the effective time of this order. Notwithstanding the size restriction contained in the preceding sentence, any handler may substitute in the quantity of Winesap apples set aside, not to exceed 10 percent of sizes 175 or 180 of the fancy or higher grades. When the requisite quantity of apples in any lot owned or controlled by any first handler has been set aside, the remainder of such apples shall thereafter, even in the hands of a subsequent handler, be free from all set-aside restrictions and computations. The restrictions set forth in (b) (1) hereof shall not apply to any handler so long as the total quantity of apples which he owns or controls at the effective time of this order and those of which he acquires ownership or control thereafter does not exceed 500 bushels.

(2) Except as may be permitted by other provisions of this order, no handler shall sell or deliver apples which have been set aside, pursuant to the provisions of this order, except to a governmental agency, and such apples shall be packed in a manner acceptable to the governmental agency.

(c) Credits. In the event a handler sells to a governmental agency a lot of apples of varieties other than those required to be set aside by the provisions of this order, such handler may obtain credit, subject to verification by the Deputy Order Administrator for the district (Wenatchee-Okanogan or Yakima-Hood River, as the case may be) where such apples were grown, for such lot against his set-aside quantity of apples of the Delicious variety by giving written notice to the said Deputy Order Administrator of the date of the shipment, the purchase order number, the car initials and number, or other shipment identification acceptable to such Deputy Order Administrator, and the number of the boxes of each variety of such lot.

(d) Releases. (1) The Assistant Administrator may, if he deems that such action will tend to effectuate the purposes of this order, issue a written release for any lot of apples which has been set aside pursuant to the provisions of this order.

(2) The Assistant Administrator may, if he determines that such action will tend to effectuate the purposes of this order, issue a general authorization releasing from the set-aside restrictions of this order any variety of apples, or any size or sizes thereof.

(e) Permits. (1) No handler shall sell, ship, or deliver to any person, other than a governmental agency, any apples without obtaining a written permit from the Assistant Administrator, and such sale, shipment, or delivery shall be subject to such terms and conditions, if any, as he may specify in such permit. Such a requirement shall not be applicable to any shipment, sale, or delivery of a lot of apples of ten bushels or less.

(2) Before issuing such a permit, the Assistant Administrator may require the applicant handler to furnish information concerning compliance by the applicant handler with the setaside requirements contained in this order, and the Assistant Administrator shall not issue a permit in any case where he determines that the applicant handler has not complied with such set-aside requirements. However, the issuance of such a permit shall not, in any way, relieve the handler from liability to set aside apples as required by (b), (c), or (d) hereof.

(3) During any period in which permits are required for the sale, shipment, or delivery of apples as set forth in (e) (1) hereof, no handler shall ship or deliver any lot of apples of more than ten bushels unless such apples have been inspected by an authorized representative of the appropriate Federal-State inspection service, or by some other inspection service which has been approved by the Assistant Administrator; and each handler who ships or delivers a lot of apples, as aforesaid, to any person other than a governmental agency shall submit promptly to the Deputy Order Administrator for his district a copy of the applicable inspection certificate covering such lot of apples.

(4) The Assistant Administrator may, at any time he determines such action will tend to effectuate the purposes of this order, suspend the operation of the provisions in (e) (1), (2), or (3) hereof for such period or periods as he may deem appropriate.

(f) Contracts. The restrictions of this order shall be observed without regard to the rights of creditors, existing contracts, payments made, or to deliveries of apples made prior to the effective date hereof. This order shall not, however, be construed as reducing the quantity of apples which any handler is required to ship, offer, or deliver under any existing contract with a governmental agency.

(g) Records and reports. (1) Each person owning or controlling more than 500 bushels of apples on December 1, 1945, shall complete Form No. FDO 143-1 and forward it to the Deputy Order Administrator for his district by December 10, 1945, in which he shall report, among other things, the varieties of apples, and their respective quantities and locations, which are owned or controlled by him on December 1, 1945.

(2) The Assistant Administrator shall be entitled to obtain such additional information from, and to require such additional reports and the keeping of such records by, any handler, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Assistant Administrator's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(3) Every person subject to this order shall, for at least two years (or for such period of time as the Assistant Administrator may designate) maintain an accurate record of his transactions in apples.

(h) Audits and inspections. The Assistant Administrator shall be entitled to make such audits or inspections of the books, records and other writings, premises, or stocks of apples, of any handler, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Assistant Administrator's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(i) Petition for relief from hardship. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance herewith would work an exceptional or unreasonable hardship on him may file a petition for relief with the Order Administrator. Such petition shall be addressed to Order Administrator, War Food Order No. 143, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Petitions for such relief shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Order Administrator may take any action with reference to such petition which is consistent with the authority delegated to him by the Assistant Administrator. If the petitioner is dissatisfied with the action taken by the Order Administrator on the petition, he shall obtain, by requesting the Order Administrator therefor, a review of such action by the Assistant Administrator. The Assistant Administrator may, after said review, take such action as he deems appropriate, and such action shall be final. The provisions of (i) hereof shall not be construed to deprive the Assistant Administrator of authority to consider originally any petition for relief from hardship submitted in accordance herewith. The Assistant Administrator may consider any such petition and take such action with reference thereto that he deems appropriate, and such action shall be final.

(j) Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this order may, in accordance with the applicable procedure, be prohibited from receiving, making any deliveries of, or using apples. In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Further, civil action may be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

(k) Delegation of authority. The administration of this order and the powers vested in the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, insofar as such powers relate to the administration of this order, are hereby delegated to the Assistant Administrator. The Assistant Administrator is authorized to redelegate to any employee of the United States Department of Agriculture any or all of the authority vested in him by this order; and one such employee shall be designated by the Assistant Administrator to serve as Order Administrator, and another such employee shall be designated by the Assistant Administrator to serve as Alternate Order Administrator, and such other employees as may be necessary shall be designated to serve as Deputy Order Administrators.

(l) Communications. Each report required to be filed hereunder and each communication concerning this order shall, unless otherwise provided herein or in instructions issued by the Assistant Administrator, be addressed to the Deputy Order Administrator for the district in which the apples, which are the subject of such report or communication, were grown.

(m) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 3, 1945.

In the Matter of James V. Blevins, an Individual Trading as J. V. Blevins Company and J. V. Blevins Brokerage Company.

This proceeding having been heard by the Federal Trade Commission upon the complaint of the Commission and the answer of the respondent, which answer admits all material allegations of the complaint to be true and waives all other intervening procedure and further hearings as to said facts; and the Commission having made its findings as to the facts and conclusion that said respondent has violated the provisions of subsection (c) of section 2 of an Act of Congress entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," approved October 15, 1914 (the Clayton Act), as amended by an Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936 (the Robinson-Patman Act):

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

[T. D. 51321]

PART 1—CUSTOMS DISTRICTS AND PORTS

HOURS OF BUSINESS

Customs Regulations of 1943 amended to provide for the establishment of regular hours of business for customs officers.

Section 1.8, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 1.8), is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1.8 Hours of business. (a) Except as hereinafter specified, each customs office shall be open for the transaction of general customs business between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. on all days of the year except Saturdays, Sundays, and national holidays.

(b) Different but equivalent hours shall be observed if a difference is required for the maintenance of adequate service because of local conditions, is approved by the Commissioner of Customs, and a notice of the hours of business is prominently displayed at the principal entrance and in each public room of the customs office.

(c) At each port or station where there is no full-time customs employee, the hours during which the customs office will be open for the transaction of general customs business shall be fixed by the collector of customs concerned with the approval of the Commissioner of Customs, and notice thereof shall be displayed prominently at the principal entrance of the office.

(d) A state or local holiday shall not be cause generally for closing a customs office, but if such a holiday interferes with the performance of work in a particular customs office or by particular customs employees, the employees affected may be excused from work.

(e) Customs services required to be performed outside a customs office shall be furnished between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. (or between the corresponding hours at ports where different but equivalent hours are required for the maintenance of adequate service and are approved by the Commissioner of Customs) on all days when the customs office is open for the transaction of general customs business. In accordance with such instructions as the Commissioner of Customs shall have issued from time to time and upon reasonable advance notice to the principal local officer concerned, such services may be furnished between the same hours on Saturdays.

(f) Where there is a regularly recurring need for customs services outside the above prescribed hours, and the volume and duration of the required services are uniformly such as to require, of themselves or in immediately consecutive combination with other essential customs activities of the port, the full time of one or more customs employees, the necessary number of regular tours of duty to furnish such services on all days of the year except Sundays and national holidays may be established with the approval of the Commissioner of Customs.

(g) Customs services shall be furnished private interests otherwise than as specified in this section only in accordance with the provisions of § 24.16 of this chapter. (R.S. 161; 5 U.S.C. 22.)

Note 7 to § 1.8 is amended by inserting "(E.O. No. 1076, May 22, 1909.)" after the second sentence. Note 8 to the same section is deleted.

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

DIRECTION TO PERSONS SHIPPING COAL PRODUCED IN DISTRICTS 2, 3, 6 AND 8

The following direction is issued:

Pursuant to Executive Order No. 9332 (8 F.R. 5355), SFAW Regulation No. 1 (8 F.R. 5832; 8 F.R. 16320; 10 F.R. 1724), and effective forthwith, all persons shipping bituminous coal produced in Districts Nos. 2, 3, 6 and 8 intended or destined for export are prohibited until further notice from making such shipments without special permit from SFAW. Pending further notice, the operation of any permit or authorization heretofore granted pursuant to SFAW Regulation No. 31 (10 F.R. 8538; 10 F.R. 11554; 10 F.R. 11739) is suspended. Applications for special emergency permits under this general notice of direction shall be filed with the SFAW Area Distribution Manager for the district in which the coal is produced and must state all pertinent facts necessary to enable SFAW to determine whether or not such coal should, in view of the emergency occasioned by widespread work stoppages in the coal mines, be retained within the United States.

C. J. POTTER,

NECESSITY OF CONTINUING IN EFFECT SFAW REGULATION 27

Widespread stoppages in production at bituminous coal mines make it necessary to continue in effect SFAW Regulation No. 27 (10 F.R. 2909) which governs deliveries of bituminous coal to industrial consumers and retail dealers. Prior to the general stoppages in production, and after having consulted representatives of the solid fuels industry, the Solid Fuels Administration for War was considering substantial relaxation of these controls in order to permit larger amounts of bituminous coal to move to retail dealers and to consumers for space heating. In view of the existing critical situation and the threat of its continuance such relaxation is now out of the question. Indeed, more stringent measures may become necessary in order to protect our economy.

It is vital that all shippers who are obligated to supply coal via the Great Lakes to industrial consumers and commercial dock operators proceed with utmost dispatch in filling their obligations. SFAW has made arrangements to check such shipments, and in any situation in which it appears that the quotas to the Great Lakes are not being supplied on time by a shipper, SFAW will reconsign the coal of that shipper so that shipments to the Lakes are protected. This applies to the regular commitments of the shippers, and to SFAW directions requiring shipments to the Lakes.

Issued this 2d day of October 1945.

C. J. POTTER,
Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

§ 944.1 Purpose and scope of this regulation; definitions. This regulation states the basic rules of the War Production Board which apply to all business transactions unless they are covered by more specific regulations or orders of the War Production Board which are inconsistent with this regulation. It includes transactions which are not subject to priority control in any other way than by this regulation. The following definitions apply for purposes of this regulation and any other regulation or order of the War Production Board, unless otherwise indicated.

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(b) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

§ 944.2 Rules for acceptance and rejection of rated orders. Every order bearing a preference rating must be accepted and filled regardless of existing contracts and orders except in the following cases:

(a) A person must not accept a rated order for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery on equal or higher rated orders which he has already accepted, or if delivery of the material ordered would interfere with delivery on an order which the War Production Board has directed him to fill for that material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(b) A person must not accept a rated order (except an AAA order) for delivery on a date which can be met only by using material which was specifically produced for delivery on another rated order, and which is completed or is in production and scheduled for completion within 15 days.

(c) If a person, when receiving a rated order bearing a specific delivery date, does not expect to be able to fill it by the time requested, he must not accept it for delivery at that time. He must either (1) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (2) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date. He may adopt either of these two courses, depending on his understanding of which his customer would prefer. He may not reject a low rated order just because he expects to receive conflicting higher rated orders in the future, nor because he would for any reason prefer to have higher ratings.

(d) If a person receives a rated order which is not required by § 944.8 to bear a specific delivery date and which he cannot fill promptly, he must accept it as long as he expects to be able to fill it within a reasonable time, unless he makes a consistent practice of not carrying a backlog and rejecting orders which cannot be promptly filled. He may treat different classes of customers differently in this respect, but only if there is a reasonable basis for the distinction. For example, he may make a regular practice of rejecting unfillable orders from all retailers but holding for backlog orders from all industrial customers.

(e) A rated order need not be (but may be) accepted in the following cases, but there must be no discrimination in such cases against rated orders, or between rated orders of different customers:

(1) If the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment. (When a person who has a rating asks a supplier to quote his regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment or the earliest date on which he could make delivery on that rating, the supplier must do so, except that if this would require detailed engineering or accounting work, he may give his best estimate without such work and state that it is not binding. However, the supplier need not quote if he is not required to accept the rated order and knows that he will not do so if he receives it. Any quotation as to delivery date to a person whose order has not been received will be subject to the effect on the supplier's deliveries of rated orders received by him after making the quotation and before he receives the firm order from the person making the inquiry.)

(For status of OPA ceiling prices under this section see Interpretation 2. For rule covering types of sales and types of purchases see Interpretation 3.)

(2) If the order is for the manufacture of a product or the performance of a service of a kind which the person to whom the order is offered has not usually made or performed, and in addition if either (i) he cannot fill the order without substantially altering or adding to his facilities or (ii) the order can readily be performed by someone else who has usually accepted and performed such orders.

(3) If the order is for material which the person to whom the order is offered produces or acquires for his own use only, and he has not filled any orders for that material within the past two years, except on "special sales" as permitted in Priorities Regulation 13. If he has, but the rated order would take more than the excess over his own needs, he may not reject the rated order unless filling it would interfere with equal or higher rated orders already on hand, or orders which the War Production Board has directed him to fill, for the material or for a product which he makes out of it.

(4) If filling the order would stop or interrupt his production or operations during the next 40 days in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations.

(For types of contracts which must be deferred see Interpretation 1b. For rule as to deferment of orders on steel, copper and aluminum producers, see Direction 11.)

(f) Any person who fails or refuses to accept an order bearing a preference rating shall, upon written request of the person placing the order, promptly give his reasons in writing for his failure or refusal.

(g) Some orders of the War Production Board provide special rules as to the acceptance and rejection of orders for particular materials. In such cases, the rules stated above in this section are inapplicable to the extent that they are inconsistent with the applicable order of the War Production Board. In addition, the War Production Board may specifically direct a person in writing to fill a particular purchase order or orders. In such cases he must do so without regard to any of the above rules in this § 944.2, except that he may insist upon compliance with regularly established prices and terms of payment.

§ 944.3 Report to War Production Board of improperly rejected orders. When a rated order is rejected in violation of this regulation, the person who wants to place it may file a report of the relevant facts with the War Production Board, which will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person rejecting the order.

§ 944.4 Assignment of preference ratings. Preference ratings may be assigned to contracts, orders or deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, or by rules, regulations or orders of the War Production Board assigning ratings to particular orders or deliveries or to specified classes of orders or deliveries. Such ratings may be assigned to accepted contracts or orders, and also to orders which have not been placed or accepted at the time the rating is applied for. Ratings are also assigned by certain governmental agencies, authorized by the War Production Board, to their own purchase orders or contracts. In some cases the War Production Board will raise or lower ratings already assigned and in that event the rules of Priorities Regulation 12 (§ 944.33) apply. Specific orders may also be issued as to particular deliveries or as to the use of particular facilities, without assigning ratings thereto.

§ 944.4a Cancellation of preference ratings. If a preference rating which has been assigned to a named person is revoked, he must immediately, in the case of each order to which he has applied the rating either cancel the order or inform his supplier that it is no longer to be treated as rated. If a regulation or order of the War Production Board which assigns a rating to a class or group of persons without naming them individually, is revoked they may not apply the rating to orders placed after the revocation. Orders to which they have already applied the rating for delivery within three months after the revocation remain validly rated, but, in the case of each order which they have placed for delivery after three months from that date, they must either cancel the order or withdraw the rating. If any person receives notice from his customer or otherwise that the customer's order is no longer rated or that the customer's order is cancelled, he must immediately withdraw any extensions of the rating which he has made to any order placed by him for more than $25 worth of material. The War Production Board may specify different rules for the treatment of outstanding ratings at the time it revokes them.

(For the rules about transferring preference ratings when contracts are assigned, see Interpretation 5.)

§ 944.5 Sequence of preference ratings. Preference ratings in order of precedence are: AAA, MM, and CC. All other WPB preference ratings have no effect, and any order bearing such ratings must be treated as an unrated order unless specifically rated AAA, MM, or CC. The letter "X" after a numeral indicates that such rating is inferior to the rating of the same numeral and superior to the rating of the next numeral. (For example, AA-2X is inferior to AA-2 and superior to AA-3.) The War Production Board, after March 18, 1944, will not assign ratings below AA-5 but any such ratings which were assigned before that date may be applied or extended.

§ 944.6 Doubtful cases. Whenever there is doubt as to the preference rating applicable to any order, or as to whether a particular order is a defense order, the matter is to be referred to the War Production Board for determination, with a statement of all pertinent facts.

§ 944.7 Sequence of filling rated orders. (a) Every person who has rated orders on hand must schedule his operations, if possible, so as to fill each rated order by the required delivery or performance date (determined as explained in § 944.8). If this is not possible for any reason, he must give precedence to higher over lower rated orders and to all rated over unrated orders. However, material specifically produced for a rated order may not be used to fill a higher rated order (except AAA) subsequently received if the material is completed or is in production and scheduled for completion within 15 days. A low rated order bearing an earlier delivery or performance date must be filled before a higher rated order bearing a later delivery or performance date if it is possible to fill both of them on the required dates.

(b) As between conflicting orders which bear the same preference rating, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the rating. As between conflicting orders received with the same preference rating on the same date, precedence must be given to the order which has the earlier required delivery or performance date.

(c) If a rated order or the rating applicable to an order is cancelled when the supplier has material in production to fill it, he need not immediately stop to put other rated orders into production if doing so would cause a substantial loss of total production. He may continue to process that material which he had put into production for the cancelled order to a stage of completion which would avoid a substantial loss of total production, but he may not incorporate any material which he needs to fill any rated order on hand. He may not, however, delay putting other rated orders into production for more than 15 days.

(For the effect of changes in customers' orders, see Direction 1 to this regulation. For further explanations of paragraph (b) see Interpretation 1c. For an explanation of how to determine the date on which a purchase order is received, see Interpretation 12).

§ 944.8 Delivery or performance dates. (a) Every rated order placed after March 18, 1944, must specify delivery or performance on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of not more than 31 days each, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. Any order which fails to comply with this rule must be treated as an unrated order. The words "immediately" or "as soon as possible", or other words to that effect, are not sufficient for this purpose. There are four exceptions to this rule, where a rated order need not bear a required delivery or performance date as long as it is understood that delivery or performance is required as soon as practicable or customary: (1) Orders for maintenance, repair or operating supplies as identified by the symbol MRO or otherwise; (2) orders placed with or by persons who normally take physical delivery of the item ordered to hold it in stock for resale; (3) orders for not more than $100; (4) orders rated AAA.

(b) The required delivery or performance date, for purposes of determining the sequence of deliveries or performance pursuant to § 944.7, shall be the date on which delivery or performance is actually required. The person with whom the order is placed may assume that the required delivery or performance date is the date specified in the order or contract unless he knows either (1) that the date so specified was earlier than required at the time the order was placed, or (2) that delivery or performance by the date originally specified is no longer required by reason of any change of circumstances. A delay in the scheduled receipt of any other material which the person placing the order requires prior to or concurrently with the material ordered, shall be deemed a change of circumstances within the meaning of the foregoing sentence.

(c) If, after accepting a rated order which specifies the time of delivery, the person with whom it is placed finds that he cannot fill it on time or within 15 days following the specified time, owing to the receipt of higher rated orders or for other reasons, he must promptly notify the customer, telling him approximately when he expects to be able to fill the order. Inability to fill the order on time or within fifteen days following the specified time does not authorize a supplier to cancel the order.

§ 944.9 Report to War Production Board of improper delay of orders. When delivery or performance of a rated order is unreasonably or improperly delayed, the customer may file a report of the relevant facts with the War Production Board, which will take such action as it considers appropriate after requiring an explanation from the person with whom the order is placed.

§ 944.10 Effect of other regulations and orders. Specific allocations or other directions of the War Production Board for delivery of material or the use of facilities must be complied with regardless of ratings, unless otherwise specified. If restrictions under two or more regulations or orders of the War Production Board apply to the same subject matter, the most restrictive controls unless otherwise expressly provided. Defense orders or other rated orders are not exempt from restrictions on the amount of materials that may be made or delivered unless expressly so stated.

§ 944.10a Effect of revocation of orders and regulations. (a) When an order or regulation of the War Production Board is revoked, all published amendments, schedules, appendices, and directions to that order or regulation are revoked, unless otherwise stated in the instrument revoking the order or regulation.

(b) All directions, authorizations, production or delivery schedules and other instruments addressed to named persons pursuant to any order or regulation which was revoked before October 1, 1945, are revoked on October 1, 1945. Whenever an order or regulation of the WPB is revoked on or after October 1, 1945, all such directions, authorizations, production or delivery schedules and other instruments are revoked unless otherwise stated in the instrument revoking the order or regulation.

NOTE. See Priorities Regulation 31 for the special rules when orders are revoked by that regulation.

(c) "Suspension orders" and "consent orders" issued on the basis of a violation of orders and regulations of the War Production Board remain in effect after revocation of such orders and regulations, unless otherwise provided. If you are subject to a suspension order or consent order which you think should be lifted or modified because of the lifting of the restriction on which the violation was based, you may address a request for relief to the Chief Compliance Commissioner, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 944.11 Use or disposition of material acquired with priorities assistance. (a) Any person who gets material with priorities assistance must, if possible, use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. This restriction applies to material obtained by means of a preference rating, allocation, specific direction, CMP allotment, or any other action of the War Production Board. Physical segregation is not required as long as the restrictions applicable to any specific lot of material or product are observed with respect to an equivalent amount of the same material or product.

(b) When a material, or a product into which it has been incorporated, can no longer be used for the purpose for which the priorities assistance was given (for example, when the priorities assistance was given to fill a particular contract or purchase order and the material or product does not meet the customer's specifications or the contract or purchase order is cancelled), the holder may use or dispose of it only as follows:

(1) If the holder acquired or made the material or product for use and not for sale or resale and is not regularly engaged in the business of selling it, a proposed sale by him is a special sale covered by Priorities Regulation 13 and he may sell or transfer it only as provided in that regulation.

(2) If the proposed sale is not one described by paragraph (b) (1), this paragraph (b) imposes no restriction on the sale. However, in such a case the holder must comply with all requirements of other applicable sections of this regulation and of other orders and regulations of the War Production Board. This is true of all such sales of any material including scrap.

(3) Whether or not he is in the regular business of selling similar materials or products, a holder may, within the limitations of paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 32 (inventory restriction on processing), use it himself for any purpose for which he has the necessary rating or other qualification which would be necessary for a special sale to him under Priorities Regulation 13 or directions issued under it. In addition, the holder must comply with any applicable War Production Board order that requires him to get permission from the War Production Board before using any particular material or product and he may not use it in any manner or for any purpose prohibited by a regulation or order of the War Production Board. It may also be used in any other manner specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board. Field offices of the Board will tell applicants how to get authorization.

§ 944.12 Intra-company deliveries. When any rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board prohibits or restricts deliveries of any material by any person, such prohibition or restriction shall, in the absence of a contrary direction, apply not only to deliveries to other persons, including affiliates and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

§ 944.13 Scope of regulations and orders. All regulations and orders of the War Production Board (including directions, directives and other instructions) apply to all subsequent transactions even though they are covered by previous contracts. Regulations and orders apply to transactions in the territories or insular possessions of the United States unless the regulation or order specifically states that it is limited to the continental United States or to the 48 states and the District of Columbia. However, restrictions of War Production Board orders or regulations on the use of material or on the amount of inventory shall not apply when the material is used or the inventory is held directly by the Army or Navy outside the 48 states and the District of Columbia, unless otherwise specifically provided. Regulations and orders do not apply to transactions in the Philippine Islands unless they specifically state that they do.

§ 944.13a Defense against claims for damages. No persons shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under any contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board, notwithstanding that any such rule, regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

§ 944.14 Inventory restrictions. No person may deliver or receive into inventory more of any material than is permitted under Priorities Regulation 32. That regulation takes the place of the rules formerly in this section.

§ 944.14a Delivery for unlawful purposes prohibited. No person shall deliver any material which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted, redelivered, held or used in violation of any order or regulation of the War Production Board.

§ 944.15 Records. Each person participating in any transaction to which any rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board applies shall keep and preserve for at least two years accurate and complete records of the details of each such transaction and of his inventories of the material involved. Such records shall include the dates of all contracts or purchase orders accepted, the delivery dates specified in such contracts or purchase orders, and in any preference rating certificates accompanying them, the dates of actual deliveries thereunder, description of the material covered by such contracts or purchase orders, description of deliveries by classes, types, quantities, weights and values, the parties involved in each transaction, the preference ratings, if any, assigned to deliveries under such contracts or purchase orders, details of defense orders (or other orders required by the War Production Board to be filled) either accepted or offered and rejected, and other pertinent information. Records kept by any person pursuant to this section shall be kept either separately from the other records of such person and chronologically according to daily deliveries by such person, or in such form that such a separate chronological record can be promptly compiled therefrom. Whenever a regulation or order requires a person to restrict his operations in proportion to his operations in a base period (for example, an order may forbid him to use more of a certain kind of material than he used in the fourth quarter of 1942) he must determine, as accurately as is reasonably possible, his base period of operations and preserve a written record of any figures and work sheets showing how he made his calculations for inspection by War Production Board officials as long as the regulation or order remains in force and for two years after that. Whenever a person is restricted as to the quantity of material he may use in production or the amount he may produce, under quota restrictions, limitation orders, authorized production schedules, special directions or similar provisions, he must keep reasonably adequate records of the material consumed and of production to show whether he is complying with the restrictions. This record-keeping requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(Photographic copies of records may be kept. See Interpretation 6.)

§ 944.16 Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this regulation or by any rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by its duly authorized representatives.

§ 944.17 Reports. Every person shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as it shall from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 944.18 Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation or any other rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board, or who, by any statement or omission, wilfully falsifies any records which he is required to keep, or who otherwise wilfully furnishes false or misleading information to the War Production Board, and any person who obtains a delivery, an allocation of material or facilities, or a preference rating by means of a material and wilful, false or misleading statement, may be prohibited by the War Production Board from making or obtaining further deliveries of material or using facilities under priority or allocation control and may be deprived of further priorities assistance. The War Production Board may also take any other action deemed appropriate, including the making of a recommendation for prosecution under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U. S. C. sec. 80), or under the Second War Powers Act (Public No. 507. 77th Congress, March 27, 1942).

§ 944.19 Appeals for relief in exceptional cases. Any person who considers that compliance by himself or another with a rule or regulation or order of the War Production Board would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may appeal for relief. The rules for the filing and handling of appeals are given in Priorities Regulation 16.

§ 944.20 Notification of customers. Any person who is prohibited from or restricted in making deliveries of any material by the provisions of any rule, regulation or order of the War Production Board shall, as soon as practicable, notify each of his regular customers of the requirements of such rule, regulation or order, but the failure to give notice shall not excuse any customer from the obligation of complying with any requirements applicable to him.

INTERPRETATION 1A: Revoked August 28, 1945.

INTERPRETATION 1B

TYPES OF EXISTING CONTRACTS WHICH MUST BE DEFERRED

Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1, as amended, makes compulsory the acceptance and filling of rated orders for any material "regardless of existing contracts and orders". The "existing contracts" referred to include not only ordinary purchase contracts but other arrangements achieving substantially the same results, though in form they may concern the use of production facilities rather than the material produced. Preference ratings are applicable to facilities as well as materials.

Examples of such "existing contracts" which must be subordinated to higher rated orders are (1) arrangements whereby a producer, regularly engaged in producing a given product for sale to others, leases a portion of his plant, or the whole of it for a relatively short period, as a going concern to one of his customers and operation is continued under the producer's management and with the producer's regular personnel; and (2) arrangements whereby such a producer, in lieu of buying raw materials and selling the product, accepts raw materials belonging to a customer for processing pursuant to a toll agreement or similar undertaking. If the deliveries to be made to such customer carry a preference rating, the sequence of deliveries as compared with deliveries to other persons placing orders with the producer is to be determined as provided in § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 1C

SEQUENCE OF DELIVERIES AND PRODUCTION FOR RATED ORDERS

The provisions of § 944.7 (b) of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended, with respect to the sequence of deliveries bearing the same preference rating, are applicable only in cases where different deliveries bearing the same preference rating cannot be made on schedule. If material supply and available facilities permit deliveries bearing the same rating to be made on schedule, Regulation No. 1 does not have any particular effect on the sequence of production for such deliveries. Where it is necessary to choose between deliveries bearing the same preference ratings, delivery to the customer from whom the order was first received with the rating is to be preferred and production schedules must be adjusted accordingly. For example, suppose a rated order is received from one customer in January for August delivery and another order bearing the same rating is received from a second customer in June calling for July delivery. If both deliveries cannot be made on schedule, the second customer is not permitted to get the material away from the first customer. The producer must defer production on the second order to the extent necessary to make delivery on the first order on the August delivery date. If, on the other hand, both deliveries can be made on schedule, it is not necessary to produce or make delivery on the first customer's order ahead of that of the second. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 1D: Revoked June 28, 1945.

REGULARLY ESTABLISHED PRICES AND OPA CEILING PRICES

An order bearing a preference rating may not be rejected on the ground that the price is below the regularly established price, if the purchaser offers the OPA ceiling price.

Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 makes the acceptance of rated orders mandatory except in the several situations specified in the section. The only exception dealing with price is contained in paragraph (e) (1) which states that a rated order need not be accepted "if the person seeking to place the order is unwilling or unable to meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment".

"Regularly established prices" cannot be higher than OPA ceiling prices. They may, however, be lower. (Issued Mar. 18, 1944.)

MICROFILM RECORDS

Records required to be kept by § 944.15 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 or by any other order or regulation of the War Production Board may be kept in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals. (Issued Aug. 14, 1943.)

INTERPRETATION 7: Revoked August 28, 1945.

EFFECT OF INVENTORY AND SMALL ORDER PROVISIONS ON SEPARATE OPERATING UNITS OF THE SAME COMPANY

(a) If an individual plant, branch store, division or other operating unit normally keeps separate inventory from the rest of the corporation or firm, inventory restrictions in WPB orders and regulations apply to it separately. Thus, although another unit may have exceeded an inventory limit, this does not prevent a unit which has not exceeded it from acquiring additional inventory within the limit.

(b) Likewise, if an order of the War Production Board provides an exemption for small purchases, an operating unit which normally buys separately need not consider purchases made by other units in determining whether it comes within the exemption.

(c) It may happen that the same operating unit will be treated separately for purposes of inventory restrictions but not for purposes of small order exemptions. For example, if a distributor purchases centrally for direct shipment to several outlets which keep separate inventories, the outlets are treated separately for purposes of inventory restrictions but the central purchasing agency must include all its purchases in determining whether a transaction comes within a small order exemption.

(d) This interpretation applies only in cases where a contrary rule is not expressly stated in the applicable War Production Board order or regulation. Also it only applies where the regular business practice of the unit in question is to keep a separate inventory or to buy separately. It does not apply if the regular practice has been changed just for the purpose of coming within this interpretation. (Issued Nov. 22, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 9: Revoked March 18, 1944.

DATE ON WHICH PURCHASE ORDER IS RECEIVED

Section 944.7 (b) provides that between conflicting orders which bear the same preference rating, precedence must be given to the order which was received first with the rating. Some questions have arisen as how to fix the date when the order was "received", due to the fact that occasionally specifications are not sent to the manufacturer with the customer's order. The word "order" as used in § 944.7 (b) means a purchase order accompanied by specifications in sufficient detail to enable the manufacturer to put the product in production. Not until such specifications have been furnished is there an "order". The date on which such specifications are furnished to the manufacturer is the date on which the order is "received". This date, and not the date on which the order without specifications was first received by the manufacturer, controls the position the order takes in the manufacturer's schedule.

For example, where an engine manufacturer on February 1st receives a rated order for fifty engines for July delivery but the customer does not, until March 1st, furnish the specifications as to carburetors, pumps, or other equipment, necessary before the engines can be put into production, March 1st is the date the "order was received" for the purposes of § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. (Issued Nov. 8, 1944.)

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1, Interpretation 1E, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

ARMY INCLUDES PANAMA CANAL—NAVY INCLUDES COAST GUARD

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

(a) The definition of defense orders formerly appearing in § 944.1 (b) has been deleted since a blanket rating of AA-5 is no longer assigned to such orders. However, any reference to the Army without any other definition in any order of the War Production Board also applies to the Panama Canal, and a reference to the Navy, to the Coast Guard.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1, Interpretation 3, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

REJECTION OF RATED ORDERS FOR FAILURE TO MEET ESTABLISHED PRICES AND TERMS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

(a) Section 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 states that every order bearing a preference rating must be accepted and filled with certain exceptions listed in the section. One exception is where a buyer does not "meet regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment". This exception applies to a seller who receives a rated order for quantities which are less than the minimum which he regularly sells. For example, a manufacturer who has been selling only in carload lots may reject a rated order for a less than carload lot.

This exception applies similarly to a person who regularly sells only in multiples of a specified quantity and receives a rated order for a number which is not a multiple of that quantity. For example, a manufacturer who regularly sells his product only in standard shipping packages containing one dozen receives a rated order for 40. He may fill the whole order or he may fill it to the extent of 36 and reject it for 4.

A further problem arises when a manufacturer receives such an order with split ratings. For example, suppose the manufacturer who sells his product only in standard shipping packages of a dozen receives an order for 20 rated MM and 20 rated CC. In such a case the general rule is that amounts in excess of a multiple of the standard shipping package ordered at higher ratings may be included with amounts ordered at lower ratings if the manufacturer wishes to adhere to his standard shipping package and not fill the order as received. He may then, in the case supposed, treat the order as one for 24 items rated MM and 24 rated CC and reject it for 2 of the items. Of course, he may fill the order as placed if he prefers to do so; but, if he does not he must fill it as illustrated above.

(b) The exception also applies to the seller who regularly sells only to certain types of trade purchasers, such as wholesalers, jobbers or retailers. He may reject orders from other types of purchasers but only if it is practicable to obtain the merchandise in the required quantity through regular trade channels.

(c) The exception applies to a manufacturer who receives a rated order which, together with orders on hand, totals less than his minimum production run of a product which is mass produced and cannot be filled from inventory. It makes no difference that he has regularly sold in quantities as small as that ordered. For example, suppose a manufacturer's minimum production run is 1,000 units, but he has regularly sold in lots of 10 units. At a time when he has none of the particular product in inventory and no orders on hand, he receives a rated order for 600 units. He may reject the order. If, however, he has on hand a previously accepted order for 400 units, he would be required to accept the order for 600 units.

(d) It should be noted that paragraph (e) of § 944.2 in which the above exception appears includes the requirement that "there must be no discrimination in such case against rated orders, or between rated orders of different customers." This means, for example, that a seller who sells principally at wholesale but also at retail to one or more customers may not reject rated retail orders from other customers. However, if a manufacturer or wholesaler has an exclusive distributor, either for all sales or for a particular territory, he may reject orders from other purchasers provided the exclusive distributor is in a position to fill the orders promptly.

[Priorities Reg. 1, Interpretation 5, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

EFFECT OF ASSIGNMENT OF A RATED ORDER OR CONTRACT ON SEQUENCE OF DELIVERY

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

When a rated contract is assigned, the rating remains applicable to the contract as assigned if, but only if, the assignee uses the material covered by the contract for substantially the same purpose for which the rated contract was placed.

Examples. (1) The Navy places a rated order with A and A extends the rating to B. Later the Navy and A cancel the contract and the Navy enters into a new contract with C for delivery of the same product at the same time and applies the same rating to it. A assigns to C his contract with B. The rating which A had extended to B remains valid as of the time it was extended by A, and B must honor it in making delivery to C.

(2) A steel mill places an order for a repair part rated CC. The steel mill finds that it does not need the part but another steel mill needs the same and asks the first mill to assign its contract for the part. The second mill could also apply a CC rating to the delivery. However, it prefers to use the first mill's rating so as to come ahead of the orders which have been placed since the first mill placed its order. The second mill may not make this use of the rating, since the rated order was placed for the repair of the first mill's facilities and the purpose of the order has thus been changed.

(3) The War Production Board assigns a rating on a Form WPB 541A to a textile manufacturer to buy some textile machinery. He places an order with a machinery manufacturer and applies the rating to the order. He decides he does not need the machinery but finds another textile producer who does need the machinery and is willing to purchase the same from him. He therefore assigns the contract for the machinery to the second textile producer. The rating does not apply to the delivery to the second producer since it was assigned by the War Production Board only for the purpose of filling a specific need shown by the first textile producer.

EFFECT OF CANCELLATION OF A PURCHASE ORDER ON DIRECTIVE REQUIRING ITS IMMEDIATE PRODUCTION

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

In many instances, the War Production Board has issued directives to producers and manufacturers requiring them to produce particular orders ahead of their normal place on the producers' or manufacturers' schedules. Typical of such directives are directives requiring them to produce certain orders by a given date, regardless of the effect of doing so on the production of other orders. If and when the particular orders are cancelled, the directives lose all effect. This is so since the reason for issuing the directives, namely, the urgent need for a particular product, no longer exists when the order for the product has been cancelled.

PLACING AND ACCEPTANCE OF ORDERS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY CONDITIONED ON REMOVAL OF WPB RESTRICTIONS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

(a) Some orders and regulations of the War Production Board forbid the placing or acceptance of purchase orders for certain materials or products unless the purchase orders bear specified preference ratings, or unless they are accompanied by special authorization or unless they meet some other condition. Such provisions do not, however, prohibit the placing or acceptance of a purchase order which by its express terms, is not to be filled until after removal of such restrictions by the War Production Board.

(b) A manufacturer may not, of course, schedule such orders for production or place material in production to fill such orders until after the applicable WPB restriction is removed. He may order materials needed to fill such orders, but his own orders must call for delivery at a future time when the material can be received under Priorities Regulation 32. Also, if he is ordering a material which is itself subject to a restriction on placing or accepting of orders, that purchase order must as well be conditioned on the removal of the restriction.

SUMMARY OF WPB CONTROLS REGARDING IDLE OR EXCESS INVENTORIES

Introduction

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

(a) Purpose of this interpretation. This interpretation summarizes some of the important rules on what to do when you have materials or products which are idle or excess in your inventory because of a termination or cut-back in your war contracts or other change in your operations. These are not new rules on this subject, nor are they necessarily complete, but they are intended to be convenient references to rules which are now effective in WPB orders and regulations. As these orders and regulations are revised from time to time, you should be sure to look at the latest copies.

(b) General rule. The general rule is that if you got a material or product by using a preference rating, or other WPB priorities assistance, you must if possible use or dispose of it (or of the product into which it has been incorporated) for the purpose for which the assistance was given. This is the rule of § 944.11 (a) of Priorities Regulation 1, which also states the conditions under which physical segregation of inventory is not required.

[Parenthetical note deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

Disposition or Use of Excess

(c) In general. If you have a termination, cut-back, or other reduction in your operations, it may be impossible to use the material or product for the purpose for which the priorities assistance was given. In this case, you may dispose of it as explained in paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) of § 944.11 of PR-1, or you may use it as explained generally in paragraph (b) (3) of that section. These rules are summarized in paragraphs (d) and (e) below.

(d) Disposition—(1) Special sales. If you want to sell the excess material or product to someone else, and you acquired or made it for your own use and you do not sell it in the regular course of your business, you should look at Priorities Regulation 13 for the rules governing such "special sales". These include special sales as scrap (other than plant generated scrap). Also, all sales of surplus materials or products by Government agencies are special sales.

(2) Other sales. If the sale of the particular material or product, including scrap, is not a special sale, it is permitted as long as you comply with all requirements of WPB orders and regulations which apply to the material or product you are selling. For example, you are usually required to accept rated orders and observe the sequence of preference ratings; and if the material or product may be sold or scrapped only on specific WPB authorization as described in the applicable E, L, M, R, or U order, you must do what the order says.

(e) Use—(1) Must be in compliance with applicable WPB orders. If you want to use the excess material or product, you must always comply with all applicable WPB orders and regulations governing its use, inventory, etc. This is in addition to the rules in paragraphs (e) (2), (3) and (4) below. To find out what orders or regulations are applicable to the particular material or product, it may be helpful to look at the WPB publication, "Products and Priorities," or you can ask your nearest WPB field office.

(2) Use permitted if you could buy under PR-13. You may use the excess material or product in your inventory for any permitted purpose for which you have the necessary rating or other qualification to buy from someone else at a "special sale" under PR-13. Thus, if that regulation says that a particular material may be sold for use only to someone who has a CC rating, you could use it yourself for any permitted purpose for which you have that or a higher rating.

(3) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(4) Special permission. If you think you could get permission to buy the particular material or product from someone else under PR-13 and the rules in paragraphs (e) (2) and (3) above do not let you use it in your own inventory, you may ask for special permission to use the material or product yourself. The way to get this permission is explained in Direction 4 to PR-1. This permission may be given for use in other war contracts or in permitted civilian uses. However, permission to use excess materials under these rules will not constitute an exception or appeal from the provisions of any E, L, or M order which might apply to the use you are interested in. Thus, you may also have to appeal or apply for the exception as provided in the particular order.

(f) [Deleted Oct. 1, 1945.]

(g) Special provision for transfer among war contractors. If you have a war contract which has been terminated or modified, and another contractor is producing similar products for the same procuring agency, he may be able to receive excess materials (from you, your suppliers, or the procuring agency) in excess of inventory limits. This is permitted when authorized by the procuring agency to the extent described in Direction 1 to Priorities Regulation 32. This direction covers both the inventory exceptions necessary to receive excess materials of this kind, and also the sale or exchange of the materials.

Bringing Inventory Back to Normal

(h) Inventory limitations. If the termination or cut-back results in your having a bigger inventory than you need, the mere possession of it is not prohibited as long as the particular material or product was properly acquired. This is explained in Interpretation 5 to Priorities Regulation 32. However, you may not receive further deliveries of the particular material or product held in excess, nor may you fabricate above permitted inventory levels, except as provided in the applicable regulations or orders. The general inventory rules are in Priorities Regulation 32, and specific inventory limits on particular materials or products or relating to particular classes of persons are indicated in Tables 1 and 2 of that regulation. In general, upon any reduction in operations, outstanding orders for the items which constitute an excessive inventory must be promptly adjusted, or, if necessary, cancelled. However, certain further deliveries may be received to the extent permitted by paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32, and special items may be received as permitted by that paragraph and by Direction 3 to that regulation. A limited inventory exception in the case of items bought on special sales is provided in PR-13.

(i) Cancelling ratings. In cutting back or cancelling orders as described above you will probably have to cancel your ratings to the extent described in § 944.4a of PR-1.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1, Interpretation 16, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

APPLICABILITY OF PRIORITY RULES TO SUPPLIERS OF COMPLETE PRODUCTS AND PARTS FOR THE COMPLETE PRODUCTS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 1:

(a) Applicability of rules regarding acceptance of orders. A person who supplies parts for a complete product, as well as the complete product itself, may not accept an order for the complete products calling for delivery on a date which would interfere with delivery of equal or higher rated orders for parts which he has already accepted. In other words, he must comply with the rules in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation 1 in accepting orders for complete products and orders for parts only. Thus if he gets a rated order for complete products calling for delivery on June 1, 1945, and cannot fill this order without using parts which are required for delivery on an equal or higher rated parts order previously accepted, calling for delivery on June 1, 1945, he may not accept the order for the complete products. In such a case, he must either (1) reject the order, stating when he could fill it, or (2) accept it for delivery on the earliest date he expects to be able to deliver, informing the customer of that date.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

INVENTORIES

(a) What this regulation does.

General Restrictions

(b) Restriction on delivery.
(c) Restrictions on receipts.
(d) Restriction on ordering more than needed.
(e) Adjusting outstanding orders when requirements change.
(f) Restriction on processing.

Exceptions

(g) In general.
(h) Receipts permitted after contract cancellations or cut-backs.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(i) Previous inventory authorizations.
(j) Separate inventories.
(k) Redistribution of excess inventories.
(l) Violations.
(m) Revisions of tables.
(n) Appeals, letters and questions.

§ 944.53 Priorities Regulation 32—(a) What this regulation does. This regulation contains the inventory rules formerly in § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation 1 and in CMP Regulation 2. Its purpose is to prevent excessive inventories by restricting ordering, deliveries, receipts and processing of materials in short supply. All kinds of materials are covered including raw or semi-fabricated materials, commodities, equipment, accessories, parts, assemblies or products of any kind, whether or not acquired with priorities assistance.

The general rule on receipts is in paragraph (c) (1), and this is controlling unless a more specific limitation or exception is indicated in Table 1 or 2 or a direction to this regulation, or unless Table 3 (formerly Order M–161) exempts the material entirely. Other exceptions to the inventory limitations are stated in paragraphs (g) and (h) and in directions to this regulation.

General Restrictions

(b) Restriction on delivery. No person may deliver any material if he knows or has reason to believe that acceptance of the delivery would be in violation of this regulation.

NOTE: For rule on making or delivering material earlier than required by customers, see Interpretation 3.

(c) Restrictions on receipts—(1) General rule. A person may not accept delivery of any material if his inventory of that material is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries or to supply his services on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation.

NOTE: For rule on when material is considered to be in inventory, see Interpretation 4; for rule as to seasonal industries, see Interpretation 1.

(2) Special rules in Tables 1 and 2. If Table 1 at the end of this regulation shows a special inventory limit on a particular material or product (either specifically or by reference to another WPB order or regulation), that limitation governs and the restrictions of paragraph (c) (1) above may be disregarded unless the applicable order or regulation (or a note in Table 1) also states that a practicable minimum working inventory may not be exceeded. The same is true with respect to particular classes of persons shown on Table 2. Where a specific period of time is shown on Table 1 or 2, no person affected may accept delivery of any material specified if his inventory of it is, or will be, more than he needs during the immediate period specified on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation. Even if an order or regulation is not listed on Table 1 or 2, any specific inventory limits imposed by it must be complied with. If an order or regulation listed on Table 1 or 2 is revoked or a listing removed from the tables all provisions of this regulation, including paragraph (c) (1), are automatically applicable.

(3) Early delivery of steel, iron products, copper and copper base alloys. Early delivery, up to 15 days before the requested delivery month, may be accepted from a producer of steel, iron products, copper or copper base alloys (in the forms listed on Table 1), but the producer may not make the early delivery if it would interfere with any rated orders. Other special rules on these materials are explained in Table 1.

(d) Restriction on ordering more than needed. (1) A person may not place any order, whether rated or unrated, for delivery of any material on earlier dates or in larger amounts than he would be permitted to receive under this regulation. Orders aggregating more than he is allowed to receive may not be placed with different suppliers even though he intends to cancel one or more of them before delivery. However, this restriction does not apply to materials listed on Table 3 of this regulation nor to purchases by ultimate consumers for personal or household use. The restriction does not forbid the placing of orders for delivery under the conditions explained in Interpretation 11 to Priorities Regulation 1, but such orders may not be scheduled for production as long as this restriction is effective.

(2) This restriction does not require adjustment of orders placed before August 28, 1945. However, in view of its policy to prevent hoarding and speculative buying of materials in short supply, the WPB may direct adjustments or cancellations in individual cases where orders are in excess of reasonably anticipated needs especially where failure to do so might result in unbalanced distribution and curtail total production.

(3) If the inventory limits applying to any material are made more restrictive, whether by a change in Table 1 or otherwise, any person affected must immediately cancel, reduce or defer any order for the material to the extent that the scheduled delivery would result in an inventory greater than permitted by the new restriction and other applicable provisions of this regulation.

(e) Adjusting outstanding orders when requirements change. If because of a change in operations, slowing or stoppage of production, delayed delivery by a supplier, or any other change in requirements, a person who has ordered material for future delivery would, if he accepted delivery on the date specified, exceed the limits prescribed by this regulation, he must promptly adjust his outstanding orders, and, if necessary, postpone or cancel them. Paragraph (h) below describes what further deliveries may be accepted.

(f) Restriction on processing. No person may process, fabricate, alloy or otherwise alter the shape or form of any material if his inventory of the material in its processed, fabricated, alloyed or otherwise altered shape or form is, or will be, more than a practicable minimum working inventory. However, this does not restrict a person from altering the form of surplus materials by scrapping or reprocessing them, unless a WPB order specifically says otherwise.

Exceptions

(g) In general. This paragraph, paragraph (h) below, and certain directions to this regulation state general exceptions to the restrictions on acceptance of delivery described in paragraph (c) above, and to all other inventory restrictions on delivery and acceptance of delivery in WPB orders and regulations unless they contain specific provisions to the contrary. None of these or any other exceptions to WPB inventory restrictions on receipts permit a supplier to disregard any applicable WPB order or regulation which restricts production or delivery.

(1) Exemption of Table 3 materials. Materials listed on Table 3 at the end of this regulation may be delivered and accepted without regard to WPB inventory restrictions.

(2) Materials bought under PR–13. Priorities Regulation 13 provides a limited exemption from inventory restrictions in the case of items bought on special sales.

(3) Imported materials. A person may import any material without regard to WPB inventory restrictions, but if his inventory of it thereby becomes in excess of the amount permitted by this regulation, he may not receive further deliveries of it from domestic sources until his inventory is reduced to permitted levels. The inventory restrictions of this regulation do apply to any deliveries of the imported material he makes, and to the amount of it that any person accepting delivery from him may receive.

(4) Advance stockpiling for civilian production. A person may receive in anticipation of starting or resuming civilian production the minimum amount of material he would need during the first 30 days of such production, provided no priorities assistance is used to get the material. Records of such receipts and the basis on which they were computed must be preserved as required by § 944.15 of Priorities Regulation 1. This 30-day amount is a ceiling as far as advance stockpiling is concerned, and may not be considered as a "bonus" to be added to the amount of any material which a producer expects to have available for making his civilian product. Changes in this 30-day amount may be indicated for a particular material by a note in Table 1.

(5) Minimum sale quantities. Minimum sale quantities and production runs may be accepted to the extent permitted by Interpretation 2 to this Regulation. However, where Column 3 of Table 1 shows a specific amount of a particular material, that is considered to be the minimum sale quantity of it. Thus, if a person would be permitted under paragraph (c) to accept less than the amount shown, he may accept delivery of the full amount. In any event, after receiving a minimum sale quantity of any material, a person may not accept delivery of any additional quantities until his inventory of it is within applicable limits.

(6) Small inventory exemption for particular materials. If a note in Table 1 or 2 shows a specific amount of a particular material as a small inventory exemption, a person may accept delivery of any quantities of it as long as his total inventory of it after acceptance is no more than the specified amount.

(h) Receipts permitted after contract cancellations or cut backs. Where a person has promptly cancelled or cut back a contract with his supplier as required by paragraph (e) and the supplier is not otherwise prohibited from producing or delivering any material involved, delivery of it may be accepted and the inventory restrictions of paragraph (c) exceeded to the following extent only:

(1) Delivery may be accepted if the supplier has shipped the material or loaded it for shipment before the receipt of the instruction to cancel or cut back; or

(2) Delivery may be accepted of any special item which the supplier actually has in stock or in production or special components or special materials which he has acquired for the purpose of filling that contract. A special item, as used above, means one that the supplier does not usually make, stock, or sell, and which cannot readily be disposed of to others; or

(3) Even if the material is not a special item, delivery may be accepted from a producer if it has already been produced or is in production before receipt of the instruction to cancel or cut back, and it cannot be used to fill other orders on the producer's books.

NOTE: For special rules on continuing receipts of special items after contract cut backs, see Direction 3 to this regulation; and as to transfers of idle materials after cancellations or cut backs, see Direction 1. For effect of reduction in consumption rate on permitted inventories, see Interpretation 5.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(i) Previous inventory authorizations. Any specific authorizations, exceptions, or grants of appeals issued under § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation 1 or CMP Regulation 2 remain in effect according to their terms unless individually modified or revoked.

(j) Separate inventories. (1) In figuring his inventory, a person must include all material in his possession and all material held for his account by another person, but not material held by him for the account of another person.

(2) In the case of a person who on August 28, 1945, has more than one operating unit and keeps separate inventory records for them, this regulation applies to each such operating unit or division independently. A person may not make any further separation or consolidation of such operating units without special written approval of the War Production Board, unless it is purely incidental to a separation or consolidation which is made primarily for other than inventory purposes.

(k) Redistribution of excess inventories. Excess inventories of materials and products, including inventories of materials which are in such form as to be unusable by the holder, are subject to redistribution to other persons by voluntary action pursuant to Priorities Regulation 13, or if necessary for national defense, through requisitioning by the War Production Board.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation, or who, in connection with this regulation, wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Revisions of tables. Tables 1, 2 and 3, attached to this regulation will be revised from time to time. As materials and products become in more ample supply, it is expected that they will be listed on Table 3. In special cases, particular materials or products may also be removed from Table 3 or added to Table 1. It is, therefore, important to be familiar with the latest revision of the tables.

(n) Appeals, letters and questions. Any appeal or other question regarding any provision of this regulation should be sent by letter in duplicate to the Office of Inventory Control and Surplus Utilization, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: PR 32, unless Table 1 or 2 attached to this regulation indicates otherwise with respect to particular materials or classes of persons.

TABLE 1—MATERIALS AND PRODUCTS SUBJECT TO SPECIFIC INVENTORY PROVISIONS

NOTE: Table 1 amended Oct. 1, 1945.

Explanation. Materials or products listed in Column 1 are subject to the specific inventory provisions shown, as explained in paragraph (c) (2) of the regulation, except to the extent that different rules may apply as to certain classes of persons under Table 2.

Column 2 shows either the WPB order or regulation which controls inventories of the material, or if no order is specified, there is shown a period of time representing the maximum inventory permitted as explained in paragraph (c) (2). An asterisk (*) indicates that the practicable minimum working inventory limit of paragraph (c) (1) also applies, that is, if it would be less than the specific limit indicated.

A figure in Column 3 shows the minimum sale quantity, that is, the amount of the particular material which a person may receive under the conditions stated in paragraph (g) (5), even if it is more than allowed under Column 2. If no figure is shown, the rule in Interpretation 2 must be followed.

Column 4 tells the Division or Office in the War Production Board to which should be sent any appeals or questions regarding the limitations described. However, if the applicable order says appeals are to be filed somewhere else, such as the nearest WPB field office, that provision controls.

Column 5 (Remarks) gives explanations, exemptions or other special rules applicable to the particular material or limitation.

Differences in color of insulation do not differentiate items of wire mill products. (2) The restrictions in this Table 1 on receipts of copper and copper base alloys, apply only to users of such materials, i. e., persons, including Government operated consuming establishments, who use any item of those materials for production, construction, operating supplies or maintenance and repair. They do not apply to producers who acquire copper or copper base alloys, for the purpose of conversion into another listed form of these materials.	()			The limitations in Column 2 on copper and copper base alloys apply only within the 48 States and the District of Columbia. TABLE 2—CLASSES OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SPECIFIC INVENTORY PROVISIONS

NOTE: Table 2 amended Oct. 1, 1945.

Explanation. The classes of persons listed in Column 1 are subject to the specific inventory provisions shown, as explained in paragraph (c) (2) of the regulation.

Column 2 shows either the WPB order or regulation which controls the inventories of the particular class of persons, or if no order is specified, there is shown a period of time representing the maximum inventory permitted as explained in paragraph (c) (2). An asterisk (*) indicates that the practicable minimum working inventory limit of paragraph (c) (1) also applies, that is, if it would be less than the specific limit indicated.

Column 3 tells the Division or Office in the War Production Board to which should be sent any appeals or questions regarding the limitations described. However, if the applicable order says appeals are to be filed somewhere else, such as the nearest WPB field office, that provision controls.

Column 4 (Remarks) gives explanations, exemptions or other special rules applicable to the particular class of persons or limitation. Where this column specifies certain materials, the limitation or exemption for the particular class of person applies only to the materials specified.

INVENTORIES IN SEASONAL INDUSTRIES

Paragraph (c) (1) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits any person from accepting a delivery which will give him "more than a practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary to meet his own deliveries on the basis of his current or scheduled method and rate of operation". This does not prevent a person engaged in a seasonal industry who normally stocks up inventory in advance of the season from accepting delivery of his requirements of the inventory in question, provided (a) that he is not guilty of hoarding, and (b) that the deliveries accepted are no greater and no further in advance than those which he would normally accept in the ordinary course of his business to meet reasonably anticipated requirements. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945.)

INVENTORY MATERIAL

(a) Paragraph (c) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from accepting delivery of material if his inventory of it is, or will be, greater than the maximum prescribed. For the purpose of this regulation, material is considered to be inventory until it is actually put into process or is actually installed or assembled. Putting into process does not include minor initial operations, such as painting, and does not include any shearing, cutting, trimming or other operation unless such initial operations are part of a continuous fabricating or assembling operation. Nor does it include operations such as inspection, testing and ageing nor segregation or earmarking for a specific job or operation.

(b) For example, if a manufacturer who uses wire or rod cuts a sufficient quantity of it to length at one time to maintain his operations for a considerable period of time, the cut pieces remain as inventory until processed into another form or until assembled or installed.

(c) If a manufacturer purchases and stores steel castings in the form purchased, the steel castings are not put into process when the castings are painted and stored. Consequently, the inventory of castings includes those painted and stored.

(d) If a manufacturer shears steel sheet and stocks in sheared form, such stock is still part of his inventory, if the material does not continue in production. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945)

EFFECT OF REDUCTION IN CONSUMPTION RATE ON PERMITTED INVENTORIES

(a) Paragraph (c) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits the acceptance of delivery of material if a person's inventory of it is, or will be, more than the amount permitted by the regulation. If material is acquired within these restrictions, the regulation does not prohibit the mere possession of an inventory if a change in circumstances makes it greater than the amount permitted. For instance, if based upon current rate of production a manufacturer's permitted inventory of one item of steel is 100 tons and he has in inventory 60 tons, he may receive a further delivery of 40 tons. If after receiving the delivery of 40 tons his rate of consumption, because of contract cancellation or the like, is reduced drastically, the mere fact that he has an inventory of 100 tons, although his permitted inventory may be only 10 tons, is not a violation of the regulation. He may not, of course, accept any further deliveries of that item of steel until his inventory has been reduced below 10 tons (except as provided in paragraph (h) of Priorities Regulation 32 and Direction 3 to that regulation, relating to material already shipped, special items, etc.)

(b) Similarly, the regulation does not affect the liability of a customer for material in inventory when the customer cancels his contract. Such liability is controlled by the provisions of the contract between the customer and his supplier and by contract law. (Issued Aug. 28, 1945)

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, Interpretation 2, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

MINIMUM SALE QUANTITIES AND PRODUCTION RUNS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 32:

(a) Applicable provisions of the regulations. Priorities Regulation 32 forbids the making or acceptance of a delivery which will give the customer more than the "practicable minimum working inventory reasonably necessary" for him to make his own deliveries. A similar provision in paragraph (c) (2) of Priorities Regulation No. 3 says that a customer who is applying a rating for which no specific quantities have been authorized may use it only to get the "minimum amount needed."

(b) Factors to be considered in determining how much can be ordered and delivered. In determining a customer's minimum inventory "reasonably necessary" under Priorities Regulation 32 or his "minimum amount needed" under Priorities Regulation No. 3, it is proper in some cases to consider not only the immediate needs of the customer's plant but also whether the amount which he orders will be a minimum production run for his supplier. The customer may order and receive (and the supplier may deliver) the customer's requirements for a longer period in advance than he actually needs at the time of delivery if, but only if, it is not practicable for him to get the item from any supplier in the smaller quantities which he presently needs. The supplier may reject his customer's order if it is less than the minimum which he regularly sells or less than his minimum production run of a product which is mass produced under the conditions explained in Interpretation 3 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(c) Relief in exceptional cases. If the conditions stated in paragraph (b) above cannot be satisfied but the customer wants to order or accept delivery of more than his actual needs at the time of delivery, he should apply to the War Production Board for permission, stating the facts and why it is not practicable to satisfy the condition of paragraph (b).

(d) Special provisions for certain materials. Where a specific minimum sale quantity is shown in Column 3 of Table 1 of Priorities Regulation 32 with respect to any material or product, that quantity controls instead of the rule in this interpretation.

(e) Specific limits on ratings may not be exceeded. This interpretation does not apply to the use of a rating where a specific quantity is stated in the instrument assigning the rating. If a person is assigned a rating for a specific amount of material, he may not use it to get more. If he finds that he can only get the material in larger quantities, he should apply for a modification of the rating.

(f) No effect on contractual rights. The times and amounts in which deliveries are to be made are to be determined by agreement between the supplier and the customer. Nothing in this interpretation relieves a supplier from fulfilling a contract to make deliveries at specified times in specified amounts. For example, if a customer has agreed to buy and a supplier has agreed to furnish 100 units a month for six months, this interpretation does not obligate the buyer to accept 600 units delivered during the first month, although it permits him to do so under the conditions described in paragraph (b).

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 32, Interpretation 3, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

MAKING OR DELIVERING MATERIAL EARLIER THAN REQUIRED BY CUSTOMERS

The following amended interpretation is issued with respect to PR 32:

(a) Paragraph (b) of Priorities Regulation 32 prohibits a person from knowingly making a delivery which will give his customer more than the latter is permitted to receive under the regulation. Paragraph (f) of that regulation prohibits a person from processing or fabricating material if his inventory of the material in its processed or fabricated form will be more than a practicable minimum working inventory. These two restrictions should be borne in mind by any supplier who wants to make or deliver any material to his customer earlier or in greater quantities than required by the customer.

(b) For example: A supplier has accepted his customer's order of a product to be delivered at the rate of 100 a month for six months. The supplier would like to ship 200 a month for three months, or perhaps the entire 600 in the first month. Since the customer's requirements of 100 a month are presumably all he could accept within the inventory limitations of paragraph (c) of the regulation, the requirement that the supplier may not knowingly ship more than this would prevent him from delivering earlier than required by his customer, unless he received notice from his customer that the receipt of the larger amount would not cause him to have an excess inventory.

(c) Thus, before delivering a material or product substantially earlier or in greater quantities than is called for by his customer's order, a supplier is required to satisfy himself that the receipt by the customer of the changed quantities will be within the permissible inventory limitations applicable to the customer. The supplier may rely on any statement or notice to this effect from his customer, unless he knows or has reason to know that it is false.

(d) Similarly, assuming his customer would not be permitted to receive the larger quantities, the supplier should take this into account in his plans for processing the material or product so that he himself will not have an inventory greater than permitted by paragraph (f) of the regulation.

(e) This interpretation, of course, does not change the rule on delivery or acceptance of minimum sale quantities or production runs to the extent described in Interpretation 2 to this regulation, nor does it prevent earlier delivery of iron products, steel, copper and copper base alloys under the conditions described in paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation 32. Also, if any WPB order or regulation permits increased deliveries to the extent necessary to avoid shipping partly filled containers (such as paragraph (y) (4) of Order M-300), the rule in this interpretation does not prevent such deliveries.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Supplementary Order M-317A, as Amended Oct. 1, 1945]

COTTON FABRIC PREFERENCE RATINGS AND RESTRICTIONS

Section 3290.116 Supplementary Order M-317A is amended to read as follows:

§ 3290.116 Supplementary Order M-317A—(a) Contents of this order. This Order M-317A is supplementary to Order M-317 and contains distribution schedules 1 and 2. These schedules apply only to woven cotton fabrics of more than 12" in width, but do not apply to duck. Restrictions on the production of cotton fabrics appear in Order L-99.

(b) Deletion of preference rating schedules. The preference rating schedules formerly contained in this order have been deleted. All AA ratings for the fourth quarter of 1945 become invalid as explained in Priorities Regulations 1 and 3 and Direction 18 to M-328.

(c) Effect of change in distribution schedules on third quarter set-asides. Cotton fabrics produced in the third quarter of 1945 but not delivered by the producer before October 1, 1945, must be delivered in accordance with the provisions of the Distribution Schedules of Order M-317A as amended September 5, 1945.

Issued this 1st day of October 1945.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

DISTRIBUTION SCHEDULES 1 AND 2

The obligations in Column III of Distribution Schedules 1 and 2 are to be calculated quarterly from the first day of each quarter, beginning October 1, 1945.

(a) Column I indicates the corresponding item numbers of the various cotton fabrics in these schedules as each appears on Form WPB-658-C (9/7/45) for Fine Cotton Goods and Form WPB-658-B (9/7/45) for Carded Gray Goods, Colored Yarn and Napped Fabrics and Specialties.

(c) Column III shows the percentage of the producer's current calendar quarterly production which must be delivered by him to fill rated export orders. Deliveries of cotton fabrics on rated orders of garment manufacturers for incorporation into clothing for delivery on rated export orders may be credited to the Column III obligation. Except for clothing in the above case, only exports of cotton fabrics in piece goods form may be credited to this obligation. For example, delivery of cotton fabrics to a coater to fill a rated export order for coated fabrics may not be credited to the Column III obligation.

(d) (1) Only deliveries on purchase orders placed in accordance with paragraph (b) (1) of Order M-317 may be credited toward the obligations of Column III. When these obligations are fulfilled, the producer is not required to accept any additional export orders, regardless of the provisions of Priorities Regulation 1.

(2) Export by or for the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration (including U. S. Army and Marine Corps Post Exchanges, U. S. Navy and Coast Guard Ships' Service Departments, and War Shipping Administration Training Organizations Ships' Service Activities), and the American Red Cross may not be credited toward these obligations.

(3) In calculating the export obligation contained in Distribution Schedule I (Fine Cotton Goods) the producer shall eliminate his production of cotton fabrics wider than 42½". However, if he received a rated export order for these goods, he must treat it as a rated order to the extent of his obligation and the delivery shall be credited toward his export obligation relating to narrow goods within the same reference number.

(e) (1) Column IV contains special provisions concerning the use and delivery of particular fabrics. Unless otherwise specified, the provisions of this Column apply to cotton fabrics in piece goods form only, not including seconds, shorts, remnants and rags.

(2) Unless otherwise specified, the provisions of Column IV apply only to producers as defined in Order M-317. Where a provision in Column IV requires a purchaser to furnish a certificate, no person giving such a certificate may use or deliver the cotton fabrics he buys contrary to his certificate.

PART 3270—CONTAINERS

COLLAPSIBLE TUBES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of materials entering into the manufacture of collapsible tubes for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 3270.39 Conservation Order M-115—(a) What this order does. This order limits the amount of tin that may be contained in collapsible tubes for packing various products. It also limits the amount of lead which may be used in the manufacture of collapsible tubes during the fourth calendar quarter of 1945 and succeeding calendar quarters.

(b) Definitions. Wherever used in this order: (1) "Collapsible tube" means any collapsible container in the shape of a tube made in whole or in part of tin or lead. The term also includes all pile pipes made in whole or in part of tin or lead.

(2) "Tin" means any material which contains not less than 1.5% by weight of the element tin.

(3) "Lead" means metallic lead, including scrap lead and any alloy containing 50% or more by weight of metallic lead.

(c) General restrictions—(1) Sales of tin and lead. No person shall sell or deliver tin or lead to any tube or tube blank manufacturer or tube packer which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this order.

(2) Manufacture or sale of collapsible tubes. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any collapsible tubes or tube blanks which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this order.

(d) Lead quota restrictions on manufacturers. During the fourth calendar quarter of 1945 and during each succeeding calendar quarter, unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board, no person shall use in the manufacture of collapsible tubes, more than 25% of the amount of lead (including that contained in blanks which he buys and converts into tubes) which he used for making collapsible tubes during the calendar year 1944.

(d-1) Applications for quotas. Any person who did not use lead (including that contained in blanks which he bought and converted into tubes) in the manufacture of collapsible tubes during the calendar year 1944, and who wishes to have a quota established for him, may apply for a quota by filing a letter in triplicate with the Containers Division, War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Ref: M-115. This letter should state what products he wants to pack and what facilities he has for this purpose. A quota will be assigned to him on an equitable basis in view of the quotas of other manufacturers in the industry.

(e) [Deleted Oct. 3, 1945.]

(f) Restrictions on packing tubes containing tin. No person shall purchase, accept delivery of or use collapsible tubes containing tin for packing products except as specifically permitted in Schedule A at the end of this order. This schedule specifies the tin content for collapsible tubes for packing each product. These restrictions shall not apply to a lead tube containing not more than 0.5 percent tin derived only from secondary sources.

(g) Certification for delivery of collapsible tubes. No manufacturer shall sell or deliver a collapsible tube unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually, or as provided in Priorities Regulation 7. This certificate shall be in substantially the following form and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, covers all future deliveries from the manufacturer to that purchaser:

> The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M-115 of the War Production Board, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with the order, as amended from time to time.

The standard certificate provided for in paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used in place of the above certificate; nor may the certificate provided by this order be waived in accordance with paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 7.

(h) Appeals. Appeals from this order may be filed by addressing a letter in triplicate to the Containers Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M-115. The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally but completely the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in exceptional and unreasonable hardship, and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(i) [Deleted Oct. 3, 1945.]

(j) Communications. Communications concerning this order, shall unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the Containers Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-115.

(k) Violation. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 3d day of October 1945.

Recording Secretary.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1362—CERAMIC PRODUCTS, STRUCTURAL CLAY PRODUCTS AND OTHER MASONRY MATERIALS

[Rev. MPR 206,[1] Amdts. 1-14]

VITRIFIED CLAY SEWER PIPE AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

This compilation of Revised Maximum Price Regulation 206, as amended, includes Amendment 14, effective October 8, 1945. The changes in tables by Amendment 14 are indicated by notes.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator it is necessary and proper in order to effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9250, to replace the General Maximum Price Regulation [2] and Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 [3] with a separate regulation establishing maximum prices for vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products at prices prevailing with respect thereto during the period October 1 to 15, 1941.

Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected.

So far as practical the Price Administrator has consulted with representatives of the trade and industry which will be affected by this revised regulation. In the judgment of the Price Administrator the maximum prices established by this revised regulation are generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purpose of said Act. The statement of considerations involved in the issuance of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 206, has been issued simultaneously herewith, and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.[4]

ARTICLE I—PERSONS AND TRANSACTIONS SUBJECT TO THE REVISED REGULATION: ITS RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER REGULATIONS

SECTION 1.1 Persons subject to this revised regulation. Any person who makes the type or kind of sale or purchase covered by this regulation is subject to the regulation.

"Persons" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other Government Agency or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

SEC. 1.2 Transactions covered by this revised regulation. This regulation covers sales of vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products where the shipment originates at the factory rather than at a distribution yard, except that price adjustments for dealers and jobbers authorized pursuant to section 1.4 (d) below are also within the scope of the regulation. The regulation shall be applicable to all of the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia, which are divided for the purpose of this regulation into 7 geographical areas.

"Vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products" means any sewer pipe, sewer pipe fittings, flue linings, including chimney pipe and fittings, and wall coping of the types listed in Articles I to XIII made from surface clay, fire clay, or shale or combinations of these materials.

The term "sewer pipe products" will be used hereafter in this revised regulation instead of the term "vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products", and is to be understood in all cases except where spe-

SEC. 1.3 Form of regulation and matters to which each article in this revised maximum price regulation relates. This regulation consists of thirteen articles. The first four articles are applicable in general to all sewer pipe products enumerated herein. The next seven articles established maximum prices for the several geographical areas as follows:

Article V—Eastern Area
Article VI—Southern Area
Article VII—East Central Area
Article VIII—West Central Area
Article IX—South Central Area
Article X—Rocky Mountain Area
Article XI—Pacific Area

SEC. 1.4 Relationship of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 206 to other regulations—(a) Export. The maximum price at which a person may export sewer pipe shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation [4] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Import. This regulation is not applicable to sales of sewer pipe if they originate outside of and are imported into the continental United States. Such sales and deliveries are governed by the Maximum Import Price Regulation.[5]

(c) Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, as amended. The provisions of this revised regulation supersede Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, as amended, with respect to all sales and deliveries made by manufacturers where the shipment originates at the factory. New products falling within the definition of sewer pipe products, but which cannot be priced under the provisions of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 206, shall be priced in accordance with the pricing provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 592.

[Paragraph (c) amended by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 8146, effective 7-24-44 and Am. 13, 10 F.R. 10208, effective 8-23-45]

To that extent, this regulation shall supersede the General Maximum Price Regulation.

[Paragraph (d) added by Am. 4, 9 F.R. 8146, effective 7-24-44]

ARTICLE II—PROHIBITIONS AND PENALTIES

SEC. 2.1 Prohibitions against dealing in sewer pipe products at prices above the maximum price. (a) On and after the 25th day of October 1943, the effective date of this regulation:

(1) No person shall sell or deliver or contract to sell or deliver any sewer pipe products at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this regulation.

(2) No person, in the course of trade or business, shall buy or receive any sewer pipe products at a price higher than that permitted by this regulation.

(3) No person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(b) Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those provided for in this regulation may, of course, be charged or paid.

SEC. 2.2 Prohibited practices—(a) General. Any practice which is a device to secure the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollar-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying agreements, trade understandings, and the like.

(b) Specific prohibited practices. The following are among the specific practices prohibited by this regulation:

(1) Securing the effect of higher prices by changing credit practices or cash discounts from what they were during the period October 1 to 15, 1941. This includes reducing the cash discount periods, decreasing credit period, or making greater charges for extension of credit.

(2) Making terms or conditions of sale more onerous to the purchaser than those in effect or available to the purchaser during the period October 1 to 15, 1941.

(3) Falsely or wrongly grading, classifying, or invoicing sewer pipe products.

(4) Charging commissions, or charging for services that are not specified in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 206.

(5) Lowering or decreasing the grade or quality of any sewer pipe products, except as permitted by this regulation, without a corresponding reduction in price.

SEC. 2.3 Penalties. (a) Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) No War Procurement Agency or any contracting or paying finance officer thereof shall be subject to any liability, civil or criminal, imposed by this regulation or by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. "War Procurement Agency" as used in this paragraph includes the War Department, the Navy Department, United States Maritime Commission, and the Lend-Lease section of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

ARTICLE III—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 3.1 Applications for adjustment and petitions for amendment. (a) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a modification of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[7] A petition for amendment must propose a change of general applicability in the regulation for the industry as a whole or a substantial portion thereof or a change affecting all sellers in a given area, as distinguished from an application which seeks an individual price adjustment.

(b) Applications for adjustment—(1) Government contracts. Any person who has made or intends to make a government contract or subcontract thereunder, who believes that a maximum price under this regulation impedes or threatens to impede the production, manufacture, or distribution of a commodity or the supply of a service which is essential to the war program and which is or will be the subject of the contract or subcontract may file an application for adjustment of that maximum price in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 6,[8] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(2) Existing or threatened shortage. The Office of Price Administration, or any duly authorized representative thereof, may adjust any maximum price established by this regulation for any seller subject to this regulation who is unable to maintain or expand his production under the maximum prices established by this regulation whenever there is a shortage in the essential supply of sewer pipe products. The extent of relief to be granted under this provision is as follows:

(i) Whenever it appears that a shortage exists or threatens to exist in the essential supply of sewer pipe products, and that the seller of such commodity is unable to maintain or expand his production at his maximum price or prices, the Office of Price Administration may, either on application for adjustment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, or on its own motion, by order, adjust his maximum price or prices by an amount necessary to permit the maintenance or expansion of such production upon a basis which will cover not more than total cost.

In determining the amount of adjustment which may be granted, consideration will be given to such factors as:

(a) Revenue from sales of such commodity and from all other sources, and

(b) Production; mining, development, processing, and transportation costs; administrative and sales expenses; depreciation and depletion charges; taxes (excluding Federal and State income taxes); and capital investment.

SEC. 3.2 Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[9] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more maximum price regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 3.3 Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 3.4 Federal and State taxes. (a) There may be added to the maximum prices established by this regulation the amount of tax levied by any Federal excise tax statute or any State or municipal sales, gross receipts, gross proceeds, or compensating use tax statute or ordinance under which the tax is measured by gross proceeds or units of sale, if, but only if: (1) such statute or ordinance requires the vendor to state the tax separately from the purchase price paid by the purchaser, consumer, or user, on the bill, sales check, or evidence of sale at the time of the transaction; or (2) such statute or ordinance requires such tax to be separately paid by the purchaser, consumer, or user with tokens or other media of State or municipal tax payments; or (3) such statute or ordinance permits the vendor to state such tax separately, and such tax is in fact stated separately by the vendor. The amount of tax permitted to be added by this paragraph shall in no event exceed that paid by the purchaser, consumer, or user.

(b) Application of Supplementary Order No. 31[10]—Federal Excise Tax on Transportation. Sales and deliveries of sewer pipe products, the maximum prices for which are established by this regulation, are controlled by Supplementary Order No. 31, issued by the Office of Price Administration. For the purpose of determining the applicable maximum price of any sewer pipe products, the tax on the transportation of property imposed by the Revenue Act of 1942 shall be treated as though it were an increase in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. To the extent that a seller must bear transportation charges, he shall also bear the tax thereon. To the extent that a buyer must bear transportation charges, he shall also be required to pay the tax thereon. In no event shall the tax upon transportation of property, imposed by the Revenue Act of 1942, be considered as a tax within the meaning of the preceding paragraph (a) of this section.

SEC. 3.5 Records and reports—(a) Records. Every person making purchases or sales subject to this revised regulation in the amount of $200 or more in any one calendar month must keep records containing a description of each purchase, sale, or delivery, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer and the seller, the point of origin, and the point of delivery of the shipment, the price paid or received, and the quantity of each grade and classification of the product purchased, sold or delivered. All such records must be available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect.

(b) Reports. Persons subject to this regulation shall submit such reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 3.6 Other definitions. (a) When used in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 206 the term: (1) "Carload shipment" means a shipment or quantity of vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products which totals at least the minimum weight, as set forth in the tariffs of railroad carriers, upon which the railroad carload rate from the point of shipment to the point of destination is based: Provided, however, That where a smaller quantity is shipped which would move at the railroad carload rate rather than at the railroad less-than-carload rate because a lower transportation charge is produced thereby, such smaller quantity shall be considered a carload shipment; except that the seller may charge the buyer with the amount which represents the difference in cost between the applicable minimum carload freight charge and the applicable freight cost for the quantity shipped. This means that the purchaser shall pay the freight on the missing weight.

(2) "Distribution yard" means a place of business at which vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products are received for purposes of storing and resale.

(3) "Factory" means a place where vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products are made.

(b) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to other terms used herein.

ARTICLE IV—PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL AREAS, PRICES, DELIVERY OBLIGATIONS, AND QUALITY

SEC. 4.1 Maximum prices for "pick-up basis" and for "less-than-carload shipments by rail." (a) (1) Any manufacturer making sales on a "pick-up basis," f. o. b. factory, from a factory located within the Eastern Area, as defined in section 5.1 of this regulation, or any manufacturer making sales in "less-than-carload shipments by rail" delivered to a destination point within such area, may increase his established March 1942 maximum price by an amount not in excess of an amount determined in the following manner: Reduce the discounts established during the month of March 1942 for sales of sewer pipe products covered by discount numbers 1 to 7, inclusive, by 3 points, those covered by discount numbers 8 to 16, inclusive, by 4 points, of the tables of list prices set forth in section 5.2 of this regulation.

(b) Maximum prices for the sale of sewer pipe products sold f. o. b. factory on a "pick-up basis" and/or "delivered" for the St. Louis Metropolitan Area are established in section 8.4 (e) of this regulation.

The term "pick-up basis" when used in reference to a sale means a transaction in which a purchaser takes delivery of sewer pipe products at the factory and removes the sewer pipe products from the factory by conveyance provided by the purchaser.

The term "less-than-carload shipment" means a shipment or quantity of vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products which totals less than the minimum weight as set forth in the tariffs of railroad carriers upon which the railroad carload rate from the point of shipment to the point of destination is based.

[Sec. 4.1 amended by Am. 2, 9 F.R. 4349, effective 4-26-44; Am. 4, 9 F.R. 8146, effective 7-24-44; Am. 5, 9 F.R. 9889, effective 8-17-44; and as otherwise noted]

SEC. 4.2 Delivery obligations. For purposes of this revised regulation the delivery obligation on all sales (except those on a "pick-up basis") shall be considered as completed when, as in the case of rail shipment, the shipment arrives at the rail siding nearest the location designated by the purchaser; or when in the case of shipment by motor carrier, the shipment arrives at the site designated by the purchaser.

SEC. 4.3 Requirement for maintenance of standard quality in sewer pipe products. If the quality of any seller's vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products is reduced below the standards or quality in effect during the year 1941, the product must be considered to be a new product within the meaning of this regulation, and a maximum price for such products must be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 6 and sections therein referred to, of Maximum Price Regulation No. 592 (Specified Construction Materials and Refractories).

[Sec. 4.3 amended by Am. 13, 10 F.R. 10208, effective 8-23-45]

SEC. 10.3 Percentage discounts. The percentage discounts set forth in Charts I, II, III, and IV below are so arranged that the applicable percentage discounts for any item, for various methods of distribution, in any of the geographical zones in the Rocky Mountain Area can be determined by the following procedure: Select the discount number shown on the list price tables for the desired item. An identical number appears in the left-hand column of the charts below. After determining the proper geographical zone within which the destination point occurs, and the character of the shipment (that is, whether (1) delivered at destination or delivered at factory; (2) carload lots or less than carload lots; and (3) rail or motor carrier) the applicable percentage discount will be found at the junction of the vertical geographical zone column in the proper chart and the horizontal line at which the predetermined discount number appears.
